3.1 Education Records.

Certain information and records that Customer may provide to and/or Company may create that are: 1) directly related to a student; and 2) maintained by Customer or by Company on behalf of Customer ("Education Record') are protected information and records under FERPA. FERPA prohibits schools from sharing Education Records without the consent of the student and/or the student's parent unless the recipient of such Education Records meets an applicable exception under FERPA. Company provides the Services to Customer under the school official exception of FERPA, 34 CFR Part 99.3l(a)(l), but regardless of whether such exception applies, Company endeavors to ensure that Customer has obtained any parental consent required prior to disclosing Education Records with Company. Thus, Customer hereby represents that the Customer's school or school district has obtained all necessary consents from parents or guardians or other appropriate individuals to share such Education Records with Company, in each case, solely to enable Company's operation and provision of the Services. Should Company redisclose de-identified information derived from Education Records, the recipient of such de-identified information will be obligated by written agreement to not re-identify, or attempt to re-identify such information.

When student data is ingested from the schools, all users are assigned a User ID (luid) which becomes the main ID source.

Then all columns with headers matching PII are identified. (first, last, street address, number, email address, etc.) these columns, as well as the luid are moved into their own table.

All non PII fields are moved into our data warehouse, snowflake, along the luid.

- "SaaS Service Agreement" – A contract between Kiddom and its clients specifying the terms and conditions for using the Kiddom Platform.

Introduction

Kiddom Inc. (referred to as "Kiddom," "we," "our," or "us") Processes Kiddom Platform Personal Data on behalf of clients and according to their instructions. As a data processor or service provider under the California Consumer Privacy Act ("CCPA"), Kiddom only handles Kiddom Personal Data as directed by clients.

This means that only clients can decide how, why, and how long Kiddom will process the Kiddom Platform Personal Data.

When providing the Kiddom Platform to clients, we establish a SaaS Service Agreement outlining how we must handle the personal data entrusted to us. This agreement addresses our responsibilities concerning personal data upon termination or expiration of our contract with the client, such as returning or deleting the data.

- In our standard Kiddom SaaS Service Agreement (which most of our clients sign), we commit to making all client data available for electronic retrieval for 30 days following the contract's termination or expiration. After that period, we securely delete or de-identify Kiddom Platform Personal Data.
- Occasionally, we may enter into SaaS Service Agreements with slightly different data retention terms (e.g., when using a client's template). Regardless, all agreements should allow clients at least 30 days for electronic data retrieval before we delete or de-identify their data and related educational records. Unless otherwise specified, all personal data on the Kiddom Platform should be treated according to the terms of the standard Kiddom Agreement mentioned above and the retention period outlined in Section 3. "Retention Period for Kiddom Platform Personal Data" of this Policy.

This Policy describes the policy and steps for deleting Kiddom Platform Personal Data after a client account has been terminated or expires, as well as retrieving, exporting, and providing personal data to a client upon termination or expiration of their account. The Policy applies to the designated person(s) at Kiddom responsible for overseeing the deletion and retrieval of personal data on the Kiddom Platform.

Retention Period for Kiddom Platform Personal Data

Kiddom's policy is to only retain Kiddom Platform Personal Data associated with a client account for 90 calendar days after the account is terminated or expires. Following this period, Kiddom securely deletes Kiddom Platform Personal Data in accordance with the details provided in the table in Section 6, Deletion & Retrieval Details. Regular checks must be performed to ensure that all Kiddom Platform Personal Data is deleted after the 90-day period.

Note: Clients who want Kiddom Platform Personal Data returned must inform Kiddom within 30 days after termination of their agreement. Upon receiving a timely request, Kiddom will provide the client with instructions on exporting their personal data or supply the exported data directly. If a client requests the return (or retrieval) of their personal data, Kiddom will postpone the deletion process until either (1) the Kiddom Platform Personal Data has been exported and provided to the client or downloaded by the client, or (2) an additional 90 days have passed since the client made the request, whichever comes first.

Client Notification System

A client notification system shall be implemented to remind clients of the upcoming data deletion and their option to request data retrieval within the specified time limit.

Handling Late Requests for Deletion or Retrieval

If a client fails to communicate their decision to retrieve or delete the Kiddom Platform Personal Data within the 90-day period following the termination or expiration of their agreement, Kiddom will take the following steps:

1. Attempt to contact the client to remind them of their data retrieval or deletion options.
2. If the client does not respond within seven (7) days, Kiddom will proceed with the secure deletion of the client's Kiddom Platform Personal Data.
3. In cases where the client requests data retrieval after the 90-day period has passed, Kiddom will evaluate the request on a case-by-case basis and may accommodate the request if the backup data is still available.

Deletion & Retrieval Details

The following table provides the necessary details for deletion and export of Kiddom Platform Personal Data:

§ 3.6.1.2 The Architect shall advise and consult with the Owner during the Construction Phase Services. The Architect shall have authority to act on behalf of the Owner only to the extent provided in this Agreement. The Architect shall not have control over, charge of, or responsibility for the construction means, methods, techniques, sequences or procedures, or for safety precautions and programs in connection with the Work, nor shall the Architect be responsible for the Contractor's failure to perform the Work in accordance with the requirements of the Contract Documents. The Architect shall be responsible for the Architect's negligent acts or omissions, but shall not have control over or charge of, and shall not be responsible for, acts or omissions of the Contractor or of any other persons or entities performing portions of the Work.

§ 3.6.1.3 Subject to Section 4.2 and except as provided in Section 3.6.6.5, the Architect's responsibility to provide Construction Phase Services commences with the award of the Contract for Construction and terminates on the date the Architect issues the final Certificate for Payment.

§ 3.6.2 Evaluations of the Work

§ 3.6.2.1 The Architect shall visit the site at intervals appropriate to the stage of construction, or as otherwise required in Section 4.2.3, to become generally familiar with the progress and quality of the portion of the Work completed, and to determine, in general, if the Work observed is being performed in a manner indicating that the Work, when fully completed, will be in accordance with the Contract Documents. However, the Architect shall not be required to make exhaustive or continuous on-site inspections to check the quality or quantity of the Work. On the basis of the site visits, the Architect shall keep the Owner reasonably informed about the progress and quality of the portion of the Work completed, and promptly report to the Owner (1) known deviations from the Contract Documents, (2) known deviations from the most recent construction schedule submitted by the Contractor, and (3) defects and deficiencies observed in the Work.

§ 3.6.2.2 The Architect has the authority to reject Work that does not conform to the Contract Documents. Whenever the Architect considers it necessary or advisable, the Architect shall have the authority to require inspection or testing of the Work in accordance with the provisions of the Contract Documents, whether or not the Work is fabricated, installed or completed. However, neither this authority of the Architect nor a decision made in good faith either to exercise or not to exercise such authority shall give rise to a duty or responsibility of the Architect to the Contractor, Subcontractors, suppliers, their agents or employees, or other persons or entities performing portions of the Work.

§ 3.6.2.3 The Architect shall interpret and decide matters concerning performance under, and requirements of, the Contract Documents on written request of either the Owner or Contractor. The Architect's response to such requests shall be made in writing within any time limits agreed upon or otherwise with reasonable promptness.

§ 3.6.2.4 Interpretations and decisions of the Architect shall be consistent with the intent of, and reasonably inferable from, the Contract Documents and shall be in writing or in the form of drawings. When making such interpretations and decisions, the Architect shall endeavor to secure faithful performance by both Owner and Contractor, shall not show partiality to either, and shall not be liable for results of interpretations or decisions rendered in good faith. The Architect's decisions on matters relating to aesthetic effect shall be final if consistent with the intent expressed in the Contract Documents.

§ 3.6.2.5 Unless the Owner and Contractor designate another person to serve as an Initial Decision Maker, as that term is defined in AIA Document A201–2017, the Architect shall render initial decisions on Claims between the Owner and Contractor as provided in the Contract Documents.

§ 3.6.3 Certificates for Payment to Contractor

§ 3.6.3.1 The Architect shall review and certify the amounts due the Contractor and shall issue certificates in such amounts. The Architect's certification for payment shall constitute a representation to the Owner, based on the Architect's evaluation of the Work as provided in Section 3.6.2 and on the data comprising the Contractor's Application for Payment, that, to the best of the Architect's knowledge, information and belief, the Work has progressed to the point indicated, the quality of the Work is in accordance with the Contract Documents, and that the Contractor is entitled to payment in the amount certified. The foregoing representations are subject to (1) an evaluation of the Work for conformance with the Contract Documents upon Substantial Completion, (2) results of subsequent tests and inspections, (3) correction of minor deviations from the Contract Documents prior to completion, and (4) specific qualifications expressed by the Architect.

§ 3.6.3.2 The issuance of a Certificate for Payment shall not be a representation that the Architect has (1) made exhaustive or continuous on-site inspections to check the quality or quantity of the Work, (2) reviewed construction means, methods, techniques, sequences or procedures, (3) reviewed copies of requisitions received from Subcontractors and suppliers and other data requested by the Owner to substantiate the Contractor's right to payment, or (4) ascertained how or for what purpose the Contractor has used money previously paid on account of the Contract Sum.

§ 3.6.3.3 The Architect shall maintain a record of the Applications and Certificates for Payment.

§ 3.6.4 Submittals

§ 3.6.4.1 The Architect shall review the Contractor's submittal schedule and shall not unreasonably delay or withhold approval of the schedule. The Architect's action in reviewing submittals shall be taken in accordance with the approved submittal schedule or, in the absence of an approved submittal schedule, with reasonable promptness while allowing sufficient time, in the Architect's professional judgment, to permit adequate review.

§ 3.6.4.2 The Architect shall review and approve, or take other appropriate action upon, the Contractor's submittals such as Shop Drawings, Product Data and Samples, but only for the limited purpose of checking for conformance with information given and the design concept expressed in the Contract Documents. Review of such submittals is not for the purpose of determining the accuracy and completeness of other information such as dimensions, quantities, and installation or performance of equipment or systems, which are the Contractor's responsibility. The Architect's review shall not constitute approval of safety precautions or construction means, methods, techniques, sequences or procedures. The Architect's approval of a specific item shall not indicate approval of an assembly of which the item is a component.

§ 3.6.4.3 If the Contract Documents specifically require the Contractor to provide professional design services or certifications by a design professional related to systems, materials, or equipment, the Architect shall specify the appropriate performance and design criteria that such services must satisfy. The Architect shall review Shop Drawings and other submittals related to the Work designed or certified by the Contractor's design professional, provided the submittals bear such professional's seal and signature when submitted to the Architect. The Architect's review shall be for the limited purpose of checking for conformance with information given and the design concept expressed in the Contract Documents. The Architect shall be entitled to rely upon, and shall not be responsible for, the adequacy and accuracy of the services, certifications, and approvals performed or provided by such design professionals.

§ 3.6.4.4 Subject to Section 4.2, the Architect shall review and respond to requests for information about the Contract Documents. The Architect shall set forth, in the Contract Documents, the requirements for requests for information. Requests for information shall include, at a minimum, a detailed written statement that indicates the specific Drawings or Specifications in need of clarification and the nature of the clarification requested. The Architect's response to such requests shall be made in writing within any time limits agreed upon, or otherwise with reasonable promptness. If appropriate, the Architect shall prepare and issue supplemental Drawings and Specifications in response to the requests for information.

§ 3.6.4.5 The Architect shall maintain a record of submittals and copies of submittals supplied by the Contractor in accordance with the requirements of the Contract Documents.

§ 3.6.5 Changes in the Work

§ 3.6.5.1 The Architect may order minor changes in the Work that are consistent with the intent of the Contract Documents and do not involve an adjustment in the Contract Sum or an extension of the Contract Time. Subject to Section 4.2, the Architect shall prepare Change Orders and Construction Change Directives for the Owner's approval and execution in accordance with the Contract Documents.

§ 3.6.5.2 The Architect shall maintain records relative to changes in the Work.

§ 3.6.6 Project Completion

§ 3.6.6.1 The Architect shall:

§ 3.6.6.2 The Architect's inspections shall be conducted with the Owner to check conformance of the Work with the requirements of the Contract Documents and to verify the accuracy and completeness of the list submitted by the Contractor of Work to be completed or corrected.

§ 3.6.6.3 When Substantial Completion has been achieved, the Architect shall inform the Owner about the balance of the Contract Sum remaining to be paid the Contractor, including the amount to be retained from the Contract Sum, if any, for final completion or correction of the Work.

§ 3.6.6.4 The Architect shall forward to the Owner the following information received from the Contractor: (1) consent of surety or sureties, if any, to reduction in or partial release of retainage or the making of final payment; (2) affidavits, receipts, releases and waivers of liens, or bonds indemnifying the Owner against liens; and (3) any other documentation required of the Contractor under the Contract Documents.

If, upon receipt of the Architect's notice, the Owner determines that all or parts of the services are not required, the Owner shall give prompt written notice to the Architect of the Owner's determination. § 4.2.5 If the services covered by this Agreement have not been completed within Thirty Six (36) months of the date of this Agreement, through no fault of the Architect, extension of the Architect's services beyond that time shall be compensated as Additional Services.

Owner shall notify the Architect. The Owner and the Architect shall thereafter agree to a corresponding change in the Project's scope and quality.

§ 5.3 The Owner shall identify a representative authorized to act on the Owner's behalf with respect to the Project. The Owner shall render decisions and approve the Architect's submittals in a timely manner in order to avoid unreasonable delay in the orderly and sequential progress of the Architect's services.

(Paragraphs deleted)

§ 5.8 The Owner shall coordinate the services of its own consultants with those services provided by the Architect. Upon the Architect's request, the Owner shall furnish copies of the scope of services in the contracts between the Owner and the Owner's consultants. The Owner shall furnish the services of consultants other than those designated as the responsibility of the Architect in this Agreement, or authorize the Architect to furnish them as an Additional Service, when the Architect requests such services and demonstrates that they are reasonably required by the scope of the Project. The Owner shall require that its consultants and contractors maintain insurance, including professional liability insurance, as appropriate to the services or work provided.

ARTICLE 6 COST OF THE WORK

§ 6.1 For purposes of this Agreement, the Cost of the Work shall be the total cost to the Owner to construct all elements of the Project designed or specified by the Architect and shall include contractors' general conditions costs, overhead and profit. The Cost of the Work also includes the reasonable value of labor, materials, and equipment, donated to, or otherwise furnished by, the Owner. The Cost of the Work does not include the compensation of the Architect; the costs of the land, rights-of-way, financing, or contingencies for changes in the Work; or other costs that are the responsibility of the Owner.

§ 6.2 The Owner's budget for the Cost of the Work is provided in Initial Information, and shall be adjusted throughout the Project as required under Sections 5.2, 6.4 and 6.5. Evaluations of the Owner's budget for the Cost of the Work, and the preliminary estimate of the Cost of the Work and updated estimates of the Cost of the Work, prepared by the Architect, represent the Architect's judgment as a design professional. It is recognized, however, that neither the Architect nor the Owner has control over the cost of labor, materials, or equipment; the Contractor's methods of determining bid prices; or competitive bidding, market, or negotiating conditions. Accordingly, the Architect cannot and does not warrant or represent that bids or negotiated prices will not vary from the Owner's budget for the Cost of the Work, or from any estimate of the Cost of the Work, or evaluation, prepared or agreed to by the Architect.

§ 6.3 In preparing estimates of the Cost of Work, the Architect shall be permitted to include contingencies for design, bidding, and price escalation; to determine what materials, equipment, component systems, and types of construction are to be included in the Contract Documents; to recommend reasonable adjustments in the program and scope of the Project; and to include design alternates as may be necessary to adjust the estimated Cost of the Work to meet the Owner's budget. The Architect's estimate of the Cost of the Work shall be based on current area, volume or similar conceptual estimating techniques. If the Owner requires a detailed estimate of the Cost of the Work, the Architect shall provide such an estimate, if identified as the Architect's responsibility in Section 4.1.1, as a Supplemental Service.

§ 6.4 If, through no fault of the Architect, the Procurement Phase has not commenced within 90 days after the Architect submits the Construction Documents to the Owner, the Owner's budget for the Cost of the Work shall be adjusted to reflect changes in the general level of prices in the applicable construction market.

§ 6.5 If at any time the Architect's estimate of the Cost of the Work exceeds the Owner's budget for the Cost of the Work, the Architect shall make appropriate recommendations to the Owner to adjust the Project's size, quality, or budget for the Cost of the Work, and the Owner shall cooperate with the Architect in making such adjustments.

§ 6.6 If the Owner's budget for the Cost of the Work at the conclusion of the Construction Documents Phase Services is exceeded by the lowest bona fide bid or negotiated proposal, the Owner shall

- .1 give written approval of an increase in the budget for the Cost of the Work;
- .2 authorize rebidding or renegotiating of the Project within a reasonable time;
- .3 terminate in accordance with Section 9.5;
- .4 in consultation with the Architect, revise the Project program, scope, or quality as required to reduce the Cost of the Work; or,
- .5 implement any other mutually acceptable alternative.

§ 6.7 If the Owner chooses to proceed under Section 6.6.4, the Architect shall modify the Construction Documents as necessary to comply with the Owner's budget for the Cost of the Work at the conclusion of the Construction Documents Phase Services, or the budget as adjusted under Section 6.6.1. If the Owner requires the Architect to modify the Construction Documents because the lowest bona fide bid or negotiated proposal exceeds the Owner's budget for the Cost of the Work due to market conditions the Architect could not reasonably anticipate, the Owner shall compensate the Architect for the modifications as an Additional Service pursuant to Section 11.3; otherwise the Architect's services for modifying the Construction Documents shall be without additional compensation. In any event, the Architect's modification of the Construction Documents shall be the limit of the Architect's responsibility under this Article 6.

ARTICLE 7 COPYRIGHTS AND LICENSES

§ 7.1 The Architect and the Owner warrant that in transmitting Instruments of Service, or any other information, the transmitting party is the copyright owner of such information or has permission from the copyright owner to transmit such information for its use on the Project.

§ 7.2 The Architect and the Architect's consultants shall be deemed the authors and owners of their respective Instruments of Service, including the Drawings and Specifications, and shall retain all common law, statutory and other reserved rights, including copyrights. Submission or distribution of Instruments of Service to meet official regulatory requirements or for similar purposes in connection with the Project is not to be construed as publication in derogation of the reserved rights of the Architect and the Architect's consultants.

§ 7.3 The Architect grants to the Owner a nonexclusive license to use the Architect's Instruments of Service solely and exclusively for purposes of constructing, using, maintaining, altering and adding to the Project, provided that the Owner substantially performs its obligations under this Agreement, including prompt payment of all sums due pursuant to Article 9 and Article 11. The Architect shall obtain similar nonexclusive licenses from the Architect's consultants consistent with this Agreement. The license granted under this section permits the Owner to authorize the Contractor, Subcontractors, Sub-subcontractors, and suppliers, as well as the Owner's consultants and separate contractors, to reproduce applicable portions of the Instruments of Service, subject to any protocols established pursuant to Section 1.3, solely and exclusively for use in performing services or construction for the Project. If the Architect rightfully terminates this Agreement for cause as provided in Section 9.4, the license granted in this Section 7.3 shall terminate.

§ 7.3.1 In the event the Owner uses the Instruments of Service without retaining the authors of the Instruments of Service, the Owner releases the Architect and Architect's consultant(s) from all claims and causes of action arising from such uses. The Owner, to the extent permitted by law, further agrees to indemnify and hold harmless the Architect and its consultants from all costs and expenses, including the cost of defense, related to claims and causes of action asserted by any third person or entity to the extent such costs and expenses arise from the Owner's use of the Instruments of Service under this Section 7.3.1. The terms of this Section 7.3.1 shall not apply if the Owner rightfully terminates this Agreement for cause under Section 9.4.

§ 7.4 Except for the licenses granted in this Article 7, no other license or right shall be deemed granted or implied under this Agreement. The Owner shall not assign, delegate, sublicense, pledge or otherwise transfer any license granted herein to another party without the prior written agreement of the Architect. Any unauthorized use of the Instruments of Service shall be at the Owner's sole risk and without liability to the Architect and the Architect's consultants.

ARTICLE 8 CLAIMS AND DISPUTES

§ 8.1 General

§ 8.1.1 The Owner and Architect shall commence all claims and causes of action against the other and arising out of or related to this Agreement, whether in contract, tort, or otherwise, in accordance with the requirements of the binding dispute resolution method selected in this Agreement and within the period specified by applicable law, but in any case not more than 10 years after the date of Substantial Completion of the Work. The Owner and Architect waive all claims and causes of action not commenced in accordance with this Section 8.1.1.

(1) The contractor will not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or national origin. The contractor will take affirmative action to ensure that applicants are employed, and that employees are treated during employment without regard to their race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or national origin. Such action shall include, but not be limited to the following: Employment, upgrading, demotion, or transfer; recruitment or recruitment advertising; layoff or termination; rates of pay or other forms of compensation; and selection for training, including apprenticeship. The contractor agrees to post in conspicuous places, available to employees and applicants for employment, notices to be provided setting forth the provisions of this nondiscrimination clause.

(2) The contractor will, in all solicitations or advertisements for employees placed by or on behalf of the contractor, state that all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or national origin.

(3) The contractor will not discharge or in any other manner discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because such employee or applicant has inquired about, discussed, or disclosed the compensation of the employee or applicant or another employee or applicant. This provision shall not apply to instances in which an employee who has access to the compensation information of other employees or applicants as a part of such employee's essential job functions discloses the compensation of such other employees or applicants to individuals who do not otherwise have access to such information, unless such disclosure is in response to a formal complaint or charge, in furtherance of an investigation, proceeding, hearing, or action, including an investigation conducted by the employer, or is consistent with the contractor's legal duty to furnish information.

(4) The contractor will send to each labor union or representative of workers with which he has a collective bargaining agreement or other contract or understanding, a notice to be provided advising the said labor union or workers' representatives of the contractor's commitments under this section, and shall post copies of the notice in conspicuous places available to employees and applicants for employment.

(5) The contractor will comply with all provisions of Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, and of the rules, regulations, and relevant orders of the Secretary of Labor.

(6) The contractor will furnish all information and reports required by Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, and by rules, regulations, and orders of the Secretary of Labor, or pursuant thereto, and will permit access to his books, records, and accounts by the administering agency and the Secretary of Labor for purposes of investigation to ascertain compliance with such rules, regulations, and orders.

(7) In the event of the contractor's noncompliance with the nondiscrimination clauses of this contract or with any of the said rules, regulations, or orders, this contract may be canceled, terminated, or suspended in whole or in part and the contractor may be declared ineligible for further Government contracts or federally assisted construction contracts in accordance with procedures authorized in Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, and such other sanctions may be imposed and remedies invoked as provided in Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, or by rule, regulation, or order of the Secretary of Labor, or as otherwise provided by law.

Customer Service

At Amergis we pride ourselves in providing customer service that goes beyond industry standards to make our customers feel like they are a part of the Amergis family. We believe that every team member within Amergis is a customer service representative, consistently providing the best care for our employees, clients, SBPs, and staff. The following represent common mechanisms we use to resolve customer service issues:

- Customer Summary – As incidents occur, a Customer Service Representative collaborates with the complainant every step of the way. These complaints vary, coming from employees, patients, family members, or anyone who may have a concern or unhappy experience with Amergis' services. Our customer service representatives document the report from start to finish. They remain neutral to provide the best support and to prevent further disputes.
- Office Summary – Our Customer Service Representative will contact the office involved with the issue to gather information on the office's behalf. The customer service representative remains neutral during this process.
- Communicate and Resolve – Our Customer Service Representative, along with office leadership and all parties involved, will then come to a resolution, and provide this information to the district. After that, a follow-up phone call may be necessary to be sure that all parties are complying with the resolution agreed upon.
- Track Trends - The customer service representative keeps track of an issue throughout the resolution process, tracking the trends in incidents and grievances, and communicates this with office leadership. Tracking all complaints and resolutions provides trending analysis for an office to prevent problems. These trends further funnel up to Amergis' Headquarters providing feedback on a national level to encourage steps for continued training of staff.

Compliance and Privacy Policies

Amergis prioritizes the confidentiality of student information and adheres to all applicable regulations, including confidentiality agreements and ethical standards outlined by NASP, HIPAA, FERPA, and IDEA. Our staff are trained on these regulations during onboarding and the information is reinforced in our Employee Handbook. In addition, all our staff undergo orientation by the required departments and agree to being assigned a mentor. We understand and respect that all student records remain the property of the respective school district. Amergis emphasizes the legal and ethical obligations to protect student privacy, both in health and educational matters. This commitment is formalized through our Compliance Program, which all Amergis employees are required to acknowledge and sign. We strive to maintain the highest standards of integrity and compliance in every aspect of our work. For all district specific training that is not included in Amergis onboarding and training, we will work with the district so that each of our SBP's attends district specific training if required.

Work Schedule

All SPBs assigned to district facilities will work variable hours based on needs, which may include full-time, part-time, or as-needed assignments. They will work a minimum of 7 hours and 45minutes per day. Hours will be aligned with

- Amergis' billing representative reconciles any discrepancies and notifies Knox County to resolve the discrepancy.
- Amergis generates the updated billing report and sends to Knox County billing representative.
- Knox County billing representative reviews final billing report and produces payment.
- Through this process, no less than two (2) Amergis employees review individual invoices for accuracy before submittal to our customers.

Our invoices contain the school district's name, unit, date of service, shift, class type, employee name, hours worked, and bill rate. We can customize our invoices to meet any other customer specifications. Managed Service Provider (MSP)

Sunburst Workforce Advisors (SWA)

SWA, a wholly owned subsidiary of Amergis, provides workforce solutions operating as the Managed Services Provider (MSP) entity within the organization.

Sunburst's supplier network is comprised of more than two hundred supplier partners who cover nursing, allied, locums, and all non-clinical job classifications. By partnering with Sunburst, Knox County will maintain access to its top suppliers while maintaining optimal staffing levels across its facilities. Sunburst collaborates with them to build a supplier network that compliments their staffing needs. Sunburst's solution offers Knox County vendor panel transparency into agency spend, supplier ranking and hiring-manager feedback.

SWA offers a vendor strategic approach to address contingent staffing challenges. Our approach utilizes workforce management solutions to address these challenges. Sunburst offers innovative solutions utilizing technology to address our customer's contingent staffing needs.

Sunburst collaborates with our customers to build customized workforce management solutions to address contingent staffing challenges such as automating manual processes, decreasing time-to-fill, and increasing fill-rates/retention. Our continually growing team of industry experts will offer in-market guidance on appropriate market pricing and address ways to assume cost reduction of your entire program by leveraging technology Sunburst has a vendor pool of more than 200+ staffing specific suppliers that we have established history who can be recommended to Knox County.

Through our technology platform, we make the requisitioning process streamlined and efficient, providing administrative relief to Knox County's hiring managers. Through established job templates or completely new requisitions, hiring managers can complete the process in as few as one to three clicks.

- Hiring managers can save new job postings created using pre-populated job templates to their quick access preferences.
- Should a hiring manager prefer to create a new requisition without a template, a configurable decision wizard assists using prompted questions for the manager to answer to determine the correct type of requisition, such as contingent worker vs. SOW or fixed price vs. direct hire.

Sunburst will release job requisitions to agencies in a Pending or Open state. Releasing in a Pending status prohibits an agency from submitting any candidates while giving them visibility into an upcoming need. The PMO/MSP may have visibility into an open position before the hiring manager creates a requisition in the system. For example, we can reduce cycle time if agencies can begin sourcing talent for anticipated or visibly pending requisitions when an SOW is in final stages of negotiations. Typically, agencies only submit candidates form open requisitions. Sunburst/Amergis suggests a proactive approach to recruiting that helps in competitive markets.

The Sunburst program management team has a mix of staffing and recruiting industry experience. Combined, the Sunburst leadership team has over one hundred years of acute care staffing experience covering all disciplines including: nursing, allied health, locums, environmental, dietary, IT, and all non-clinical job families. Sunburst' leadership team will ensure the necessary team is experienced, trained, and receives continued education to properly support Knox County at the highest level. The following chart depicts the roles and responsibilities of our Program Management Team members.

Sunburst has multiple VMS providers that offer IRP capabilities and requests the opportunity to further discuss these capabilities, as well as necessary volume related intel from Knox County. The utilization of an IRP will allow to balance the amount of contingent labor sourced from supplier partners versus those employed directly by Knox County.

Having the proper mix of IRP resources will provide significant cost savings, rather than relying heavily on supplier-provided contingent workers. Sunburst can float IRP resources and share across your District at an elevated frequency providing additional flexibility. Sunburst's VMS providers have the industry's best IRP capabilities, and Sunburst would recommend that consider partnerships with these providers during the program implementation process.

2.2.7 Business Associate will limit the use, disclosure, or request of Protected Health Information, to the extent practicable, (i) to the Limited Data Set, or (ii) if needed by BA, to the minimum necessary (as determined by BA) to accomplish the intended purpose of such use, disclosure, or request, except to the extent a broader use, disclosure, or request of Protected Health Information is allowed by the Privacy Rule. BA's ability to satisfy the requirement of this Section 2.2.7 by use of the Limited Data Set shall be available until the effective date of subsequent guidance issued by the Secretary regarding what constitutes "minimum necessary," at which time BA will take reasonable efforts to limit the use, disclosure, or request of Protected Health Information to the minimum necessary (as defined by such Secretary's guidance) to accomplish the intended purpose of such use, disclosure, or request, except to the extent a broader use, disclosure, or request of Protected Health Information is allowed by the Privacy Rule.

The BA shall undertake such actions in a manner that is consistent with any guidance issued by the Secretary pursuant to the HITECH Act.

4.1.2 Ensure that any subcontractors that create, receive, maintain or transmit PHI on behalf of the BA agree to comply with the applicable requirements of the Privacy and Security

Rules by entering into a contract or other arrangement that complies with the Privacy and Security Rules.

4.1.3 Promptly report to CE any Security Incident of which BA becomes aware. In addition, BA agrees to promptly notify CE following the discovery of a Breach of Unsecured PHI. 4.1.4 BA shall protect PHI from any improper oral or written disclosure by enacting and enforcing safeguards to maintain the security of and to prevent any Use or Disclosure of PHI other than is permitted by this Agreement.

4.2 Reporting and Mitigation. Business Associate will report to Covered Entity any acquisition, access, use, or disclosure of Protected Health Information of which BA becomes aware, or that is reported to BA by an agent or Subcontractor, that is in violation of this Agreement.

BA agrees to mitigate, to the extent practicable, any harmful effect that is known to BA of a use or disclosure of PHI by BA or its employees, officers or agents in violation of the requirements of this Agreement (including, without limitation, any Security Incident or Breach of Unsecured PHI). BA agrees to reasonably cooperate and coordinate with CE in the investigation of any violation of the requirements of this Agreement and/or any Security Incident or Breach. BA shall also reasonably cooperate and coordinate with CE in the preparation of any reports or notices to the individual, a regulatory body or any third party required to be made under HIPAA Regulations, the HITECH Act, or any other Federal or State laws, rules, or regulations, provided that any such reports or notices shall be subject to the prior written approval of CE.

4.3 Agents and Subcontractors. BA agrees to enter into an agreement with each of its subcontractors pursuant to 45 CFR 164.308(b)(1) and HITECH 13401. BA shall monitor and ensure, in accordance with 45 CFR 164.502(e)(l)(ii) and 164.308(b)(2), that any agents, including subcontractors and subcontractors of subcontractors, that create, received, maintain, or transmit PHI on behalf of the BA agree to the same restrictions, conditions, and requirements that apply to the BA through this Agreement with respect to such information.

4.4 Access to Designated Record Sets. To the extent that BA possesses or maintains PHI in a Designated Record Set, BA agrees to provide access, at the request of CE, and in the time and manner designated by the CE, to PHI in a Designated Record Set, to Covered Entity or, as directed by CE, to an Individual in order to meet the requirements under HIPAA Regulations. If an Individual makes a request for access to PHI directly to BA, BA shall notify CE of the request within three (3) business days of such request and will cooperate with CE and allow CE to send the response to the Individual.

4.5 Amendment of Designated Record Sets. To the extent that BA possesses or maintains PHI in a Designated Record Set, BA agrees to make any amendment(s) to PHI in a Designated Record Set that the CE directs or agrees to pursuant to HIPAA Regulations at the request of CE or an Individual, and in the time and manner designated by the CE. If an Individual makes a request for an amendment to PHI directly to BA, BA shall notify CE of the request within three (3) business days of such request and will cooperate with CE and allow CE to send the response to the Individual.

4.6 Disclosure Accounting. BA agrees to document disclosures of Protected Health Information and information related to such disclosures as is necessary to enable Covered Entity to respond to a request by a Covered Individual for an accounting of disclosures of PHI in accordance with HIPAA Regulations and the HITECH Act. BA agrees to provide to CE or an Individual, in the time and manner designated by the CE, information to permit CE to respond to a request by an Individual for an accounting of disclosures of PHI in accordance with HIPAA Regulations and the HITECH Act. If an Individual makes a request for an accounting directly to BA, BA shall notify CE of the request within three (3) business days of such request and will cooperate with CE and allow CE to send the response to the Individual. At a minimum, Business Associate shall provide Covered Entity with the following information: (i) the date of the disclosure; (ii) the name of the entity or person who received the Protected Health Information, and if known, the address of such entity or person; (iii) a brief description of the Protected Health Information disclosed; and, (iv) a brief statement of the purpose of such disclosure which includes an explanation of the basis for such disclosure. BA hereby agrees to implement an appropriate record keeping process to enable it to comply with the requirements of this section and applicable law. It shall be CE's responsibility to promptly notify BA of the request for an accounting, and to prepare and deliver any such accounting requested. In addition to the forgoing, BA shall track other disclosures and/or make available to CE such information as is necessary for Covered Entity to comply with any additional accounting requirements.

