Description of work
Service Call

Tech arrived on site and the panel had one trouble indicating program corruption. He performed a cold start on the panel to clear the trouble, but it did not work. Next, he tried to log into the program menu, but the program password was changed from the default password. Fortunately, he found the program password written on the panel door and was able to access the program menu. Performed an auto program on the panel, which cleared the program corruption trouble. We tested the system by activating pull station M5, which triggered the audible and visual alarms, and walked through the building, which tested good. Updated the time on the panel and added a label on the panel for user and program menu passwords. Upon departure, the
