6. Discussion Items

A. Sport Courts at Bushmaster Park Substantially Complete

Amy Hagin shared with Commissioners an update on the completion of Bushmaster Park's new sports courts. In the meeting room she played a three-minute video of drone footage featuring the courts in pre-construction, during construction, and the finished product at night with the new LED lighting. The new LED lights shine straight down, helping keep the light on the courts rather than spreading to the surrounding area. Both of the courts that were previously there were completely demolished, and the four new courts consist of eight pickleball courts, two tennis courts, and two basketball courts. The noise impact is still to be determined. The courts have been raised four feet, which could help reduce noise. City Council will discuss with staff in the future regarding any noise mitigation.

Amy also shared new landscaping additions to the park. For each of the 21 trees that were removed, 21 new trees were planted. These new trees consisted of a larger variety of tree species. There were also be 74 shrubs planted.

Amy wrapped up her presentation, adding that the sports courts were completed in five months and one week and that the project was the first large BBB and PROSE project that has been delivered to the community since 2003.

B. Update on the Heritage Square Restroom Remodel

Amy presented to the Commissioners a concept design for the public restroom in Heritage Square. In the meeting room, Commissioners reviewed a concept drawing that included three toilets (one ADA), an adult changing station and one ADA-compliant sink. This new design, Amy said, would hopefully discourage any bad behavior from occurring, especially since the entrance is not completely closed off. Instead, there would be an overhead coiling grille (roll-up doors) at the entrance.

There was a question from the Commission regarding security cameras in the alley where the restroom is located. Amy replied that there are no cameras in the alley as it is public right-of-way.

Chair Parsons asked what the schedule or process for getting the new concept design implemented would be. Amy informed the Commission that they have been talking with Hopi Trust, the building owners, and that they have shared with them and the Downtown Business Alliance the concept design. Everyone has been in favor of the design. Next steps would be sending the design through the City's design review process and for tenant improvement construction drawings to be created, then send it out to bid. After a contractor is selected, they will be responsible for executing the design.

C. Athletics Allocations and Information

Haley Reynolds provided the Commissioners with general information on PROSE's athletic tournaments that occur each year. PROSE's athletic program, field use, occurs from April through the end of November. She said that there are tournaments every weekend except for two weekends when separate large events take place, such as Pride in the Pines. This past season they hosted 21 tournaments: four soccer, one baseball, 11 adult softball, three youth softball, one rugby and one ultimate frisbee. Except for rugby, all of the events are multi-day and occur at different locations (different field and/or complexes). Participation varies from 400 for the smaller tournaments and between 1,700 to 2,000 at the larger tournaments, depending on the year.

A question was received from the Commission regarding whether tournaments require additional restrooms. Haley replied that the size of the tournament can determine how many additional restrooms are needed. The baseline trigger is 100 participants, but the total restrooms needed for larger events can vary based on how many physical or portable restrooms are already on-site. For those larger tournaments, they may need to bring in additional restrooms. It is also the tournament holder's responsibility to keep the restrooms cleaned, stocked, and locked at the end of each day during the tournament.

D. Upcoming Winter Events

Haley shared with the Commissioners an update on PROSE's largest upcoming winter event on December 6, 2025: Winter Wonderland. The Winter Wonderland event, she said, consists of a holiday tree lighting, crafts, hot coco, and a visit by Santa. The event, she added, is also a partnership with the Downtown Business Alliance and Discover Flagstaff. She projects that upwards of 10,000 people will be present for the event.

The last event of the year that PROSE assists with the New Year's Eve celebration downtown. Haley let the Commissioners know that this is a huge collaborative effort with public safety and that it also involves the Downtown Business Alliance who hosts a Noon Year's Eve event at Heritage Square. She added that there would be fireworks as the City and nearby forest are not under any fire restrictions during that time of the year.

