In this section please give a full, detailed explanation of your project.

This program is intended to assist defendants who have had delays in the adjudication of their cases due to the Covid-19 pandemic, delays in education, or were held in immigration or county facilities and need to complete high school credit. The intention of this program is to offer online credit recovery, skills trainings with social and emotional development components and employment facilitations. The conduit intended for the program is a targeted population of offenders on or previously on county supervision or pre-trial diversion programs or who have pending charges. Currently the County of Hidalgo Adult Community Supervision Department has identified over 409 individuals on probation between the ages of 17 and 25 who do not have a high school diploma or GED.

The eligibility for the program will be determined by:

Request the Adult Community Supervision to search their client pool for individuals who are between the ages of 17-25 and do not have a high school diploma or GED

Advertise to search those who are between the ages of 17-25 and have had an altercation with the law, have been on adult community supervision, or have pending charges and has dropped out of school in Hidalgo County. Advertising will include:

Via Facebook

County Website

Flyers at the Courthouse

Flyers at the Adult Community Supervision Department

Public Service Announcements via newspaper, television, and radio

Since enrollment into an educational program is required as a regular standard for those who are currently on probation and do not have a high school diploma or GED, it will be determined a condition of their probation.

For those who are not currently on probation, will participate by signing an agreement of voluntary participation and will commit to be monitored by Project Recover staff.

The program will operate with a Program Director (Part Time) and two (2) Full Time Program Coordinators.

The Program Director:

The program director shall coordinate with online credit recovery programs that will accept individuals who have had altercations with the law. The program director shall also provide updates to the board of judges on enrollment trends and progress of those enrolled. In addition, the program director shall work closely with the Hidalgo County Adult Supervision Department to identify individuals ages 17 to 25 without a high school diploma or GED. Also identifying the participants level and grade rank, the number of credits which were required to attain a high school diploma or determine that participant his best served by obtaining a GED. The Program Director shall have direct contact with all participants via text messaging, emails, and in person interviews.

The Program Coordinators:

The Program Coordinators will guide participants through the enrollment process and assist them in obtaining all documents required for enrollment. The Program Coordinators will make home visits to ensure that online courses are readily available via the internet and to ensure there is progress on a weekly basis. Program Coordinators will assist with weekly motivational messages to the participants to entice completion of the courses and identify new opportunities when high school diploma or GED is attained. Program Coordinators will also be a point of contact with schools and tutors to identify any issues the participant may be having with the courses.

All staff will perform the duties of life coach for social and emotional development, tutors, and job search assistance. During our current program we find that participants need assistance in requesting social security numbers, birth certificates, previous school records, or other documents that may be required to register for on-line courses. New or Continuing Project*

Is this a new project or is it a continuing project?

- If this is a new project, will it continue after all Texas Bar Foundation funds are expended?
- If this is a continuation or expansion of an existing project, how long has the project existed?

During the Fall of 2020 the Texas Bar Foundation funded Project Recover to have the first online high school credit recovery for individual who have had altercations with the law. The success of the program includes 4 participants who graduated high school and 26 other students who are currently enrolled in high school credit recovery and/or GED programs. While the program has had excellent success, the services are vastly needed since the Hidalgo County Community Supervision Department has identified over 409 individuals who are between the ages of 17-25 and do not have a high school diploma or GED. At this time an expansion to serve 60 students would increase the amount of participants served.
