No, sorry we don't carry. But do you want me to look into other types of Remote Access Control/Support software tools that we might carry?

I have brand agnostic CDW specialists that might be able to tell us more about why one product is valued over another.

Let me know if interested in discussing your need here....

Stan,

Unfortunately we do not have access to Goverlan Software at this time and I do not believe we will be able to source in time to meet your requirements. Thank you for the opportunity, if we are able to source product then myself or Brian will be in touch with you.
