Yes, it would be allowed for special functions or meetings. In addition, as long as it is not left unattended when in use and it must be plugged directly into a wall electrical outlet (no extension cords) when in use. Lastly, please store it away after use, so that it is not accessible for daily use.

As discussed by phone on Friday, can you clarify the permitted uses with precautions you informed me about. I am attempting to get reimbursed for the purchase of a toaster to be used for meetings: such as, educational, staff, etc. I have an item on Tuesday's agenda for said reimbursement and Auditor's position is that it is prohibited. Would appreciate your response so I can have as supporting documentation.

Thanks,
Marty Salazar
