Ingenium and AssetWIN are proprietary software applications developed and owned by Asset Systems, Inc. Asset Systems markets all of its software and integrated hardware on an exclusive direct basis and Ingenium is the software which is used to provide cloud-base services. Accordingly, we are the sole source from which our products and services may be purchased including any Ingenium cloud based subscription renewals.

We use our proprietary software and hardware in the performance of client inventories and, as the result, are also the sole source from which such services may be purchased.

Thank you.