4.9 GINA. BA agrees not to use or disclose Protected Health Information that contains genetic information if such use or disclosure would violate GINA.

5. Obligations and Rights of Covered Entity.

5.1 Notice of Privacy Practices. CE shall provide BA with the notice of privacy practices that CE produces in accordance with 45 C.F.R. Section 164.520, as well as any changes to such notice.

5.2 Requests by Covered Entity. CE shall not request or direct BA to use or disclose Protected Health Information in any manner that would not be permissible under the Privacy Rule if done by CE. This includes, but is not limited to, requests or directions for disclosure of Protected Health Information to the Plan sponsor in a capacity other than acting on behalf of the Plan as CE. To the extent a dispute or difference of opinion exists between the BA and CE regarding whether a use or disclosure is permissible, BA may disclose the Protected Health Information under objection pursuant to the specific, written direction of CE. Any disclosures made pursuant to such specific, written direction shall be subject to the indemnification provisions of the Agreement.

5.3 Authorizations. CE shall notify Business Associate of any authorization provided by an Individual to use or disclose Protected Health Information (and any changes in or revocation of such an authorization),, to the extent that such information may affect Business Associate's use or disclosure of Protected Health Information. Upon receipt of such notification, BA shall use or disclose Protected Health Information in accordance with the authorization or changes thereto.

5.4 Restrictions. CE shall notify BA of any restriction on the use or disclosure of Protected Health Information to which CE has agreed in accordance with 45 C.F.R. Section 164.522 or is required to agree under HITECH (and any changes to or termination of such a restriction), to the extent that such restriction may affect BA's use or disclosure of Protected Health Information. Such restrictions include, but are not limited to, a Covered Individual's request not to disclose Protected Health Information for purposes of payment or health care operations where the Protected Health Information relates solely to a health item or service for which the health care provider has been paid in full out-of-pocket by, or on behalf of, the Covered Individual. Upon receipt of such notification, BA shall comply with such a restriction.

5.5 Agreement Breaches by Business Associate. If CE obtains knowledge of a pattern of activity or practice of BA that constitutes a material breach or violation of BA's obligations under this Agreement,

CE will take reasonable steps to cure such breach or end such violation. If CE cannot successfully cure the breach or end the violation, CE shall terminate the Agreement in accordance with Section 8.2 if feasible.

6. Electronic Security Provisions

6.1 Introduction. This section applies where Business Associate, on behalf of Covered Entity, performs or assists in the performance of functions and activities that may involve the creation, maintenance, receipt, or transmission of Electronic Protected Health Information. This Section 6 along with the other sections of the BA Agreement are (1) intended to meet the requirements of the "business associate" provisions of Security Rule, and (2) govern the terms and conditions under which the BA may create, maintain, receive, and transmit Electronic Protected Health Information on behalf of CE. In general, BA agrees and intends to act such that (1) CE can fulfill its responsibilities under HIPAA; (2) BA can fulfill its responsibilities under HIPAA; and (3) BA can fulfill its contractual obligations under this Agreement.

6.2 Obligations of Business Associate. In accordance with the Security Rule, BA agrees to:

6.2.1 Conduct a security risk assessment (in accordance with 45 C.F.R. Section 164.308(a)(1)(ii)(A)) and adopt and implement policies and procedures designed to ensure compliance with the Security Rule and this Agreement including, but not limited to, identifying security officer and training personnel. This Section 6.2.1 shall be effective as of the compliance date applicable under the final regulations issued under HITECH that address this requirement.

6.2.2 Implement administrative, physical and technical safeguards (including written policies and procedures) that reasonably and appropriately protect the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of the Electronic Protected Health Information that BA creates, maintains, receives, or transmits on behalf of CE.

6.2.3 Enter into a written contract with any agent or Subcontractor to whom BA provides Electronic Protected Health Information that requires such agent or Subcontractor to comply with the same restrictions and conditions that apply under this Section 6 to BA, including, but not limited to, implementing reasonable and appropriate safeguards to protect such information.

6.2.4 Report to CE any Security Incident of which BA becomes aware. BA shall provide such notification on a quarterly basis, unless a prompter notice is otherwise required by this Agreement. With respect to Security Incidents that result from an unsuccessful attempt to access, use, disclose, modify, or destroy Electronic Protected Health Information or interfere with system operations in an information system containing Electronic Protected Health Information, the notification required hereunder need only report the aggregate number of such incidents.

6.2.5 Promptly mitigate, to the extent practicable, any harmful effect of a Security Incident that is known to BA.

6.3 Obligations of Covered Entity. CE shall not request or direct BA to create, maintain, receive, or transmit Electronic Protected Health Information in any manner that would not be permissible under the Security Rule.

7. Breach Notification Requirements

7.1 Breach Notification. To the extent BA accesses, maintains, retains, modifies, records, stores, destroys, or otherwise holds, uses, or discloses Unsecured Protected Health Information, as set forth in Section 13402(h) of HITECH, BA shall promptly report to CE any Breach of such Unsecured Protected Health Information by it, its subcontractors or agents of which it becomes aware. Prior to notifying CE of the Discovery of a Breach, BA shall take reasonable steps to satisfy itself based upon reasonable diligence that the acquisition, access, use or disclosure of PHI was not unintentional or inadvertent. Notification to CE shall be made without unreasonable delay and in no case later than five (5) business days after the earlier of: (i) the first day on which such Breach is known to BA; or (ii) the first day on which such Breach, by exercising reasonable diligence, would have been known to any person (other than the person committing the Breach) who is an employee, officer or other agent of BA. Notification will be made to the CE's Privacy Officer. Notification of the Breach may only be delayed if such delay is required by law enforcement purposes as set forth in 45 C.F.R. Section 164.412. If BA has been requested orally or in writing by law enforcement officials that notification of affected individuals may impede a criminal investigation, BA shall inform CE within 24 hours of receiving the request. BA shall exercise reasonable diligence and promptly supplement its report with any additional information as may be obtained by BA. BA, its affiliates, agents and subcontractors shall not provide any notification or information regarding any Breach to any person other than CE, except to the extent such action is: (i) required by law, (ii) required under this Agreement, or (iii) taken pursuant to a prior written consent of Covered Entity. Notwithstanding the foregoing, BA may provide information regarding a Breach to its legal counsel.

7.2 Content of Report. Notification to CE of a Breach shall include, at a minimum, the following:

7.2.1 A brief description of what happened, including the date of the incident and the date of the discovery of the incident, if known;

7.2.2 A description of the types of Unsecured PHI that were involved in the incident (such as whether full name, social security number, date of birth, home address, account number, diagnosis, disability code, or other types of information) and that were or are reasonably believed by BA to have been impermissibly accessed, acquired, used or disclosed;

7.2.3 A fact-specific and detailed risk assessment of whether the incident poses a significant risk of financial, reputational, or other harm to the individual whose Unsecured PHI has been (or is reasonable believed by BA to have been) acquired, accessed, used or disclosed;

7.2.4 Identification of the Individuals whose Unsecured PHI has been, or is reasonably believed by BA to have been, accessed, acquired, used or disclosed;

7.2.5 Any steps Individuals should take to protect themselves from potential harm resulting from the incident;

7.2.6 A brief description of what BA is doing to investigate the incident, to mitigate harm to Individuals, and to protect against any further incidents; and

7.2.7 Any other information reasonably requested by CE to be included in the report.

7.3 Documentation and Retention. BA will document all actions described in this Section 7 and maintain such documentation for at least six years from the date the documentation is created or the date it was last in effect, whichever is later.

7.4 Reimbursement, Mitigation and Cooperation. BA will reimburse CE for all reasonable and necessary out-of-pocket costs incurred (including without limitation costs associated with providing required notices) as a result of a Breach by the BA, its affiliates, subcontractors or agents. Business Associate further agrees to cooperate with CE as reasonably requested, to mitigate, to the extent practicable, any harmful effect of such a Breach or other use or disclosure of Protected Health Information in violation of the terms and conditions of this Agreement, and fully cooperate with CE on all matters relating to such incident and associated notifications by CE to Individuals, the media, the Secretary, the Federal Trade Commission, or any other governmental entity.

7.5 Continuing Duty to Report. Nothing in this Agreement shall be construed to relieve BA of its existing reporting obligations under the Agreement and BA shall continue to report to CE in the time and in the manner provided for in the Agreement. The occurrence of a Security Incident of a use or disclosure of PHI in a manner that is not provided for in the Agreement shall not discharge BA's obligations under this Agreement to report a Breach unless such reporting fully and completely satisfies all of the Breach reporting requirements of this Agreement.

8. Term and Termination

8.1 Term. The Term of this Agreement will begin and become effective on the Effective Date and shall terminate when all of the Protected Health Information provided by CE to BA, or created or received by BA on behalf of CE is destroyed or returned to CE, or, if it is infeasible to return or destroy Protected Health Information, protections are extended to such information, in accordance with the termination provisions in this Section 8

8.2 Termination. Upon CE's knowledge of a material breach by BA of the terms of this Agreement, CE shall either:

8.2.1 Provide an opportunity for BA to cure the breach or end the violation.
8.2.2 If BA does not cure the breach or end the violation within the time specified by CE, CE shall terminate this Agreement;
8.2.3 If BA has breached a material term of this Agreement and cure is not possible, immediately terminate this Agreement; or
8.2.4 If neither termination nor cure is feasible, CE shall report the violation to the Secretary.

8.3 Effect of Relationship Termination.

8.3.1 Except as provided in Section 8.3.2 and/or 8.3.3 of this sub-section, upon termination of the Agreement, for any reason, BA shall return or destroy all Protected Health Information received from or created or received by it on behalf of CE and will certify that such return or destruction has been completed no later than 30 calendar days following the effective date of termination. The certificate of return or destruction should be mailed to Knox County Risk Management, Attn. Privacy Officer, 400 Main Street Suite 345, Knoxville TN 37902. This provision shall apply to Protected Health Information that is in the possession of Business Associate and/or its Subcontractors or agents. BA will not retain any copies of Protected Health Information.

8.3.2 In the event that BA determines that returning or destroying Protected Health Information is infeasible, BA will notify CE in writing, no later than the date required for certification under section 8.3.1, of the conditions that make return or destruction infeasible. Upon mutual agreement of the parties that return or destruction of Protected Health Information is infeasible; BA will extend the protections of this Agreement to such Protected Health Information and limit further uses and disclosures of such Protected Health Information to those purposes that make the return or destruction infeasible, for so long as BA maintains such Protected Health Information.

8.3.3 Should Covered Entity notify Business Associate that the information necessary to comply with the recordkeeping requirements under other applicable law includes the Protected Health Information, BA shall return or provide to CE such information, including Protected Health Information.

No amendment to this Agreement shall be effective until reduced to writing and duly signed by the authorized representatives of the parties.

9.3 Interpretation. Any ambiguity in this Agreement shall be resolved to permit each party to comply with HIPAA and the HITECH Act, as those statutes and their implementing regulations may be amended from time to time. The provisions of this Agreement shall prevail over any provision of any other agreement between the BA and the CE that may conflict or be inconsistent with any provision in this Agreement.

9.4 Survival. The respective rights and obligations of BA under this Agreement shall survive the termination of this Agreement and any related agreement, including a services agreement.

9.5 Indemnity. The BA agrees to indemnify, hold harmless, and defend the CE and its officers, directors, employees or agents from any claim, cause of action, liabilities, damages, penalties, fines, costs, expenses or other losses (including attorney's fees) arising out of any use or disclosure of PHI by BA or its agents or subcontractors in breach of this Agreement of in violation of State or Federal Law, including without limitation, HIPAA, the HITECH Act, the Privacy Rule, or the Security Rule.

9.6 No Third Party Beneficiaries. Nothing express or implied in this Agreement is intended to confer, nor shall anything herein confer, upon any person other than the parties hereto, any rights, remedies, obligations, or liabilities whatsoever.

9.7 Disputes. If any dispute or claim arises between the parties with respect to this Agreement, the parties will make a good faith effort to resolve such matters informally, it being the intention of the parties that they reasonably cooperate with each other in the performance of the mutual obligations under this Agreement.

9.8 Conformance with Law. The parties agree to take such action as is necessary to amend this Agreement from time to time as is necessary for the parties to comply with the requirements of HIPAA as they apply to each party.

9.9 Action. For purposes of this Agreement, whenever action is required by a party to this Agreement, such action must be taken by a person or persons with authority to act on behalf of such party to this Agreement.

9.10 Severability. The invalidity or unenforceability of any provision of this Agreement shall not affect the validity or enforceability of any other provision of this Agreement, which shall remain in full force and effect.

9.11 Notices. All notices and communications required by this Agreement shall be in writing and shall be effective upon receipt. Such notices and communications shall be given in one of the following forms: (i) by delivery in person, (ii) by a nationally-recognized, next-day courier service, (iii) by first-class, registered or certified mail, postage prepaid; or (iv) by electronic mail to the address that each party specifies in writing. Neither party shall refuse delivery of any notice hereunder.

9.12 Nature of Agreement. Nothing in this Agreement shall be construed to create a partnership, joint venture, or other joint business relationship between the parties or any of their affiliates, or a relationship of employer and employee between the parties. Rather, it is the intention of the parties that their relationship shall be that of independent contractors.

9.13 Entire Agreement. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the BA and the CE relating to the matters specified in this Agreement, and supersedes all prior representations or agreements, whether oral or written, with respect to such matters.

9.14 Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in counterparts, each of which so executed shall be construed to be an original, but all of which together shall constitute one agreement binding on all parties, notwithstanding that all parties are not signatories to the same counterpart. Transmission by facsimile or electronic mail of an executed counterpart of this Agreement shall be deemed to constitute due and sufficient delivery of such counterpart. This Agreement and any amendment or modification may not be denied legal effect or enforceability solely because it is in electronic form, or because an electronic signature or electronic record was used in its formation.

9.15 Governing Law and Venue. This Agreement and the rights and obligations of the parties hereunder shall be governed by and construed under the laws of the state of Tennessee. The Chancery Court and/or the Circuit Court of Knox County, Tennessee shall have exclusive and concurrent jurisdiction of any disputes which arise hereunder.

9.16 Compliance with HIPAA Transaction Standards. When providing its services and/or products, BA shall comply with all applicable HIPAA standards and requirements (including, without limitation, those specified in 45 CFR Part 162) with respect to the transmission of health information in electronic form in connection with any transaction for which the Secretary has adopted a standard under HIPAA("Covered Transactions"). BA represents and warrants that it is aware of all current HIPAA standards and requirements regarding Covered Transactions, and BA shall comply with any modifications to HIPAA standards and requirements which become effective from time to time. BA agrees that such compliance shall be at its sole cost and expense, which expense shall not be passed on to CE in any form, including, but not limited to, increased fees. BA shall require all of its agents and subcontractors (if any) who assist BA in providing its services and/or products to comply with these terms.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Agreement as of the date set forth below.

Good afternoon,

We do not file insurance or store data for any students. If Knox County were to request to be labeled as additional insured, it would be the county's information we take on file with our insurance provider rather than any students personal information.

Thank you!

Hi Heather,

I can confirm that we do not house any student data within our internal systems. Our staff can only access student data through hardware/software provided by the district.

Connor, can you speak to the insurance-specific aspect of Heather's question?

Thank you all,

Good Afternoon,

I have a few follow-up questions regarding the proposal your organization submitted in response to Knox County's RFP No. 3635 for Supplemental Staffing Services.

Does your organization file insurance on KCS students and/or input KCS students' data in your systems? Or is all student data located in KCS systems and the clinical staffing companies only provide clinical staff with no KCS student data in their systems?

We may have a few more questions to follow, but wanted to get clarity on the points above before diving in deeper. Any feedback is very much appreciated.

Thank you,

Executive Summary

On behalf of the entire ESS team, we would like to extend our sincere appreciation for the opportunity to submit our proposal to Knox County Schools. We are eager to continue our partnership with your District. ESS exclusively serves the PreK-12 market, and we are fully committed to delivering KCS an education-focused permanent staffing solution through exceptional recruiting and hiring outcomes while effectively leveraging District and community support. We are confident that only we, through our established and successful partnership, understand the key factors that will provide success with your supplemental staffing program. Further, we believe the dedicated management team we have provided your District with customized recruiting plans and systems will continue to provide exceptional service and give you confidence in our partnership's success.

Outlined below are the primary advantages of KCS' continued partnership with ESS.

The Benefits of Our Established Partnership

One of the greatest benefits of a continued partnership with ESS is that Knox County Schools has already undergone our transition process. Your District will not have to go through a time-consuming transition period. Instead, KCS will carry on with our proven supplemental staffing program. Since we first established our partnership in 2023, ESS has invested significant effort into providing and evolving a best-in-class program for your District and your students.

The ESS District Team for Knox County Schools is dedicated to providing first-class customer service to your District each and every day. Your administration, faculty, staff, ESS employees who work in your facilities will benefit from the continuation of our partnership as they already understand our policies and procedures, they have formed relationships with our management team, and they know how our program operates within your schools, and they will not need to reapply to another service provider as they will continue forward as an ESS employee. Most importantly, your students will benefit from the consistency of working with familiar staff.

Dedicated Management Team with Regional and Corporate Support

Knox County Schools will continue to enjoy the individualized attention of your dedicated ESS District Team. Executive Vice President of Operations Mike DeMarco, Vice President of Operations Becky Saffles, Vice President Yeva Wilford, Regional Manager Ingrid Ahmad, and Local Account Manager Heather Maples serve as your District's main points of contact with ESS. Becky and Heather will continue to work together with KCS' administration to ensure your program needs are met. Your schools will continue to benefit from hands-on support. This team will maintain its strong presence in your District because we understand the importance of availability and accountability right at home.

Live Training

Knox County Schools supplemental employees are provided the most comprehensive training in the industry. All supplemental employees participate in an orientation prior to working in your schools. These training sessions allow for a level of completeness and assessment that is simply not possible through methods utilized by other providers. Further, these training sessions provide one final check to ensure the employees meet the requirements of the positions they are about to fill and will be successful in doing so. This training program is fully customized to meet your District's specific needs.

Incentives and Retention of Valuable Employees

Retaining valuable supplemental employees is essential to continuity in your District's schools. ESS has established several employee incentive initiatives to demonstrate to our staff how valuable they are to our team and your District. Each month, we raffle gift card prizes to exemplary staff who meet or exceed certain work frequency and performance qualifications. In addition to our monthly raffles, ESS offers cash incentive programs such as raffle opportunities during American Education Week for all ESS instructional assistants employed within the District.

We also encourage District employees to nominate exceptional staff for the ESS Employee of the Month, where we award winners with a gift card, a letter of appreciation, and a certificate of excellence for their hard work. Additionally, supplemental employees are encouraged to take advantage of our Employee Referral Program, earning money for their successful referrals to our team.

On a local level, your Local Account Manager will offer your supplemental employees many appreciation gifts throughout the school for special occasions, holidays, "thank you" gifts, and many other opportunities to earn rewards, gifts, and monetary incentives.

Conclusion

ESS understands the needs of Knox County Schools and has the unique solutions that will continue to deliver an exceptional quality of education to your students. KCS can depend on ESS to continue to provide unmatched customer service, significant resources, and a team that cares about your schools, your students, and your community.

We thank you for this opportunity and greatly look forward to our continued partnership with Knox County Schools.

Identifying the Perfect Fit for Every Position

With our resources and experience in educational staffing, ESS employs educators to work in your District in any capacity. We target promising individuals who meet the exact specifications of Knox County Schools. The ESS Team finds qualified employees your District requires to fill each position. There are several key characteristics we will continue to look for in each employee:

Adaptable

An effective employee can adjust to situations while providing a productive learning environment.

Caring

Employees need to be interested in working with children and helping students achieve. They must be friendly, empathetic, patient, and sensitive to students' needs.

Communicative

Employees must be great listeners and try to understand what students are trying to communicate. They must articulate information and instructions clearly and in terms students can understand, sometimes requiring paraphrasing or interpreting information.

Cooperative

An employee is only one member of the educational team. They must cooperate with others to enhance students' school experience while working with teachers, principals, and other school staff.

Creative

Employees should be able to develop creative solutions where traditional methods fail when working with students.

Organized

Positive

Students succeed when they believe in themselves. One surest way to instill this self-confidence is by supporting students with employees who exude a positive attitude. Employees should believe in their mission, talents, and students' abilities.

Community Recruiting: Strategies Tailored Specifically to Knox County Schools

There's no such thing as a "one-size-fits-all" solution to providing employees to each school. ESS' year-round recruiting campaign for Knox County Schools is tailored to effectively recruit in each unique school community, including social media, grassroots strategies, and community events. This approach allows us to build a localized employee talent pool in the Knox County.

The ESS Team will continue to focus on obtaining candidates with diverse backgrounds and certifications such as special education, to ensure that Knox County Schools assignments will continue to be filled with employees who accurately fit the specific roles required by your District. They utilize extensive resources and recruitment strategies to target each school community.

ESS has built a strong community presence in Knox County Schools to create opportunities to recruit qualified community members interested in working for your schools. ESS has developed and executed a marketing campaign using billboards, newspapers, radio, commercials, social media, online job boards, flyers, postcards, and yard signs to source the perfect employees for your schools and students. We will continue to partner with community organizations such as chambers of commerce, colleges and universities, restaurants and coffee houses, libraries, and non-profit foundations. We will continue to sponsor and attend events, festivals, and local job fairs throughout the Knox County.

Tailored Recruitment Channels

ESS will continue to look to your District's and schools' administration for guidance to ensure we create a community campaign that best fits your needs. On the next pages are a few examples of the recruiting techniques that we have used to ensure high placement rates for all Knox County Schools' sites. Each recruiting channel is customized to Knox County Schools and its community. As our program evolves and your schools' needs change, so do our innovative recruitment strategies.

Colleges and Universities

ESS is involved in many local organizations in and around the Knoxville. We currently recruit employees through job and career fairs from the following Tennessee colleges, including University of Tennessee, Pellissippi State Community College, Tusculum University, and Carson-Newman University.

Community Events, Fairs, and Festivals

ESS will continue to participate in local community events, such as the American Job Center Job Fair.

College Networks

Handshake is a digital platform that allows us to scale our college and university recruiting. We are able to reach multiple college and university career centers at once. With Handshake, we can define and save our hiring criteria and then tap into the most engaged student audience. These scaling and efficiency features allow us to recruit quickly and efficiently.

In-Depth Interviews

Each applicant goes through a structured screening process in which the candidate is thoroughly evaluated. This process ensures only the best candidates with the correct credentials are hired to work in your schools.

Work History Screen

Our team reviews each candidate’s resume and application to ensure their listed experience aligns with the role's requirements, focusing on relevant positions, certifications, and skills. We verify their work history and conduct reference checks based on Knox County Schools' requirements.

Orientation Interview

During this in-person session, applicants are evaluated on their critical thinking, enthusiasm, communication, confidence, and professional appearance. These sessions allow us to meet applicants, answer questions, and walk candidates through the hiring process. The orientations are carefully designed to assess the candidate’s ability to perform in a real school setting.

Credentialing Screen

Candidates must possess proper clearances, certifications, and credentials to be hired. Before employment, ESS will guarantee paperwork is accurately completed and certifications, permits, and clearances are submitted. The ESS credentialing process includes:

- Full compliance with Tennessee Department of Education and Knox County Schools license, certification, and qualification standards.
- Verification of candidate education based on Tennessee and Knox County Schools requirements, including a master's degree in Speech-Language Pathology or a specialized degree in school psychology.
- Passing background checks and clearances based on Tennessee and Knox County Schools requirements, including but not limited to FBI and Tennessee background checks, National Sexual Offender Registry search, E-Verify check, and tuberculosis test results.
- Copy of current resume, references, and proof of education for ESS verification.
- Tennessee certification, if applicable
- Automated system audits of any expiring credentials to ensure full compliance and no gaps in service.
- Manual ESS team audits of any expiring credentials to ensure full compliance and no gaps in service.

Compliance Assurance

Candidates must possess proper clearances, certifications, and credentials to be hired. ESS' proprietary software, willsub+ applicant tracking system, is a web-based applicant tracking and employee management system that helps our team identify and hire the best candidates for your schools. This system streamlines the recruiting, hiring, screening, and management process.

Information is saved electronically, including education level, degrees, credentials, clearances, certifications, and training classes. The system provides automated compliance checks and expiration notifications to ensure 100% employee compliance.

Our hiring coordinators help the employees update their credentials before they expire, so there is no gap in service. Additionally, our in-house counsel is current with state and federal legislation. Upon any changes or updates in laws, ESS' systems and processes are revised to reflect the new regulation.

ESS Employee Absentee Planning

ESS' instruction assistants, speech-language pathologists, and school psychologists are a permanent presence in your District and will report to their assignments every day as scheduled. Instructional assistants are hired with the explicit expectation they will be in regular attendance within reasonable limits. While most ESS employees have an excellent record of regular attendance, we understand some absences are necessary. ESS will provide Knox County Schools with substitute services whenever an ESS instructional assistant is absent.

Being consistently late or absent is unacceptable as it causes hardship for your District. Our absentee control policy reduces absences and results in fuller paychecks for ESS employees and a reliable workforce for Knox County Schools.

Reporting Intended Absences

ESS provides substitute personnel to Knox County Schools. Therefore, when one of your instructional assistants is absent, we can easily pull from our large pool of talented and qualified substitutes to fill the vacancy. Each of our substitutes has been background checked and has passed clearance requirements.

If any ESS employee cannot report to work at the regular starting time, they are required to report the absence or lateness in the Absence Management system and notify our human resources department no less than three hours before the start of school. A "no call- no show" absence will be grounds for termination at ESS' discretion based on the circumstances provided.

A leave of absence must be approved by human resources in advance. A leave of absence for occupational injury or illness will be granted under the provisions of the Family and Medical Leave Act. Vacation or military duty will be considered excused upon obtaining proper permission and/or prior notification as required.

Information For Substitutes

ESS employees are responsible for leaving an information folder in the main office for any substitute filling their position. Information should include:

- School calendar and any other school-related information
- Full employee schedule, including times, locations, and teachers' names
- One-to-One instructional assistants must include a student information sheet including triggers, likes, dislikes, bathroom procedures, transition procedures
- Contact information for teacher, child study team, principal, and/ or ESS representative
- Fire drill procedures
- Any additional information imperative for a substitute to be successful in the role

Employee Retention to Ensure Consistency

At ESS, it's not a coincidence that we treat instructional assistants, speech-language pathologists, and school psychologists well, and they like working for us. The two go hand-in-hand. We offer a variety of benefits, perks, and learning opportunities that keep employees motivated, prepared, and engaged. We invest heavily in employee retention and satisfaction initiatives because paraprofessional consistency is instrumental to student education. By retaining quality employees, we can ensure you are always working with instructional assistants, speech-language pathologists, and school psychologists who understand your school culture, are familiar with your operating procedures, and can more effectively educate your students as they build rapport and better understand their needs.

Convenient Pay

Employees enjoy the convenience of receiving a paycheck for their work every week, available as direct deposit or through our free debit card program.

Economic Security

Employees are offered a 401(k) retirement plan. Enrollment is every quarter after three months of service with a discretionary company match. The plan provides various options depending on the employee's retirement goals and risk preferences.

Comprehensive Support

Through dedicated support channels, employees receive unparalleled customer service. Our employee engagement team is available from 6:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 6:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Friday to assist with questions and help with being placed for vacancies. The ESS Team is also available daily to provide personalized support to ESS employees.

Advocating for District Hire

Committed to helping our employees achieve their career goals, we encourage KCS to hire ESS employees for permanent roles within the District after the first twelve months of employment with ESS. By building relationships with District personnel and bolstering skills through hands-on experience, our employees stand out as excellent candidates.

ESS delivers gifts, candies, and goodies to the District on a regular basis to show employee appreciation. We make sure our employees working in KCS know they are appreciated as often as possible.

Managing Employees to Maximize Classroom Impact

ESS will continue to handle the day-to-day management of the instructional assistants, speech-language pathologists, and school psychologists working in your schools. Each ESS employee working in KCS will continue to maintain the high professional and safety standards that you expect of your regular District staff. Additionally, the team will continue to swiftly and efficiently resolve any necessary action in the event of unsatisfactory ESS employee performance. During the touch-base meetings with KCS we will continue to assess the level of satisfaction with your District.

Evaluations

ESS employees are provided evaluations and internal performance reviews. These forms of measurement help employees understand their requirements and guarantee they are effective for KCS. Evaluations and reviews will continue to be conducted in accordance with your policies and will continue to address ESS employee performance, professionalism, and progress.

Resolving Unsatisfactory Performance

Although we take painstaking measures to hire skillful individuals who will perform optimally in your schools, we will continue to work with Knox County Schools to investigate and manage concerns emerging from allegations of instructional assistant, speech-language pathologist, and school psychologist misconduct, performance issues, and coaching situations.

ESS has established procedures to deal with unsatisfactory performance. In case of any incident, District employees submit an incident report through the incident portal available on ESS' website. The incident portal tracks and retains all data within our system. The ESS Team treats each incident with utmost urgency and takes appropriate actions as soon as it is reported.

ESS will continue to partner with the KCS regarding any misconduct allegation and the necessary next steps related to investigating any allegation. We will continue to work with KCS to ensure the safety of students and expediency in resolving all matters. ESS will also block any employee KCS does not want to work in a specific school or your District. This type of partnership alleviates some of the strain placed on Knox County Schools' human resource staff and allows them to focus on other key areas throughout your District.

Retraining and Retaining Instructional assistants

ESS' incident portal focuses on a grading scale. The grading scale allows District staff to rate incidents based on their severity. This grading system facilitates the retraining and retention of ESS employees who have committed minor violations, which, in turn, will help enhance the fill and retention rates.

The retraining program will notify the ESS incident team of recurring issues in an employee's job performance. ESS employees who encounter minor incidents will receive additional training to help them improve their performance and prevent recurring issues. We have noticed that many employees with minor incidents are unaware of the reasons behind their poor performance. Through mentoring and extra training, most employees can correct their mistakes and become valuable employees.

Immediate Resolution

The ESS Team is always available to resolve any issues. We collaborate with the KCS to ensure transparency and continuous improvement. The ESS team is available for face-to-face meetings, phone calls, and emails to answer questions or resolve concerns. We will continue to maintain a successful partnership with Knox County Schools, built on transparency, continuous improvement, and positive results.

Providing Relief for KCS Administrators

KCS instructional assistant, speech-language pathologist, and school psychologist program will be managed with strict attention to fiscal responsibility, efficiency, and exceptional customer service. From the onset of our partnership, we have established a series of regular meetings and communication initiatives to clarify your objectives, review service and performance, and set goals for the future. The result: KCS will continue to be provided a service that goes above and beyond your expectations and a program that aligns with your District's objectives, provides complete transparency, and fosters a responsive partnership.

Accountability is a crucial component of our program, which we accomplish through detailed reporting and open collaboration with District officials. Your administration will continue to know who is working in their schools and when they are working. With this information, we have built a plan with KCS' administration to help ensure excellence in education.

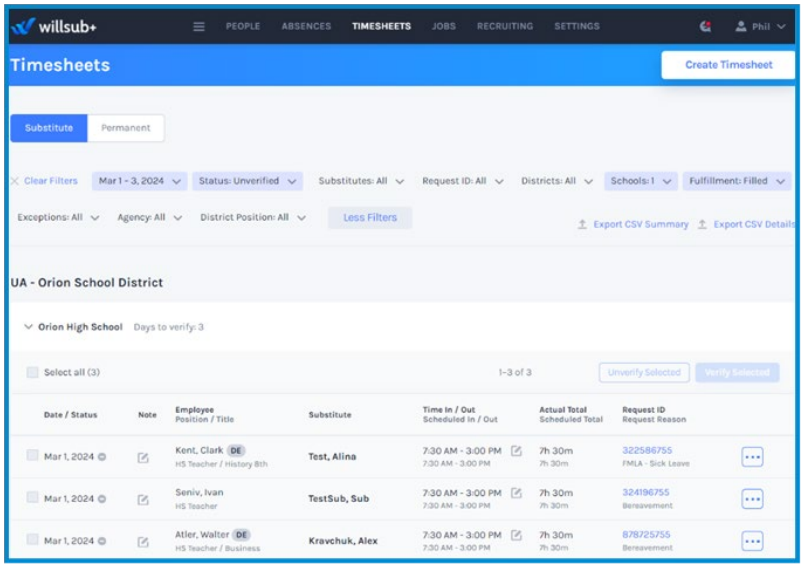
Our management of your instructional assistant, speech-language pathologist, and school psychologist program is comprehensive and continuous. We combine technology solutions, data analysis, and in-person management to create an efficient, cost-effective, and transparent program.

Time Tracking Software

willsub+ Timesheets is ESS' proprietary time tracking software. It was developed to provide insight into the candidate process and transparency to employees clocking in and out of assignments.

