Allison Morse raised concerns about the jail district tax fund.

7. Approve or deny the appeal by Mario and Angela Robles (applicants) Docket SUA25-03 of the Planning and Zoning Commission's denial of Docket SU25-18, a Special Use Authorization request to allow guest lodging and special events at 1819/2044 W. Wild Horse Lane (Supervisor District 3).

Vice-Chairman Crosby made a motion to approve or deny the appeal by Mario and Angela Robles (applicants) Docket SUA25-03 of the Planning and Zoning Commission's denial of Docket SU25-18, a Special Use Authorization request to allow guest lodging and special events at 1819/2044 W. Wild Horse Lane (Supervisor District 3). Chairman Antenori seconded the motion.

Matthew Taylor, Planning Division Manager, presented this item using a PowerPoint presentation. Mr. Taylor presented Special Use Appeal 25-03, challenging the Planning and Zoning Commission's denial of SU25-18, which would allow guest lodging and special events on a 108-acre property north of Benson. He stated the project proposed 15 guest units and event facilities on 40 acres, with opposition citing neighborhood concerns and area plan consistency. He stated the applicant argued the commission gave disproportionate weight to public comment and overlooked their mitigation plans. Staff recommended conditional approval, outlining that the board could approve, deny, modify, or remand the appeal based on new evidence or conditions.

Chairman Antenori opened the Public Hearing.

Angela Robles and Mario Robles, applicants, requested approval of a special use permit for Forever After Ranch, emphasizing that the project supports local businesses, strengthens the tax base, and preserves the rural character of Cochise County. Ms. Robles stated the project will include guest lodging, weddings, equestrian services, specialty farming, and outdoor experiences, projecting revenues of $865,000 to over $1 million in the first year. She urged the board to base its decision on facts and responsible land use, highlighting that the project is contained, sustainable, and enhances the county's heritage without large-scale impact.

Robert R. Bray spoke in opposition and discussed the reasons.

Chairman Antenori clarified that Ocotillo Road north of mile marker 7 has average daily traffic of 207 cars, which is insufficient for chip sealing, and noted that increasing traffic to about 500 cars per day could justify improvements, but he did not promise to use public funds to pave the road solely for business.

Garrett William Roberts spoke in opposition and discussed the reasons.

Paul Walker spoke in opposition and discussed the reasons.

Loretta Gagline spoke in opposition and discussed the reasons.

Mark Gibbs spoke in opposition and discussed the reasons.

George Spillsbury spoke in opposition and discussed the reasons.

Kevin Roberts spoke in opposition and discussed the reasons.

Ann Roberts spoke in opposition and discussed the reasons.

Laurel Hegline spoke in opposition and discussed the reasons.

Ms. Robles rebutted the opposition claims about water, noise, and safety are misleading and unsupported by evidence, emphasizing that the property uses water responsibly, provides the safest lodging option after events, and is well-maintained. She noted that opponents have not offered constructive alternatives and are motivated by control rather than facts. She urged the board to approve the permit, highlighting legal compliance and significant economic benefits for Cochise County.

Chairman Antenori closed the Public Hearing.

Chairman Antenori emphasized that the Board's role in appeals exists to ensure fair review and that decisions should focus on facts and data rather than emotion. He reviewed noise impacts using federal standards and found that projected amplified music would not constitute a nuisance. He stressed the county's need for private sector growth to offset economic challenges, declining Fort Huachuca missions, and minimal property tax from agriculture. He concluded that the applicants' lodging and ecotourism plans are reasonable, mitigate neighbor impacts, and would positively contribute to the county's economy.

Board and staff confirmed that the Robles applicants have a right to appeal the planning and zoning commission's decision under county ordinances. Mr. Taylor stated the acreage issue arose from confusion between the originally discussed three parcels and the south 40 acres identified in a later pre-application meeting. He stated notices had been sent based on the original project site, causing the discrepancy. Mr. Hendel stated the Ramsey Canyon property discussion needs to be withdrawn due to ongoing litigation.

Board and staff clarified that the 15 guest units would be limited to the southern two parcels of the 40 acres, and any expansion would require a modification or a new special use application for the northern 68 acres. The board confirmed that the applicants had the opportunity to provide additional information and evidence as outlined in paragraph two of page 13. Ms. Robles confirmed that the 32-page application included all exhibits, and supplemental testimony. The board acknowledged that the applicants had fully utilized this provision.

Supervisor Gomez noted frustration with the negativity in public responses and emphasized the challenge of funding services while promoting economic development and preserving the rural character of the county. She recognized that the applicants provided more detailed information than was available to the original commission. Supervisor Gomez suggested the possibility of remanding the application to explore compromises and encouraged openness to new ideas and growth. She stressed the need for collaboration to maintain rural Cochise County while allowing reasonable development.

In response to the Board, Ms. Robles explained that prior to applying, she and her husband engaged positively with neighbors and received support, contrasting with the hostility encountered at the special use hearing. She emphasized their goal is to enhance the neighborhood and preserve the county's heritage, citing the property's strong stewardship. Ms. Robles highlighted that the special use permit intentionally limits growth, compliance and transparency, and disputed false claims from opposition.

She also noted the Tres Alamos plan supports special use permits that add value, and clarified that event activities would follow standard indoor/outdoor practices.

In response to the Board, Mr. Taylor stated that staff typically does not make recommendations on appeals, as such guidance can conflict with commission and staff positions.

Mr. Gibbs stated he supports the concept but believes the location is inappropriate.

Vice-Chairman Crosby moved to amend agenda item 7 to approve the appeal. Chairman Antenori seconded the motion.

Supervisor Gomez stated that remanding the matter allows the applicants and community to discuss and seek compromise. She noted a new commissioner has not previously heard the case. She emphasized the need for more communication to address misinformation. She believes giving everyone a chance to meet and discuss is the appropriate next step.

Chairman Antenori called for the vote, and it was approved 2-1 (Gomez opposed).

Vice-Chairman Crosby made a motion to approve the appeal by Mario and Angela Robles (applicants) Docket SUA25-03 of the Planning and Zoning Commission's denial of Docket SU25-18, a Special Use Authorization request to allow guest lodging and special events at 1819/2044 W. Chairman Antenori seconded the motion.

Matthew Taylor, Division Planning Manager, presented this item using a PowerPoint presentation. Mr. Taylor presented docket RZ25-14, where David and Diane Ruozi request rezoning of a 3-acre property on Sandal Street in Sunsites Unit 7 from SR-22 to RU-2 for rural residential use. The property is undeveloped, and the owners want flexibility to place accessory structures before the main dwelling. The rezoning complies with eight of nine applicable zoning factors, though no concept plan was provided, and there was no opposition from nearby property owners. The planning and zoning commission recommended approval 8-0, and staff also recommended approval without special conditions.

Allison Morse spoke in opposition and discussed her reasons.

Supervisor Gomez emphasized that perceptions from CoolFM are inaccurate and clarified that expenditures for construction and the jail were carried over, while all other spending this year came from the general fund.

Chairman Antenori explained that the financing is complex due to Title 48 special district rules, and the county is using current revenue proactively to advance jail planning, so work can begin immediately once voters approve the tax.

In response to the Board, Ms. Gilman explained that although the jail district board approved retaining Mr. Kanefield, the Board of Supervisors must also approve it because both entities were involved in the dismissed lawsuit.