Amy mentioned that Northern Arizona University's marching band would have an exhibition of their upcoming parade routine that they will perform in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade, at Buffalo Park this Wednesday (November 19, 2025). This is a coordinated effort between the school and PROSE's Events and Marketing staff. The public is invited to attend.

Tyrone Johnson shared that they have been gaining a lot of interest in youth basketball registration at Hal Jensen Recreation Center.

7. PROSE Monthly Newsletter \(October 2025\)

Commissioners briefly discussed highlights from the October 2025 newsletter, including Halloween events at the recreation centers and a review of trail count numbers.

6. Discussion Items

A. Athletics Allocation Changes for 2026

Haley Reynolds, PROSE Events and Marketing Manager, shared with Commissioners an update on the Athletics program. PROSE staff are revamping the Athletics program beginning with field allocation for various youth sports. Historically, youth sports allocation had been based on historical precedence. This upcoming season, the youth sports groups will be allocated space based on the actual season of athletic play and registration numbers of youth. Haley explained that recreation leagues will continue to pay per child for the entire season, regardless of the amount of fields that they use. Competitive or club teams will pay per hour, per field, and for any field lighting needs. Haley added that everyone will have the opportunity to have space for themselves rather than working around other team's schedules.

Commissioners asked if there were any concerns that staff had for this new program. Haley said that what the City has identified as sports seasons does not always align with what the different sports leagues actually play - i.e. Spring sports may actually begin in late winter and require indoor fields to play on. Amy Hagin added that the City does not have sports fields that properly accommodate each sports type. There are no designated soccer fields; soccer games have been using multi-use fields. Amy acknowledged that this is a big change for the local athletic organizations and that there will be hiccups along the way, but they want to make this work better for each user group involved.

Commissioner Lamberson asked that if by adding more teams, if could the City also add more field lighting. Amy replied that while lighting is a huge budget item, they would also have to take into consideration the construction impacts that installing new lights would have on existing fields. Looking to the future, the proposed multi-purpose field at Cheshire Park would be a new field that could potentially include lighting.

There was an additional question from Commissioners on how many fields PROSE staff managed. Haley replied that there are 22 total -- 17 baseball or softball fields and 4 multi-use fields. She added that this topic for Athletics focused on club use, not local Flagstaff schools. City field space has been very desirable because their rates have not changed for many years. But, this could change when the PROSE division goes through a rate study that is expected to occur in the next year as a part of the new Master Plan review.

B. PROSE Master Plan Update

Amy Hagin, PROSE Assistant Director, shared with commissioners an update on the procurement process for their master plan. This process, she explained, begins with a request for proposal from consulting organizations, or groups of consultants and will begin next week when there is a pre-bid meeting for anyone responding to the request for proposals. Afterward, the proposals are due in early November. PROSE anticipates receiving strong responses. Whomever the awarded respondent is, there will be a large amount of community outreach involved, including from the commission, lasting anywhere from 12 to 18 months before completion of the master planning process.

C. E-Sports at Hal Jensen Recreation Center

Tyrone Johnson, Recreation Manager, provided an update on e-sports at Hal Jensen Recreation Center. E-sports, which consist of electronic gaming on computers and other consols that allow players to play virtual games with other people all over the world. Currently, they are nearly finished with the installation of the new gaming system. He added that they have a meeting this Thursday with City IT to link the new computers and consols to Flagstaff's Transitional School's (T-School) pre-existing internet connection at Hal Jensen. The installation of the computers and consols will finish with the addition of gaming lounge furniture. While there is no grand opening date, they hope to be up and running sometime in November as the kids are really looking forward to using the new equipment.

Commissioner's asked Tyrone if he had anything set up that would monitor content and use, providing some oversight for restrictions on the users. Tyrone responded that certain gaming features would be blocked and that users would need to sign-up to use the equipment and that there would be time limits. All supplemental tech items, hand-held components, would be kept with staff and would be checked out by users each time. Tyrone added that staff will need to be diligent with monitoring the use of the equipment and that they are still trying to figure out incorporating waivers for use of the equipment.

