- Continued to enforce its HP ordinance
- Engages in some HP activities:
 - Surveys
 - Inventories
- Updates the SHPO each year on activities
- Resolution 5567 last year authorized Staff to apply for CLG designation
- No cost other than grant matches
- City HP program is independent
- City can withdraw
- Questions / feedback?

COUNCILMEMBER STEWART thanked Mr. Horn for his work in the Development Services department. Councilmember Stewart asked about other areas in Chandler that are eligible for historical designations and asked about a timeline for implementation.

MR. HORN said staff is already working on what the CLG would require. There are two designations in the works that are almost completed, Price House and the Goodyear Canal. There are other areas in the city where it would be appropriate to pursue historic designation, like Pueblo Alto / Hightown, South Side Village, North Chandler. Chandler's historic downtown is a point of pride as well.

MICHAEL WINER, Economic Development Project Manager, commented that City Council has established a vision of Chandler being a place for entrepreneurship, innovation, and technology. City Council has recognized the importance of establishing partnerships with higher education. This proposed item seeks to further City Council's vision for Chandler by providing opportunities for local entrepreneurship with a strengthened relationship with ASU. ASU's plan for the Chandler Endeavor Program is community oriented and ASU is looking to engage with 1,000 people through this program. ASU will be using its strong relationships with employers and resource providers to embed this program in the business community. It will be able to integrate with other ASU resources like those within the Chandler Innovation Center facility and university wide.

KRISTIN SLICE, Director of Community Entrepreneurship at ASU and Chandler Endeavor Program Manager, presented the following presentation.

- Chandler Endeavor
 - Embark Venture Accelerate
 - An incubation model that created a diverse, equitable and inclusive Chandler entrepreneurial ecosystem that connects people, helps founders implement innovation and inspires excellence.
- Why ASU?
 - 1,000+ Venture Devils
 - $600,00 + in seed funding
 - 5 Place-based Innovation Spaces
 - 2 of the 3 IEDC Certified Entrepreneurial Support Professionals in Arizona are on the Edson E+I team
 - A track record of highly successful community incubators, RISN, Prepped, and Peoria Forward
- Support the development and growth of local businesses
- How ASU does incubation differently
 - Inclusive community approach
 - Programming aligned with economic development objectives and local assets
 - Cultivate relationships with local influential individuals, investors, success stories and entrepreneur resources
 - Align with broader metro-area partners to reinforce Chandler as an innovation leader
 - Remove perceived barriers
 - Provide subleased space with graduation guidelines and a transition plan to ED team
 - Leverage ASU ventures to build momentum with a requirement to have a Chandler business license
- Chandler Endeavor Embark
- Embark Series Outcomes
 - 75+ 85+ 85+ attendance at each session
 - 22 resources and mentors engaged
 - 30 applications to the funding pitch
 - 88% Net Promoter Score
- What attendees said feedback from the survey
 - "I learned quite a bit on when to explore funding, various funding strategies, and what I need to have ready before I ask for funding"
 - "Positively brilliant. Thank you!"

- "I am very impressed. I learned that I need to redo my business plan, that I must be clear about what I am doing, that I must be able to clearly articulate what I am offering"
- "Very nicely done, very engaging and an excellent networking opportunity"
- "The breadth of local resources entrepreneurs have at their disposal"
- "Thank you for the opportunity – it was very beneficial"
- "Please keep doing these events!"
- Let's Go! Endeavor

COUNCILMEMBER POSTON said she attended the sessions, and they were well-received. This is a good investment for the small businesses of Chandler, and it was nice to see metrics of success. Councilmember Poston asked if there are any targeted businesses to be included in the incubator, and what the expectations of incubator businesses would be.

MS. SLICE said we did reach out to various ventures in Chandler asking to engage, and many were engaged in the Embark series; as well as Legacy ventures who did show up to support. We are still having an open call for innovators. Everyone who applies is now part of the incubator and has access to these resources. Programs have been built around the needs of community entrepreneurs.

COUNCILMEMBER POSTON asked what the next steps after the incubator are.

MS. SLICE emphasized having a hyperlocal approach to the incubator – if we can give them the resources, support, and community connections it will be valuable for them to stay here. We are focusing on finding ventures embedded within the community with goals aligned to Chandler. Our focus is on the community not incubation.

COUNCILMEMBER POSTON asked about the goal number of 1,000 visits.

MS. SLICE said 1,000 unique visits which is a lofty goal but achievable. Other incubators have served 2,200 innovators who have engaged with the resources.

COUNCILMEMBER POSTON looked forward to hearing more about the program.

COUNCILMEMBER STEWART said that the vision that we have for innovation is coming to fruition. Councilmember Stewart asked about the 1,000 Venture Devils in connection with the program.

MS. SLICE said that there are more than 1,000 Ventures served through the J. Orin Edson Entrepreneurship and Innovation Institute, have been provided resources within this network. This includes community, faculty, and staff and participants of Chandler Endeavor. Every semester we give away $3,000 - $4,000 of non-dilutive funding donated by angel investors that support the program. We are committed to connecting people who want to give back to their community with startups.

COUNCILMEMBER STEWART thanked staff for working to build this program.

COUNCILMEMBER ELLIS asked why implementing this program has taken so long.

MS. SLICE responded that the ASU Chandler Innovation Center has been operating for a while. The incubation program has been underneath a separate contract. Part of the challenge has been funding this model. Entrepreneurial programs are usually funded by outside partners.

COUNCILMEMBER ELLIS emphasized that the community involvement is key in this program and looked forward to seeing more.

COUNCILMEMBER HARRIS commented that Chandler entrepreneurs will expect results from this new program. Councilmember Harris looked forward to seeing the program move forward and made a point that marketing this program will be essential. We have not seen the results come forward.

COUNCILMEMBER ENCINAS asked what the strategy was for maintaining interest of participants.

MS. SLICE answered that there are multiple strategies at play. Programs are designed to be asynchronous to benefit entrepreneurs who are operating at different points in their journey. Moving forward the programs are designed to be universal. The plan is to get more detailed and increase outreach into the community. Increased promotion of the program will be a partnership between ASU and community leaders. The more intentional we are in our communication finds key success stories. On average, entrepreneurial ecosystem building take 20 – 25 years, this is a long-term investment.

MAYOR HARTKE said he is pleased to see the space being used. We are eager to join ASU in this project.
