SECTION I -

I understand that the withdrawal is for distributions, other than under the Plan, taxable as ordinary income unless I am at least 59 1/2 years of age and the funds are used for qualified expenses as provided by law.

I am not in financial hardship, and all other funds available to me from the Company are sufficient to meet my needs.

IRS rules require that you stop making contributions to the 401(k) Plan for at least 6 months upon taking this hardship withdrawal.

The IRS only allows the following reasons for taking a hardship withdrawal. Check the one that applies to you.

- Medical expenses incurred by me, my spouse, or any of my dependents (or any expense necessary to obtain medical care).
- Purchase (excluding mortgage payments) of my principal residence.
- Payment of tuition, related educational fees, and room and board expenses for the next 12 months of post-secondary education for me, my spouse, my children, or my dependents.
- The need to prevent eviction from or mortgage foreclosure on my primary residence.
- Funeral or burial expenses for my parent, spouse, child or dependent.
- Repair of casualty damage to my primary residence that would be deductible under IRC Section 165.