D. Upcoming Fall/Winter Parks Projects

Gino Leoni, Parks Manager, provided commissioners with an update on parks staff and their ongoing projects. They are currently in a transition period for the changing seasons and projects, too. Gino shared that he has been working on keeping staff engaged with minor upgrades and amenity upgrades to playground equipment, until the snow arrives. Other projects Gino covered are covered below:

- Cemetery expansion project (1 acre). They still have a lot of undeveloped usable space at Citizen's Cemetery. This year they received enough funding to create usable space for additional plots. Gino added that this expansion includes tree and shrub removal, some road grade work, irrigation expansion into the new plot, new sodding, then getting the new plots added online. Once each of those steps is complete, they would be about 2 years away from those plots being usable.
- Parks shop parking structure project. This project has been in progress for about 3 years, using carry forward on operational capital funding. They have been working on a new parking structure for large equipment at the parks shop in Thorpe Park. Recently, they have been working through the process of kit building for the structure. Once that is complete, they will work with a local contractor to get it built. This structure would cover where existing outdoor parking and excess playground equipment has been housed.
- McMillan Mesa playground replacement. As part of upgrading and replacing aging playground equipment, annually, parks staff are in the process of redesigning McMillan Mesa's playground equipment. Gino added that he has been working with several national playground vendors on the design and proposal.
- New dumpster enclosures. Operational capital funding is available to remove the dumpsters from their current location and place the new dumpsters by the park shop. The enclosure would consist of block fencing that included a gate and possibly also surveillance to help deter illegal dumping.
- A full rebuild of two wooden pedestrian bridges along FUTS in Ponderosa Trails Park.
- Park kiosk entryway sign replacement project. Planning to have new signage at each park. They are currently working on the design and hope to have a final design selected within the upcoming week. Signs will have park rules, universal symbology and incorporate QR codes.
- Replacing two little league scoreboards at fields 2 and 4 at Continental Park. Gino added that they have reached out to local little league group for their preferences on color selections.

7. Reports and Updates

A. Council Representative Report, Council Representative Anthony Garcia

Councilmember Garcia was not present to give a report.

B. PROSE Monthly Newsletter

Commissioners discussed a few highlights from the September newsletter, including the upcoming Halloween events and the new weight equipment in the Aquaplex gym.

8. Informational items to and from Commissioners and Staff

No additional information items were shared.

9. Agenda Items for next meeting

For November's Parks and Recreation Commission meeting:

- New drone footage of the completed sports courts at Bushmaster Park. Amy shared that the planned completion date for the courts is mid November.

- Update on Heritage Square's public restroom design
- General information on planned winter events

Bushmaster Park Improvements

We are thrilled to announce the completion of the Sport Courts at Bushmaster Park project and hosted a ribbon cutting event with elected officials present, community groups and partners who will be using the courts frequently and invited students from Thomas Elementary School to be the first to play on the courts. The project included the construction of two tennis courts, two basketball courts, and eight pickleball courts all equipped with LED lighting funded by the Bed, Board and Beverage (BBB) Special Revenue fund.

Special thank you to Thomas Elementary, Flagstaff Tennis Association, and the Flagstaff Pickleball Association for coming out to the grand opening celebration.

New sign at Hal Jensen

Buffalo Park & Hal Jensen Receive New Signage

Parks staff recently installed two new metal signs—one at Buffalo Park and one at Hal Jensen. The updated sign at Hal Jensen now reads “Hal Jensen Park and Recreation Center” acknowledging the neighborhood park that is outside of the recreation center. These signs match the style used at other parks and recreation centers and are part of an ongoing effort to create a consistent look across all facilities.

Winterization in Parks

Parks staff have been busy preparing for the winter season by taking steps to protect park infrastructure from cold temperatures and snow. This process includes, removing shade canopies, wind screens, and shutting down irrigation systems and drinking fountains to prevent freezing. These steps help keep our parks safe and protected during the colder months.