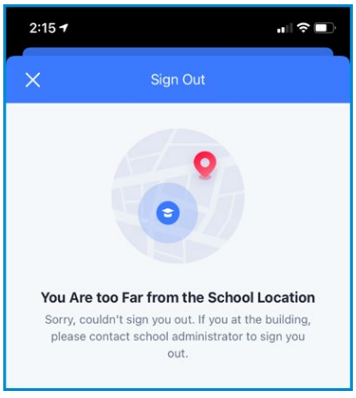
willsub+ Timesheets captures employee time, including those with multiple jobs and locations. The program helps ESS manage employees and ensure accurate pay for hours worked. The willsub+ Timesheets system accurately captures working hours and job attendance. It also allows District and school administrators the ability to view when and where employees are working in real time.

Below is a sample of the willsub+ Timesheets system.



willsub+ Geofencing

Geofencing is a unique willsub+ feature that provides ESS an additional way to ensure the employee is on location. With geofencing, employees will only be able to sign in/out if they are within 200 yards of their assignment's premises.



Advanced Systems

Payroll Burdens Removed

Knox County Schools is alleviated of burdens associated with the processing and distribution of ESS employee payroll. ESS partners with Paychex Payroll System for its payroll needs, utilizing essential data directly from the absence management system and ESS' willsub+ to ensure accuracy and minimize discrepancies. Payroll Manager Mitzi Hance oversees the payroll process.

ESS employees are paid every Friday via direct deposit or debit card. Their weekly hours worked are determined by their sign-in and out times and the dictated span of hours in the vacancy they are filling. ESS is responsible for ensuring proper payroll tracking of taxes, benefit eligibility, Affordable Care Act, workers' compensation claims, unemployment claims, and other necessities of the payroll process. ESS also manages employees' W-4s, I-9s, and other forms.

Precision Tracking of Hours Worked

Precision tracking of employee working hours, custom pay codes, and a thorough reviewing process guarantee that employees are properly authorized for payment.

We approach timekeeping and invoicing in a way that maximizes clarity and control for our district partners. Our "Source" technology system allows us to integrate all relevant software systems – including our willsub+ timekeeping system, Paychex's payroll system, and Netsuite's invoicing system – to make a unified, flexible, and transparent billing solution.

Billing and Invoicing Made Easy

We approach timekeeping and invoicing in a way that maximizes clarity and control for our district partners. Our “Source” technology system allows us to integrate all relevant software systems – including the absence management software, our willsub+ timekeeping system, Paychex’s payroll system, and Netsuite’s invoicing system – to make a unified, flexible, and transparent billing solution.

ESS' billing backup reports accompany each invoice to KCS. The billing backup report is an Excel file containing a high level of detail on your District’s ESS employees. The report includes data points such as employee type, program, and location. ESS collaborates with KCS to ensure this report includes crucial information such as budget codes, funding sources, and functional/object areas. Often, the back-end processing of invoicing is overlooked, but ESS is a true partner at every level and helps alleviate the stress of the District's finance department.

ESS will continue to work closely with your District to review each invoice. Knox County Schools will benefit from watchful and meticulous support from 15 representatives on the ESS billing team. This team will work to ensure billing accuracy, efficiency, and clarity, and is always available to answer any questions about the billing process.

Robust Reporting Keeps Decision-Makers Informed

Knox County Schools can depend on ESS to be transparent and forthcoming about program data. We understand how crucial transparency is for District decision-makers, and we are committed to providing them with the best information at the highest levels of efficiency. ESS will work closely with your administration to provide the reporting and data KCS needs.

Mid-Year and Year-End Reports

Customized Reports

ESS can create and customize any report that is needed. Customization and data options are endless. Reports can be exported into simple formats for KCS to review, such as PDF, Excel, and HTML. If District officials require a specific report, we tailor it based on your specifications. Seamless Implementation Aligned to Your District's Goals

Established Program Structure

ESS executed a smooth, successful transition of your District in 2023. The transition team guided your District through the implementation process, collaborating with District officials to customize our program to meet your particular goals.

As your current service provider, we are happy to say that all our services are in place, on schedule, and running at peak efficiency. We are ready and eager to continue our timely and efficient service to your District's schools in our next contract period together.

One of the greatest benefits of a continued partnership with ESS is that your District has already undergone our transition process. Therefore, you will not have to go through a time-consuming transition period. Instead, you will carry on with our proven instructional assistant, speech-language pathologist, and school psychologist program. Your administration, faculty, staff, and the ESS employees who work in your facilities will benefit from continuing of our partnership. They already understand our policies and procedures, they have formed relationships with our management team, and they know how to use our web-based systems.

As your current service provider, all ESS employees utilized by KCS have already been hired by our firm. When our partnership first began, your current instructional assistants, speech-language pathologists, and school psychologists in good standing were welcomed into our ESS family and provided training on our policies, procedures, and educational strategies.

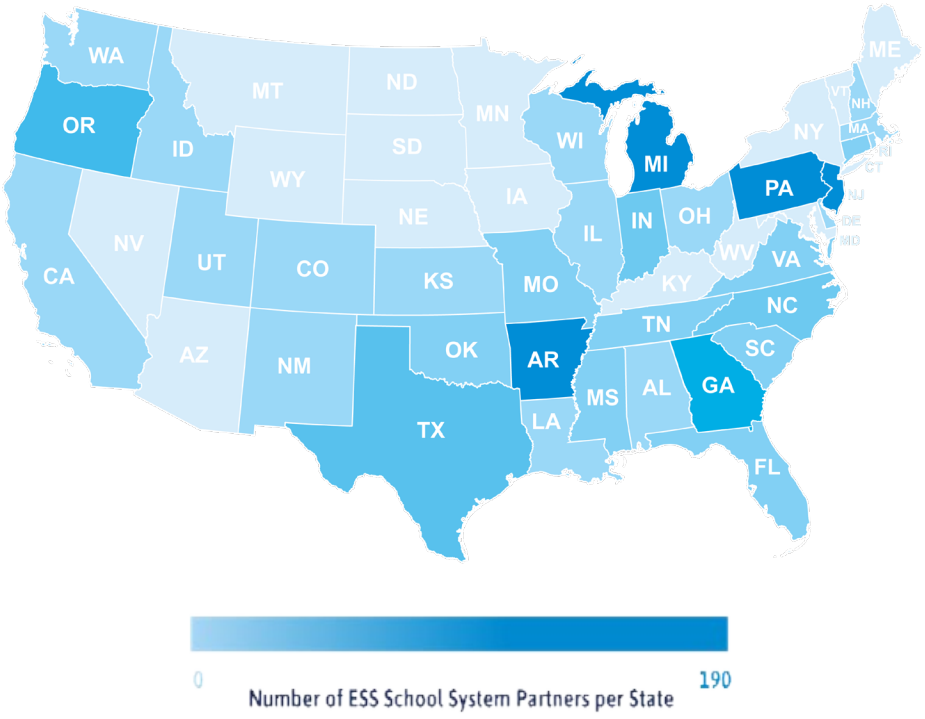
ESS' comprehensive support does not end with our initial implementation period. On a continuous basis, we adapt and update facets of the program with the goal of achieving maximum efficiency. We listen to your feedback and strive to streamline processes to ensure we exceed your expectations.

Tab IV – Experience & Qualifications

Company Background

ESS was founded in 2000 to provide administrative relief, an enhanced learning environment to school districts, and professional working opportunities to qualified educators. ESS now partners with over 1,400 districts nationwide, serving more than 10,000,000 students daily. Our over 900 corporate employees help place in 40 types of substitute and permanent positions, fill over 35,000 substitute placements daily, and manage over 1,000,000 substitute and permanent employees.

As the country's largest provider of education-exclusive talent, we have a rich history and extensive experience serving school districts, making us the most effective solution for all their needs. Our approach to the industry and our support for our district partners, starting at the school level, have always been unique. We were established with the sole purpose of making a difference in education for students. For the past 25 years, we have been focused on improving student achievement and providing an excellent education to every student every day. We work exclusively in education because we understand that the care and instruction of students should never be a side project. This core focus sets us apart from other organizations. We answer to you and your schools, not shareholders.



History with Knox County Schools and Tennessee School Districts

We have been partnered with Knox County Schools since 2023. Our program's goal has always been to support your district, its faculty, and its students at the highest level. One of your District's principals praised our program during a recent principal survey, stating, "This has been an excellent service. This is the first time in four years that some of these positions have been filled."

When ESS partnered with KCS, the District was facing difficulties finding qualified employees to fill needed instructional assistant, speech-language pathologist, and school psychologist roles in each school. We implemented several procedures to ensure we could help solve this problem for the District. We developed a step-by-step vetting process to ensure we hired the best candidates for the District possible. We developed an interactive Google sheet that shows both ESS and the District what stage each applicant is in. Once a new employee is placed in a District school, our Local Account Manager, Heather Maples, schedules school visits to meet with the principal to evaluate the new employee, building strong relationships with each District principal. Regional Manager Ingrid Ahmad regularly speaks with Michelle Flynn and Lisa Ross to discuss our current SLPs and school psychologists employed in the District as well as any anticipated vacancies so we can be ahead of finding qualified employees for the District's needs. Finally, we have retained over 50% of our placements from year to year. Due to Heather's and Ingrid's efforts, employee incentives, such as sign-on bonuses and relocation incentives, virtual options, District school relationships, and weekly pay, we have a wonderful retention rate for employees we place within the District.

Two of our speech-language therapists have even been hired by the District, which showcases the exceptional quality of employees we hire to fill District needs.

In addition to our efforts during the school year, our partnership has provided 25 ESS employees to provide educational services for the summer Special Education summer program.

During our tenure with your District, we have worked to ensure all employees and the District continue to experience wonderful results from our partnership. Some of our achievements within the District include the following:

- Award various ESS employees with Employee of the Month awards as chosen by District principals. Employees receive a monetary award and recognition in their schools and on social media.
- Offer incentives for employees to work regularly. During February, we ran a "Perfect Attendance" contest in which employees who had perfect attendance for the month were entered into a raffle for a gift card drawing.
- Covered all costs associated with background checks, Para Pro exams, and drug screening for ESS employees working in District schools.

- Consistently show employees and District administration appreciation with gifts such as Appreciation Week gift bags, cookies, and "You're the Balm" gift bags.

We have served Tennessee for the last 8 years, recruiting, hiring, training, placing, and managing daily and permanent personnel. We have a strong regional presence with over nineteen successful school district partnerships in the state. Our experience and success in the state come with real benefits for Knox County Schools. Our deep roots within the state give us both a strong employee pool and recruiting infrastructure to ensure that your District receives the highest quality and quantity of employees possible.

ESS Case Studies

Glen Rock Public Schools – Effectively Responding to an Increased Need for Teacher Assistants

When ESS first met with the District administrators at Glen Rock Public Schools, the District was struggling to find qualified Teacher Assistants and Paraprofessionals to support their growing special education program. These difficulties created an administrative burden for District administration and created an issue of inconsistency in the classroom.

When ESS partnered with the District in July of 2011, the District requested we hire both certified teachers and teacher assistants to be placed int he District. While this is not a customary procedure for ESS, we worked with them to ensure we could fulfill this need and had a full staff in place and classroom-ready by September 2011.

ESS implemented a widespread recruiting campaign and held extensive interviews with individuals throughout the surrounding community. We worked alongside the building administration of each District school to identify the perfect candidates to support these programs at the classroom level, retain staff year-over-year, and provide consistent student support.

After working with the District for over 13 years, ESS continues to provide the staff with comprehensive ongoing training programs, including several professional development sessions covering topics like executive functioning, emotional intelligence, positive behavior outcomes, and positive conditioning, as well as CPI (crisis prevention intervention) training.

Our hands-on approach and consistent communication allow ESS to provide the District with a continually successful program providing teacher assistants for over 13 years. We currently provide over 70 Teacher Assistants to support the needs of Glen Rock Schools.

Savannah-Chatham County Public School System – Filling Much-Needed Vacant Positions Right Away

When ESS partnered with the District in July of 2023 for their speech-language pathology program, the District requested we hire both certified teachers and teacher assistants to be placed in the District. While this is not a customary procedure for ESS, we worked with them to ensure we could fulfill this need and had a full staff in place and classroom-ready by September 2023.

From there, ESS went to work to find the most qualified employees for the District. We ramped up our hiring efforts and brought on an additional ten highly qualified Speech-Language Pathologists to meet the District's growing demand for the 24/25 school year of seventeen SLPs.

The collaboration between our program and the District stands out not only due to our ability to fulfill District needs but also because of our leadership's firsthand experience as Speech-Language Pathologists in the public school system. This unique qualification allows us to bring a depth of understanding and tailored solutions to Savannah-Chatham County Public Schools, positioning us as the ideal partner for their ongoing success.

Tab VI – Other Information

Additional Services

Our program has a unique approach to the education industry, and we are committed to supporting our district partners. All our efforts aim to improve student achievement and ensure that every student receives an excellent education every day. Unlike other organizations, we work solely in the education sector, and we believe that the care and instruction of students should always be the primary focus. This focus sets us apart and allows us to offer additional programs supporting students and schools.

ESS Substitute Services

In addition to the instructional assistant services described in this proposal, we can provide KCS with an effective, fully-managed substitute talent and management program. ESS is the largest dedicated provider of substitute talent and management to the K-12 education market. For the past 25 years, we have built strong partnerships with school district partners while helping them to improve student achievement by offering consistency in the classroom.

Full-Service K-12 Staffing and Management Solution

ESS delivers unmatched service to more than 5.5 million students through a pool of over 100,000 substitute and permanent employees in nationwide. The ESS corporate team is 700 individuals strong, each with a passion for education and working together to ensure our 900+ partner districts experience valuable education every day.

A Professional for Every Position

ESS recruits, trains, places, and manages educational professional personnel. Since we're solely focused on education, each employee has the skills, certifications, and knowledge needed for their position, which means every day is a valuable learning day for your students.

Specialized Recruiting Methods

ESS utilizes our proven specialized recruiting methods, including online and print advertising, working with local colleges and universities, community outreach, and local recruiting events, to ensure our district partners always have access to a large pool of highly qualified substitutes ready to fill staff absences in their schools.

Management Support from a True Partnership

ESS management teams are a continuous and dedicated presence in our partner districts, constantly working with them to not only find the best people and solutions for their schools but also to learn all about their unique cultures, communities, and students. We use this knowledge to provide districts with comprehensive and customized management support, giving them the most time, resources, and hard and soft cost savings possible.

PROXIMITY LEARNING
An ESS Company

Live, Virtual Certified Teachers

In conjunction with our Proximity Learning division, our live online instruction connects the most highly qualified, certified teachers with school districts in need through an interactive instruction model.

These online courses allow for data-driven differentiated instruction. Student progress is tracked in real-time, and teachers use detailed information to create individualized feedback, provide tutoring, and offer supplemental support tailored to each student's learning needs. Courses are aligned with state standards for English, language arts, mathematics, science, social studies, career and technical education, general electives, and world languages.

The Proximity Learning solution benefits school districts when a lack of certified teachers negatively impacts student achievement. This can include districts that are unable to find a certified teacher for a specific subject, when an instructor goes on maternity leave, or when a teacher resigns, and a replacement can't be found.

- Qualified Teachers: Teachers are certified with years of teaching experience; many have advanced degrees
- Flexible Scheduling: Instructors can be part-time or full-time, giving administrators the flexibility to choose
- Dedicated Support: Continuously available for the school's technical and administrative needs
- Customization: Courses are designed to the school's curriculum, grading policy, and schedule

Virtual Certified Teachers - Tutors

Proximity Learning offers three types of virtual tutoring services that may be beneficial for Knox County Schools.

- Tier I Tutoring — This is one-to-one tutoring. It is the direct interaction between a teacher and one student.
- Tier II Tutoring — This tier is for a group of two to four students.
- Tier III Tutoring — This tier is for a group of five to eight students.

We have found that Tier II and Tier III work well for many students. The assistance is targeted at a group audience and not targeted to an individual student.

Tab VII - Exceptions

Exceptions

ESS does not have any exceptions relating to this RFP. We will continue to provide all services as they relate to this RFP.

If an Individual makes a request for access to PHI directly to BA, BA shall notify CE of the request within three (3) business days of such request and will cooperate with CE and allow CE to send the response to the Individual.

4.5 Amendment of Designated Record Sets. To the extent that BA possesses or maintains PHI in a Designated Record Set, BA agrees to make any amendment(s) to PHI in a Designated Record Set that the CE directs or agrees to pursuant to HIPAA Regulations at the request of CE or an Individual, and in the time and manner designated by the CE. If an Individual makes a request for an amendment to PHI directly to BA, BA shall notify CE of the request within three (3) business days of such request and will cooperate with CE and allow CE to send the response to the Individual.

4.6 Disclosure Accounting. BA agrees to document disclosures of Protected Health Information and information related to such disclosures as is necessary to enable Covered Entity to respond to a request by a Covered Individual for an accounting of disclosures of PHI in accordance with HIPAA Regulations and the HITECH Act. BA agrees to provide to CE or an Individual, in the time and manner designated by the CE, information to permit CE to respond to a request by an Individual for an accounting of disclosures of PHI in accordance with HIPAA Regulations and the HITECH Act. If an Individual makes a request for an accounting directly to BA, BA shall notify CE of the request within three (3) business days of such request and will cooperate with CE and allow CE to send the response to the Individual. At a minimum, Business Associate shall provide Covered Entity with the following information: (i) the date of the disclosure; (ii) the name of the entity or person who received the Protected Health Information, and if known, the address of such entity or person; (iii) a brief description of the Protected Health Information disclosed; and, (iv) a brief statement of the purpose of such disclosure which includes an explanation of the basis for such disclosure. It shall be CE's responsibility to promptly notify BA of the request for an accounting, and to prepare and deliver any such accounting requested. In addition to the forgoing, BA shall track other disclosures and/or make available to CE such information as is necessary for Covered Entity to comply with any additional accounting requirements.

5.2 Requests by Covered Entity. CE shall not request or direct BA to use or disclose Protected Health Information in any manner that would not be permissible under the Privacy Rule if done by CE. This includes, but is not limited to, requests or directions for disclosure of Protected Health Information to the Plan sponsor in a capacity other than acting on behalf of the Plan as CE. To the extent a dispute or difference of opinion exists between the BA and CE regarding whether a use or disclosure is permissible, BA may disclose the Protected Health Information under objection pursuant to the specific, written direction of CE. Any disclosures made pursuant to such specific, written direction shall be subject to the indemnification provisions of the Agreement.

5.3 Authorizations. CE shall notify Business Associate of any authorization provided by an Individual to use or disclose Protected Health Information (and any changes in or revocation of such an authorization),, to the extent that such information may affect Business Associate's use or disclosure of Protected Health Information. Upon receipt of such notification, BA shall comply with such a restriction.

5.5 Agreement Breaches by Business Associate. If CE obtains knowledge of a pattern of activity or practice of BA that constitutes a material breach or violation of BA's obligations under this Agreement,

CE will take reasonable steps to cure such breach or end such violation. If CE cannot successfully cure the breach or end the violation, CE shall terminate the Agreement in accordance with Section 8.2 if feasible.

6.1 Introduction. This section applies where Business Associate, on behalf of Covered Entity, performs or assists in the performance of functions and activities that may involve the creation, maintenance, receipt, or transmission of Electronic Protected Health Information. This Section 6 along with the other sections of the BA Agreement are (1) intended to meet the requirements of the "business associate" provisions of Security Rule, and (2) govern the terms and conditions under which the BA may create, maintain, receive, and transmit Electronic Protected Health Information on behalf of CE. In general, BA agrees and intends to act such that (1) CE can fulfill its responsibilities under HIPAA; (2) BA can fulfill its responsibilities under HIPAA; and (3) BA can fulfill its contractual obligations under this Agreement.

This Section 6.2.1 shall be effective as of the compliance date applicable under the final regulations issued under HITECH that address this requirement.

6.2.2 Implement administrative, physical and technical safeguards (including written policies and procedures) that reasonably and appropriately protect the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of the Electronic Protected Health Information that BA creates, maintains, receives, or transmits on behalf of CE.

6.2.3 Enter into a written contract with any agent or Subcontractor to whom BA provides Electronic Protected Health Information that requires such agent or Subcontractor to comply with the same restrictions and conditions that apply under this Section 6 to BA, including, but not limited to, implementing reasonable and appropriate safeguards to protect such information.

6.2.4 Report to CE any Security Incident of which BA becomes aware. BA shall provide such notification on a quarterly basis, unless a prompter notice is otherwise required by this Agreement. With respect to Security Incidents that result from an unsuccessful attempt to access, use, disclose, modify, or destroy Electronic Protected Health Information or interfere with system operations in an information system containing Electronic Protected Health Information, the notification required hereunder need only report the aggregate number of such incidents.

6.2.5 Promptly mitigate, to the extent practicable, any harmful effect of a Security Incident that is known to BA.

6.3 Obligations of Covered Entity. CE shall not request or direct BA to create, maintain, receive, or transmit Electronic Protected Health Information in any manner that would not be permissible under the Security Rule.

7.1 Breach Notification. To the extent BA accesses, maintains, retains, modifies, records, stores, destroys, or otherwise holds, uses, or discloses Unsecured Protected Health Information, as set forth in Section 13402(h) of HITECH, BA shall promptly report to CE any Breach of such Unsecured Protected Health Information by it, its subcontractors or agents of which it becomes aware. Prior to notifying CE of the Discovery of a Breach, BA shall take reasonable steps to satisfy itself based upon reasonable diligence that the acquisition, access, use or disclosure of PHI was not unintentional or inadvertent. Notification to CE shall be made without unreasonable delay and in no case later than five (5) business days after the earlier of: (i) the first day on which such Breach is known to BA; or (ii) the first day on which such Breach, by exercising reasonable diligence, would have been known to any person (other than the person committing the Breach) who is an employee, officer or other agent of BA. Notification will be made to the CE's Privacy Officer. Notification of the Breach may only be delayed if such delay is required by law enforcement purposes as set forth in 45 C.F.R. Section 164.412. If BA has been requested orally or in writing by law enforcement officials that notification of affected individuals may impede a criminal investigation, BA shall inform CE within 24 hours of receiving the request. BA shall exercise reasonable diligence and promptly supplement its report with any additional information as may be obtained by BA. BA, its affiliates, agents and subcontractors shall not provide any notification or information regarding any Breach to any person other than CE, except to the extent such action is: (i) required by law, (ii) required under this Agreement, or (iii) taken pursuant to a prior written consent of Covered Entity. Notwithstanding the foregoing, BA may provide information regarding a Breach to its legal counsel.

7.2 Content of Report. Notification to CE of a Breach shall include, at a minimum, the following:

7.2.1 A brief description of what happened, including the date of the incident and the date of the discovery of the incident, if known;

7.2.2 A description of the types of Unsecured PHI that were involved in the incident (such as whether full name, social security number, date of birth, home address, account number, diagnosis, disability code, or other types of information) and that were or are reasonably believed by BA to have been impermissibly accessed, acquired, used or disclosed;

7.2.3 A fact-specific and detailed risk assessment of whether the incident poses a significant risk of financial, reputational, or other harm to the individual whose Unsecured PHI has been (or is reasonable believed by BA to have been) acquired, accessed, used or disclosed;

7.2.4 Identification of the Individuals whose Unsecured PHI has been, or is reasonably believed by BA to have been, accessed, acquired, used or disclosed;

7.2.5 Any steps Individuals should take to protect themselves from potential harm resulting from the incident;

7.2.6 A brief description of what BA is doing to investigate the incident, to mitigate harm to Individuals, and to protect against any further incidents; and

7.2.7 Any other information reasonably requested by CE to be included in the report.

7.3 Documentation and Retention. BA will document all actions described in this Section 7 and maintain such documentation for at least six years from the date the documentation is created or the date it was last in effect, whichever is later.

7.4 Reimbursement, Mitigation and Cooperation. BA will reimburse CE for all reasonable and necessary out-of-pocket costs incurred (including without limitation costs associated with providing required notices) as a result of a Breach by the BA, its affiliates, subcontractors or agents. Business Associate further agrees to cooperate with CE as reasonably requested, to mitigate, to the extent practicable, any harmful effect of such a Breach or other use or disclosure of Protected Health Information in violation of the terms and conditions of this Agreement, and fully cooperate with CE on all matters relating to such incident and associated notifications by CE to Individuals, the media, the Secretary, the Federal Trade Commission, or any other governmental entity.

7.5 Continuing Duty to Report. Nothing in this Agreement shall be construed to relieve BA of its existing reporting obligations under the Agreement and BA shall continue to report to CE in the time and in the manner provided for in the Agreement. The occurrence of a Security Incident of a use or disclosure of PHI in a manner that is not provided for in the Agreement shall not discharge BA's obligations under this Agreement to report a Breach unless such reporting fully and completely satisfies all of the Breach reporting requirements of this Agreement.

8. Term and Termination

8.1 Term. The Term of this Agreement will begin and become effective on the Effective Date and shall terminate when all of the Protected Health Information provided by CE to BA, or created or received by BA on behalf of CE is destroyed or returned to CE, or, if it is infeasible to return or destroy Protected Health Information, protections are extended to such information, in accordance with the termination provisions in this Section 8

8.2 Termination. Upon CE's knowledge of a material breach by BA of the terms of this Agreement, CE shall either:

We do not hold any student data in any ESS systems and utilize the Districts systems for any student information. On the insurance question, if it's related to filing for TennCare we would do that on the districts behalf, if asked to.

I hope this is what you are looking for, but if you need more clarification please let me know.

Subject: [EXTERNAL] Follow-up questions regarding RFP No. 3635

Good Afternoon,

I have a few follow-up questions regarding the proposal your organization submitted in response to Knox County's RFP No. 3635 for Supplemental Staffing Services.

Does your organization file insurance on KCS students and/or input KCS students' data in your systems? Or is all student data located in KCS systems and the clinical staffing companies only provide clinical staff with no KCS student data in their systems?

We may have a few more questions to follow, but wanted to get clarity on the points above before diving in deeper. Any feedback is very much appreciated.

Thank you,

(1) The contractor will not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or national origin. The contractor will take affirmative action to ensure that applicants are employed, and that employees are treated during employment without regard to their race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or national origin. Such action shall include, but not be limited to the following: Employment, upgrading, demotion, or transfer; recruitment or recruitment advertising; layoff or termination; rates of pay or other forms of compensation; and selection for training, including apprenticeship. (2) The contractor will, in all solicitations or advertisements for employees placed by or on behalf of the contractor, state that all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or national origin.

(3) The contractor will not discharge or in any other manner discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because such employee or applicant has inquired about, discussed, or disclosed the compensation of the employee or applicant or another employee or applicant. This provision shall not apply to instances in which an employee who has access to the compensation information of other employees or applicants as a part of such employee's essential job functions discloses the compensation of such other employees or applicants to individuals who do not otherwise have access to such information, unless such disclosure is in response to a formal complaint or charge, in furtherance of an investigation, proceeding, hearing, or action, including an investigation conducted by the employer, or is consistent with the contractor's legal duty to furnish information.

(4) The contractor will send to each labor union or representative of workers with which he has a collective bargaining agreement or other contract or understanding, a notice to be provided advising the said labor union or workers' representatives of the contractor's commitments under this section, and shall post copies of the notice in conspicuous places available to employees and applicants for employment.

(7) In the event of the contractor's noncompliance with the nondiscrimination clauses of this contract or with any of the said rules, regulations, or orders, this contract may be canceled, terminated, or suspended in whole or in part and the contractor may be declared ineligible for further Government contracts or federally assisted construction contracts in accordance with procedures authorized in Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, and such other sanctions may be imposed and remedies invoked as provided in Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, or by rule, regulation, or order of the Secretary of Labor, or as otherwise provided by law.

FULFILLMENT AND PROGRAM MANAGEMENT

Stellar has a highly skilled recruiting team that contributes to our success at filling open positions. Referral bonus programs, attendance at regional, state, and national conferences, creative use of social media and job boards, excellent relationships with colleges and universities --- these are just some of the many tools we use to maintain a constant pipeline of available therapists. Stellar sources and maintains the talent pipeline through proactive recruiting techniques, continual relationship building and ongoing communication. We maintain an Applicant Tracking System with over 12,000 prospective candidates with the majority located in Tennessee.

When a supplemental staffing need is communicated to Stellar, we expect to have candidates for KCS consideration within 2 weeks, and will continue until the positions are filled. If the candidate is accepted by KCS, he or she will be able to begin work within 4 – 6 weeks, often sooner.

Employee retention is a focus from day one, in pursuing applicants who have experience and knowledge in the job responsibilities, a strong work history, and solid references. With more than 20 years in school based staffing, Stellar has identified multiple behavioral and performance criteria which are strongly correlated with long term employee retention, and we screen for those in the applicant process.

Employee retention is additionally addressed through our extensive training and support described in detail below. Lastly, we provide employee referral and retention bonus to our current staff, in order to engage our staff in making good referrals and supporting new staff members.

The primary involvement of KCS in these retention efforts is to request clear communication with Stellar regarding contractor expectations, and areas of potential improvement.

When a contractor's unsatisfactory performance is reported to Stellar, we will communicate with the appropriate Knox County supervisor to determine a plan for remediation and/or replacement if needed. If a performance improvement plan is deemed appropriate, then Stellar will manage and monitor the plan with feedback from KCS.

TRAINING

A strength at Stellar Therapy is that our therapy staff is supervised and trained by experienced school therapy providers who have experience and specific training on implementing IEP services in the most cost efficient, effective manner. Additionally, our experience in working with a variety of school districts has allowed us to develop internal systems that are streamlined and adaptable to meet KCS needs. Furthermore, our clinical staff is supported by a team of administrative staff who are experienced in assisting the smooth integration of our therapists into their specific assignment.

Stellar provides both clinical and administrative oversight for our therapists' ensuring that our therapists provide quality services appropriate for the school setting. A Lead Therapist for both speech-language pathologists and school psychologists will perform this oversight. These Lead Therapists maintain a thorough knowledge of DOE requirements, IDEA, and the best practices for school services within their individual disciplines. Therapists who are transitioning from a medical or other setting will be provided with additional education and training in the service differences with school-based services under and IEP, ISP, or 504 plan. These Lead Therapists will be available to KCS on request to assist with problem solving and planning.

Administrative oversight includes regular review of documentation, communication with the therapists and school district staff, coordinating meeting attendance, ensuring timely completion and distribution of assessments, problem solving, and providing any support the therapist or BCS requires. A Stellar Supervisor provides this administrative oversight.

We make sure that every therapist placed in a school setting is trained and ready to work. We do not expect KCS to train our therapists on how to provide school therapy.

Our goal is to find the most qualified and trustworthy employees. Conducting background checks helps us be compliant with all federal, state, and local laws governing how information is collected and used for employment purposes.

Part of this process is completing pre-employment background checks including fingerprinting, post-employment re-checks every 5 years, and monthly exclusion checks.

The following are checked as part of pre-employment and ongoing procedure:

- SSN Verification
- TN Abuse Registry
- TBI Sex Offender Registry
- TN Felony Offender
- State/Federal criminal history

2.2 Permitted Uses and Disclosures by Business Associate.

2.2.1 Business Associate agrees to not use or disclose PHI other than as permitted or required by this Agreement or as Required by Law. Business Associate shall comply with the provisions of this Agreement relating to privacy and security of PHI on all present and future provisions of HIPAA, the HITECH Act and HIPAA Regulations that relate to privacy and security of PHI and that are applicable to CE and/or BA. Except as otherwise limited in this Agreement, BA may use or disclose Protected Health Information (i) to perform functions, activities, or services for, or on behalf of, Covered Entity pursuant to any services agreement with the BA, (ii) as permitted or required by this Agreement, and (iii) as Required by Law. BA may disclose Protected Health Information to other BAs of Covered Entity, or to BAs of another covered entity that is part of an organized health care arrangement that includes Covered Entity, to the fullest extent allowed under applicable law. If and when BA discloses or makes available Protected Health Information to the sponsor of the Plan, BA agrees to disclose or make available Protected Health Information only to the persons identified in the attached Designated Persons Appendix (which may be updated by Covered Entity and communicated to BA from time to time) for the purpose of performing functions, services, or activities for or on behalf of Covered Entity. Upon Covered Entity's request, BA will provide Protected Health Information to other BAs of Covered Entity that assist in administering the group health plans and that are authorized to receive such information.

2.2.2 Except as otherwise limited in this Agreement, BA may use or disclose PHI consistent with CE's minimum necessary policies and procedures to perform functions, activities, or Services for, or on behalf of CE as specified in the Agreement, provided such use or disclosure would not violate the Privacy and Security Rule if done by the CE.

2.2.3 Disclosure for Management and Administration - Except as otherwise limited in this Agreement, BA may disclose PHI for the proper management and administration of the BA or to carry out the legal responsibilities of the BA, provided that:

i. Disclosures are required by law; or
ii. BA obtains reasonable assurances from the person to whom the information is disclosed that it will remain confidential and will be used or further disclosed only as required by law or for the purpose for which it was disclosed to the person, and

iii. The person notifies the BA of any instances of which it is aware in which the confidentiality of the information has been breached.

2.2.4 Data Aggregation - Except as otherwise limited in this Agreement, BA may use PHI to provide Data Aggregation services to CE relating to the health care operations of the CE.

2.2.5 Report Violations of Law - Except as otherwise limited in this Agreement, BA may use PHI to report violations of law appropriate to Federal and State authorities consistent with 45 CFR §164.502(j))(1).

2.2.6 De-identification. The BA may de-identify any and all PHI that it obtains from the CE, but only if such de-identification is accomplished in accordance with the requirements of 45 CFR 514 (a) and (b).

