

Rep. Clay Higgins
@RepClayHiggins

Media: “Congressman Higgins, the Supreme Court just ruled in favor of the Biden Admin over the State of Texas, saying that the federal government can remove physical barriers at the border put in place by Texas. What are your thoughts?”

Me: “My thoughts are that the feds are staging a civil war, and Texas should stand their ground.”

4:01 PM · 1/22/24 From Earth · 91 Views

Claire Nybro

County Clerk

PUBLIC COMMENTS

January 23, 2024

Good morning, gentlemen, my name is Claire Nybro.

I open my remarks quoting Representative Clay Higgins from Louisiana from yesterday on X (the former Twitter):

"Media: Congressman Higgins, the Supreme Court just ruled in favor of the Biden Admin over the State of Texas, saying that the federal government can remove physical barriers at the border put in place by Texas. What are your thoughts?"

Me: "My thoughts are that the feds are staging a civil war, and Texas should stand their ground."

Texas sure could use a bunch of men like Clay Higgins. But no, we just get the Greg Abbotts, the John Carters, the Chip Roys, the Dan Crenshaws, the John Cornyns, the Ted Cruzes, the Dade Phelans, the Pete Flores, the Terry Wilsons, the Ellen Troxclairs - all the RINOs and the traitors and the sellouts, who aren't screaming bloody murder about the invasion at the border. Their cries of outrage should be deafening. But we barely hear a peep from any of these people. I guess that means they're just fine with how Texas is being destroyed before our very eyes.

We know crime is up in the county. A burned body showing up on Christmas Day is a pretty good indication of that.

Can you feel the crushing weight of the federal government being applied to us? I do.

We need good men to stand up in Texas. We have good men like Ken Paxton, David Covey, Will Abel, Wes Virdell and Kyle Biedermann standing up all over the country, but we need more men like them - men who are fighters, not weak and spineless traitors. Especially in Texas, the epicenter of the illegal invasion of our ~~State~~, now being allowed by the Supreme Court.
Country,

We're in big trouble, gentlemen. I am strongly urging you to join with the other 50 Texas counties whose commissioners and judges have declared an invasion. Make a resolution declaring an invasion Burnet County. Stand with the other counties now - how bad does it have to get?

And Sheriff Boyd, when are you going to form a militia? Better hurry, because they're working on making that illegal too.

It's time to STAND IN THE GAP between WE THE PEOPLE and the tyrants who ignore the laws that protect us but instead choose to destroy Texas and America by enforcing tyranny.

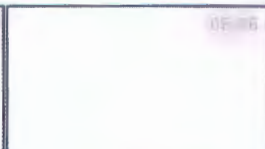

Washington Examiner

Three more Texas counties declare invasion, bringing total to 50

By Washington Examiner

January 7, 2024 10:46 am

2. Reporter's Noteboo...	3. Reporter's Noteboo...	4. Reporter's Noteboo...	5. White House dodge...

(The Center Square) – Three years into the border crisis, 50 Texas counties have now declared an invasion.

The latest to do so are the judges and commissioners of Bandera, Schleicher and Uvalde counties. Officials in Bandera and Schleicher counties signed nearly identical resolutions in November as Crockett County's. Crockett County declared an invasion after its county judge's family members were killed by an alleged human smuggler. Uvalde County officials signed their invasion resolution in July, when they also joined a coalition led by Atascosa County Judge Weston Cude.

All 50 county resolutions cite the invasion clauses of the U.S. Constitution, Articles IV, Section 4, which require the federal government to protect states from an invasion. They also cite Article IV, Section 7 of the Texas Constitution, which states the governor has the legal authority to command Texas military forces and call them up to “suppress insurrection and to repel invasions.”

They also point to the work of Gov. Greg Abbott's border security mission, Operation Lone Star, whose officers are interdicting the “smuggling of drugs, weapons, and cartel-trafficked people into Texas,” and working to “prevent, detect, and interdict transnational criminal activity between ports of entry.” The Biden administration created the border crisis, county officials argue, with an estimated 10 million people illegally entering the country since 2021. An unprecedented 1.9 million illegal entered Texas in fiscal 2023 alone, The Center Square exclusively reported.

“The invasion is unsustainable and threatens the lives of our citizens,” officials in these counties maintain. They also express support for border counties, adding that their own non-border communities “cannot absorb the socio-economic costs and criminal impact resulting from ... an unsecure and open border.”

When Cude came into office a year ago, he reached out to dozens of judges encouraging their counties to declare an invasion. He also formed a contiguous county coalition to come up with solutions and express support for border counties. Prior to Cude's election, Atascosa County was among the first to issue disaster and invasion declarations.

They include: Bee, Brewster, Brooks, Caldwell, Cameron, Chambers, Colorado, Crane, Crockett, Culberson, DeWitt, Dimmit, Duval, Edwards, El Paso, Frio, Galveston, Goliad, Gonzales, Hidalgo, Hudspeth, Jackson, Jeff Davis, Jim Hogg, Jim Wells, Kenedy, Kerr, Kimble, Kinney, Kleberg, La Salle, Lavaca, Live Oak, Mason, Maverick, McCulloch, McMullen, Medina, Menard, Midland, Pecos, Presidio, Real, Refugio, San Patricio, Schleicher, Sutton, Terrell, Throckmorton, Uvalde, Val Verde, Victoria, Webb, Wharton, Wilbarger, Wilson, Zapata and Zavala.

Article Incomplete - see on line

⑤