3. ACTION AGENDA

- a. None

4. BRIEFING

- a. Media Training-Matt Burdick, Communication & Public Affairs Director
Mr. Burdick gave a presentation on interfacing with the media and the public. City Council and city staff are responsible for handling all inquiries from the media. Please direct any media questions to city staff who will identify a subject matter expert within the city to speak to the topic. If you do speak to the media, it is as a private individual.

- b. Current City of Chandler Military and Veteran Programs

- i. Chandler Museum, Jody Crago, Museum Administrator
Mr. Crago gave a presentation on what the Museum has done for the military and veterans. The city has a database on its website to compile data where veterans can voluntarily answer a form. The webpage is www.chandleraz.gov/veterandatabase. This is meant to document veteran stories and experiences. This information is used to drive programming and recognition. Military and veteran donations are accepted and become a permanent record for the city. Programs include speaker programs, interviews, and exhibitions. Additional outreach programs and collaborations with other city departments include a Veteran's appreciation event, assistance with the development of the Veteran's Memorial at Veterans Oasis Park, and the Walk of Honor.

Commissioner Farabee asked if the museum would like copies of the book by Jack Holder. Mr. Crago responded that they would consider have copies of the book available to sell in the museum store.

Chair Dalpe added that the Veteran's Heritage Project may be able to add to the veteran data the city is collecting.

ii. Neighborhood Resources, Leah Powell, Neighborhood Resources Director

Ms. Powell gave a presentation regarding veteran programs offered in the Neighborhood Resources department. 'For Our City' is a program is a collective of different groups including faith-based, non-profit organizations, city leadership and businesses coming together to maximize resources to fill in gaps. 'Let's Pull Together' works with Code Enforcement to assist veterans that are needing help managing home maintenance. Volunteers team up to provide landscaping, painting, etc. With the For Our City Day multiple volunteers come out and do a neighborhood beautification including landscaping, painting, pulling weeds, etc. Ten years ago, City Council allocated funds for a 'Veterans Transportation Program'. Low-income veterans are provided with food boxes, transportation to the VA and to medical appointments. The city also partners with Operation Shockwave to provide benefits mental health support to veterans. We have a Navigation Team that work with people experiencing homelessness, court issues, and behavioral issues. 'Operation Open Door' are for medically vulnerable people that are homeless. Shelter is provided at a hotel that also aids in finding additional support programs.

Vice-Chair Facciponti asked Ms. Powell to speak to how the Cares Act has impacted services. Ms. Powell responded that her department has had an influx of funds as a result of the Cares Act. Additional staff has been hired to assist with the management of those grant funds. Despite the additional funds, there is still a need within the community.

5. DISCUSSION

a. Review Draft Rules of Procedure:

A draft of the Rules of Procedure for the Military & Veterans Affairs Commission was distributed.