2.2.7 Business Associate will limit the use, disclosure, or request of Protected Health Information, to the extent practicable, (i) to the Limited Data Set, or (ii) if needed by BA, to the minimum necessary (as determined by BA) to accomplish the intended purpose of such use, disclosure, or request, except to the extent a broader use, disclosure, or request of Protected Health Information is allowed by the Privacy Rule. BA's ability to satisfy the requirement of this Section 2.2.7 by use of the Limited Data Set shall be available until the effective date of subsequent guidance issued by the Secretary regarding what constitutes "minimum necessary," at which time BA will take reasonable efforts to limit the use, disclosure, or request of Protected Health Information to the minimum necessary (as defined by such Secretary's guidance) to accomplish the intended purpose of such use, disclosure, or request, except to the extent a broader use, disclosure, or request of Protected Health Information is allowed by the Privacy Rule.

2.2.8 Except as otherwise authorized by the Privacy Rule, BA shall not directly or indirectly receive remuneration (whether financial or nonfinancial) in exchange for any Protected Health Information of a Covered Individual unless Covered Entity has received a valid authorization from the Covered Individual that includes a specification of whether the Protected Health Information can be further exchanged for remuneration by the entity receiving Protected Health Information of that Covered Individual. This Section 2.2.8 shall apply to exchanges of Protected Health Information occurring on or after the compliance date applicable under the final regulations issued under HITECH that address this restriction.

3. Limitations on Business Associate's Uses and Disclosures. With respect to Protected Health Information that Covered Entity discloses to BA or BA creates, receives, maintains, or transmits on behalf of Covered Entity, BA will not use or further disclose the Protected Health Information other than as permitted or required by this Agreement or as Required by Law.

4. Additional Obligations of Business Associate. Except as otherwise specified in this Agreement, the provisions of this paragraph apply only to Protected Health Information that Covered Entity discloses to BA or BA creates, receives, maintains, or transmits on behalf of Covered Entity.

4.1 Safeguards. BA agrees to use appropriate safeguards to prevent the use or disclosure of the PHI other than as provided for by this Agreement. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing sentence, BA must comply with the Security Rule by:

4.1.1 Implementing administrative, physical, and technical safeguards that reasonably and appropriately protect the confidentiality, integrity and availability of PHI and ePHI as required by the Agreement, and as required by 45 CFR 164.308, 164.310, 164.312, and 164.316 that the BA receives, creates, maintains, or transmits to the same extent as if the BA were a CE. The BA shall undertake such actions in a manner that is consistent with any guidance issued by the Secretary pursuant to the HITECH Act.

4.1.2 Ensure that any subcontractors that create, receive, maintain or transmit PHI on behalf of the BA agree to comply with the applicable requirements of the Privacy and Security

Rules by entering into a contract or other arrangement that complies with the Privacy and Security Rules.

4.1.3 Promptly report to CE any Security Incident of which BA becomes aware. In addition, BA agrees to promptly notify CE following the discovery of a Breach of Unsecured PHI. A Breach is considered "discovered" as of the first day on which the Breach is known, or reasonably should have been known, to BA or any employee, officer or agent of BA, other than the individual committing the Breach.

4.1.4 BA shall protect PHI from any improper oral or written disclosure by enacting and enforcing safeguards to maintain the security of and to prevent any Use or Disclosure of PHI other than is permitted by this Agreement.

4.2 Reporting and Mitigation. Business Associate will report to Covered Entity any acquisition, access, use, or disclosure of Protected Health Information of which BA becomes aware, or that is reported to BA by an agent or Subcontractor, that is in violation of this Agreement.

BA agrees to mitigate, to the extent practicable, any harmful effect that is known to BA of a use or disclosure of PHI by BA or its employees, officers or agents in violation of the requirements of this Agreement (including, without limitation, any Security Incident or Breach of Unsecured PHI). BA agrees to reasonably cooperate and coordinate with CE in the investigation of any violation of the requirements of this Agreement and/or any Security Incident or Breach. BA shall also reasonably cooperate and coordinate with CE in the preparation of any reports or notices to the individual, a regulatory body or any third party required to be made under HIPAA Regulations, the HITECH Act, or any other Federal or State laws, rules, or regulations, provided that any such reports or notices shall be subject to the prior written approval of CE.

4.3 Agents and Subcontractors. BA agrees to enter into an agreement with each of its subcontractors pursuant to 45 CFR 164.308(b)(1) and HITECH 13401. BA shall monitor and ensure, in accordance with 45 CFR 164.502(e)(l)(ii) and 164.308(b)(2), that any agents, including subcontractors and subcontractors of subcontractors, that create, received, maintain, or transmit PHI on behalf of the BA agree to the same restrictions, conditions, and requirements that apply to the BA through this Agreement with respect to such information.

4.4 Access to Designated Record Sets. To the extent that BA possesses or maintains PHI in a Designated Record Set, BA agrees to provide access, at the request of CE, and in the time and manner designated by the CE, to PHI in a Designated Record Set, to Covered Entity or, as directed by CE, to an Individual in order to meet the requirements under HIPAA Regulations. If an Individual makes a request for access to PHI directly to BA, BA shall notify CE of the request within three (3) business days of such request and will cooperate with CE and allow CE to send the response to the Individual.

4.5 Amendment of Designated Record Sets. To the extent that BA possesses or maintains PHI in a Designated Record Set, BA agrees to make any amendment(s) to PHI in a Designated Record Set that the CE directs or agrees to pursuant to HIPAA Regulations at the request of CE or an Individual, and in the time and manner designated by the CE. If an Individual makes a request for an amendment to PHI directly to BA, BA shall notify CE of the request within three (3) business days of such request and will cooperate with CE and allow CE to send the response to the Individual.

4.6 Disclosure Accounting. BA agrees to document disclosures of Protected Health Information and information related to such disclosures as is necessary to enable Covered Entity to respond to a request by a Covered Individual for an accounting of disclosures of PHI in accordance with HIPAA Regulations and the HITECH Act. BA agrees to provide to CE or an Individual, in the time and manner designated by the CE, information to permit CE to respond to a request by an Individual for an accounting of disclosures of PHI in accordance with HIPAA Regulations and the HITECH Act. If an Individual makes a request for an accounting directly to BA, BA shall notify CE of the request within three (3) business days of such request and will cooperate with CE and allow CE to send the response to the Individual. At a minimum, Business Associate shall provide Covered Entity with the following information: (i) the date of the disclosure; (ii) the name of the entity or person who received the Protected Health Information, and if known, the address of such entity or person; (iii) a brief description of the Protected Health Information disclosed; and, (iv) a brief statement of the purpose of such disclosure which includes an explanation of the basis for such disclosure. BA hereby agrees to implement an appropriate record keeping process to enable it to comply with the requirements of this section and applicable law. It shall be CE's responsibility to promptly notify BA of the request for an accounting, and to prepare and deliver any such accounting requested. In addition to the forgoing, BA shall track other disclosures and/or make available to CE such information as is necessary for Covered Entity to comply with any additional accounting requirements.

4.7 Access to Business Associate's Internal Records. BA shall make its internal practices, books, and records relating to the use and disclosure of Protected Health Information received from, or created or received by Business Associate on behalf of, CE available to CE or the Secretary, for the purposes of the Secretary's determining compliance with HIPAA for Covered Entity and/or BA.

4.8 Electronic Transactions. In the event the BA transmits or receives any Covered Electronic Transaction on behalf of CE, it shall comply with all applicable provisions of the Standards for Electronic Transactions Rule to the extent Required by Law and shall ensure that any agents and Subcontractors that assist BA in conducting Covered Electronic Transactions on behalf of CE agree in writing to comply with the Standards for Electronic Transactions Rule to the extent Required by Law.

4.9 GINA. BA agrees not to use or disclose Protected Health Information that contains genetic information if such use or disclosure would violate GINA.

5. Obligations and Rights of Covered Entity.

5.1 Notice of Privacy Practices. CE shall provide BA with the notice of privacy practices that CE produces in accordance with 45 C.F.R. Section 164.520, as well as any changes to such notice.

5.2 Requests by Covered Entity. CE shall not request or direct BA to use or disclose Protected Health Information in any manner that would not be permissible under the Privacy Rule if done by CE. This includes, but is not limited to, requests or directions for disclosure of Protected Health Information to the Plan sponsor in a capacity other than acting on behalf of the Plan as CE. To the extent a dispute or difference of opinion exists between the BA and CE regarding whether a use or disclosure is permissible, BA may disclose the Protected Health Information under objection pursuant to the specific, written direction of CE. Any disclosures made pursuant to such specific, written direction shall be subject to the indemnification provisions of the Agreement.

5.3 Authorizations. CE shall notify Business Associate of any authorization provided by an Individual to use or disclose Protected Health Information (and any changes in or revocation of such an authorization),, to the extent that such information may affect Business Associate's use or disclosure of Protected Health Information. Upon receipt of such notification, BA shall use or disclose Protected Health Information in accordance with the authorization or changes thereto.

5.4 Restrictions. CE shall notify BA of any restriction on the use or disclosure of Protected Health Information to which CE has agreed in accordance with 45 C.F.R. Section 164.522 or is required to agree under HITECH (and any changes to or termination of such a restriction), to the extent that such restriction may affect BA's use or disclosure of Protected Health Information. Such restrictions include, but are not limited to, a Covered Individual's request not to disclose Protected Health Information for purposes of payment or health care operations where the Protected Health Information relates solely to a health item or service for which the health care provider has been paid in full out-of-pocket by, or on behalf of, the Covered Individual. Upon receipt of such notification, BA shall comply with such a restriction.

5.5 Agreement Breaches by Business Associate. If CE obtains knowledge of a pattern of activity or practice of BA that constitutes a material breach or violation of BA's obligations under this Agreement,

CE will take reasonable steps to cure such breach or end such violation. If CE cannot successfully cure the breach or end the violation, CE shall terminate the Agreement in accordance with Section 8.2 if feasible.

6. Electronic Security Provisions

6.1 Introduction. This section applies where Business Associate, on behalf of Covered Entity, performs or assists in the performance of functions and activities that may involve the creation, maintenance, receipt, or transmission of Electronic Protected Health Information. This Section 6 along with the other sections of the BA Agreement are (1) intended to meet the requirements of the "business associate" provisions of Security Rule, and (2) govern the terms and conditions under which the BA may create, maintain, receive, and transmit Electronic Protected Health Information on behalf of CE. In general, BA agrees and intends to act such that (1) CE can fulfill its responsibilities under HIPAA; (2) BA can fulfill its responsibilities under HIPAA; and (3) BA can fulfill its contractual obligations under this Agreement.

6.2 Obligations of Business Associate. In accordance with the Security Rule, BA agrees to:

6.2.1 Conduct a security risk assessment (in accordance with 45 C.F.R. Section 164.308(a)(1)(ii)(A)) and adopt and implement policies and procedures designed to ensure compliance with the Security Rule and this Agreement including, but not limited to, identifying security officer and training personnel. This Section 6.2.1 shall be effective as of the compliance date applicable under the final regulations issued under HITECH that address this requirement.

6.2.2 Implement administrative, physical and technical safeguards (including written policies and procedures) that reasonably and appropriately protect the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of the Electronic Protected Health Information that BA creates, maintains, receives, or transmits on behalf of CE.

6.2.3 Enter into a written contract with any agent or Subcontractor to whom BA provides Electronic Protected Health Information that requires such agent or Subcontractor to comply with the same restrictions and conditions that apply under this Section 6 to BA, including, but not limited to, implementing reasonable and appropriate safeguards to protect such information.

6.2.4 Report to CE any Security Incident of which BA becomes aware. BA shall provide such notification on a quarterly basis, unless a prompter notice is otherwise required by this Agreement. With respect to Security Incidents that result from an unsuccessful attempt to access, use, disclose, modify, or destroy Electronic Protected Health Information or interfere with system operations in an information system containing Electronic Protected Health Information, the notification required hereunder need only report the aggregate number of such incidents.

6.2.5 Promptly mitigate, to the extent practicable, any harmful effect of a Security Incident that is known to BA.

6.3 Obligations of Covered Entity. CE shall not request or direct BA to create, maintain, receive, or transmit Electronic Protected Health Information in any manner that would not be permissible under the Security Rule.

7. Breach Notification Requirements

7.1 Breach Notification. To the extent BA accesses, maintains, retains, modifies, records, stores, destroys, or otherwise holds, uses, or discloses Unsecured Protected Health Information, as set forth in Section 13402(h) of HITECH, BA shall promptly report to CE any Breach of such Unsecured Protected Health Information by it, its subcontractors or agents of which it becomes aware. Prior to notifying CE of the Discovery of a Breach, BA shall take reasonable steps to satisfy itself based upon reasonable diligence that the acquisition, access, use or disclosure of PHI was not unintentional or inadvertent. Notification to CE shall be made without unreasonable delay and in no case later than five (5) business days after the earlier of: (i) the first day on which such Breach is known to BA; or (ii) the first day on which such Breach, by exercising reasonable diligence, would have been known to any person (other than the person committing the Breach) who is an employee, officer or other agent of BA. Notification will be made to the CE's Privacy Officer. Notification of the Breach may only be delayed if such delay is required by law enforcement purposes as set forth in 45 C.F.R. Section 164.412. If BA has been requested orally or in writing by law enforcement officials that notification of affected individuals may impede a criminal investigation, BA shall inform CE within 24 hours of receiving the request. BA shall exercise reasonable diligence and promptly supplement its report with any additional information as may be obtained by BA. BA, its affiliates, agents and subcontractors shall not provide any notification or information regarding any Breach to any person other than CE, except to the extent such action is: (i) required by law, (ii) required under this Agreement, or (iii) taken pursuant to a prior written consent of Covered Entity. Notwithstanding the foregoing, BA may provide information regarding a Breach to its legal counsel.

7.2 Content of Report. Notification to CE of a Breach shall include, at a minimum, the following:

7.2.1 A brief description of what happened, including the date of the incident and the date of the discovery of the incident, if known;

7.2.2 A description of the types of Unsecured PHI that were involved in the incident (such as whether full name, social security number, date of birth, home address, account number, diagnosis, disability code, or other types of information) and that were or are reasonably believed by BA to have been impermissibly accessed, acquired, used or disclosed;

7.2.3 A fact-specific and detailed risk assessment of whether the incident poses a significant risk of financial, reputational, or other harm to the individual whose Unsecured PHI has been (or is reasonable believed by BA to have been) acquired, accessed, used or disclosed;

7.2.4 Identification of the Individuals whose Unsecured PHI has been, or is reasonably believed by BA to have been, accessed, acquired, used or disclosed;

7.2.5 Any steps Individuals should take to protect themselves from potential harm resulting from the incident;

7.2.6 A brief description of what BA is doing to investigate the incident, to mitigate harm to Individuals, and to protect against any further incidents; and

7.2.7 Any other information reasonably requested by CE to be included in the report.

7.3 Documentation and Retention. BA will document all actions described in this Section 7 and maintain such documentation for at least six years from the date the documentation is created or the date it was last in effect, whichever is later.

7.4 Reimbursement, Mitigation and Cooperation. BA will reimburse CE for all reasonable and necessary out-of-pocket costs incurred (including without limitation costs associated with providing required notices) as a result of a Breach by the BA, its affiliates, subcontractors or agents. Business Associate further agrees to cooperate with CE as reasonably requested, to mitigate, to the extent practicable, any harmful effect of such a Breach or other use or disclosure of Protected Health Information in violation of the terms and conditions of this Agreement, and fully cooperate with CE on all matters relating to such incident and associated notifications by CE to Individuals, the media, the Secretary, the Federal Trade Commission, or any other governmental entity.

7.5 Continuing Duty to Report. Nothing in this Agreement shall be construed to relieve BA of its existing reporting obligations under the Agreement and BA shall continue to report to CE in the time and in the manner provided for in the Agreement. The occurrence of a Security Incident of a use or disclosure of PHI in a manner that is not provided for in the Agreement shall not discharge BA's obligations under this Agreement to report a Breach unless such reporting fully and completely satisfies all of the Breach reporting requirements of this Agreement.

8. Term and Termination

8.1 Term. The Term of this Agreement will begin and become effective on the Effective Date and shall terminate when all of the Protected Health Information provided by CE to BA, or created or received by BA on behalf of CE is destroyed or returned to CE, or, if it is infeasible to return or destroy Protected Health Information, protections are extended to such information, in accordance with the termination provisions in this Section 8

8.2 Termination. Upon CE's knowledge of a material breach by BA of the terms of this Agreement, CE shall either:

8.2.1 Provide an opportunity for BA to cure the breach or end the violation.
8.2.2 If BA does not cure the breach or end the violation within the time specified by CE, CE shall terminate this Agreement;
8.2.3 If BA has breached a material term of this Agreement and cure is not possible, immediately terminate this Agreement; or
8.2.4 If neither termination nor cure is feasible, CE shall report the violation to the Secretary.

8.3 Effect of Relationship Termination.

8.3.1 Except as provided in Section 8.3.2 and/or 8.3.3 of this sub-section, upon termination of the Agreement, for any reason, BA shall return or destroy all Protected Health Information received from or created or received by it on behalf of CE and will certify that such return or destruction has been completed no later than 30 calendar days following the effective date of termination. The certificate of return or destruction should be mailed to Knox County Risk Management, Attn. Privacy Officer, 400 Main Street Suite 345, Knoxville TN 37902. This provision shall apply to Protected Health Information that is in the possession of Business Associate and/or its Subcontractors or agents. BA will not retain any copies of Protected Health Information.

8.3.2 In the event that BA determines that returning or destroying Protected Health Information is infeasible, BA will notify CE in writing, no later than the date required for certification under section 8.3.1, of the conditions that make return or destruction infeasible. Upon mutual agreement of the parties that return or destruction of Protected Health Information is infeasible; BA will extend the protections of this Agreement to such Protected Health Information and limit further uses and disclosures of such Protected Health Information to those purposes that make the return or destruction infeasible, for so long as BA maintains such Protected Health Information.

8.3.3 Should Covered Entity notify Business Associate that the information necessary to comply with the recordkeeping requirements under other applicable law includes the Protected Health Information, BA shall return or provide to CE such information, including Protected Health Information.

9. General Provisions

9.1 Regulatory References. Any reference in this Agreement to a section in HIPAA, HIPAA Regulations, or the HITECH Act means the section as in effect or amended or modified from time to time, including any corresponding provisions of subsequent superseding laws or regulations.

9.2 Amendment. The parties agree to take such action as is necessary to amend this Agreement from time to time as is necessary for CE and/or BA to comply with the requirements of HIPAA and the HITECH Act, as those statutes and their implementing regulations may be amended from time to time. No amendment to this Agreement shall be effective until reduced to writing and duly signed by the authorized representatives of the parties.

9.3 Interpretation. Any ambiguity in this Agreement shall be resolved to permit each party to comply with HIPAA and the HITECH Act, as those statutes and their implementing regulations may be amended from time to time. The provisions of this Agreement shall prevail over any provision of any other agreement between the BA and the CE that may conflict or be inconsistent with any provision in this Agreement.

9.4 Survival. The respective rights and obligations of BA under this Agreement shall survive the termination of this Agreement and any related agreement, including a services agreement.

9.5 Indemnity. The BA agrees to indemnify, hold harmless, and defend the CE and its officers, directors, employees or agents from any claim, cause of action, liabilities, damages, penalties, fines, costs, expenses or other losses (including attorney's fees) arising out of any use or disclosure of PHI by BA or its agents or subcontractors in breach of this Agreement of in violation of State or Federal Law, including without limitation, HIPAA, the HITECH Act, the Privacy Rule, or the Security Rule.

9.6 No Third Party Beneficiaries. Nothing express or implied in this Agreement is intended to confer, nor shall anything herein confer, upon any person other than the parties hereto, any rights, remedies, obligations, or liabilities whatsoever.

9.7 Disputes. If any dispute or claim arises between the parties with respect to this Agreement, the parties will make a good faith effort to resolve such matters informally, it being the intention of the parties that they reasonably cooperate with each other in the performance of the mutual obligations under this Agreement.

9.8 Conformance with Law. The parties agree to take such action as is necessary to amend this Agreement from time to time as is necessary for the parties to comply with the requirements of HIPAA as they apply to each party.

9.9 Action. For purposes of this Agreement, whenever action is required by a party to this Agreement, such action must be taken by a person or persons with authority to act on behalf of such party to this Agreement.

9.10 Severability. The invalidity or unenforceability of any provision of this Agreement shall not affect the validity or enforceability of any other provision of this Agreement, which shall remain in full force and effect.

9.11 Notices. All notices and communications required by this Agreement shall be in writing and shall be effective upon receipt. Such notices and communications shall be given in one of the following forms: (i) by delivery in person, (ii) by a nationally-recognized, next-day courier service, (iii) by first-class, registered or certified mail, postage prepaid; or (iv) by electronic mail to the address that each party specifies in writing. Neither party shall refuse delivery of any notice hereunder.

9.12 Nature of Agreement. Nothing in this Agreement shall be construed to create a partnership, joint venture, or other joint business relationship between the parties or any of their affiliates, or a relationship of employer and employee between the parties. Rather, it is the intention of the parties that their relationship shall be that of independent contractors.

9.13 Entire Agreement. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the BA and the CE relating to the matters specified in this Agreement, and supersedes all prior representations or agreements, whether oral or written, with respect to such matters.

9.14 Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in counterparts, each of which so executed shall be construed to be an original, but all of which together shall constitute one agreement binding on all parties, notwithstanding that all parties are not signatories to the same counterpart. Transmission by facsimile or electronic mail of an executed counterpart of this Agreement shall be deemed to constitute due and sufficient delivery of such counterpart. This Agreement and any amendment or modification may not be denied legal effect or enforceability solely because it is in electronic form, or because an electronic signature or electronic record was used in its formation.

9.15 Governing Law and Venue. This Agreement and the rights and obligations of the parties hereunder shall be governed by and construed under the laws of the state of Tennessee. The Chancery Court and/or the Circuit Court of Knox County, Tennessee shall have exclusive and concurrent jurisdiction of any disputes which arise hereunder.

9.16 Compliance with HIPAA Transaction Standards. When providing its services and/or products, BA shall comply with all applicable HIPAA standards and requirements (including, without limitation, those specified in 45 CFR Part 162) with respect to the transmission of health information in electronic form in connection with any transaction for which the Secretary has adopted a standard under HIPAA("Covered Transactions"). BA represents and warrants that it is aware of all current HIPAA standards and requirements regarding Covered Transactions, and BA shall comply with any modifications to HIPAA standards and requirements which become effective from time to time. BA agrees that such compliance shall be at its sole cost and expense, which expense shall not be passed on to CE in any form, including, but not limited to, increased fees. BA shall require all of its agents and subcontractors (if any) who assist BA in providing its services and/or products to comply with these terms.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Agreement as of the date set forth below.

For this RFP 3635 for staffing services, we would not file any insurance nor would we input student information into our systems. The student data would remain in Knox County Schools' system. Our therapists are accustomed to utilizing TN Pulse for IEP development, progress reports, and other functions. They would complete visit documentation and data collection in the method preferred by the district.

We do have an optional Medicaid reimbursement program available through an additional contract and we're happy to discuss it with you. It was not included as part of this RFP.
Do you have any additional questions?

Thank you!

We may have a few more questions to follow, but wanted to get clarity on the points above before diving in deeper. Any feedback is very much appreciated.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Dr. Keith Wilson, Assistant Superintendent of Academics

FROM: Sarah Searles, Supervisor of Academic Resources

DATE: April 11, 2025

RE: Agenda Item for May 2025 Board of Education Meeting

Dear Dr. Wilson et al,

In cooperation with Ms. Katherine Shultz, Supervisor of Social Studies, I am writing to request that an item be added to the May 2025 Board of Education meeting agenda to approve the attached Online Subscription Agreement for The DBQ Project.

This agreement would allow us to continue subscribing to The DBQ Project, a curriculum product which we have purchased for several years and anticipate needing the ability to renew at least through the next Social Studies adoption in 2027. Many of our currently adopted Social Studies materials do not qualify as high quality instructional materials, because the most recent adoption cycle in that content area was conducted before our current state laws, policies, and practices around selection of HQIM. Adding The DBQ Project to our curricular offerings allows us to ensure our students K-12 have the opportunity to receive a high quality and rigorous instructional experience in their Social Studies classes.

We have spoken with Knox County Procurement and confirmed that purchases with The DBQ Project will fall under the publication code, and that they therefore do not need us to run an RFP for these online materials. The quoted price will be covered under the regular GP budget for textbooks and will not pose an unexpected funding impact to the district.

Respectfully submitted,

Sarah Culp Searles

RE: Fiscal Year 2026 Federal Funds Budget

Knox County Schools has received its FY26 preliminary planning allocation for Title I-A, Title I-N, Title I-D, Title II-A, Title III, and Title IV from the Tennessee Department of Educations (TDOE).

Title I-A has been allocated $14,839,842.98. We propose to continue our investment in regular instruction (i.e. teachers, social workers, guidance counselors, intervention teachers, teaching assistants, tutors), regular instructional supplies and materials (supplemental materials), and instructional support services (i.e. coaches, assistant principals, administrative assistants, professional development). We will also provide equitable services to private schools, which are required by law.

Title I-D has been allocated $112,023.86. Title I-N has been allocated $104,090.98. The purpose of Title I-D and Title I-N is to serve delinquent and/or neglected children in local institutions. FY26, we will support 3 facilities that serve neglected students and 1 facility that serve delinquent students. The services provided include drop-out prevention and allow for successful transitions from institutionalization to further schooling or employment.

Title II-A has been allocated $2,097,902.70. At this time, we will continue our investment in instructional support services (i.e. content facilitators). We will also provide equitable services to private schools, which are required by law.

Title III has been allocated $576,207.05. We propose to continue our investment in instructional materials and supplies (Imagine Learning, Benchmark Express, Flashlight 360) and instructional support services which have an administrative assistant, a system wide ELL instructional coach, and professional development. We will also provide equitable services to private schools, which are required by law.

Title IV has been allocated $1,127,649.83. We propose to continue our investment to student support services aligned to required categories: Safe and Healthy (a trauma informed specialist to provide services to students who may have been exposed to adverse childhood experiences, as well as contracted services to provide students with access to mental health services through a community agency partnership); Well Rounded Educational Opportunity (fee waivers to reduce disparities in educational outcomes for students to access advance placement coursework, restorative intervention supports, and personnel to help schools plan, implement, and communicate around advanced academic and industry opportunities); Effective Use of Technology (instruction for improving the academic achievement, growth, and digital literacy of students). We will also provide equitable services to private schools, which are required by law.

Applies to All ESEA Programs Included in this Application

☑  The Local Educational Agency (LEA) hereby assures the State Educational Agency (SEA) that the LEA follows all regulations applicable for ESEA, including those outlined below.

1.	Use fiscal control and fund accounting procedures that ensure proper disbursement of and accounting for federal funds paid to that agency under each program. Reference CMIA 7211R rule
2.	Keep such records, and provide such information to the State, as may be reasonably required for fiscal audit, data reporting, and program evaluation.
3.	Ensure all salaries are paid from project funds according to LEA rates. State/CONUS travel rates are to be used for project travel expenses. Adequate travel logs, as well as other necessary information, must be maintained to support expenditures.
4.	Charge amounts for personnel services that are based on payrolls documented and approved in accordance with the generally accepted practice of the LEA. Payrolls must be supported by time and attendance or equivalent records for individual employees. Salaries and wages of employees chargeable to more than one grant program or cost objective, if applicable, must be supported by appropriate time distribution records.
5.	Use these funds to supplement, and not supplant, the funds that would be made available in the absence of such federal funds, from non-federal sources and not supplant such funds.
6.	Maintain control of program funds and adhere to allowability procedures for goods and services acquired with federal funds. The LEA shall retain all titles to property acquired with those funds, including equipment placed in private schools pursuant to Section 8501.
7.	Recognize that state approval of an application does not relieve the LEA of its responsibility to comply with all applicable program and fiscal requirements.
8.	Comply with federal civil rights laws. The Office for Civil Rights enforces several federal civil rights laws that prohibit discrimination in programs or activities that receive federal financial assistance from the Department of Education. Discrimination on the basis of race, color, and national origin is prohibited by Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 ; sex discrimination is prohibited by Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972; discrimination on the basis of disability is prohibited by Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973; and age discrimination is prohibited by the Age Discrimination Act of 1975. These civil rights laws enforced by OCR extend to all state education agencies, elementary and secondary school systems, colleges and universities, vocational schools, proprietary schools, state vocational rehabilitation agencies, libraries, and museums that receive U.S. Department of Education funds. Areas covered may include, but are not limited to: admissions, recruitment, financial aid, academic programs, student treatment and services, counseling and guidance, discipline, classroom assignment, grading, vocational education, recreation, physical education, athletics, housing, and employment. OCR also has responsibilities under Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, including prohibiting disability discrimination by public entities, whether or not they receive federal financial assistance
9.	Comply with Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended by the Equal Employment Opportunity Act of 1972. (http://www.eeoc.gov/laws/statutes/titlevii.cfm)
10.	Maintain fiscal effort in accordance with section 8521.
11.	Comply with section 8501 regarding participation by private school children and teachers.
12.	Educational Rights and Privacy for Parents and Students
	The Board of Education will comply with all the privacy protections afforded parents and students under section 444 of the General Education Provisions Act (20 U.S.C. 1232g), as added by the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (section 513 of Public Law 93-380; 88 Stat. 571).
13.	Termination of Employment and Unpaid Leave. Upon termination, any leave balance paid to a federally funded employee above the amount of leave earned in the current grant year shall NOT be paid from federal funds as detailed in 2 CFR 200.431 (b)(3).
14.	Certification Regarding Constitutionally Protected Prayer in Public Elementary and Secondary Schools. In order to receive funds under the ESEA as amended by the ESSA, an LEA must certify in writing to the state that no policy of the LEA prevents or otherwise denies participation in constitutionally protected prayer in public elementary and secondary schools as set forth in Section 8524. Certification must be provided to the state by October 1 of each year during which the LEA participates in an ESEA program.
15.	Certification Regarding Debarment, Suspension, Ineligibility and Voluntary Exclusion - Lower Tier Covered Transactions. As required by the Department of Education regulations implementing Executive Order 12549 and 12689, Debarment and Suspension, 2 CFR Part 180, the LEA must meet the threshold and tier requirements stated at Section 85.110.

Instructions for Certification

1.	By acknowledging these assurances, the LEA is providing the certification set out below.
2.	The terms "covered transaction," "debarred," "suspended," "ineligible," "lower tier covered transaction," "principal," "proposal," and "voluntarily excluded," as used in this clause, have the meanings set out in the Definitions and Coverage sections of rules implementing Executive Order 12549.
3.	The LEA agrees by submitting this proposal that it will exclude a person who is debarred, suspended, declared ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from participation in this covered transaction, unless authorized by the department or agency with which this transaction originated.
4.	The LEA further agrees by submitting this proposal that it will include the clause titled "Certification Regarding Debarment," without modification, in all lower tier covered transactions and in all solicitations for lower tier covered transactions.

5.	The LEA in a covered transaction may rely upon a certification of a prospective participant in a lower tier covered transaction that it is not debarred, suspended, ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from the covered transaction, unless the LEA knows the certification is erroneous. Each participant may, but is not required to, check the Nonprocurement List.
6.	The prospective lower tier participant shall provide immediate written notice to the person to whom this proposal is submitted if at any time it learns that its certification was erroneous when submitted or has become erroneous by reason of changed circumstances.
7.	Nothing contained in the foregoing shall be construed to require establishment of a system of records in order to render in good faith the certification required by this clause. The knowledge and information of a participant is not required to exceed that which is normally possessed by a prudent person in the ordinary course of business dealings.
8.	The certification in this clause is a material representation of fact by the LEA upon which reliance was placed when this transaction was entered into. If it is later determined that the LEA knowingly rendered an erroneous certification, or if an LEA in a covered transaction knowingly enters into a lower tier covered transaction with a person who is suspended, debarred, ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from participation in the transaction, in addition to other remedies available to the federal government, the department or agency with which this transaction originated may pursue available remedies, including suspension and/or debarment.

Certification

The LEA certifies, by submission of this proposal, that neither it nor its principals are presently debarred, suspended, proposed for debarment, declared ineligible, or voluntarily excluded from participation in this transaction by any federal department or agency.

Where the prospective lower tier participant is unable to certify to any of the statements in this certification, such prospective participant shall attach an explanation to this proposal.

Equity for Students, Teachers, and Other Program Beneficiaries

Section 427 of the General Education Provision Act (20 U.S.C. 1228a) requires LEAs to describe in their applications the steps they propose to take in order to ensure access to education and promote educational excellence by:

"(1) ensuring equal opportunities to participate for all eligible students, teachers, and other program beneficiaries in any project or activity carried out under an applicable program; and

(2) promoting the ability of such students, teachers, and beneficiaries to meet high standards."

Therefore, the LEA will ensure equitable participation in all local-level programs by students, teachers, and other beneficiaries with special needs through the following activities:

1. ensuring that all training for teachers and others who will conduct parental involvement activities is accessible to all participants and includes strategies for increasing access to the school and its activities for all parents regardless of disability or language spoken.

2. including accessibility guidelines as part of the criteria for effective professional development activities provided throughout the LEA as well as by federal programs.

3. using the LEA computer network to disseminate information to all constituents.

4. providing technical assistance through on-site visits to verify that equitable practices are being followed by schools.

5. including written statements in communications that advertise LEA-level activities to ensure that all necessary accommodations are made for equitable participation by constituents.

