4b. Presentation/Discussion. MET Transit Asset Management Plan, Debra Hagel, MET Transit, Rusty Logan, MET Transit, presenting.

Rusty Logan, MET Transit said the Federal Transit Administration established the Transit Asset Management regulation (49 CFR part 625) instructing transit agencies to establish and self-certify completed Transit Asset Management Plans, (TAM) by October 1, 2018. The TAM monitors and manages capital assets to enhance safety, reduce maintenance costs, increase reliability and improve performance. Mr. Logan gave an overview of the points below:

MET Transit Roles and Accountability: Kevin Ploehn, Director Aviation & Transit; Rusty Logan, Operations Supervision; Dan Montoya; Operations Supervisor-Fleet Maintenance; Kathy Barr, Paratransit Coordinator; Lynne Arnold, Admin III; Debra Hagel, Transit Planning Coordinator

Capital Asset Inventory-listing of Asset Category, Total Number, Average Age, Average Mileage, and Average Value

Capital Asset Conditions: Revenue Vehicles; Equipment; Facilities

MET Transit TAM-Targets: Performance Measures for Revenue Vehicles; Equipment; Facilities

MET Transit-TAM Target Methodology: planning purchase of 6 remanufactured 35-ft buses in the immediate future. Met also plans to regularly purchase buses in the upcoming years to replace the remaining outdated vehicles, bring the portion of the fleet which exceeds usable life below a 30% target.

In response to question by Scott Walker, Rusty Logan explained the significant savings that can come from use of remanufactured busses.

MET Transit-TAM Goals: Decrease unplanned maintenance expenses for FY19; Decrease service delays and interruptions for FY19; Increase ridership for FY19; Increase fare and bus advertising revenue for FY19

Scott Walker noted the MET Transit App. Rusty Logan explained this is a live bus tracking application that will become available to the public Monday. Debra Hagel said this will allow live announcements to be transmitted via cell phone service.

Billings Technical Advisory Committee
