

The 'Ole Joppa Bridge

The Joppa Bridge, the iron bridge, the historic iron truss bridge, in Joppa, Tx.....had meaning to many people, for many reasons, for 118 years. Many of them fond and special memories. Now to see it is GONE! To watch the video of it floating away, is nothing we imagined we would ever see. It is hard to believe.

But the memories associated with that bridge can never be taken away from the hearts and minds of those who experienced them.

One guarantee in life is change. Change always happens. Some change we like some we don't. But it's going to happen. With this change, perhaps something new will be created. To make new memories and have new experiences.

Thank you, 'ole bridge.

We will miss you and never forget you.