6. maintaining special task forces to formulate policy for coordination of programs to ensure equitable access of all student populations, including disadvantaged students, students with disabilities, students with emerging English skills, migrant students, homeless, neglected, or delinquent students, and others.

7. implementing other activities as appropriate.

These internal controls shall comply with guidance in "Standards for Internal Control in the Federal Government" issued by the Comptroller General of the United States and the "Internal Control Integrated Framework", issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (COSO).
§200.305	Payment
	(b)(6) A payment must not be made to a LEA for amounts that are withheld by the LEA from payment to contractors to assure satisfactory completion of work. A payment must be made when the LEA actually disburses the withheld funds to the contractors or to escrow accounts established to assure satisfactory completion of work.
§200.318	General Procurement Standards
	(a) LEAs must use its own documented procurement procedures which reflect applicable state and local laws and regulations provided that the procurements confirm to applicable federal law and regulations.
§200.321	Contracting with Small and Minority Businesses, Women's Business Enterprises, and Labor Surplus Area Firms
	(a) The LEA must take all necessary affirmative steps to assure that minority businesses, women's business enterprises, and labor surplus area firms are used when possible. (b) Affirmative steps must include: (1) Placing qualified small and minority businesses and women's business enterprises on solicitation lists; (2) Assuring that small and minority businesses, and women's business enterprises are solicited whenever they are potential sources; (3) Dividing total requirements, when economically feasible, into smaller tasks or quantities to permit maximum participation by small and minority businesses, and women's business enterprises; (4) Establishing delivery schedules, where the requirement permits, which encourage participation by small and minority businesses, and women's business enterprises; (5) Using the services and assistance, as appropriate, of such organizations as the Small Business Administration and the Minority Business Development Agency of the Department of Commerce; and (6) Requiring the prime contractor, if subcontracts are to be let, to take the affirmative steps listed in paragraphs (1) through (5) of this section.
§200.325	Federal Awarding Agency or Pass-Through Entity Review

	(c)(2) The LEA may self-certify its procurement system. Such self-certification must not limit the federal awarding agency's ability to survey the system. Under a self-certification procedure, the federal awarding agency may rely on written assurances from the LEA that it is complying with these standards. The LEA must cite specific policies, procedures, regulations, or standards as being in compliance with these requirements and have its system available for review.
§200.326	Bonding Requirements
	(a) A bid guarantee from each bidder equivalent to five percent of the bid price. The "bid guarantee" must consist of a firm commitment such as a bid bond, certified check, or other negotiable instrument accompanying a bid as assurance that the bidder will, upon acceptance of the bid, execute such contractual documents as may be required within the time specified.
	(c) A payment bond on the part of the contractor for 100 percent of the contract price. A "payment bond" is one executed in connection with a contract to assure payment as required by law of all persons supplying labor and material in the execution of the work provided for in the contract.
§200.329	Monitoring and Reporting Program Performance
	(a) The LEA is responsible for oversight of the operations of the federal award supported activities. The LEA must monitor its activities under federal awards to assure compliance with applicable federal requirements and performance expectations are being achieved. Monitoring by the LEA must cover each program, function or activity.
§200.400	Policy Guide
	(c) The LEA, in recognition of its own unique combination of staff, facilities, and experience, has the primary responsibility for employing whatever form of sound organization and management techniques may be necessary in order to assure proper and efficient administration of the federal award.
	(e) In reviewing, negotiating and approving cost allocation plans or indirect cost proposals, the cognizant agency for indirect costs should generally assure that the LEA is applying these cost accounting principles on a consistent basis during their review and negotiation of indirect cost proposals. Where wide variations exist in the treatment of a given cost item by the LEA, the reasonableness and equity of such treatments should be fully considered. See § 200.56 Indirect (facilities & administrative (F&A)) costs.
§200.415	Required Certifications
	(a) To assure that expenditures are proper and in accordance with the terms and conditions of the federal award and approved project budgets, the annual and final fiscal reports or vouchers requesting payment under the agreements must include a certification, signed by an official who is authorized to legally bind the LEA, which reads as follows: "By signing this report, I certify to the best of my knowledge and belief that the report is true, complete, and accurate, and the expenditures, disbursements and cash receipts are for the purposes and objectives set forth in the terms and conditions of the federal award. I am aware that any false, fictitious, or fraudulent information, or the omission of any material fact, may subject me to criminal, civil, or administrative penalties for fraud, false statements, false claims, or otherwise. (U.S. Code Title 18, § 1001 and Title 31, §§ 3729-3730 and 3801-3812)." (b) Certification of cost allocation plan or indirect (F&A) cost rate proposal.
§200.427	Bonding Costs
	(a) Bonding costs arise when the federal awarding agency requires assurance against financial loss to itself or others by reason of the act or default of the LEA. They arise also in instances where the LEA requires similar assurance, including: bonds as bid, performance, payment, advance payment, infringement, and fidelity bonds for employees and officials.
§200.430	Compensation-Personal Services
	(a) General. Compensation for personal services includes all remuneration, paid currently or accrued, for services of employees rendered during the period of performance under the federal award, including but not necessarily limited to wages and salaries. Compensation for personal services may also include fringe benefits which are addressed in § 200.431 Compensation-Fringe Benefits. Costs of compensation are allowable to the extent that they satisfy the specific requirements of this part.
§200.430	Standards for Documentation of Personnel Expenses
	(g)(1) LEA personnel expenses must 1. Be supported by a system of internal controls which provides reasonable assurance charges are accurate, allowable and allocable; 2. Be incorporated into official records; 3. Reasonably reflect total activity for which employee is compensated; 4. Encompass all activities (federal and non-federal); 5. Comply with established accounting policies and practices; and 6. Support distribution among specific activities or cost objectives.
§200.433	Contingency Provisions
	(c) Payments made by the federal awarding agency to the LEA's "contingency reserve" or any similar payment made for events the occurrence of which cannot be foretold with certainty as to the time or intensity, or with an assurance of their happening, are unallowable, except as noted in §§200.431 Compensation - fringe benefits regarding self-insurance, pensions, severance, and post-retirement health costs and 200.447 Insurance and indemnification.
§200.435	Defense and Prosecution of Criminal and Civil Proceedings, Claims, Appeals, and Patent Infringements
	(i) Costs which may be unallowable under this section, including directly associated costs, must be segregated and accounted for separately. During the pendency of any proceeding covered by paragraphs (b) and (f) of this section, the federal government must generally withhold payment of such costs. However, if in its best interests, the federal government may provide for conditional payment upon provision of adequate security, or other adequate assurance, and agreement to repay all unallowable costs, plus interest, if the costs are subsequently determined to be unallowable.
§200.521	Management Decisions

	(a) General. The management decision must clearly state whether or not the audit finding is sustained, the reasons for the decision, and the expected auditee action to repay disallowed costs, make financial adjustments, or take other action. If the auditee has not completed corrective action, a timetable for follow-up should be given. Prior to issuing the management decision, the Federal agency or pass-through entity may request additional information or documentation from the auditee, including a request for auditor assurance related to the documentation, as a way of mitigating disallowed costs. The management decision should describe any appeal process available to the auditee. While not required, the federal agency or pass-through entity may also issue a management decision on findings relating to the financial statements which are required to be reported in accordance with GAGAS.
App. II	F. CERTIFICATION.
	1. Certification of Charges To assure that expenditures for federal awards are proper and in accordance with the agreement documents and approved project budgets, the annual and/or final fiscal reports or vouchers requesting payment under the agreements will include a certification, signed by an authorized official of the LEA, which reads "By signing this report, I certify to the best of my knowledge and belief that the report is true, complete, and accurate, and the expenditures, disbursements and cash receipts are for the purposes and intent set forth in the award documents. I am aware that any false, fictitious, or fraudulent information, or the omission of any material fact, may subject me to criminal, civil, or administrative penalties for fraud, false statements, false claims, or otherwise. (U.S. Code, Title 18, § 1001 and Title 31, §§ 3729-3733 and 3801-3812)".

A. Adjustment to Local Effort

Knox County (470) Public District - FY 2026 - Consolidated - Rev 0 - IDEA, Part B

A. Adjustment to Local Effort in Certain Fiscal Years.

IDEA 04 allows an LEA to reduce state and local maintenance of effort by an amount that equals up to 50% of the increase in IDEA funds from the previous year if those funds are used to provide activities authorized under ESEA.
There are limitations to this adjustment. Any LEA identified as not meeting requirements in the State's APR, is prohibited by law from reducing its maintenance of effort figures.

NOTE: If an LEA is determined to have significant disproportionality based on race and ethnicity utilizing state criteria, the LEA must utilize Comprehensive Coordinated Early Intervening Services (IDEA §618(d)(2)(B)).
The amount expended by an LEA under Coordinated Early Intervening Services shall count toward the maximum amount of expenditures such LEAs may reduce in Item "A" Adjustment to Local Effort (above).

For any fiscal year for which the federal allocation received by a LEA under Section 611(f) Subgrants to LEAs exceeds the amount the LEA received for the previous FY, the LEA may reduce the level of expenditures otherwise required by Section 613(a) (2) (A) (iii) by not more than 50% of the excess. Section 613(a) (2) (C) (i) 300.205

If the LEA chooses to use these funds, the LEA shall use an amount of local funds equal to the reduction in expenditures under clause (i) above, to carry out activities authorized under the Elementary and Secondary Act of 1965. Section 613(a) (2) (C) (ii) 300.205(a)

If the SEA determines that the LEA is unable to establish and maintain programs of free appropriate public education that meet the requirements of Section 613(a) or the SEA has taken action against the LEA under section 616 Monitoring, Technical Assistance and Enforcement, the SEA shall prohibit the LEA from reducing the level of expenditures under clause (i) above for that fiscal year. Section 613(a) (2) (C) (iii)

The amount of funds expended by a LEA under subsection (f) Coordinated Early Intervening Services, shall count toward the maximum amount of expenditures such LEAs may reduce under clause (i) above. Section 613(a) (2) (C) (iv)

If a SEA determines that an LEA is not meeting the requirements of Part B, including the targets in the state's performance plan, the SEA shall prohibit the LEA from reducing its MOE under Section 613(a) (2) (C) for any fiscal year. Section 616(f)

B. Schoolwide Program

Knox County (470) Public District - FY 2026 - Consolidated - Rev 0 - IDEA, Part B

B. Permissive Use of IDEA funds for Schoolwide Program.

IDEA allows an LEA to use funds to carry out a schoolwide program under ESEA §1114. If an applicant utilizes these funds, you will report the designated amount for each school and ensure that excess cost and service requirements are met.

LEAs may use IDEA funds to carry out a schoolwide program under Section 1114 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) of 1965, except that the amount used in any schoolwide program shall not exceed:

- The number of children with disabilities participating in the schoolwide program multiplied by
- The amount received by the LEA for this fiscal year divided by
- The number of children with disabilities in the jurisdiction of the LEA.
  - Section 613(a) (2) (D)

C. Permissive Use of IDEA funds for Coordinated Early Intervening Services (CEIS) - Voluntary

IDEA allows an LEA to use up to 15% of funds, in combination with other amounts (other than education funds), to develop and implement Coordinated Early Intervening Services, which may include interagency financing structures, for students in kindergarten through grade 12 (with particular emphasis on students in kindergarten through grade 3) who have not been identified as needing special education or related services but who need additional academic and behavioral support to succeed in a general education environment.

NOTE: If an LEA is determined to have significant disproportionality based on race and ethnicity utilizing state criteria, the LEA must utilize Comprehensive Coordinated Early Intervening Services (IDEA §618(d)(2)(B)).The amount expended by an LEA under Coordinated Early Intervening Services shall count toward the maximum amount of expenditures such LEAs may reduce in Item "A" Adjustment to Local Effort (above).

Please refer to the IDEA Law, Section 615 (f) (1) - (4) and Section 618(d)(2)(B)(C) available here: http://www.gpo.gov/fdsys/pkg/PLAW-108publ446/html/PLAW-108publ446.htm

Note: If LEA voluntarily takes up to 15%, the funds must be spent from July 1 - June 30, any remaining funds must be returned to IDEA for programming.

4) Narrative for Use of Funds

* a. If a revision of the LEA's policies, procedures, and practices was necessary, please explain what changes were made due to issues associated with areas of disproportionality:

- Knox County Schools' (KCS), the Department of School Culture oversees the district-wide, on-going work around decreasing discipline disparities through initiatives funded from CCEIS and other sources. In the 24-25 SY, there were no major changes to LEA policies related to disproportionality. However, KCS and the Department of School Culture did make strategic changes that relate directly to improving discipline disparities across the district.

WC AP Cohort - The Whole Child Assistant Principal Cohort Training is a collaborative project between Knox County School's Department of School Culture and faculty within the education department at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville. The project integrates research knowledge with pedagogical leadership practices within the context of a multi-tiered system of support (MTSS). The Course equips administrators to expand their leadership capacity by using a diagnostic problem-solving model to address ill-structured problems involving students and staff. Administrators enhance their skills in analyzing and interpreting data within the context of school systems and standards, applying this information for effective problem diagnosis. Developing a strong knowledge of possible solutions and ongoing evaluative monitoring is the focus of the second half of the course. Participants apply the problem-solving model to case studies and real-world problems of practice.

Outcomes:

- Improved MTSS Implementation: Consistent and effective use of MTSS practices across schools, leading to reduced behavioral incidents and disciplinary disparities.
- Stronger School Leadership: Enhanced leadership capacity among assistant principals, fostering a more positive and inclusive school culture.
- Increased Student Achievement: Improved academic and social-emotional outcomes for students, particularly those from historically marginalized groups.

Innive data analytics system- Innive K12 360° supports Knox County Schools' Whole Child framework by integrating attendance, academic, and behavioral data to guide decision-making across the Multi-Tiered System of Supports (MTSS). This platform provides role-specific dashboards that help district leaders, school staff, and Whole Child Support Teams (WCST) monitor school-wide, small group, and individual student progress and identify areas of need. By consolidating multiple data sources into a single, user-friendly system, Innive ensures that interventions are timely, aligned, and responsive—ultimately supporting student well-being, engagement, and success.

System-wide and School-based Discipline Analysis- School Discipline Analysis: The school discipline analysis will take a holistic approach and look at the student and staff demographics, population, current behavioral support structures and supports, and a data analysis of current behavioral incidents and practices.

The outcome of the analysis will include, but not limited to:

- Ensuring that there are clear and consistent behavioral expectations across all school environments
- Consistency between tiered behavioral supports and interventions provided for maladaptive behaviors
- Clear, consistent, and clearly communicated behavioral disciplinary actions/consequences between staff and administrators

- Lead to an actionable plan to improve on school disciplinary practices

Threat Assessment System/Training- In SY 24/25, KCSs revised its Behavior Threat Assessment to align with current research and evidence based practices. While there are various models that can be followed for completing a threat assessment in the school environment, Knox County Schools selected to use the National Threat Assessment Center (NTAC) model. Backed by empirical research and pioneered by the United States Secret Service, the NTAC threat assessment model provides schools with actionable steps to approach a threat assessment. The NTAC model walks a team through 11 investigative questions surrounding motive, interests, access to weapons, stressors, capacity and planning to determine how far along the pathway to violence a student is, and how to prioritize the level of threat they pose. The goal of the BTMA is to move students off a pathway to violence and resolve the underlying issues that may have put them on that pathway. This is done by creating an individualized case management plan that utilizes interventions appropriate for the situation. With the support of NTAC trained staff at the state level, KCS provided district-wide training for administrators and school counselors… In addition, the Department of School Culture (DSC) offers monthly district support to address school needs in the areas of threat assessment and case management, and provides district social workers for consultative and direct student support.

- Formal Transition Plans (FTPs) for Students Integrating To and From Alternative Program Placements - In SY 24/25, KCS developed and implemented comprehensive transition plans for students integrating to and from alternative program placements based on Tennessee Code Title 49, Education § 49-6-3402 (current as of January 2, 2024) and expanded by Tenn. Comp. R. & Regs. Section 0520-01-02.09 - Alternative Education, Subsection (7)(m), all Knox County School students attending alternative education programs (day school or night alternative) and those returning to their base school from an alternative program must have a Formal Transition Plan (FTP). Each plan is developed by a team that includes the parent, student, at least one representative from the base school, and at least one representative from the alternative program. The goal of the plan is to reduce barriers that hinder students from successfully reintegrating into the school community. Formal Transition Plans include:
    - Intake procedures for students returning to their base school
    - Support for educational and behavioral needs
    - Follow-up services for students re-entering the base school
    - Development of graduation and postsecondary goals

The FTPs are developed and monitored in the Navigate 360 platform, ensuring improved communication, as both alternative and base school teams have access to the plans and progress monitoring. Upon a student's return to the base school, the Whole Child Support Team-Plus oversees the plan's implementation, providing additional support as needed.

- During SY24-25, multidisciplinary support teams (whole child support) were fully operational at each district school. These teams analyze student data through the process of root cause analysis, to better understand each referred student and assign additional Tier I support, Tier II interventions, or refer students for more intensive support. Student supports are founded in the integration of PBIS, trauma informed practices, restorative practices, and culture responsiveness. The department's focus on Tier 1 classroom support is a data based decision, as this is where the large majority of student discipline referrals originate. In addition to individual student data, teams have access to provided school-wide discipline data that includes risk factors for student groups that are suspended at a higher rate than expected. This allows the team to provide school-level professional development and/or initiatives to address discipline disparities. In addition, the DSC staff regularly attend school-based multidisciplinary team meetings to provide real-time support and observational feedback based on rubric criteria. Based on this information and needs assessment data, the department provides ongoing professional development to all multidisciplinary teams to address observed skill gaps, in order to better support staff and students.
- In 24-25 SY, the DSC expanded the use of the behavioral support system walkthrough tool to all KCS schools as a goal or strategy option in the schools improvement plan. In cooperation and collaboration with school staff, the process of developing plans to enhance behavioral support systems within each school for the 25-26 school year has begun. This process helps ensure that schools have the systems and practices in place to increase academic and behavioral metrics, as well as reduce discipline disparities.

* b. Specify all areas funds will target (i.e. grade-levels, schools, interventions, behavior, professional development, etc):

The KCS Department of School Culture will address overall school safety, staff and student mental health, student behavior/academic needs, and discipline disparities through a comprehensive, collaborative plan, with personnel funded from other funding sources, to implement a district-wide, integrated, multi-tiered approach to supporting all students. The multi-tiered framework will include systems and practices that support all three tiers, with a focus on supporting all students (Pre-K -12) across the district and a continued focus on special education students in the general education setting.

- Using the Significant Disproportionality Notification data provided by the Tennessee Department of Education, along with disaggregated district data, schools are identified for multi-tiered levels of program operations, staffing support, and professional development.
- In order to address the KCS identified disparities and House Bill 405, CCEIS funding will support initiatives that focus on school practices in providing and refining trauma informed discipline and decision making, along with district level administrative processes. Tier I classroom supports will continue to be developed across the district through restorative practices and school culture and connectedness practices. Funds will also continue to support each district school's multidisciplinary student support team (K-12).
- CCEIS funds will continue to serve all grade levels (Pre-K to 12) with focused behavioral staffing support. Elementary schools will receive support through additional, trained, district-level support staff. Secondary schools will be supported with a Restorative Intervention staff member. CCEIS funded restorative teams for targeted schools will be composed of a Restorative Assistant and a Restorative Liaison. Additional support will be given to non-targeted schools by members of the district-wide restorative team and behavior liaisons.
- CCEIS funds will continue to provide behavioral crisis response through district restorative staff, who will provide targeted support to schools that may need additional personnel and expertise to support students with acute behavioral needs.
- CCEIS funding for professional development for staff is ongoing throughout the year. This includes a focus on trauma responsiveness, cultural and connectedness, restorative practices, multi-tiered levels of social, emotional, and behavioral supports, to meet all student needs

STAFFING

- During the 25-26 SY, KCS will continue to provide an increased level of support in schools with a higher rate of disproportionality. KCS will work with each of these schools to build a clear continuum of support within a tiered model of staffing and programmatic support for all students.
- During the 25-26 SY, CCEIS will fund 7 Restorative Liaisons to provide more specialized support in both targeted schools and district-wide.
- During the 25-26 SY, CCEIS will fund 8 Behavior Liaisons to provide behavioral support in both targeted schools and district-side.
- During SY 25-26, CCEIS will fund 15 Restorative Assistants to expand the Restorative Practices tiered-level of interventions into targeted middle and high schools with increased need for support.
- During SY 25-26 CCEIS will fund 9 Restorative Interventionists that will provide a tiered level of support for students including crisis intervention and behavioral support. These positions will support individual schools as well as mobile teams providing targeted interventions and supports for specific students.
- During SY- 25-26, CCEIS funds will be used to fund a .5 programming support clerical position to provide assistance with CCEIS data entry, materials/supplies/equipment supports, and program fidelity
- During SY 25-26, CCEIS funds will be used to fund a .3 Behavior Interventionist to support character development curriculum and intervention

* c. How will these funds be used to assist in alleviating the disproportionality problem within the LEA? (Be specific)

KCS will utilize CCEIS funds in three major areas: program operations, staffing support, and professional development. This multi-pronged approach provides a foundation of support for students and staff.

* d. Will funds be used for issues other than where the LEA was identified as being disproportionate? If yes, please explain:

Funds will be used to provide student support at all tiers, for those who exhibit a need for additional behavior interventions.

A. Adjustment to Local Effort

Knox County (470) Public District - FY 2026 - Consolidated - Rev 0 - IDEA Preschool

A. Adjustment to Local Effort in Certain Fiscal Years.

IDEA 04 allows an LEA to reduce state and local maintenance of effort by an amount that equals up to 50% of the increase in IDEA funds from the previous year if those funds are used to provide activities authorized under ESEA.

There are limitations to this adjustment. Any LEA identified as not meeting requirements in the State's APR, is prohibited by law from reducing its maintenance of effort figures.

NOTE: If an LEA is determined to have significant disproportionality based on race and ethnicity utilizing state criteria, the LEA must utilize Coordinated Early Intervening Services (Section 618 (d) (2) (B)). The amount expended by an LEA under Coordinated Early Intervening Services shall count toward the maximum amount of expenditures such LEAs may reduce in Item "A" Adjustment to Local Effort (above).

For any fiscal year for which the federal allocation received by a LEA under Section 611(f) Subgrants to LEAs exceeds the amount the LEA received for the previous FY, the LEA may reduce the level of expenditures otherwise required by Section 613(a) (2) (A) (iii) by not more than 50% of the excess. Section 613(a) (2) (C) (i) 300.205

If the LEA chooses to use these funds, the LEA shall use an amount of local funds equal to the reduction in expenditures under clause (i) above, to carry out activities authorized under the Elementary and Secondary Act of 1965. Section 613(a) (2) (C) (ii) 300.205(a)

If the SEA determines that the LEA is unable to establish and maintain programs of free appropriate public education that meet the requirements of Section 613(a) or the SEA has taken action against the LEA under section 616 Monitoring, Technical Assistance and Enforcement, the SEA shall prohibit the LEA from reducing the level of expenditures under clause (i) above for that fiscal year. Section 613(a) (2) (C) (iii)

The amount of funds expended by a LEA under subsection (f) Coordinated Early Intervening Services, shall count toward the maximum amount of expenditures such LEAs may reduce under clause (i) above. Section 613(a) (2) (C) (iv)

If a SEA determines that an LEA is not meeting the requirements of Part B, including the targets in the state's performance plan, the SEA shall prohibit the LEA from reducing its MOE under Section 613(a) (2) (C) for any fiscal year. Section 616(f)

B. Schoolwide Program

Knox County (470) Public District - FY 2026 - Consolidated - Rev 0 - IDEA Preschool

B. Permissive Use of IDEA funds for Schoolwide Program.

IDEA allows an LEA to use funds to carry out a schoolwide program under Section 1114 of ESEA. If an applicant utilizes these funds, you will report the designated amount for each school and ensure that excess cost and service requirements are met.

LEAs may use IDEA funds to carry out a schoolwide program under Section 1114 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) of 1965, except that the amount used in any schoolwide program shall not exceed:

- The number of children with disabilities participating in the schoolwide program multiplied by
- The amount received by the LEA for this fiscal year divided by
- The number of children with disabilities in the jurisdiction of the LEA.
  - Section 613(a) (2) (D)

☐ Please check here if the LEA is using Permissive Use of IDEA Funds for Schoolwide Programs.

Knox County (470) Public District - FY 2026 - Consolidated - Rev 0 - IDEA Preschool

C. Permissive Use of IDEA funds for Coordinated Early Intervening Services (CEIS) - Voluntary

IDEA allows an LEA to use up to 15% of funds, in combination with other amounts (other than education funds), to develop and implement Coordinated Early Intervening Services, which may include interagency financing structures, for students in kindergarten through grade 12 (with particular emphasis on students in kindergarten through grade 3) who have not been identified as needing special education or related services but who need additional academic and behavioral support to succeed in a general education environment.

NOTE: If an LEA is determined to have significant disproportionality based on race and ethnicity utilizing state criteria, the LEA must utilize Coordinated Early Intervening Services (Section 618 (d) (2) (B)). The amount expended by an LEA under Coordinated Early Intervening Services shall count toward the maximum amount of expenditures such LEAs may reduce in Item "A" Adjustment to Local Effort (above).

Please refer to the IDEA Law, Section 615 (f) (1) - (4) and Section 618(d)(2)(B)(C) available here: http://www.gpo.gov/fdsys/pkg/PLAW-108publ446/html/PLAW-108publ446.htm

Note: If LEA voluntarily takes up to 15%, the funds must be spent from July 1 - June 30, any remaining funds must be returned to IDEA for programming.

CEIS Funds may not be used for preschool services.

☐ Please check here if the LEA is using Permissive Use of IDEA Funds for Coordinated Early Intervening Services (CEIS) - Voluntary for students that are 5 years old and in Kindergarten.

Local Application Component

Knox County (470) Public District - FY 2026 - CTE Perkins Basic - Rev 0 - CTE Perkins Basic

Describe how Local Application Component #1 is addressed in this application.

Our CLNA results were similar to our larger district data analyses in that it highlights gaps in academic performance and in CTE program participation (Especially in areas like Health Sciences, Information Technology, and STEM) among our more underserved student subgroups (BHN, SWD, EL). In a district of 16 high schools and approximately 20,000 high school students, our efforts to address programming opportunities and gap closure for underserved students are in reality aimed at ensuring that all students and all campuses provide equitable opportunities for the students they serve. In other words, the academic and CTE offerings that exist in each school, and the advising and support that exist ensure that each student is afforded with the opportunity to participate and succeed.

Based on the findings of the local needs assessment our goals are focused on two areas. Our Theory of Action number I is if KCS district leaders develop structures and systems to improve equity and access of students in CTE programs, then teachers will increase their knowledge and skills on work-based learning activities, career and student organizations, and industry credentials, resulting in an increased in the number of students participating in work-based learning activities including WBL capstone course; engagement in career and student organizations at the district, state, and national levels; and students earning early postsecondary opportunities.

We are concentrating on several steps to address the CLNA and our subgroup deficiencies through this theory of action and affiliated action steps. Items like the expansion of career-based activities. including career fairs, investing in tools and resources to support counseling and individualized career advisement (YouScience), support for college and career awareness through the .5 FTE, support for WBL expansion through the timecard WBL Liaison position, support for an extra block of Work-Based Learning per high school.

Our Theory of Action number II is if KCS district leaders develop a framework to improve district and school level partnerships, then school CTE leaders will better utilize advisory committees and partner input resulting in improved program decisions and increased student opportunities for engagement and advisement.

Through this theory of action and affiliated action steps, we are concentrating on several steps to address the CLNA to justify the alignment of the labor market need and the CTE programs of study while providing access and equity amongst the CTE programs of study(s).

Describe how Local Application Component #2 is addressed in this application.

In a district the size of Knox County, we have a wide range of CTE programming that spans 49 different programs of study. Workforce data support each of these programs as having appropriate job growth over the next 5 years and post-graduation opportunities for education and employment in high-wage careers in the greater Knoxville region. However, when matching up these programs with our need to engage a larger and more diverse group of students in fields such as STEM and IT, there are opportunities to balance our program offerings to increase the number of students who have exposure to these career fields. We are continuing to refine existing IT programs moving into more focus on coding and cybersecurity and less on Networking. We hold advisories and work closely with our Chamber of Commerce to identify new trends and workforce needs in our area and we have attempted to update our principals and counselors on this information over time. We invest a good amount of funds into both industry credentials for students and participation in CTSO activities as we see both of these being important supports to expanding students' awareness for and engagement in career education. KCS is leveraging the online platform for students to see their aptitude and interest in careers and potential college programs in an effort for students to learn more about CTE course offerings.

Describe how Local Application Component #3 is addressed in this application.

We are implementing the YouScience interest and aptitude inventory for the fourth year with our 7th and 9th grade students to serve as a data point that can be used to inform several student decisions. For 7th grade students, the YouScience data will provide them with a look at their individual strengths as they plan for selecting high school classes, especially introductory CTE Electives. It also provides students with an electronic resource where they can research and explore the career clusters that are most aligned with their skills. In addition, students will engage in events with partners to learn about employability skills, high school CTE and EPSOs, college, and careers opportunities. There are structures built within the 865 Academy model that are strategic and intentionally aligned to specific industries and utilize a series of recurring and guaranteed experiences throughout middle and high school to help students integrate academic skills as they explore career pathways and options.

We have suggested that our middle schools utilize the Career Awareness, Career Exploration, and Career Advisement and Planning courses as a way to facilitate career exposure opportunities that will ultimately lead to a capstone experience in 9th grade when all students will take a course called Freshman Seminar. At the conclusion of this course, students will pull from prior experiences and knowledge to make an informed decision about the CTE program(s) of study they will choose to pursue from 10th-12th grades.

We have partnerships with several local trade associations that provide opportunities for paid summer internships and career fairs for our students to learn more about career opportunities in the trades. In addition, our middle and high school counselors work with outside school partners to arrange a variety of college and career-related activities including parent nights and ACT/FAFSA informational meetings. We also provide high school juniors with a Knox County Schools College and Career Fair experience each year.

KCS is in a consultative relationship with Ford Next Generation Learning through our partnership with the Knox Education Foundation to expand and continue the conversation on college and career readiness with important stakeholders in our community. Through a series of focus groups, Ford NGL, Knox Education Foundation, and KCS brought together local business and postsecondary leaders, teachers, administrators, students, and parents to discuss the role of the high school experience in preparing students for success in the local/regional job marketplace. Stakeholders worked together to create a Ford NGL master plan which includes a more structured approach to CTE, Academics, and postsecondary/career readiness through an academy high school model.

Describe how Local Application Component #4 is addressed in this application.

We continually provide professional development for teachers, counselors, and administrators over a variety of subjects including work-based learning, state standards, and local curriculum. We are continuing to build a standardsaligned curriculum for our STEM course with the University of Tennessee Knoxville, Tickle College of Engineering, to increase the consistency of instruction across our classrooms and incorporate the mathematical and critical thinking skills that are emphasized by the instructional staff at UTK. In addition, we continue to expand our EPSO offerings through industry credentials, dual enrollment, dual credit, CLEP, and the inclusion of Advanced Placement offerings through our TDOE CTE Pathways. We have set a goal to support at least one EPSO through each of our 40-different CTE programs of study.

While we have seen the number of industry credentials earned by students increase each year, with the newly adopted list of industry credentials published by the state, and pending changes related to the redesign of the ready graduate indicator, we will continue to examine the value of the industry credentials offered by each of our CTE programs to our students, and the feasibility of including these new or existing industry credentials in the CTE programs. We are seeing new and additional options in areas like our health sciences and IT programs for dual enrollment and dual credit which also can provide students with an advantage if they are considering continued studies in these fields.

Describe how Local Application Component #5 is addressed in this application.

As stated in the CLNA, our focus to address the needs of all populations in a district our size comes through the professional development of school leaders, counselors, and teachers across our 32 secondary campuses. It also comes through the building of equitable and viable CTE programming at all high schools to ensure that the opportunities to engage in quality CTE programming that is aligned to workforce demands and high-wage careers are accessible to all students. Tools like YouScience give us data to better identify the capabilities on aptitude and interests of our students from all backgrounds and can be used to direct work-based learning activities, high school schedules, transition plans, and career experiences. KCS received our Ford NGL designation in Spring 2022. Our investment in launching the Ford NGL model for career academies is aimed at building structures in our high schools that ensure that every student is strategically involved in the best fit program related to their career interests. We are hoping these strategies will also impact non-traditional participation as students are exposed and educated about career fields that they may not have had much previous experience with. Lastly, we are changing our practices for funding CTSO representation by factoring in student SES in our high schools as we think about providing funding to our CTSO programs. This will hopefully alleviate the strain of providing CTSO programming in schools that have little ability to fundraise or depend on parental support.

Describe how Local Application Component #6 is addressed in this application.

Work-Based Learning (WBL) placements and experiences could continue to be challenging due to the restrictions, if placed, on individual employers' expectations for students coming on and off their premises. We have a variety of practicum classes that can be more project-based and provide opportunities for individual teachers/schools to partner with businesses in their community. We are working with our own Knox County Schools Maintenance Department to create WBL placements for students in the areas of the construction trades (plumbing/HVAC/electrical/carpentry). We are intentionally focused on high schools with aligned CTE programs to recruit students for this WBL placement opportunity. We are hopeful that additional WBL placements and WBL experiences through summer or fall/spring breaks camps will result from our partnership with Pellissippi State Community College as recipients of a GIVE grant in the area of IT. Multiple businesses are signed on as partners as well and Pellissippi State Community College has appointed a Work-Based Learning Coordinator to promote activities for students from our middle and high schools. As mentioned before, creating stronger advisory partnerships through work like the Ford NGL academies is crucial to creating meaningful WBL experiences and practicum opportunities.

