My water pressure is returning and I hope yours is also.

The city's public works department keeps our parks as clean as they can. Here on South Beach, there is a group of volunteers (me, among them) who help keep the parks and beaches clean. The heavily-used parks, like Jetty, Jaycee and Causeway, are a continuous challenge. This volunteer effort is coordinated by Charlene Adair, under the auspices of the Fort Pierce South Beach Association. If you're interested in what's going on in South Beach, and the City of Fort Pierce, you might consider attending the Association's annual meeting, Feb. 24, 7 pm, at the Westside Church on Gulfstream.

Thanks for the kudos for our public works employees, who could not "work from home" and worked hard during the pandemic, like our police officers.

I am sharing your email with management so they know of your appreciation.

No worries. Just having the knowledge that the issue is known and being addressed helps. Other than this problematic issue notification process we have been very happy with the utilites here in Fort Pierce.

On another note, I am not sure if they are City of Fort Pierce or St. Lucie County workers but I would like to again compliment the crews that maintain the parks on our island. They are always clean and well maintained. I think a real competitive advantage for our community. I am sure you get plenty of cranky notes like mine when something goes wrong but not enough people also take the time send kudos for consistently good service.

Thanks!

Sorry I don't have better news. BTW, I have no water pressure either. Yikes. We certainly take water, electricity, waste water services for granted.

Thanks. I awoke to find your message, as well as one from FPUA about a major outage. They are working very hard to restore water and pressure. I am as disappointed as you that you were unable to make some kind of connection so that you knew they knew, and that when you checked the website, there wasn't a message alerting you.

I am sharing with management so that they can address this issue.

Mayor Hudson,

I awoke this night to having no water pressure in my home. I attempted to contact FPUA to notify them of the issue. Their system is completely useless. After having to search through their website to find a number to call it just rings with no answer. I am confused. So there is no live body to at least monitor that our services are working. I believe answering machines were invented around 1950. No facility to leave a message? I guess I am really getting ahead of myself to expect an automated online reporting option. This is a very familiar scenario when there have been power outages. This is unacceptable.

Sincerely,
