Two things:

1. Attached for review is the first draft of the amendment to the agreement, which was put together based on the various discussions of the various terms, and in particular with the understanding that these services do not duplicate services previously contracted with respect to either the architect or the engineer, and that the price does not include any extra fee.
2. An updated insurance certificate is needed for Exhibit I.

Please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions or comments.