Describe how Local Application Component #7 is addressed in this application.

We continue to substantially increase our funding for industry credentials and our expansion with different industry credentials being included in our CTE programs in efforts to support at least one EPSO through each of our 49-different CTE programs of study(s). The result has been a significant increase in the number of industry credentials earned since FY18. We remain committed to exploring new options for industry credentials and piloting these in our courses to determine the best way to supplement our state standards with these important industry credentials. We are also incorporating CLEP examinations, AP coursework, Dual Enrollment, Dual Credit by Industry Credential, and Dual Credit Courses into our CTE programs. Also, with the expansion of virtual offerings from our local community colleges and our district's move to every student having a Chromebook, we believe that more students will have access to dual enrollment offerings, even if their school is located far from a community college campus.

Describe how Local Application Component #8 is addressed in this application.

Knox County Schools established an Educator Preparation Provider (EPP) program approved by the State of Tennessee. We developed a regional EPP that serves newly hired occupational licensed teachers from the East CORE Region of Tennessee. We considered the establishment of an internal EPP our primary strategy for the effective recruitment, preparation, and retention of new CTE teachers. We are able to provide new occupational CTE teachers with a job-embedded pathway to licensure at a lower cost than any of the postsecondary institutions in our part of the state. Our intention is to implement the SREB T2L curriculum which is aligned with the InTASC Standards and the Danielson Frameworks for instruction. New instructors will be paired with mentors at the district and school levels. SREB provides training and coaching for administrators and district leaders to ensure that follow-up support for the teacher candidates is meaningful and consistent. The long-term sustainability of the Occupational EPP will rely on some Perkins dollars to sustain and provide services for consultation, training, and curriculum resources, which is reflected in the FY25 action plan.

Describe how Local Application Component #9 is addressed in this application.

Knox County School's disparity gaps among our CTE population are a mirror of our disparities as a larger district. In a district the size of Knox County Schools, we recognize we have a diverse group of students that represent a diverse set of schools and communities. We recognize that we face additional challenges in some of our communities, such as language barriers in our communities with high immigrant populations. We face the challenges of poverty in many of our rural and urban schools. Unfortunately, these communities are often also reflective of our student populations of color (BHN or EL). As a district, we have recognized to that along with poverty, and the situations that lead to families moving to the United States, there are also factors related to trauma that students have experienced and the social-emotional aspects of students' ability to engage appropriately in their academic programs. This has driven a districtwide focus on training teachers to work with students who have experienced trauma.

Our district's focus on early literacy interventions is aimed at preventing students from reaching high school with significant gaps in their ability to read, which is a common factor that inhibits student performance, especially among our ED and SWD populations. We know the role that life experiences and the education of the parents play in students' development of fundamental reading and math skills. These are large, ongoing, complex issues that require long-term strategies that touch both the schools and the communities from which our students come.

Counselors in our middle and high schools work with students and families to promote CTE pathways planning and aligned college and career opportunities as well as support all students with FAFSA and college applications. Expansion of EPSO opportunities in CTE through a variety of options will continue to increase the diversity of the students who are participating in EPSOs and ultimately achieving ready graduate status with the State of Tennessee.

Our Knox County Schools RTI Department staff members are assigned to each elementary, middle, and high school to support teachers and students in RTI. Each high school has implemented tutoring services for students to address specific gaps. Additionally, most high schools offer ACT prep classes however not all students are required to take the ACT prep course due to scheduling.

Public School Partner shall not unreasonably delay, condition or withhold any waiver of compliance with the provisions of this Section 1.3(i). ARTICLE II

EXPECTATIONS OF THE PARTIES

Section 2.1. Expectations for the Local Academy. The Parties intend that the Local Academy will provide a high quality educational experience in a safe academic environment that utilizes research based teaching techniques and behavior management strategies appropriate for the target student population. The educational program may combine self-paced and competency-based learning, as allowed by the Public School Partner, and life skills learning with structured work internships, work skill development, career planning, service learning, and personal development. The Parties contemplate that enrollment in the Local Academy will provide students with a second chance to earn a high school diploma, and that for many it will be an educational option of choice.

The Parties further intend that the Local Academy will be used on a year-round basis for as many hours as jointly deemed feasible by SYF and Public School Partner in their reasonably discretion. Thus, additional educational and development activities may be offered during hours when classes at the Local Academy are not in session. These additional activities may include, but are not limited to, educational and cultural enrichment, remedial assistance, tutoring, mentoring by caring adults, job training, life skills development and recreation as determined by Public School Partner in consultation with and agreed to by SYF. The Parties shall cooperate with each other in good faith in the operation of the Local Academy. Public School Partner acknowledges and agrees that SYF has relied on and approved the non-traditional and/or alternative education, student enrollment, staffing, curriculum, administration and funding statements and parameters provided by Public School Partner to SYF in connection with the Original MOU and such statements and parameters collectively form a material basis for SYF's election to continue to develop and operate the Local Academy and enter into this MOU with Public School Partner. Public School Partner shall not change, eliminate or materially deviate from such non-traditional and/or alternative education, student enrollment, staffing, curriculum, administration and/or funding statements and/or parameters without the prior written consent of SYF.

Section 2.2. Promotion and Marketing of the Local Academy. The Parties shall cooperate in the promotion and marketing of the Local Academy and any promotion or marketing shall be pursued and accomplished in accordance with the mutual agreement of the Parties. Upon SYF's request, Public School Partner shall use commercially reasonable efforts to cause participants in special Local Academy events or promotion and marketing activities for the Local Academy to sign a release in the form attached hereto as Exhibit D, or such other form as SYF may designate in writing from time-to-time, prior to such participant's participation in any such activities, with such modifications as may be approved by SYF in SYF's discretion.

Section 2.3. Publicity. As the existence of the relationship between the Parties is of significant marketing value to all, during the Term, each Party shall be entitled to announce its special relationship with the other Party and to thereafter publish references to the relationship, provided that each Party shall be obligated to seek prior approval of the form and substance of any public announcement from the other Party, which approval shall not be unreasonably withheld or delayed.

Section 2.4. Financial Obligations of Parties; SYF Grants.

(a) Obligations of the Public School Partner. Public School Partner shall assume all expenses associated with staffing, managing and operating the Local Academy as such allocation of expenses is described in the Site Cost Responsibilities Worksheet, attached hereto and made a part hereof, as Exhibit E; provided, further, that Public School Partner represents and warrants that it has the financial capacity to satisfy its financial obligations as set forth in Exhibit E and knows of no circumstances that will cause it to cease having appropriate financial capacity in the future.

(b) Obligations of SYF. SYF shall assume all expenses as such allocation of expenses is described in the Site Cost Responsibilities Worksheet attached hereto and made a part hereof as Exhibit E. Public School Partner acknowledges and agrees that SYF shall have no further financial or other obligations except as expressly set forth on Exhibit D and as otherwise expressly provided for in this MOU. The Parties acknowledge and agree that as of the date hereof, SYF's total investment in the Premises and the Local Academy is $100,000.00 (the "Initial Investment").

(c) SYF Grants. Public School Partner acknowledges and agrees that SYF may, from time to time, provide certain grants (each, a "SYF Grant" and collectively, the "SYF Grants") to Public School Partner that will allow Public School Partner to (1) make physical improvements to the Premises, (2) purchase furnishings, fixtures or equipment to be owned by the Public School Partner and used in the Premises and by the Local Academy, (3) fund programs or events that will directly or indirectly benefit the Local Academy, or (4) purchase instructional materials for use by the Local Academy. The terms and conditions and approved uses for each such SYF Grant and the ownership of any furnishings, fixtures or equipment purchased with a SYF Grant shall be documented in separate grant agreements to be executed by and between the Parties (each, a "SYF Grant Agreement" and collectively, the "SYF Grant Agreements") and no such SYF Grant shall be funded until the corresponding SYF Grant Agreement is executed by the Parties. Public School Partner acknowledges and agrees that each such SYF Grant shall be used in a manner that will directly benefit or positively impact the Local Academy and in accordance with the terms and conditions contained in each corresponding SYF Grant Agreement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Public School Partner acknowledges and agrees that each SYF Grant shall be provided in SYF's sole and absolute discretion and SYF shall have no duty or obligation to provide any SYF Grants to Public School Partner. Further notwithstanding the foregoing or anything to the contrary under this MOU, in the event SYF engages in discussions with potential public and/or private grant providers or applies for certain public or private grants that would directly or indirectly benefit the Local Academy, Public School Partner shall not be entitled to participate in any such discussions, and Public School Partner shall not initiate or engage in separate discussions with such grant providers, or separately apply for any such grants without in each instance SYF's prior written consent

(d) SYF Overhead. SYF may incur from time-to-time during the Term certain travel, accounting, legal, and consulting costs, expenses and fees in connection with the establishment and oversight of the Local Academy and the Premises (collectively, the "SYF Overhead"). In the event this MOU is terminated in accordance with Section 3.2(d), SYF shall provide Public School Partner with documentation of such SYF Overhead and Public School Partner shall reimburse SYF for such SYF Overhead in accordance with Section 3.2(d).

(7) 40% of the SYF Overhead if such termination occurs on or before the fourth (4th) anniversary of the Effective Date.

(8) 40% of a SYF Grant if such termination occurs on or before the fourth (4th) anniversary of the corresponding SYF Grant Agreement.

Any personal property used in connection with the Local Academy shall remain the property of Public School Partner and SYF shall have no obligations or rights with respect thereto.

ARTICLE IV

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY MATTERS

Section 4.1. License to Use SYF Logos and Trademarks. The Parties acknowledge and agree that SYF is the owner of or has created certain trademarks, logos and trade names listed on Exhibit F (collectively, the "SYF Trademarks"). During the Term and subject to the following conditions, SYF grants the Public School Partner a non-exclusive, non-transferable, terminable license to solely use the SYF Trademarks in connection with the Academy and the Local Academy. Any use by Public School Partner of any SYF Trademark is, however, subject to the Public School Partner obtaining from SYF prior written approval of SYF for any proposed use. Public School Partner acknowledges and agrees that SYF retains all right, title and interest in the SYF Trademarks and the value and goodwill associated therewith. Nothing in this Agreement will be construed to grant a Public School Partner any right, title or interest in or to the SYF Trademarks, other than as expressly stated in this Section 4.1. All use of the SYF Trademarks by Public School Partner and the goodwill associated therewith shall inure to the benefit of SYF. To the extent that any rights in the SYF Trademarks have inured to the Public School Partner, Public School Partner hereby assigns all rights, title and interest in and to the SYF Trademarks and the goodwill associated therewith to SYF. The Public School Partner agrees that it shall comply with all existing quality control procedures and policies that SYF has adopted and may adopt from time to time in the future regarding the use of the SYF Trademarks and perform all acts reasonably requested by SYF to assure the nature and quality of the use of the SYF Trademarks and the services and products are consistent with and do not detract from the goodwill associated with the SYF Trademarks. If in its sole discretion SYF believes that any use, including but not limited to, any use in already approved marketing material, advertisements, or promotions, is inconsistent with this Agreement or otherwise damages the goodwill associated with the SYF Trademarks, SYF may notify the Public School Partner of its objection to such use and upon receipt of such notice, the Public School Partner shall immediately cease such use of the SYF Trademarks in the objected to manner, regardless of whether such use was previously approved.

Section 4.2. Intellectual Property Arising From The Academy. The Parties agree that any materials, logos, works of authorship, inventions or developments (whether patentable or not), curriculum, processes, and other information and procedures, including without limitation all trademarks, logos, trade name of the Academy and/or the Local Academy, copyrights, trade secrets, patents or other proprietary rights arising from (or developed by or for) the Academy and/or the Local Academy, including the name of the Academy and the Local Academy (collectively, "the "Intellectual Property") shall be owned by SYF and the Public School Partner hereby assigns all right, title and interest in and to the Intellectual Property to SYF. During the Term and subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, SYF grants to Public School Partner a non-exclusive, non-transferable, terminable license to use the Intellectual Property solely in connection with the Academy and the Local Academy. SYF's ownership of the Intellectual Property shall include ownership of the Intellectual Property Rights, all trademark applications, copyright applications, patent applications or any resulting trademark registrations, copyright registrations or patents that may be filed or issued. All legal and filing fees associated with such applications shall be borne by SYF and be in the name of SYF. The Public School Partner shall not file any such applications without the advance written consent of SYF.

Section 4.3. Noninfringement. In performing its obligations and responsibilities under this Agreement, Public School Partner shall not infringe, misappropriate or violate any third party's copyrights, trademarks, trade secrets, patents, or other proprietary or contractual rights.

ARTICLE V

DISPUTE RESOLUTION

Except as otherwise provided in Article III, Article VI or this Article V, if any dispute involving the Parties arises out of or relates to this MOU, the Parties agree to submit to and participate in the following dispute resolution mechanisms in the following order:

Section 5.1. Informal Dispute Resolution. The Parties shall meet (the "Initial Meeting") promptly, through representatives with authority to resolve the dispute, and shall attempt in good faith to negotiate a resolution to the dispute without the necessity of involving outside parties.

Section 5.2. Mediation. If, within fifteen (15) days after such Initial Meeting, the Parties have not succeeded in negotiating a mutually agreeable resolution of the dispute, they will appoint a mutually acceptable neutral person not affiliated with either of the Parties (the "Mediator"), and will participate in a non-binding mediation in a good faith effort to resolve the dispute. The mediation shall be held in Knox County, Tennessee. In the event that the Parties have failed to agree upon the appointment of a Mediator within twenty-five (25) days from the date of the Initial Meeting, SYF shall be entitled to select the Mediator from a firm of attorneys holding themselves out as practicing civil mediators practicing in Knox County, Tennessee. The Parties shall share equally the costs of the Mediator (including time and reasonable expenses) and any costs. For any other fees or expenses incurred in mediation, each Party shall bear its own costs.

Section 5.3. Jurisdiction and Venue. If the Parties fail to resolve the dispute through mediation within forty-five (45) days of the Initial Meeting, the Parties may initiate a civil action in state or federal court and may thereafter seek any legal and equitable remedies as they may have, subject to the terms and conditions of this MOU. SYF and Public School Partner consent to the jurisdiction of any state or federal court located within Knox County, Tennessee. All service of process may be made by messenger, certified mail, return receipt requested or by registered mail directed to Public School Partner at the address indicated below each Party's signature, and Public School Partner otherwise waives personal service of any and all process made upon Public School Partner. SYF and Public School Partner each waive any objection which it may have to any proceeding commenced in a federal or state court located within Knox County, Tennessee, based upon improper venue or forum non conveniens. Nothing contained in this section shall affect the right of SYF to serve legal process in any other manner permitted by law or to bring any action or proceeding against Public School Partner or its property in any other courts having jurisdiction. SYF and Public School Partner, after consulting or having had the opportunity to consult with counsel, knowingly, voluntarily and intentionally waive any right any of them may have to a trial by jury in any litigation based upon or arising out of this MOU or any of the transactions contemplated by this MOU or any course of conduct, dealing, statements (whether oral or written), or actions of any of them. Neither SYF nor Public School Partner shall seek to consolidate, by counterclaim or otherwise, any action in which a jury trial has been waived with any other action in which a jury trial cannot be or has not been waived. This waiver shall not be deemed to have been modified in any respect or relinquished by SYF or Public School Partner except by a written instrument executed by both of them.

ARTICLE VI

INSURANCE, WAIVER AND INDEMNIFICATION

Section 6.1. SYF.

(a) SYF agrees to maintain the following coverages and will name or have Public School Partner named as an additional insured thereunder for the claims asserted against Public School Partner related to the Local Academy: a Commercial General Liability Policy with a Combined Single Limit of no less than $2,000,000 per occurrence and a $2,000,000 Combined Single Unit, aggregate.

(b) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein and to the extent allowed by applicable law, there shall be absolutely no personal liability on the shareholders, partners, officers, directors, agents, related entities, employees or customers of SYF with respect to any of the terms, covenants, conditions and provisions of this MOU. Public School Partner shall look solely to each and every remedy provided to Public School Partner pursuant to the terms of this MOU in the event of default of SYF hereunder. In the event that SYF (and all of its respective shareholders, partners, officers, directors, agents, related entities, employees, customers and invitees) (collectively the "SYF Group") is held liable in any way to

Public School Partner for any matter related to this MOU, the Local Academy or the Academy, Public School Partner agrees to look solely to the proceeds of the insurance carried by SYF in accordance with this Section 6.1 in order to make its recovery, which proceeds shall be the sole right of recovery of Public School Partner.

(c) None of the SYF Group shall be liable for, and Public School Partner waives all claims for, damage to person or property sustained by Public School Partner or any person claiming through Public School Partner resulting from any accident or occurrence in or upon the Premises and/or the building or complex of which the Premises is a part. Public School Partner agrees to pay on demand SYF's expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees incurred in enforcing any obligation of the Public School Partner under this MOU.

Section 6.2. Public School Partner

(a) Subject to limits imposed on Public School Partner under applicable law, Public School Partner agrees that it shall be responsible for any claim of personal injury, property damage (including, without limitation, damage to the Premises) and/or theft arising out of or relating to the use and operation of the Local Academy and the Premises and/or the building or complex of which the Premises is a part.

(b) Subject to limits imposed on Public School Partner under applicable law, Public School Partner hereby agrees to indemnify, defend and hold harmless the SYF Group against and from any and all liabilities, obligations, losses, costs, penalties, actions, suits, claims, damages, expenses, disbursements (including legal fees and expenses), or costs of any kind and nature whatsoever (collectively, "Claims") in any way relating to or arising out of or alleged to arise from (a) any activity of the Public School Partner (including without limitation the activities of Public School Partner's officers, directors, employees, agents, contractors, servants and students) (collectively, the "Public School Partner Group") including but not limited to negligent acts or omissions or willful misconduct of any Public School Partner Group Member; (b) any violation of Public School Partner of any law, rule, regulation or governmental or administrative permit or order; (c) any cybersecurity incident or data breach attributable to (i) the actions or inactions of Public School Partner (including without limitation the activities of Public School Partner's officers, directors, employees, agents, contractors, servants and students), (ii) the insufficiency of Public School Partner's cybersecurity policies or procedures, and/or (iii) Public School Partner's failure to comply with federal, state, and local cybersecurity laws and regulation; (d) Public School Partner's breach of any terms or conditions of this MOU; or (e) the acts or omissions of Public School Partner; irrespective of whether such Claim is caused, or alleged to be caused, in whole or in part by a member of the SYF Group and regardless of the legal theory upon which the Claim is asserted. THIS INDEMNITY SHALL BE BROADLY CONSTRUED, SHALL APPLY TO THE FULLEST EXTENT ALLOWED BY LAW, AND SHALL APPLY REGARDLESS OF WHETHER IT IS ALLEGED THAT THE SYF GROUP OR PUBLIC SCHOOL PARTNER WERE SOLELY NEGLIGENT, THAT THE SYF GROUP AND PUBLIC SCHOOL PARTNER WERE JOINTLY NEGLIGENT, OR OTHERWISE. Notwithstanding the foregoing or anything to the contrary herein, SYF acknowledges that Public School Partner is a self-insured governmental entity covered by the provisions of the Tennessee Governmental Tort Liability Act (the "GTLA"), codified at T.C.A. § 29-20-101, et seq. and shall have no liability to any party for any personal injury or property damage beyond the limits of liability as provided under the GTLA. Further notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein, Public School Partner does not waive any immunities under the GTLA, any other statutory provision or any common law doctrine, including, but not limited to, sovereign immunity.

Section 6.3. Survival/Liability Limitation. The indemnity obligations of the Parties set forth in Sections 6.1 and 6.2 shall survive expiration or termination of this MOU. IN NO EVENT SHALL ANY SYF GROUP MEMBER BE LIABLE FOR ANTICIPATED OR LOST PROFITS, BUSINESS INTERRUPTION OR CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES. Any action by Public School Partner arising out of or relating to this MOU must be commenced by Public School Partner within one year after the cause of action has occurred.

ARTICLE VII

Public School Partner shall at all times during its use and operation of the Local Academy and the Premises provide sufficient supervision and maintain adequate control of its students, employees, guests or invitees, abide by the terms and conditions, rules and regulations contained in any lease or any other occupancy agreement for the Premises, and establish and maintain adequate security measures in accordance with Public School Partner's policies and procedures in effect for other educational facilities operated by Public School Partner.

Section 7.2. Licenses. In the event there are any licenses or permits required by any governmental agency or authority with respect to the type of activity carried on and/or in use of the Premises or operation of the Local Academy, Public School Partner shall be responsible for obtaining and maintaining such licenses, authorizations and permits at its own cost and expense. No unlawful activities shall be permitted in the use of the Premises. The possession, storage or use of alcoholic beverages or the engagement of individuals in gambling activities shall not be permitted within the Premises.

Section 7.3. Waste. Public School Partner agrees not to harm the Local Academy and the Premises, commit waste, create any nuisance, make any use of the Local Academy and the Premises and/or the building of which the Premises is a part, which is offensive as determined by SYF, in its sole discretion, or do any act tending to injure the reputation of SYF, and shall abide by all rules and regulations established by the owner of the Premises.

Section 7.4. Violations of Law. Notwithstanding any of the foregoing provisions to the contrary, if Public School Partner is deemed to be in violation of any federal, state, municipal, or local fire, building, or other code, Public School Partner shall immediately cure any and all violations and immediately pay any and all costs, fines and/or penalties attributable to all such violation(s). If Public School Partner fails to cure said violation(s), SYF may at its sole discretion either (a) cure the violation(s), or (b) immediately terminate this Agreement without notice or liability to Public School Partner whatsoever. SYF's election to exercise the provisions of the preceding sentence shall not in any way relieve Public School Partner of paying any and all costs, fines, and/or penalties attributable to any such violation.

Section 7.5. Alterations. Public School Partner agrees not to make any alterations or additions to the Premises, nor permit the making of any holes in its walls, partitions, ceilings, or floors, nor permit the painting or placing of any exterior signs, placards, other advertising, media, banners, pennants, awnings, aerials, antennas, or the like on or about the Premises, without on each occasion obtaining prior written consent of SYF, which consent may be withheld by SYF in its sole and absolute discretion.

Section 7.6. Mechanics Lien. Public School Partner agrees not to suffer any mechanic's lien to be filed against the Premises by reason of any work, labor, services or materials performed at or furnished to the Premises, to the Public School Partner, or on behalf of or at the direction of Public School Partner. Public School Partner shall bear all costs and expenses (including SYF's reasonable attorneys' fees) to remove any mechanic's lien filed against the premises. Nothing in this Agreement shall be construed as consent on the part of SYF to subject SYF or SYF's estate in such premises to any lien of liability under the Lien Laws of the State in which such premises are located.

ARTICLE VIII

MISCELLANEOUS

Section 8.1. Severability. If any provision of this MOU is determined to be invalid or unenforceable, such invalidity or unenforceability shall not affect the validity or enforceability of any other provisions of this MOU that can be given effect without the invalid or unenforceable provisions, and all unaffected provisions of this MOU shall remain in full force and effect as if this MOU had been executed without such invalid or unenforceable provisions.

Section 8.2. Notices. Any notice required or permitted to be given under this MOU shall be conclusively deemed to have been received by a Party to this MOU on the day it is delivered to such Party at the address indicated below under the Party's signature (or at such other address as such Party shall specify to the other Party in writing) or, if sent by registered or certified mail, on the third business day after the date on which it is mailed to such Party at said address. Simon Youth Academy Stylebook

SYF Simon Youth Foundation

Simon Youth Academy Stylebook

A communications stylebook is crucial to protecting and maintaining the identity of SYF. Each time we communicate with our stakeholders and the public at large, it is an opportunity to convey our mission and reinforce our identity – and all types of communication influence public perception of our identity.

The guidelines presented in this document are to be followed for all public communications, both print and electronic, that are distributed by Simon Youth Foundation, partner school districts, Simon mall locations, and Simon Youth Academies.

Formatting issues or questions not addressed in this document should be directed to the SYF Communications Director Lauren B. Rapp at lauren.rapp@simon.com or 317.319.0271.

Visual identity elements

The elements that make up the SYF visual identity include the SYF logo, Simon Youth Academy logos, and approved color palettes and fonts. Academies are encouraged to use the SYF logo and Academy logo on printed material. Prior to using the photo, be sure you have a high-resolution file from the Communications Manager and that you are using it in accordance with the brand guidelines outlined in this document.

SYF Logo

The SYF brand logo is our most visible symbol and appears on all of our print and electronic communications for a public audience. All marketing collateral, both print and electronic, as well as all web pages, press statements, and professional letters that are associated with SYF should display the SYF logo. Specific applications and guidelines for use are in the sections that follow.

Primary Logo: Horizontal

SYF Simon Youth Foundation

In a standard Word document, the horizontal logo should be 2-inches wide, with at least .5x space around it.
(when the logo is 2-inches wide, it will be .56" tall)

Secondary Logo: Vertical

SYF
Simon Youth Foundation

In a standard Word document, the vertical logo should be 1-inch tall, with at least .5x space around it.
(when the logo is 1-inch in height, it will be 1.23" wide)

Academy Logos

Each individual Academy has its own vertical logo, consistent with the primary SYF logo. Your Academy logo should be used in communications that are school-specific. When promoting the Foundation as a whole, please use the SYF logo. Academy Logos are not available in the horizontal format.

  - In a standard Word document, the horizontal logo should be 2-inches wide (when the logo is 2-inches wide, it will be .56" tall)

Iconography

SYF often uses a mortarboard icon to express our goals of graduation. With the brand redesign, we also have a new graduation cap icon to use. The grad cap icon should NOT stand alone without the SYF logo appearing somewhere on the document.

SYF Iconography should be used only in consultation with the SYF Communication Director.

Additionally, SYF uses standard icons to promote fundraising events. These icons are consistent with our new brand image.

Fonts

These are the preferred font families for SYF communications.

- Simon Circular will be used by the SYF design team only for all marketing and advertising materials. The Circular family of fonts should NOT be used on standard office documents such as letters, Powerpoints, or press releases.
    - Simon Circular Bold should be used for headlines
- Helvetica should be used in professional letters, PowerPoints, Board reports, and other office documents.

Key Organization References

Guidelines for Academy References

- Each Academy (school) supported by SYF will be referred to most generically as an Academy. More specifically, SYF-sponsored schools are to be communicated as a "Simon Youth Academy" or "Academies" in the case of multiple schools being referenced at a single time.
    - John Doe has attended a Simon Youth Academy for three years.
- When referring to a specific Academy in either print or electronic communications, the proper and complete school name will be used on first reference, which includes the academy's mall or SPG location after "Simon Youth Academy." For consecutive references, "the Academy (capitalized)" or "the school (lowercase)" is acceptable.
    - John Doe attends Simon Youth Academy at Circle Centre Mall. He's been studying at the Academy for the last three years. The school opened in 2015.
- In the event an Academy is a sponsored school, the sponsored title is to fall between "Youth" and "Academy" in the proper and complete school name.
    - John Doe attends Simon Youth Dr. Paul L. Kelley Volunteer Academy at Lincoln Park Technical and Trade Center.
- In cases where an Academy is located in a mall that is no longer a Simon property, the name may be modified for local signage purposes to preserve the relationship with new mall management. SYF will continue to refer to the Academy by its formal, branded SYF name publicly (ie web and social media).
    - The Academy at Independence Center (signage)
    - Simon Youth Academy at Independence Center (SYF use)
- If an Academy is known locally by a different name, SYF may use that name in local speaking and media engagements to ensure consistency and clarity among key local audiences. The following are suitable ways to reference such Academies, but require final approval from the Communications Director and/or CEO before use:
    - Phoenix High School at Sugarloaf Mills, a Simon Youth Academy
    - Phoenix High School at Sugarloaf Mills, in Cooperation with Simon Youth Foundation
    - Phoenix High School at Sugarloaf Mills, in Partnership with Simon Youth Foundation
- There is no acronym for Academies that will appear in any publicly available SYF communications. SYAs and other shortened forms are not acceptable.
- Education Resources Center or ERC is an obsolete name for Simon Youth Academies and should NOT be used.

Guidelines for Simon Youth Foundation

- Simon Youth Foundation should always be spelled out on first reference.
- The word "the" should NOT be used before Simon Youth Foundation
- SYF can be used on later references.
- SyF (lowercase y) is NOT acceptable.
- Programmatic references are listed on the next pages.

Web address – The SYF website should always be listed as syf.org. Use of www or http:// before syf.org is incorrect.

- syf.org

Impact Metrics – Please reference the Impact Metrics Tracker and Memo for approved metrics (i.e.: graduation rate, number of Academies, etc.) and how to use them publicly and internally.

Formal Letters – The date should always be in the top left corner. Names, titles and addresses should fall below the date, followed by the salutation: Two line breaks go between the date and address, as well as the address and salutation. Do not use double spaces between sentences. See example letter.

Guidelines for Simon

- Simon is preferred when referencing the corporate entity.
- Simon Property Group may be used to avoid confusion.
- Simon has three mall platforms:
    - Malls
    - Premium Outlets
    - The Mills

Washington Prime Group/WP GLIMCHER – SYF has several Academies in Washington Prime Group malls. WP GLIMCHER is the former name of Washington Prime Group. Do NOT use WP GLIMCHER.

SYF Programmatic References

To achieve its stated mission, SYF supports two major programs – Simon Youth Academies and Simon Youth Scholarships. SYF's identity is rooted in its mission, and the manner in which we present SYF initiatives in our communications is crucial to the public perception of our identity.

Therefore, consistency in the language used to reference the key SYF initiatives is not only a component of brand maintenance, it is crucial element in how our organization is seen and understood by the public.

Guidelines for Scholarship References

- A student award granted by SYF is to be referred to as a "Simon Youth Scholarship recipient." "Scholarship winner" should not be used.
    - John Doe is a Simon Youth Scholarship recipient for the 2014-15 academic year. He is one of 60 students to earn a Simon Youth Scholarship this year.
- When referencing the broader program, "Simon Youth Scholarship program" should be used.
    - John Doe is one of 60 students who have benefitted from the Simon Youth Scholarship program this year.

Simon Youth Scholarships Branding

Formal names for the various Simon Youth Scholarships

- Simon Youth Community Scholarship, a one-time scholarship awarded in partnership with Simon properties and available to graduating seniors living within 50 miles of a Simon property.
- Simon Youth Community Award of Excellence, a renewable scholarship awarded to top-ranking Community Scholarship applicants in 10 "hub" regions that are home to multiple Simon properties.
- Simon Youth Academy Scholarship, renewable two- and four-year scholarships awarded to graduates of Simon Youth Academies.
- Greg Saunders Legacy Scholarship, one-time scholarships awarded to high school graduate dependents of Simon Property Group employees; though not renewable, applicants may re-apply up to four years. Recipients are not publicized.

AP Style References

If not explicitly addressed in this guide, SYF will adhere to AP Style in all written publications. AP Style, short for Associated Press style, has been consistently used by journalists, news organizations, magazines, editors and more since 1846.

Common AP Style references are below. Additional references can be found in this AP Style Cheat Sheet: http://bit.ly/APStyleCheatSheet

State Abbreviations – Use AP Style abbreviations for states, NOT Postal Codes, which should only be used in an address block. List of AP Style state abbreviations: http://bit.ly/APStyleStates

- SYF opened a new Simon Youth Academy in Kokomo, Ind.

A state abbreviation needs to follow all cities, except for these cities: http://bit.ly/APStyleCities

- SYF has four Academies in Seattle.
- SYF has two Academies in Port Charlotte, Fla.

Telephone Numbers – Phone numbers should consist of an area code in parenthesis, and a hyphen between the digits.

- (317) 509-3676

Time – Times should be listed followed by a space and a.m. or p.m.,(4:00 a.m., 12:15 p.m.). In the middle of a sentence, a comma should always follow the abbreviation. At the end of a sentence, an additional period should NOT be added.

- I went to the Academy at 11:00 a.m., and returned at 3:30 p.m.

Commas – Use commas to separate elements in a series, but do not put a comma before the conjunction of a simple series. However, if an integral element of the series requires a conjunction, or if the absence of a comma could lead to confusion, use a comma:

- The flag is red, white and blue.

- I had orange juice, toast, and ham and eggs for breakfast.

Use commas to separate a series of adjective in equal rank. Tip: If the commas could be replaced by the word and without changing the sense, the adjectives are equal.

- A thoughtful, precise manner. A smart, compassionate teacher.

