6. COVID-19 UPDATES

A. COVID-19 Update

Deputy City Manager Shannon Anderson provided a PowerPoint presentation that covered the following:

CCHHS: COVID-19 WEEKLY CASES
CCHHS: HOSPITAL ADMISSIONS
CCHHS: COVID-19 RELATED DEATHS
CCHHS: COMMUNITY TRANSMISSION
CCHHS: COMMUNITY VACCINATION
CCHHS: VARIANTS
NAH: HOSPITAL CENSUS

Coordinator for Indigenous Initiatives Rose Toehe continued the presentation.

INDIGENOUS NATIONS DATA
NAVAJO NATION
HOPI TRIBE

Council briefly discussed test availability, the Omicron variant, lower positivity rates on the Navajo Nation, and the increase in hospitalizations for those under the age of 20.

Travis Joralmon, President of the Flagstaff Hockey Association, addressed Council in opposition of the new COVID protocol requirements implemented at the Jay Lively Ice Rink. He asked that the protocol be revised to reverse the decision on requiring masks during practice and to apply the 100-person cap to spectators only. Each team has 40 people so there is not much room left for spectators, especially those who are traveling to see their kids play.

The following individuals submitted written comments encouraging the removal of mask mandates and increasing building capacity at Jay Lively Ice Arena:

- Ali Seaman
- Caleb Smyers
- Kelsey Mercer
- Rachel Smyers
- Matt Smyers
- Kizmi Olson
- Ryan Smith
- Rom Kuzara
- Roland Cook
- Alan Smith
- Travis Joralmon

Parks, Recreation, Open Space, and Events Director Rebecca Sayers offered that it is difficult for staff to manage the different types of people that may be coming in. She understands the concerns noted by Mr. Joralmon but noted that it is easier to manage a facility capacity rather than a spectator capacity. The other reason there are limits on total capacity is so ensure there is enough staff to manage the mask requirements. The more people in the facility the more staff have to remind them to keep masks on which is an issue.

Councilmember Shimoni asked about increasing the total capacity to 180 and not requiring masks at practice. Ms. Sayers stated that she would not recommend more than 150 to ensure the ability for staff to properly manage. With regard to masks, staff had recommended no masks at practice but the direction from Council was to require them,

Councilmember Shimoni suggested adjusting the requirements to allow for 150 total in the building and requiring masks for games but not during practice.

Council supported the suggestion and asked staff to make the necessary adjustments.

Councilmember Shimoni asked how to help staff shift away from adopting certain priorities. Dr. Contreras stated that it is not an overnight switch. What has been very strategic is doing pilots rather than fully implement; it eases the tension and uncertainty. You build upon the successes and failures from there.

Councilmember Aslan stated that the concepts of shared mobility, induced demand, etc. are conversations that Council should have been having a long time ago with solutions identified.

THIS TRANSFORMATION IS ABOUT NEW WAYS TO SUPPORT PEOPLE AND CREATE PLACES

NEXT STEPS

OUR STREETS CAN FURTHER MANY OF OUR COMMUNITY GOALS

The following individuals addressed Council in support of the concepts presented:

- Tyler Denham
- Heather Dalmolin, CEO and General Manager for Mountain Line
- Michelle James with Friends of Flagstaff's Future
- Paul Bier
- Anthony Quintile

The following comments were received:

- Council has direct control over these concepts through the Zoning Code, incorporate them into your decision making.
- It is time to think differently about how transportation takes place in the community; it needs to be easier to use and connections need to be improved.
- The presented information needs to be considered as the city builds out 419 and 420 to fine tune those plans to meet carbon neutrality goals.
- Priced parking should be promoted in other areas of Flagstaff.
- Tax commercial parking spaces to encourage downsizing and use those revenues for improved transit.
- The principles and concepts presented are not currently represented in the execution of projects.
- The Lone Tree Overpass is heavily biased and it would behoove the Council to slow that process down and take a more holistic view of the project.

Councilmember Aslan stated that he is looking to break the pattern of induced demand and reimagine the way the city thinks about land use. There are a lot of challenges to implementing the strategies and building them into the culture in a way that is streamlined. There are projects right now where tensions are coming into play and once the projects are implemented, they are impossible to change. It is important to take the time needed to do things right and rethink how the projects are constructed.

Vice Mayor Daggett stated that large projects have an influence on how the community interacts with each other and how people move around the city and it is important to do them right.

Councilmember Shimoni stated that there are decisions that the Council can make to move the needle forward but it takes political will to do so. He asked where to start and how long it will take to develop strategies.

Flagstaff Metropolitan Planning Organization Manager Dave Wessel stated that it will take time but the first step is looking at system performance measures. Phase 1 will look at the performance metrics and Phase 2 will be putting the development standards in place including subdivision standards for connectivity.

Ms. Antonopoulos stated that the Sustainability team can develop a time frame and needs analysis to present to Council. This can help frame future conversations.

Councilmember Shimoni agreed and stated that he was hoping to discuss values and making a switch to put pedestrians at top priority followed by cyclists, bus transit, and vehicles last.

Councilmember McCarthy stated that induced demand is not the only thing to blame, the continual population growth brings in more traffic. The biggest impacts have to do with land use policy of density and mixed use. He does support improved mobility and bike infrastructure but moving completely away from vehicles is not practical, there needs to be a gradual movement away from the use of cars but it cannot be done overnight or by just pushing them to the bottom of the list. Walking and biking options must be improved but not at the full sacrifice of vehicles.

Councilmember Salas stated that Flagstaff is paving the way with adopting the Carbon Neutrality Plan, the Alternate Transportation Master Plan, the Multi-Modal Transportation Plan, and the updates to the Regional Transportation Plan. It is important to remember how integral transportation planning is for driving economic development. It is integral to workforce development and workforce housing. She is excited about moving forward and determining how to integrate TDM but it must be done with the understanding that according to the most recent Flagstaff Citizen Survey, the number one priority for public spending is mobility and transportation.

Mayor Deasy stated that he is looking forward to seeing the concepts move forward and appreciate the work that has gone into this.

15. INFORMATIONAL ITEMS TO/FROM MAYOR, COUNCIL, AND STAFF, AND FUTURE AGENDA ITEM REQUESTS

Councilmember Aslan acknowledged teachers and administrators for their dedicated efforts in keeping schools open and operating for the benefit of the children in and around Flagstaff.

Vice Mayor Daggett offered her congratulations to the 11 new Fire Fighters. She also reminded the public of the upcoming two-day Budget Retreat in February. She requested a FAIR item to discuss a possible ordinance to protect renters from income source discrimination.
