Rocio,

As discussed, we revised the supplemental conditions to include the provisions requested by the engineer to the extent they were not already in the contract. Attached is the revised two page contract and the supplemental conditions. As we did not have word versions of the original documents, we could not mark them to show the changes.

In the interest of saving time, we are distributing the new drafts to everyone at the same time, some the documents are subject to review and revision. Please get any comments to me as quickly as possible so that we may finalize the documents.

Thank you,

Debra L. Goetz

Rocio,

We reviewed the changes requested by Chanin Engineering. While some of the requested provisions are already covered in the proposed general conditions and should not be added, we can incorporate the remaining provisions into the proposed supplemental conditions. The new provisions would supplement the existing provisions on employees, subcontractors and scheduling.

We will draft the new provisions and expect to circulate them later today.