Guidelines for Academy References

- Each Academy (school) supported by SYF will be referred to most generically as an Academy. More specifically, SYF-sponsored schools are to be communicated as a "Simon Youth Academy" or "Academies" in the case of multiple schools being referenced at a single time.
    - John Doe has attended a Simon Youth Academy for three years.
- When referring to a specific Academy in either print or electronic communications, the proper and complete school name will be used on first reference, which includes the academy's mall or SPG location after "Simon Youth Academy." For consecutive references, "the Academy (capitalized)" or "the school (lowercase)" is acceptable.
    - John Doe attends Simon Youth Academy at Circle Centre Mall. He's been studying at the Academy for the last three years. The school opened in 2015.
- In the event an Academy is a sponsored school, the sponsored title is to fall between "Youth" and "Academy" in the proper and complete school name.
    - John Doe attends Simon Youth Dr. Paul L. Kelley Volunteer Academy at Lincoln Park Technical and Trade Center.
- In cases where an Academy is located in a mall that is no longer a Simon property, the name may be modified for local signage purposes to preserve the relationship with new mall management. SYF will continue to refer to the Academy by its formal, branded SYF name publicly (ie web and social media).
    - The Academy at Independence Center (signage)
    - Simon Youth Academy at Independence Center (SYF use)
- If an Academy is known locally by a different name, SYF may use that name in local speaking and media engagements to ensure consistency and clarity among key local audiences. The following are suitable ways to reference such Academies, but require final approval from the Communications Director and/or CEO before use:
    - Phoenix High School at Sugarloaf Mills, a Simon Youth Academy
    - Phoenix High School at Sugarloaf Mills, in Cooperation with Simon Youth Foundation
    - Phoenix High School at Sugarloaf Mills, in Partnership with Simon Youth Foundation
- There is no acronym for Academies that will appear in any publicly available SYF communications. SYAs and other shortened forms are not acceptable.
- Education Resources Center or ERC is an obsolete name for Simon Youth Academies and should NOT be used.

SYF Programmatic References

To achieve its stated mission, SYF supports two major programs – Simon Youth Academies and Simon Youth Scholarships. SYF's identity is rooted in its mission, and the manner in which we present SYF initiatives in our communications is crucial to the public perception of our identity.

Therefore, consistency in the language used to reference the key SYF initiatives is not only a component of brand maintenance, it is crucial element in how our organization is seen and understood by the public.

Guidelines for Scholarship References

- A student award granted by SYF is to be referred to as a "Simon Youth Scholarship recipient." "Scholarship winner" should not be used.
    - John Doe is a Simon Youth Scholarship recipient for the 2014-15 academic year. He is one of 60 students to earn a Simon Youth Scholarship this year.
- When referencing the broader program, "Simon Youth Scholarship program" should be used.
    - John Doe is one of 60 students who have benefitted from the Simon Youth Scholarship program this year.

AP Style References

If not explicitly addressed in this guide, SYF will adhere to AP Style in all written publications. AP Style, short for Associated Press style, has been consistently used by journalists, news organizations, magazines, editors and more since 1846.

Common AP Style references are below. Additional references can be found in this AP Style Cheat Sheet: http://bit.ly/APStyleCheatSheet

State Abbreviations – Use AP Style abbreviations for states, NOT Postal Codes, which should only be used in an address block. List of AP Style state abbreviations: http://bit.ly/APStyleStates

- SYF opened a new Simon Youth Academy in Kokomo, Ind.

A state abbreviation needs to follow all cities, except for these cities: http://bit.ly/APStyleCities

- SYF has four Academies in Seattle.
- SYF has two Academies in Port Charlotte, Fla.

Telephone Numbers – Phone numbers should consist of an area code in parenthesis, and a hyphen between the digits.

- (317) 509-3676

Time – Times should be listed followed by a space and a.m. or p.m.,(4:00 a.m., 12:15 p.m.). In the middle of a sentence, a comma should always follow the abbreviation. At the end of a sentence, an additional period should NOT be added.

- I went to the Academy at 11:00 a.m., and returned at 3:30 p.m.

Commas – Use commas to separate elements in a series, but do not put a comma before the conjunction of a simple series. However, if an integral element of the series requires a conjunction, or if the absence of a comma could lead to confusion, use a comma:

- The flag is red, white and blue.
- I had orange juice, toast, and ham and eggs for breakfast.

Use commas to separate a series of adjective in equal rank. Tip: If the commas could be replaced by the word and without changing the sense, the adjectives are equal.

- A thoughtful, precise manner. A smart, compassionate teacher.

References to Key Initiatives

To achieve its stated mission, SYF supports two major initiatives – Simon Youth Academies and Simon Youth Scholarships. SYF's identity is rooted in its mission, and the manner in which we present SYF initiatives in our communications is crucial to the public perception of our identity. Therefore, consistency in the language used to reference the key SYF initiatives is not only a component of brand maintenance, it is crucial element in how our organization is seen and understood by the public.

Simon Youth Foundation

- Simon Youth Foundation should always be spelled out on first reference.
- SYF can be used on later references.
- SyF (lowercase y) is NOT acceptable.

Simon Youth Scholarships

- A student award granted by SYF is to be referred to as a "Simon Youth Scholarship" or "Scholarships" in the case of referencing multiple awards.
    - John Doe earned a Simon Youth Scholarship for the 2014-15 academic year. He is one of 60 students who have earned Simon Youth Scholarships this year.
- When referencing the broader program, "Simon Youth Scholarship program" should be used.
    - John Doe is one of 60 students who have benefitted from the Simon Youth Scholarship program this year.
- "Scholarship recipient" is preferred over "scholarship winner".

Simon Youth Scholarship Branding

Formal names for the various Simon Youth Scholarships

- Simon Youth Community Scholarship, awarded in partnership with Simon properties and available to any high school graduate living within 50 miles of a Simon property

Simon Youth Academy References

    - John Doe has been attending a Simon Youth Academy for three years.
- When referring to a specific academy in either print or electronic communications, the proper and complete school name will be used on first reference, which includes the academy's mall or SPG location after "Simon Youth Academy." For consecutive references, "the Academy (capitalized)" or "the school (lowercase)" is acceptable.
    - John Doe attends the Simon Youth Academy at Independence Center. He's been studying at the Academy for the last three years. The school opened in

    - John Doe attends the Simon Youth Dr. Paul E. Kelley Volunteer Academy at Knoxville Center.
- There is no acronym for the academies that will appear in any publicly available SYF communications. SYAs and other shortened forms are not acceptable.
- Education Resources Center or ERC is an obsolete name for Simon Youth Academies and should NOT be used.

Miscellaneous Style Notes

If not addressed in this guide, SYF will follow AP Style in written publications.

Simon

Simon is preferred when referencing the corporate entity. Simon Property Group may be used to avoid confusion. Simon has three mall platforms:

- Simon Malls
- Simon Premium Outlets®
- The Mills®

State Abbreviations

Use AP style abbreviations for states, not Postal Codes. Postal Codes should only be used in an address block. A list of AP abbreviations can be found here: https://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/735/02/

A state needs to follow all cities, unless noted in AP Style https://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/735/02/

Telephone Numbers

Phone numbers should consist of an area code in parenthesis, and a hyphen between the digits.

- (317) 509-3676

Time

Times should be listed followed by a space and a.m. or p.m., (4:00 a.m., 12:15 p.m.). In the middle of a sentence, a comma should always follow the abbreviation. At the end of a sentence, an additional period should NOT be added.

- I went to the mall at 4:00 p.m., then returned at 6:30 p.m.

Web address

The SYF website should always be listed as syf.org. Use of www or http:/1 before syf.org is incorrect.

Washington Prime Group - Some SYF Academies are located in properties formerly owned by Simon Property Group, now owned by Washington Prime Group.

May 6, 2025

To: Knox County Schools Board of Education
400 W Summit Hill Dr SW, Knoxville, TN 37902

From:
Victoria Rexhausen
Post Doctoral Research Associate, University of Tennessee - Knoxville

PROJECT SUMMARY

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville (UTK), and Socially Equal Energy Efficient Development (SEEED), a 501(c)(3) in East Knoxville, would like to collaborate with Dr. Paul L. Kelley Volunteer Academy (KVA) to install outdoor learning facilities to be used to teach learning modules about green infrastructure, stormwater, and forestry. The cost of installations will be donated to KVA by UTK and SEEED. The cost of materials and labor for this project totals $16,845, which is outlined on page 3. Funding for this project is provided by the Inflation Reduction Act and the USDA Forest Service, Urban and Community Forestry Program, awarded to UTK.

The installations will include two gravel tree stormwater systems (GTSS) on KVA's campus. Pages 2-4 describe the project's scope, and an aerial photo indicating the project's location on campus can be found below (Figure 1). The GTSS will be outfitted with monitoring devices, including a water level data logger and rain gauge, exposing the students to citizen science and allowing hands-on activities to accompany in-classroom learning modules. Lessons will be carefully crafted to ensure these efforts integrate and don't detract from course content. Page 6 elaborates on lesson plan subjects.

GRAVEL TREE STORMWATER SYSTEM

Background

Gravel Tree Stormwater Systems (GTSS) were originally conceived by staff in the Urban Forestry South office in Athens, GA. In these systems, soils are excavated to a depth of approximately 3 ft within an 18 X 18 ft area specifically sized to trap stormwater runoff from a given catchment. The system is designed to, at a minimum, have a volume sufficient for a mature tree. Within this excavated area, a 6 ft x 6 ft x 3 ft wooden box is placed and filled with mineral soil (Figure 2). A tree is planted inside the mineral soil, and holes are drilled in the side of the cube to allow the tree roots to migrate into the surrounding area. Around this cube, in the remainder of the excavated area, washed #57 stone is placed, providing space for the roots to grow and access the incoming stormwater runoff. The stone provides structural stability as well as void space for runoff storage. This system is designed to mimic bioretention (i.e., rain gardens) and functions similarly. However, by using stone instead of bioretention media, the cost of these systems is nearly one-third that of more traditional bioretention areas, making it an extremely attractive potential alternative. Further, these systems are specifically designed to promote tree health, resulting in a tree-centric approach to stormwater management where benefits such as shading, evaporative cooling, and ecosystem services the tree provides are still realized. One of the first GTSS was installed in East Knoxville in a collaborative effort between the U.S. Forest Service, the University of Tennessee (UT), and the City of Knoxville Urban Forestry Division. Observations showed the system was well functioning, and tree growth and health in the system were excellent.

Proposed Installation

A GTSS is proposed to be built in the northwest corner of the parking area adjacent to Chickamauga Ave on KVA's campus. This location receives sheet flow from most of the parking lot during rain events. GIS data was used to determine a watershed size of approximately 7676.5 ft^2, with an anticipated stormwater volume of approximately 640 cubic feet resulting from a 1-inch rain event. An aerial photo describing the location of the proposed site is included (Figure 1).

Upon approval of this proposal, survey equipment will be used to determine the exact topography of the proposed build site. UT will create design plans for the location based on survey results and oversee construction from local contractors. Contractors will be fully supervised by UT staff and undergo a background check/TAPS clearance. Each GTSS will cost approximately $7,500 to build, including labor, heavy machine operation, and materials. The school's faculty and students will be invited to help with planting the tree in the GTSS. The project's PI, Dr. Jon

Hathaway, has extensive experience with such installations and has successfully completed a number of similar design and construction projects in both academic and industry settings.

TIMELINE

Installation

Upon approval from the school board and facilities management, UTK will immediately begin work to install the GTSS before the start of the upcoming school year. UTK will coordinate with KVA to invite students to participate in the tree planting.

Maintenance

This project's scope allows for 4 years (Fall 2025 - Spring 2029) of dedicated maintenance and landscaping from the University of Tennessee. During this time, UTK and forestry interns funded by this project will be responsible for the care of the tree in the GTSS. UTK will provide ample instruction to the school's faculty and staff during this time for the prolonged upkeep of these resources, which will not be labor-intensive once the tree is well established.

CURRICULUM

Our team plans to install these green infrastructure practices not only to improve ecosystem services on the campus of Kelley Volunteer Academy, but also to use them as an avenue for teaching K-12 students about green infrastructure, stormwater, and forestry. Team members will coordinate with Chris Long and Joel Meservy, the KVA Science Teachers, to develop a curriculum plan to accompany the donated facilities. We will deliver in-classroom learning modules and expose students to citizen science, instructing them on methods to monitor tree health and hydrological processes in the green infrastructure practices. The curriculum will be specially crafted to meet the unique needs of the students at Kelley Volunteer Academy, including students with interrupted or nontraditional education pathways. Below, we outline which sections of the TN State Science Standards best correlate with the learning opportunities provided by our proposed installations. We understand that KVA students may not follow the same standard curriculum, but our lesson plans will aim to share these topics in an inclusive and adaptable format. We will additionally focus on green career pathways and provide resources to KVA's career guidance counselors.

PROJECT SUMMARY

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville (UTK), and Socially Equal Energy Efficient Development (SEEED), a 501(c)(3) in East Knoxville, would like to collaborate with Lonsdale Elementary School (LES) to install outdoor learning facilities to be used to teach learning modules about green infrastructure, stormwater, and forestry. The cost of installations will be donated to LESby UTK and SEEED. The cost of materials and labor for this project totals $9,025, which is outlined on page 4. Funding for this project is provided by the Inflation Reduction Act and the USDA Forest Service, Urban and Community Forestry Program, awarded to UTK.

The installations will include a gravel tree stormwater system (GTSS) on LES's campus. Page2 describea the project's scope, and an aerial photo indicating the project's location on campus can be found below (Figure 1). The GTSS will be outfitted with monitoring devices, including a water level data logger and rain gauge, exposing the students to citizen science and allowing hands-on activities to accompany in-classroom learning modules. Lessons will be carefully crafted to ensure these efforts integrate and don't detract from course content. Page 6 elaborates on lesson plan subjects and the corresponding TN State Science Standards.

Proposed Installation

A GTSS is proposed to be built adjacent to the parking area south of LES's main building on Gloria Garnet Street. Upon approval of this proposal, survey equipment will be used to determine the exact topography of the proposed build site. Dear Northshore Families,

We are pleased to announce this year's Knox County School Coupon Book campaign will launch on Thursday, September 14th and run through Tuesday, October 3rd. The Coupon Book fundraiser is the district's largest - raising more than $1 million dollars last year. We couldn't do this without your support!

The KCS Coupon Book will include both a physical copy, as well as, a digital copy option found on the mobile app, Cashbook. Each printed book will include a unique code that allows customers to access an additional set of coupons on their mobile device. By offering a more convenient digital option - and a "two for one" benefit - we believe this year's campaign will generate an enthusiastic response among our school community.

The cost of the 2023-24 book will be $20. Northshore will keep $15 per book sold in profit.

Our school goal is to sell 5000 books! If we succeed in this effort, the funds will be used as follows:

- Grounds Improvements
- Instruction Funds for Classroom and Encore areas

We will do our best to fill all books orders daily. Prizes will be awarded at the end of the campaign. For your convenience, you can order online through 11:59 pm on October 3rd.

Please visit our new, user-friendly fundraising platform or scan the QR code below to purchase books online at GIVEBACKS. These books will be sent home with your student the day after the order is received.

https://nortes.memberhub.com/store/items/907548

All books must be paid in advance of receipt. We cannot accept returns for books not sold.

If you would like to purchase a large quantity of books, please use Givebacks, or call our school office to arrange a pick-up time.

Thank you again for all you do to support Northshore Elementary and Knox County Schools.

Sincerely,

Dear Northshore Families,

We are pleased to announce this year's Knox County Schools Coupon Book campaign will launch on Thursday, Sept. 15, 2022. The Coupon Book fundraiser is the school district's biggest – raising more than $1 million dollars last year – and we couldn't do it without your support!

This year's Coupon Book features several new merchants, in addition to our partners who continue to return year after year. We are very thankful for all the businesses in Knox and Sevier counties that have committed to giving back to our students, teachers and schools. After more than three decades, the Coupon Book remains a great deal at only $10. For every book sold, the entire $10 stays at our school – an amazing gift that directly benefits your student.

Our school goal for 2022 is to sell 5300 or more Coupon Books. If we succeed in this effort, the money will be used as follows:

- Courtyard Improvements
- Instruction Funds for Classrooms and Encore Areas
- Educational Subscriptions

In addition, we will have a fun camouflage dress up day and I will work from the roof on October 7th (weather permitting) if we meet our overall school goal!

We will do our best to fill all book orders on a daily basis. Prizes will be awarded at the end of the campaign and given to those students who turn in money by 2:45 p.m. on Monday, October 3rd. This is a pre-pay sale only. If you would like to purchase a large quantity of books, please call our school office to arrange a pick-up time. We cannot accept returns for books not sold.

The online option for purchasing books is available again this year. Please visit https://knoxschools.schoolcashonline.com to purchase.

Thank you again for all you do to support Northshore Elementary and Knox County Schools.

Sincerely,

Dr. Keith Cottrell

- Site Unknowns: It is the responsibility of the Client or the Client's Representative to fully inform Native of all the information regarding site unknowns that may include difficult buried materials, cables, and pipes, tree stumps, drainage or water table issues, rock and shale sub-surfaces and/or other impediments, issues or factors that could otherwise impact the quality, cost and timelines of project completion. Failure to notify Native may lead to additional costs to the Client (at the Contractor's discretion) and schedule time, and may require changes in design and construction to overcome such problems – all for which the Client will be responsible. Client can avoid such risks by permitting Native to do appropriate soil and ground tests, review the site, and to secure additional required site information from appropriate government and other authorities. The cost(s) of such additional work is not included in the Estimate attachment.
- Damaged Utilities: Should damage occur to utilities during construction, Native is not responsible for any damage to utility lines not marked by the utility marking company. Native is not liable in any way for inconvenience to the Client caused by damage to the utilities.

- Damage to neighbors buried utilities, on the Client's property, are the responsibility of the Client.
- Building/Window/Vehicle Washing: Buildings, windows, or vehicles of the Client, including neighbors, are not intended to be kept clean due to dust during Construction or Work performed by the Contractor. Any necessary cleaning due to Construction or Work by the Contractor will be the responsibility of the Client.

Material Tolerances

- Wood: Pressure treated wood cannot be guaranteed against warp age, checking, or cupping. Cedar is expected to crack especially 6X6 up to 3/8 inch gaps and the entire length of the wood. Ipe is expected to crack especially 4X4 up to 3/8 inch gaps and the entire length of the wood.
- Stone: Natural stone has color variations that vary from stone to stone. In addition, mineral deposits such as lime, iron, etc. can change the stone and even bleed. This is the nature of the product and the Client accepts this as a natural and acceptable quality of the stone.
- Metal: Metal, which is not galvanized, is not guaranteed from rusting commencing immediately after installation.
- Concrete: Spider cracks (hairline stress-fractures) are considered a normal characteristic of all types of concrete. Concrete may crack substantially over time due to proximity of tree roots. Colored concrete consistencies vary from truck to truck; therefore it is not possible to produce an exact match with pours over nine meters. The Client absolves Native of liability if "smooth" concrete is the desired finish (due to slippage).
- Warranty Time Period: the Contractor warrants all construction and installation for a period of one (1) year, providing that they have been maintained properly. All construction materials are subject to manufacturer's specific warranties/guarantees. Planting is warranted for one (1) year IF there is an approved irrigation system.
- Client Responsibilities: The Client recognizes and agrees that they have a responsibility to maintain constructions, plants, bushes, trees, and other installations in keeping with standard quality maintenance requirements in order for the Warranty to remain in affect. Failure to properly maintain materials or horticulture installations will void the warranty. Client further recognizes and agrees that damage to construction, materials, horticulture elements and other warrantable items of the project will not be warranted if the damage or loss is due to elements beyond the control of the Contractor. For example, flooding eaves troughs that damage plants, fallen branches, animal caused damage, frozen/ burst irrigation or drainage pipes that were not seasonally drained at the proper time, use of improper chemicals, improper maintenance, extreme or unusual weather conditions, and similar and/or related situations – void all warrantees provided by Native.
- Use of Client Selected and Approved Substandard Materials: Client recognized and agrees that if the Client has chosen and approved the use of substandard materials for any application that the one year warranty will be void or otherwise limited in writing on those items so impacted, but will remain in affect for all other elements of the project not impacted directly or indirectly by use of substandard materials. the Contractor will notify in writing to the Client any material that the Client has selected that would negatively impact the one year warranty of the Contractor – prior to purchasing and/or installing such materials.
- Material Grades: The Client recognizes that all materials come in a range of grades of quality and finishes, and that natural materials are not perfect. Natural wood have knots, and other natural materials have variability in color due to a wide range of factors, and that sample while useful in material selection decision-making, cannot be expected to accurately represent the total completed surface of a given construction or installation. Native shall endeavor to enable the Client to see or understand the representative range of color, surface texture, and related of all materials being seriously considered for installation on a project, however, it will be responsibility of the Client for the final selection of those materials. Once the selection has been approved by the Client, the Client will be responsible for all costs associated with changing any given material should the Client change their mind during or after material is purchased or constructed.

Exclusions

The Following matters are excluded from the Work, unless specified in writing to the contrary:

- Plumbing, Electrical and Gas Installation services are not included in contract. Owner shall enter into a separate contract with contractor.
- Iron railings removed during construction are always re-attached at an additional cost.
- Irrigation: Damage and subsequent repair to existing irrigation & drainage lines during construction is considered to be an additional cost.

- Drainage: Should the Client's property be the lowest elevation in relation to surrounding property or buildings, Native reserves the right to retain a Soil Engineer to evaluate and propose drainage solutions. All costs for engineering services, as well as the actual drainage work will be at the Client's expense. Unless the Client has a detailed Topographical survey completed, the above clause may come into effect.
- Painting and Staining
- Conduit and connections for electrical, gas, and all other utilities and services.
- Site Unknowns: Including, but not limited to, sub-surface conditions/obstacles that create unforeseen labor, equipment, material or disposal charges.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The purpose of this Hazard Mitigation Plan (HMP) is to reduce or eliminate risk to people and property from natural and technological or human-caused hazards. Every community faces different hazards and has different resources to draw upon in combating problems along with unique interests that influence the solutions to those problems. Because there are many ways to manage and mitigate the effects of hazards and many agencies that can help, every community must decide on the best approach for their unique situation. Planning is one of the best ways to develop a customized program for hazard mitigation.

A well-prepared HMP provides a framework for all interested parties to work together and reach consensus on identifying priority risks and selecting the preferred activities to mitigate those risks. The HMP planning process supports a comprehensive review of mitigation alternatives so that problems are addressed by the most appropriate and efficient solutions. It also enables communities to coordinate mitigation projects with other local goals and activities, preventing conflicts and reducing the costs of implementing each individual project.

Knox County and its incorporated communities, the City of Knoxville and Town of Farragut, followed the planning process prescribed by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and the 2017 Community Rating System (CRS) Coordinator's Manual. This plan was developed under the guidance of a Hazard Mitigation Planning Committee (HMPC) comprised of representatives of County, City, and Town departments, residents, and outside stakeholders. The HMPC conducted a risk assessment that identified and profiled hazards that pose a risk to the county and assessed each community's vulnerability to those hazards. The hazards addressed in this plan were chosen by the HMPC based on the previous plan, the 2018 Tennessee Hazard Mitigation Plan, and consideration of hazard frequency and potential severity of damage. The following hazards are identified and profiled in this plan:

- Dam/Levee Failure
- Drought
- Earthquake
- Expansive Soils
- Extreme Temperature
- Flooding
- Landslide
- Severe Storm
- Sinkhole
- Tornado
- Wildfire
- Winter Storm

The conclusions drawn from each individual hazard profile and vulnerability assessment were used to prioritize all potential hazards to Knox County using the Priority Risk Index (PRI). This method provides a standardized numeric value to each hazard for comparability. A higher PRI value indicates a hazard poses a higher risk to the community. The PRI is a weighted sum of values assigned across five categories: probability, impact, spatial extent, warning time, and duration. Each hazard is assigned a value between 1 and 4 for each category based on a defined set of criteria. Higher PRI scores reflect a higher priority rating. The table below summarizes the PRI results for the hazards addressed in this plan.

Summary of PRI Results

Hazard	Probability	Impact	Spatial Extent	Warning Time	Duration	PRI Score
Natural Hazards
Dam/Levee Failure	Unlikely	Limited	Small	More than 24 hrs	Less than 1 week	1.7
Drought	Possible	Minor	Small	More than 24 hrs	More than 1 week	2.1
Earthquake	Possible	Minor	Moderate	Less than 6 hrs	Less than 6 hrs	2.0

Hazard	Probability	Impact	Spatial Extent	Warning Time	Duration	PRI Score
Expansive Soils	Unlikely	Minor	Small	More than 24 hrs	More than 1 week	1.5
Extreme Temperature	Highly Likely	Limited	Large	More than 24 hrs	Less than 1 week	3
Flood	Highly Likely	Limited	Large	6 to 12 hrs	Less than 1 week	3.2
Landslide	Likely	Limited	Moderate	Less than 6 hrs	Less than 6 hrs	2.7
Severe Storm	Highly Likely	Limited	Large	6 to 12 hrs	Less than 6 hrs	3
Sinkhole	Highly Likely	Limited	Small	Less than 6 hrs	Less than 6 hrs	2.4
Tornado	Likely	Limited	Negligible	Less than 6 hrs	Less than 6 hrs	2.2
Wildfire	Highly Likely	Minor	Negligible	Less than 6 hrs	Less than 6 hrs	2.2
Winter Storm	Highly Likely	Minor	Moderate	More than 24 hrs	Less than 1 week	2.5

This plan also examines each community's capabilities in place to mitigate the identified hazards. Opportunities to expand and improve capabilities were considered when developing the mitigation strategy. The HMPC set shared goals and objectives and reviewed a wide range of mitigation alternatives to develop a mitigation action plan with appropriate, feasible actions for each community to implement. The plan goals are as follows:

Goal 1: Minimize, prevent or reduce the vulnerability of the people, property, environment, and economy of Knox County, City of Knoxville, and Town of Farragut to the impacts of natural hazards.

Goal 2: Increase citizen awareness and preparedness by providing information describing all types of hazards, methods for preventing damage, and how to respond.

Goal 3: Strengthen protection of critical facilities and infrastructure from natural hazards to create a safer, more sustainable community.

To achieve these goals, this plan identifies 30 mitigation actions. As part of the identification and prioritization of mitigation projects, emphasis was placed on the use of program and policy alternatives to help make Knox County less vulnerable to hazards while improving the economic, social, and environmental health of the community. The concept of multi-objective planning was emphasized in the development of the mitigation strategy, particularly in identifying ways to link hazard mitigation policies and programs with complimentary community goals related to disaster recovery, housing, economic development, recreational opportunities, transportation improvements, environmental quality, land development, and public health and safety.

1 INTRODUCTION

Section 1 provides a general introduction to hazard mitigation, a review of the purpose, scope, and authority of the plan, and a summary of the plan organization and contents. It comprises the following subsections:

- 1.2 Purpose and Need
- 1.3 Scope
- 1.4 Authority
- 1.5 Plan Organization
- 1.6 What's Changed in the Plan
- 1.7 Glossary

1.1 BACKGROUND

Each year in the United States, natural and human-caused hazards take the lives of dozens if not hundreds of people and injure thousands more. Nationwide, taxpayers pay billions of dollars annually to help communities, organizations, businesses, and individuals recover from disasters. Hazards are a part of our natural and built environment, and in many cases they will inevitably continue to occur. Many natural hazards are predictable, and much of the damage caused by these events can be reduced or even eliminated. There is much we can do to mitigate the impacts of hazards on our communities and prevent them from resulting in disasters.

As defined by FEMA, "hazard mitigation" means any sustained action taken to reduce or eliminate the long-term risk to life and property from a hazard event. Hazard mitigation planning is the process through which a community identifies its hazards, determines likely impacts, sets mitigation goals, and selects, prioritizes, and implements appropriate mitigation strategies. Every community faces different hazards, has different resources available to combat problems, and has different interests that influence the solutions to those problems. There is no one solution for managing or mitigating the effects of hazards. Planning is one of the best ways to develop a customized program that fits the unique needs and capabilities of a community.

A key component of local mitigation planning is to develop, adopt, and update a local hazard mitigation plan, which establishes the broad community vision and guiding principles for reducing hazard risk, and further proposes specific mitigation actions to eliminate or reduce identified vulnerabilities. A comprehensive mitigation strategy addresses both current and future hazard vulnerabilities, to account for how development and growth patterns may increase or decrease local vulnerability.

Hazard mitigation includes both structural measures (such as strengthening or protecting buildings and infrastructure from the destructive forces of potential hazards) and non-structural measures (such as the adoption of land use policies and the creation of public awareness programs). It is widely accepted that the most effective mitigation measures are implemented at the local government level, where decisions on the regulation and control of development are ultimately made.

Knox County and the jurisdictions of Farragut and Knoxville previously developed the 2018 Knox County Hazard Mitigation Plan. This update draws from the previous plan to reevaluate local hazard risks and vulnerabilities, review capabilities, and evaluate mitigation alternatives. Additionally, this update documents the efforts of each jurisdiction to implement identified actions and integrate hazard mitigation principles and practices into routine government activities and functions. The plan remains a living document, with implementation and evaluation procedures established to help achieve meaningful objectives and successful outcomes over time.

1.2 PURPOSE AND NEED

The purpose of the Knox County Multi-Jurisdictional Hazard Mitigation Plan is to identify, assess, and mitigate hazard risk to better protect the people and property within the County from the effects of natural and human-caused hazards. This plan documents progress on existing hazard mitigation planning efforts, updates the previous plan to reflect current conditions in the planning area including relevant hazards and vulnerabilities, increases public education and awareness about the plan and planning process, maintains grant eligibility for participating jurisdictions, maintains compliance with state and federal requirements for local hazard mitigation plans, and identifies and outlines strategies the participating jurisdictions will use to decrease vulnerability and increase resiliency.

A well-prepared hazard mitigation plan will allow for all possible activities to be reviewed and implemented so that the problem is addressed by the most appropriate and efficient solutions. It can also ensure that activities are coordinated with each other and with other goals and activities, preventing conflicts and reducing the costs of implementing each individual activity. This plan provides a framework for all interested parties to work together toward mitigation. It establishes the vision and guiding principles for reducing hazard risk and proposes specific mitigation actions to reduce identified vulnerabilities.

This plan is an update to the 2018 Knox County Hazard Mitigation Plan, which included participation from the county and its two jurisdictions involved in this plan update. The previous plan was approved by FEMA in June 2018. Knox County has remained committed to mitigation and the planning process, including ongoing implementation efforts and regular review of the changing exposure, vulnerability, and risk in the planning area to maintain the plan.

The planning area of this Multi-Jurisdictional Hazard Mitigation Plan update includes Knox County and its incorporated jurisdictions of the City of Knoxville and Town of Farragut. All participating jurisdictions will adopt this plan in accordance with standard local procedures. Copies of adoption resolutions will be provided in Appendix A.

Knox County and its participating jurisdictions, following the planning process prescribed by FEMA and under the guidance of a Hazard Mitigation Planning Committee (HMPC), conducted a risk assessment that identified hazards that pose a risk to the planning area, profiled each hazard, and assessed the planning area's vulnerability to these hazards. The hazards identified and profiled in this plan are as follows:

- Dam/Levee Failure
- Drought
- Earthquake
- Extreme Cold & Extreme Heat
- Flooding
- Landslide
- Severe Storm
- Sinkhole
- Tornado
- Wildfire
- Winter Storm

1.4 AUTHORITY

In an effort to reduce the nation's mounting natural disaster losses, the U.S. Congress passed the Disaster Mitigation Act of 2000 (DMA 2000) to invoke new and revitalized approaches to mitigation planning. Section 322 of DMA 2000 emphasizes the need for state and local government entities to closely coordinate on mitigation planning activities and makes the development of a hazard mitigation plan a specific eligibility requirement for any local government applying for federal mitigation grant funds. These funds include the Hazard Mitigation Grant Program (HMGP), the Building Resilient Infrastructure and Communities (BRIC) program, which replaced the Pre-Disaster Mitigation (PDM) program, and the Flood Mitigation Assistance (FMA) Program, all of which are administered by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) under the Department of Homeland Security. Communities with an adopted and federally approved hazard mitigation plan thereby become pre-positioned and more apt to receive available mitigation funds before and after the next disaster strikes.

This plan was prepared in coordination with FEMA Region IV and the Tennessee Emergency Management Agency (TEMA) to ensure that it meets all applicable federal and state planning requirements. This plan has been prepared in compliance with Section 322 of the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act (Stafford Act or the Act), 42 U.S.C. 5165, enacted under Section 104 of DMA 2000, Public Law 106-390 of October 30, 2000, as implemented at CFR 201.6 and 201.7 dated October 2007. A Local Mitigation Plan Review Tool, found in Appendix B, provides a summary of FEMA and SCEMD's current minimum standards of acceptability and notes the location within this plan where each planning requirement is met. This plan will be monitored, maintained, and updated in compliance with the above legislation.

This plan was developed in a joint and cooperative manner by members of a planning committee which included representatives of city and town departments, federal and state agencies, citizens, and other stakeholders. This plan will ensure that Knox County and its incorporated jurisdictions remain eligible for federal disaster assistance including FEMA's HMGP, BRIC, and FMA programs.

1.6 WHAT'S CHANGED IN THE PLAN

1.6.1 UPDATES AND REVISIONS BY SECTION

For this update, the plan format was revised to reflect the updated planning process. All plan content was reviewed and updated; information from the 2018 plan was incorporated into new plan sections where still relevant and appropriate. The following changes were made in reformatting the plan:

- The introduction was streamlined, and community profile information was separated into a new section.
- A new section was added to describe the planning process.
- The hazard identification was separated into a new section.
- Risk and vulnerability assessment information was consolidated into one section and presented within each hazard profile.
- A new section was added to describe plan implementation and maintenance procedures.

A summary of each plan section is provided below.

Section 1: Introduction provides background information on the plan and why it was developed.

Section 2: Planning Process provides a review of the 10-step process used to prepare this plan. This section identifies participants on the Hazard Mitigation Planning Committee (HMPC), describes how the public and other stakeholders were involved, summarizes the meetings held, and discusses the multi-jurisdictional planning approach.

Section 3: Community Profile provides a general overview of Knox County, including relevant geographic, demographic, environmental, and economic characteristics. Development and land use patterns are also discussed. This baseline information provides a snapshot of the planning area and helps local officials recognize those social, environmental, and economic factors that play a role in determining vulnerability to hazards.

The Risk Assessment is presented in two sections: Section 4: Hazard Identification and Section 5: Hazard Risk & Vulnerability Assessment. Together, these sections identify and assess the hazards that pose a threat to the planning area; rank and prioritize these hazards based on their frequency of occurrence, spatial extent, and potential impact of each hazard; and evaluate the vulnerability of the planning area to each hazard.

Section 6: Capability Assessment reviews Knox County's capacity to implement mitigation strategies and identifies opportunities to increase and enhance that capacity. Specific capabilities addressed in this section include planning and regulatory capability, administrative and technical capability, fiscal capability, outreach capability, and political capability. Information on capabilities was updated based on conversations with staff from each participating community.

Section 7: Mitigation Strategy presents the goals and objectives for hazard mitigation in Knox County, the action evaluation and prioritization process for considering mitigation alternatives, and the ultimate list of specific mitigation actions recommended for implementation by each participating jurisdiction. Updates to this section of the plan in particular reflect the changes in the communities' priorities for mitigation.

Section 8: Plan Implementation & Maintenance details the measures that the participating jurisdictions will take to ensure the plan's implementation as well as the procedures by which the plan will be regularly evaluated and updated to remain a current and useful planning document.

1.6.2 SUMMARY OF KEY UPDATES

This hazard mitigation plan update involved a comprehensive review and update of all information in the existing plan and an assessment of the success of the County and participating municipalities in evaluating, monitoring, and implementing the mitigation strategy. Only the information and data still valid from the existing plan was carried forward as applicable into this update. The following requirements were addressed during the development of this plan update:

- Consider changes in vulnerability due to action implementation;
- Document success stories where mitigation efforts have proven effective;
- Document areas where mitigation actions were not effective;
- Document any new hazards that may arise or were previously overlooked;
- Incorporate new data or studies on hazards and risks;
- Incorporate new capabilities or changes in capabilities;
- Incorporate growth and development-related changes to inventories; and
- Incorporate new action recommendations or changes in action prioritization.

Table 1-1 provides a comparison of the hazards addressed in the 2018 Tennessee Hazard Mitigation Plan and the 2018 Knox County plan and provides the final decision made by the HMPC as to which hazards were included in this updated 2024 Knox County Multi-Jurisdictional Hazard Mitigation Plan.

3) Review and incorporation, if appropriate, of existing plans, studies, reports, and technical information.
44 CFR §201.6(c)(1): The plan shall include the following:
1) Documentation of the planning process used to develop the plan, including how it was prepared, who

Section 2 provides a review of the process followed for the development of the Knox County Multi-Jurisdictional Hazard Mitigation Plan including a summary of the opportunities for public and stakeholder involvement and incorporation of existing plans and information. This section contains the following subsections:

- 2.1 Overview of Hazard Mitigation Planning
- 2.2 Preparing the Plan
- 2.3 Hazard Mitigation Planning Committee
- 2.4 Involving the Public
- 2.5 Involving Stakeholders

2.1 OVERVIEW OF HAZARD MITIGATION PLANNING

Local hazard mitigation planning is the process of organizing community resources, identifying and assessing hazard risks, and determining how to best minimize or manage those risks. This process culminates in a hazard mitigation plan that identifies specific mitigation actions, each designed to achieve both short-term planning objectives and a long-term community vision.

To ensure the functionality of a hazard mitigation plan, responsibility is assigned for each proposed mitigation action to a specific individual, department, or agency along with a schedule for implementation. Plan maintenance procedures are established for the routine monitoring of implementation progress, as well as the evaluation and enhancement of the mitigation plan itself. These plan maintenance procedures ensure that the plan remains a current, dynamic, and effective planning document over time that becomes integrated into the routine local decision-making process.

Communities that participate in hazard mitigation planning have the potential to accomplish many benefits, including:

- Saving lives and property
- Saving money
- Speeding recovery following disasters
- Reducing future vulnerability through wise development and post-disaster recovery and reconstruction
- Expediting the receipt of pre-disaster and post-disaster grant funding
- Demonstrating a firm commitment to improving community health and safety

Mitigation planning can produce long-term benefits by breaking the repetitive cycle of disaster loss. The goal of hazard mitigation is that the investments made before a hazard event will significantly reduce the demand for post-disaster assistance by lessening the need for emergency response, repair, recovery, and reconstruction. Furthermore, mitigation practices will enable local residents, businesses, and industries to re-establish themselves in the wake of a disaster, getting the community and the local economy back on track with less interruption.

Mitigation planning can also achieve multiple objectives in the community beyond risk reduction. For example, the acquisition of land in known hazard areas can preserve open space, maintain environmental health, and enhance recreational opportunities. Thus, it is essential that any local mitigation planning process be integrated with other concurrent local planning efforts and that the identification of mitigation strategies consider other community goals or initiatives that will complement or hinder implementation.

2.2 PREPARING THE PLAN

The planning process for preparing the Knox County Multi-Jurisdictional Hazard Mitigation Plan was based on DMA planning requirements and FEMA's associated guidance. This guidance is structured around a four-phase process:

1. Planning Process;
2. Risk Assessment;
3. Mitigation Strategy; and
4. Plan Maintenance.

Into this process, the County's planning consultant integrated a more detailed 10-step planning process used for FEMA's Community Rating System (CRS) program. Thus, the modified 10-step process used for this plan meets the requirements of six major programs: FEMA's Hazard Mitigation Grant Program (HMGP); Building Resilient Infrastructure and Communities (BRIC) Program; CRS Program; Flood Mitigation Assistance (FMA) Program; Severe Repetitive Loss Program; and new flood control projects authorized by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Table 2-1 shows how the 10-step CRS planning process aligns with the four phases of hazard mitigation planning pursuant to the Disaster Mitigation Act of 2000.

§201.6(c)(4)	Step 10. Implement, Evaluate and Revise the Plan

The process followed for the preparation of this plan, as outlined in Table 2-1 above, is as follows:

2.2.1. Phase I – Planning Process

PLANNING STEP 1: ORGANIZE TO PREPARE THE PLAN

With Knox County's commitment to participate in the DMA planning process, community officials worked to organize resources for development of the plan. An initial meeting was held with key community representatives to discuss the plan development process and multi-jurisdictional participation needs. The Knox County Deputy Floodplain Manager led the County's effort to reorganize and coordinate for the plan update. Consultants from WSP assisted the County through the planning process and preparation of the plan document.

PLANNING STEP 2: INVOLVE THE PUBLIC

Public involvement in the development of the plan was sought through open public meetings and workshops, a plan website, a survey, and other various methods, as detailed in Section 2.4.

PLANNING STEP 3: COORDINATE

The HMPC formed for development of the 2018 plan was reconvened for this plan update, with new members identified as needed to fill vacated positions and an expansion of the committee to incorporated additional stakeholder participants. More details on the HMPC are provided in Section 2.3. Stakeholder coordination was incorporated into the formation of the HMPC as well as through additional outreach methods, detailed in Section 2.5.

Coordination with Other Community Planning Efforts and Hazard Mitigation Activities

In addition to stakeholder involvement, coordination with other community planning efforts was also seen as integral to the planning process. Mitigation planning involves identifying existing policies, tools, and actions that will reduce a community's risk and vulnerability to hazards. Knox County and its participating jurisdictions use a variety of planning mechanisms, such as land use plans, subdivision regulations, building codes, and ordinances to guide growth and development. Outside entities have also developed plans that can inform or affect mitigation planning in the county. Integrating existing planning efforts, mitigation policies, and action strategies into this plan establishes a credible and comprehensive plan that ties into and supports other community programs. As detailed in Table 2.2, the development of this plan incorporated information from existing plans, studies, reports, and initiatives as well as other relevant data from neighboring communities and other jurisdictions.

These and other documents were reviewed and considered, as appropriate, during the collection of data to support the planning process and plan development, including the hazard identification, vulnerability assessment, capability assessment, and mitigation strategy development.

2.2.2. Phase II – Risk Assessment

PLANNING STEPS 4 AND 5: IDENTIFY/ASSESS THE HAZARD AND ASSESS THE PROBLEM

The HMPC completed a comprehensive effort to identify, document, and profile all hazards that have, or could have, an impact on the planning area. Geographic information systems (GIS) were used to display, analyze, and quantify hazards and vulnerabilities. A draft of the risk and vulnerability assessment was made available on the plan website for the HMPC, stakeholders, and the public to review and comment. A more detailed description of the risk assessment process and the results are provided in Section 4 Hazard Identification and Section 5 Hazard Risk & Vulnerability Assessment.

The HMPC also conducted a capability assessment to review and document the planning area's current capabilities to mitigate risk from and vulnerability to hazards. Meetings were held with representatives from each participating jurisdiction to review existing capabilities, check in on progress toward implementation of existing mitigation actions, and discuss capability updates. These meetings are documented in Appendix C. By collecting information about existing government programs, policies, regulations, ordinances, and emergency plans, the HMPC could assess those activities and measures already in place that contribute to mitigating some of the risks and vulnerabilities identified. This information can be found in Section 6 Capability Assessment.

2.2.3. Phase III – Mitigation Strategy

PLANNING STEPS 6 AND 7: SET GOALS AND REVIEW POSSIBLE ACTIVITIES

WSP facilitated brainstorming and discussion sessions with the HMPC that described the purpose and process of setting broad planning goals, a comprehensive range of mitigation alternatives, and a method of selecting and defending recommended mitigation actions using a series of prioritization criteria. This information is included in Section 7 Mitigation Strategy.

PLANNING STEP 8: DRAFT AN ACTION PLAN

A complete first draft of the plan was prepared based on input from the HMPC regarding the draft risk assessment and the goals and activities identified in Planning Steps 6 and 7. This draft was shared for HMPC, stakeholder, and public review and comment via the plan website. Comments were received from the HMPC and were integrated into the final draft, which was submitted to the Tennessee Emergency Management Agency (TEMA) and FEMA Region IV to review and approve, contingent upon final adoption by all participating jurisdictions.

2.2.4. Phase IV – Plan Maintenance

PLANNING STEP 9: ADOPT THE PLAN

To secure buy-in and officially implement the plan, the plan will be reviewed and adopted by all participating jurisdictions. Adoption is discussed in Section 8, and resolutions will be provided in Appendix A.

PLANNING STEP 10: IMPLEMENT, EVALUATE AND REVISE THE PLAN

Implementation and maintenance of the plan is critical to the overall success of hazard mitigation planning. Each jurisdiction participating in this plan is responsible for plan implementation within their jurisdiction. Elected officials, officials appointed to head County, City, and Town departments, and community staff are charged with leading implementation of various activities in the plan. Each participating jurisdiction will need to decide which action(s) to undertake first based on the priority assigned to the actions in the planning process and the availability of funding and administrative support. Regular monitoring and maintenance, led by Knox County Emergency Management and conducted by the HMPC, will ensure continued progress toward implementation.

Section 8 Plan Implementation & Maintenance provides the overall strategy for plan implementation and maintenance and outlines the method and schedule for monitoring, updating, and evaluating the plan. Section 8 also discusses incorporating the plan into existing planning mechanisms and how to address continued public involvement.

2.3 HAZARD MITIGATION PLANNING COMMITTEE

As with the previous plan, this Hazard Mitigation Plan was developed under the guidance of a Hazard Mitigation Planning Committee (HMPC). The HMPC represents a community-based planning team made up of representatives from various municipal departments from all of the participating jurisdictions as well as other key stakeholders identified to serve as critical partners in the planning process. To reconvene the committee, an email was sent to contacts from the previous planning effort. Where there were vacancies on the committee, new members were invited to participate. Additional stakeholder representatives were also invited to participate on the committee to promote a wider range of expertise and points of view throughout the planning process.

For the Knox County HMPC, “participation” meant the following:

- Providing facilities for meetings;
- Attending and participating in the HMPC meetings;
- Collecting and providing requested data (as available);
- Providing information on local capabilities;
- Providing an update on previously adopted mitigation actions;
- Managing administrative details;
- Making decisions on plan process and content;
- Identifying mitigation actions for the plan;
- Reviewing and providing comments on plan drafts;
- Informing the public, local officials, and other interested parties about the planning process and providing opportunity for them to comment on the plan;
- Coordinating and participating in the public input process; and
- Coordinating the formal adoption of the plan by local governing bodies.

During the planning process, the HMPC members communicated through video conference meetings, email, and telephone conversations. This continued communication ensured that coordination was ongoing throughout the entire planning process despite the fact that not all HMPC members could be present at every committee meeting. Additionally, draft documents were distributed via a plan update website so that the HMPC members could easily access and review them and provide comments.

Members of the HMPC are listed in Table 2-3 by jurisdiction and agency. Stakeholder representatives, who provided input to support all jurisdictions in the planning process, included critical facilities, non-profits and churches active in disasters, businesses, and other public organizations.

2.3.1 HMPC MEETINGS

The formal HMPC meetings followed the 10 CRS Planning Steps. These meetings were essential for facilitating discussion, gaining consensus, and initiating data collection efforts with local government staff, community officials, and other identified stakeholders. More importantly, the meetings and workshops prompted continuous input and feedback from relevant participants throughout the drafting stages of the plan. The meeting dates, locations, and topics discussed are summarized in Table 2-4. More details on each meeting, including agendas, minutes, and sign-in sheets for the HMPC meetings are included in Appendix C. All HMPC meetings were open to the public; however, separate public meetings were also held and are summarized in Table 2-5.

In many cases, routine discussions and additional meetings were held by local staff to accomplish planning tasks specific to their department or agency. These meetings were informal and are not documented here.

In addition to the formal HMPC meetings, the HMPC representatives for each participating community convened additional staff and stakeholders for community-specific data and input collection meetings. These meetings covered topics related to risk and vulnerability, capability, and mitigation action reporting. Table 2.5 summarizes the meeting dates for each community. Minutes from these meetings are provided in Appendix C.

2.3.2 MULTI-JURISDICTIONAL PARTICIPATION AND SPECIAL CONSIDERATIONS

This plan update includes all of Knox County's incorporated municipalities. The DMA planning regulations and guidance stress that to satisfy multi-jurisdictional participation requirements, each local government seeking FEMA approval of their mitigation plan must participate in the planning effort in the following ways:

- Participate in the process as part of the HMPC;
- Detail where within the planning area the risk differs from that facing the entire area;
- Identify potential mitigation actions; and
- Formally adopt the plan.

To satisfy multi-jurisdictional participation requirements, each participating jurisdiction was required to perform the following tasks:

- Designate representatives for the HMPC to participate in mitigation planning meetings;
- Report on the status of existing mitigation projects; and
- Update their local mitigation action plan.

Stakeholder groups and outside agencies were also involved in the planning effort and participated on the HMPC. In developing the mitigation action plan, these stakeholders were encouraged to support targeted mitigation efforts within their expertise that benefit several or all jurisdictions.

As a basis for each jurisdiction identifying their own mitigation strategies, jurisdiction-specific information was developed on current conditions, assets and exposure, risk and vulnerability, and capability. Current conditions information is provided in Section 3 Community Profile, which has a countywide summary of geographic and demographic data. More specific data is presented in each jurisdictional annex. Asset and exposure data is detailed by jurisdiction in Section 5.3, with more details provided in the annexes. The risk assessment also provides jurisdictional specific vulnerability data, and at the end of each hazard profile, a hazard summary table provides a discussion of jurisdictional differences and a Priority Risk Index (PRI) rating by jurisdiction to note any variations in risk across the planning area. The annexes also summarize jurisdictional specifics of risk and vulnerability for all natural hazards. Jurisdictional-level capability information is summarized in Section 6 and in the annexes.

2.4 INVOLVING THE PUBLIC

An important component of any mitigation planning process is public participation. Individual citizen and community-based input provides the entire planning team with a greater understanding of local concerns and increases the likelihood of successfully implementing mitigation actions by developing community "buy-in" from those directly affected by the decisions of public officials. As residents become more involved in decisions that affect their safety, they are more likely to gain a greater appreciation of the hazards present in their community and take the steps necessary to reduce their impact. Public awareness is a key component of any community's overall mitigation strategy aimed at making a home, neighborhood, school, business, or entire planning area safer from the potential effects of hazards.

Public involvement in the development of the plan was sought using various methods including open public meetings, an interactive plan website, a public participation survey, and by making copies of draft plan documents available for public review online. Additionally, HMPC meetings were open to the public.

2.4.1 PUBLIC MEETINGS

All public meetings were advertised on the plan website and on the County's website and social media. Copies of meeting announcements are provided in Appendix C. The public meetings held during the planning process are summarized in Table 2-5.

Meeting Title	Meeting Topic	Meeting Date	Meeting Location
Public Meeting	1) Introduction to DMA and CRS requirements and the planning process 2) Trends in disasters and justification for planning 3) Review of HMPC responsibilities and the project schedule	November 15, 2023	Virtual Webinar

2.4.2 OUTREACH EFFORTS

The HMPC employed a variety of public outreach methods including established public information mechanisms and resources within the community. Table 2.7 details public outreach efforts employed during the preparation of this plan.

Table 2-7 Public Outreach Efforts

Effort
Public survey to rank mitigation actions
Draft Plan available for public review and comment

A public survey was made available in (12/09/2024) and remained open for response through (12/20/2024). The public survey requested public input into the hazard mitigation plan update planning process, including the prioritization of hazards and the identification of goals and mitigation activities to lessen the risk and impact of future hazard events. The survey questions are shown in Appendix C along with response data for each question. The survey was available on the plan website and publicized through local government and stakeholder websites and social media. In total, twenty-four survey responses were received.

2.5 INVOLVING STAKEHOLDERS

In addition to representatives of each participating jurisdiction, the HMPC included a variety of stakeholders. Stakeholders on the HMPC included representatives from the Red Cross, Knoxville Utilities Board (KUB), Knoxville-Knox County Planning Commission, Rural Fire, and the Knoxville Chamber of Commerce. Input from additional stakeholders, including neighboring communities, state agencies, other educational institutions, non-profits, and the business community, was solicited through an invitation to provide data and input, review the draft hazard identification and risk assessment and the draft plan, attend planning meetings, and otherwise participate in the planning process. A list of stakeholders invited to participate in the planning process is provided in Appendix C.

3 COMMUNITY PROFILE

Section 3 provides an overview of the current conditions in Knox County.

3.1 PLANNING AREA OVERVIEW

Knox County includes three physiographic provinces-the Cumberland Plateau, Valley and Ridge, and Blue Ridge. It is located within the valley and ridge physiographic region. The region comes down from north-east Tennessee and Virginia and a band extends southwest with the Tennessee River through Chattanooga, Tennessee. The county features the confluence of three rivers: the French Broad, Holston, and Tennessee.

In fact, the French Broad River and the Holston River converge in eastern Knoxville to form the Tennessee River. The Fort Loudon Reservoir is located along the Tennessee River, and while it begins in Lenior City, TN, it extends 55 miles upstream to the confluence of the Holston and French Broad Rivers in Knox County. It provides hydroelectric power to the region and flood control.

Knox County is located within the Upper Tennessee River Basin. The Upper Tennessee River Basin encompasses about 21,390 square miles and flows through portions of Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, and Georgia. The county features part of the Tennessee, Holston, French Broad, and Clinch River watersheds as well as watersheds tied to local creeks like Turkey, Lower Bull Run, and Flat creeks. Watershed basins are shown in Figure 3.6.

- I-40
- I-140
- I-640
- I-75
- I-275

Federal and state highway routes in the County include:

- U.S. 129

- U.S. 11W
- U.S. 70
- S.R. 33
- S.R. 168
- S.R. 169
- S.R. 332

I-40 and I-640 are registered with the National Hazardous Materials Route Registry. Hazardous materials can be transported along these routes subject to restrictions.

PUBLIC TRANSIT

Knox County has three public transit services. Its primary service, Knoxville Area Transit (KAT), operates 20 fixed routes and serves around 3 million passengers annually. Additionally, the East Tennessee Human Resource Agency and the Knoxville-Knox County Community Action Committee offer demand-responsive transportation services that must be booked in advance.

AIRPORTS

The Metropolitan Knoxville Airport Authority runs two airports that serve the Knoxville Metropolitan area:

- The Tyson McGhee Airport is located in Blount County, 12 miles south of Downtown Knoxville. It serves the commercial airline industry, air cargo, military aviation, and general aviation.
- The Knoxville Downtown Island Airport is less than 3 miles from downtown Knoxville and serves private and corporate aircraft.

FUTURE TRANSPORTATION SYSTEMS AND COUNTY TRANSPORTATION PRIORITIES

The County's comprehensive plan, passed in April 2024, estimates that the county (unincorporated area) will add 105,000 people by 2045. To accommodate this growth, the plan's primary transportation goal is to create a safe and connected transportation system that provides options. It lists improving network connectivity, updating street standards, and providing multimodal facilities as priorities.

3.4 CULTURAL, HISTORIC AND NATURAL RESOURCES

Knox County has several natural amenities, including House Mountain State Natural Area, Seven Islands State Birding Parking, and Sharps Ridge Memorial Park. It is located less than 40 miles from the Great Smoky Mountains, and Knox County is considered part of the Appalachian region.

The county has several museums, art centers, and historical sites. The National Register of Historic Places (NRHP) has 120 listings in Knox County, including 22 historic districts and sites.

3.4.1 PARKS, PRESERVES, AND CONSERVATION

The Knox County Parks and Recreation Department maintains 51 parks and recreation facilities throughout the county. The City of Knoxville oversees 92 parks and recreation facilities, and the Town of Farragut manages 5 parks. These parks vary in size and meet different recreational needs.

Knox County is also home to one state park, the Seven Islands State Birding Park. Seven Islands contains 420 acres along the French Broad River and serves as a wildlife refuge. The park features 180 species of birds who inhabit its diverse grasslands.

3.4.2 WATER BODIES AND FLOODPLAINS

Natural floodplains in the county include wetland areas and low-lying land along the major rivers around the county. Natural floodplains reduce damage by allowing flood waters to spread out over large areas, aiding infiltration into the ground, reducing flow rates and acting as a flood storage area to reduce downstream peaks.

The Holston and French Broad Rivers meet to form the Tennessee River in the eastern part of the County. Additional detail on the wetland systems associated with these waterbodies is provided in the subsections below.

NATURAL AND BENEFICIAL FLOODPLAIN FUNCTIONS

Floodplains in riverine areas perform natural functions that cannot be replicated elsewhere. When kept open and free of development, floodplains provide the necessary flood water conveyance and flood water storage needed by a stream or river. When the floodplain is able to perform its natural function, flood velocities and peak flows are reduced downstream. Natural floodplains reduce wind and wave impacts and their vegetation stabilizes soils during flooding.

Floodplains in their natural state provide many beneficial functions beyond flood reduction. Water quality is improved in areas where natural cover acts as a filter for runoff and overbank flows; sediment loads and impurities are also minimized. Natural floodplains moderate water temperature, reducing the possibility of adverse impacts on aquatic plants and animals. Floodplains can act as recharge areas for groundwater and reduce the frequency and duration of low flows of surface water. They provide habitat for diverse species of flora and fauna, some of which cannot live anywhere else. They are particularly important as breeding and feeding areas.

WETLANDS

Wetlands benefit the ecosystem by storing, changing, and transmitting surface water and groundwater. Through these processes, pollution is removed, nutrients are recycled, groundwater is recharged, and biodiversity is enhanced.

THREATENED AND ENDANGERED SPECIES

The Tennessee Department of Environment & Conservation maintains a regular listing of threatened species, endangered species, species of concern, and candidate species for Tennessee's counties. Knox County has 31 species that are listed as threatened or endangered. Table 3-1 below shows the species identified as threatened, endangered, or other classification for Knox County.

The Town of Farragut grew around 13%, while the City of Knoxville saw a more modest rise in population of around 7%. Knox County and Farragut slightly exceeded the state's overall population growth of approximately 8%. Table 3-2 provides the County's population counts from 2010 and 2020 according to Decennial Census data as well as the 2022 population estimate according to 5-year American Community Survey data.

3.6 ECONOMY

Knox County has a diverse economy that features healthcare, education, retail, and manufacturing jobs. The county is home to two hospital systems – Covenant Health and University of Tennessee Medical Center. It also boasts the flagship campus of the University of Tennessee. The Tennessee Valley Authority, the nation's largest public power provider, is in Knoxville, as well as the Pilot Flying J, the nation's largest truck stop chain. Other notable businesses headquartered in Knox County include the wholesale grocer, the H.T. Hackney Company, movie theater chain, Regal Cinemas, and Bush Brothers, the canned goods company.

3.6.1 WAGES AND EMPLOYMENT

The 2022 American Community Survey indicates that the median household income for Knox County is $68,580, which is close to the state median household income of $64,035. At $135,725 the Town of Farragut has a significantly higher median household income than the other jurisdictions, while the City of Knoxville has the lowest at $48,309. The per capita income for the County is $39,608, which is slightly higher than the state statistic. Knox County and Farragut's poverty rates are significantly lower than the state's (14%). However, almost a quarter of the population in Knoxville lives below the poverty line. The percentage of the population that lacks health insurance across the county is about 7%, slightly lower than the state (10.1%). The percentage of Knoxvillians that lack health insurance is similar to the state's, and Farragut has a significantly low rate of uninsured residents at under 3%. These patterns start to highlight some areas of social vulnerability of the county's population.

The largest industry sector in the county and its jurisdictions in 2022 was "educational services, and healthcare and social assistance." The presence of a major university and robust health care system likely account for the dominance of this industry. The "retail trade" and the "professional, scientific, and management, and administrative and waste management services" industry each account for over 10% of the area's employment. The "arts, entertainment, and recreation, and accommodation and food services" has a larger presence (12.6%) in the City of Knoxville.

3.7 HOUSING

Table 3-8 provides details on housing characteristics for the County and its jurisdictions. The American Community Survey estimates that there are 110,072 housing units in Knox County, of which 94.3% are occupied. Renter-occupied units comprise 21.4% of the housing stock in Knox County, lower than the State value (33%). The Town of Farragut has a low rate of renter-occupied units at 13.8%, and the City of Knoxville has a significantly higher percentage of renters at 53.8%. A high percentage of renters is an indicator of higher pre- and post-disaster vulnerability as renters often do not have the financial resources of homeowners, are more transient, are less likely to have information about or access to recovery aid following a disaster and are more likely to require temporary shelter following a disaster (Cutter, et al. 2003).

Knox County experienced an 11.2% percent increase in housing units between 2010-2020, which is slightly higher than the state (7.2%). At $248,200, the median home value for Knox County is higher than the state's ($232,100) and the City of Knoxville ($184,200). The Town of Farragut has the highest home value at $463,300, almost twice as high as Knox County's average and more than 2.5 times Knoxville's.

Detached single-family homes comprise most of the housing units (76.3%) in Knox County. The City of Knoxville has a lower percentage of single-family homes at 54.4%. 24.2% of housing units in Knoxville are 10+ apartment buildings. The Town of Farragut has substantially less housing diversity, and the vast majority (87.6%) of units are single-family. The County has the highest percentage of mobile home units among the three jurisdictions at 6.5%, while the City of Knoxville is at 1% and Farragut has 0%. Mobile home units can be more vulnerable to certain hazards, such as tornadoes and windstorms, especially if they are not properly secured with tie downs. Almost 10% of households in Knoxville do not have access to a car, while very few households in Farragut and the County lack a car. Without a car, it can be more difficult to evacuate during an emergency.

Source: U.S. Census Bureau 2010 Decennial Census, 2020 Decennial Census, American Community Survey 2018-2022 5-Year Estimates. Renters are cost-burdened if they spend 30% or more of their income on housing according to HUD.
*Data is inclusive of Knoxville and Farragut.

In 2022, the median cost for rent in Knox County was $1,097 compared to the state median of $1,047. Farragut's rent was significant higher at $1,525, while Knoxville's was slightly lower than Knox County's at $1,043. While rent in Farragut is substantially more than Knoxville and Knox County, fewer renters are cost-burdened (31.6%) than in the county and Knoxville. Approximately 41% of all renters in Knox County and 51% of renters in Knoxville were paying 30% or more of their income on housing. The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) defines those who pay more than 30 percent of their income for housing as cost burdened, indicating they may have difficulty affording necessities such as food, clothing, transportation, and medical care. This population could also be especially vulnerable when responding to a disaster.

3.8 SOCIAL VULNERABILITY

Social vulnerability refers to a community's capacity to prepare for and respond to the stress of hazardous events ranging from natural disasters, such as tornadoes or disease outbreaks, to human caused threats, such as toxic chemical spills. That is to say that even if different groups share similar exposure to a hazard, some groups may have a greater capacity to anticipate, cope, and recover from a disaster than others. Social vulnerability often refers to the population characteristics that have historically made certain groups of people more or less at risk when they are exposed to the impacts of a hazard event (Cutter, 2003; Berke et al., 2019). Common and determining characteristics include age, gender, income, race, and ethnicity, and language capacity (Cutter et al., 2003; Berke et al., 2015). However, additional characteristics can include social networks, education, cultural knowledge, and political power (Otto et al., 2017). Social vulnerability considerations were included in this plan update to identify areas across the County that might be more vulnerable to hazard impacts based on a number of factors.

The Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) has developed a social vulnerability index (SVI) as a way to measure the resilience of communities when confronted by external stresses such as natural or human-caused disasters or disease outbreaks. The SVI is broken down to the census tract level and provides insight into particularly vulnerable populations to assist emergency planners and public health officials identify communities more likely to require additional support before, during, and after a hazardous event. The SVI indicates the relative vulnerability within census tracts based on 15 social factors: poverty, unemployment, income, education, age, disability, household composition, minority status, language, housing type, and transportation access. Higher social vulnerability is an indicator that a community may be limited in its ability to respond to and recover from hazard events. Therefore, using this SVI information can help the County and jurisdictions to prioritize pre-disaster aid, allocate emergency preparedness and response resources, and plan for the provision of recovery support.

Figure 3-7 displays social vulnerability information for Knox County and its jurisdictions by census tract according to most recent data and analysis by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). Results are presented via a score that ranges from 0 (lowest vulnerability) to 1 (highest vulnerability). The SVI score for the entire county is 0.3738, which indicates low to medium vulnerability. Within the county, the most vulnerable residents live within the City of Knoxville and the area immediately surrounding the city boundaries. There are pockets of moderate to high vulnerability southwest of the City of Knoxville. The Town of Farragut demonstrates extremely low vulnerability.

NON-ENGLISH-SPEAKING POPULATION

About 2.1% of residents in Knox County speak English "less than very well." In Knoxville, this figure is slightly higher at 3.3%, and it is lower in Farragut at 1.3%. Spanish is the most prominent language spoken other than English in Knox County and Knoxville. However, Indo-European languages are the most common in Farragut at 3.6%. Overall, Knox County and its jurisdictions contain a minimal non-English proficient population.

In its justification of SVI indicators, the CDC explains that disaster communication is made increasingly difficult for those with limited English proficiency. This difficulty is especially true in communities whose first language is neither English nor Spanish, and for whom translators and/or accurate translations of advisories may be scarce.

SPECIAL NEEDS POPULATION

According to the American Community Survey, an estimated 29,732 residents, or 11.3%, of Knox County's population identify as having some form of disability including hearing, vision, cognitive, ambulatory, self-care, and/or independent living difficulties. 2,031 residents (8.6%) in Farragut and 26,968 (14.2%) Knoxvillians identify as having a disability. Lack of public transportation options could pose significant issues for special needs population during an emergency or disaster.

HOMELESS POPULATION

In 2018, for the first time, HUD's Annual Homeless Assessment Report included the number of people experiencing homelessness who were sheltering in locations specifically for people displaced by presidentially declared natural disasters. The report found 3,864 displaced and homeless individuals. Additionally, the National Low Income Housing Coalition explains that people experiencing homelessness are particularly vulnerable during natural disasters and are often subject to discrimination during recovery. Resources are often prioritized for those displaced during disasters, despite the case that there is no difference between those that were made homeless by a hazard event and those who otherwise lack stable housing.

The City of Knoxville in partnership with Knox County recorded 1,178 persons experiencing homelessness in their last Point-in-Time count in February 2022. More recently, the Knoxville/Knox County Homeless Management Information System (KnoxHMIS) identified a higher number. For the second quarter of 2024, KnoxHMIS reported an average of 1,914 unhoused individuals. There are several homeless shelters in the county, as well organizations providing support to those experiencing homelessness.

POVERTY

According to 2018-2022 American Community Survey estimates, 12.4% of the total Knox County population was below the poverty level. Of the county's two jurisdictions, Farragut has a very low poverty rate of 2.4%, while in Knoxville poverty impacts almost a quarter of the city's population (24.9%). In its justification of SVI indicators, the CDC explains that economically disadvantaged populations are disproportionately affected by disasters. Low-income residents are less likely to have the income or assets necessary to prepare for a possible disaster or to recover after a disaster (Cutter et al. 2003). For low-income households, lost or damaged property is proportionately more expensive to replace, especially without homeowner's or renter's insurance. Similarly, unemployed individuals may not have access to benefits plans that provide income and health cost assistance in the event of injury. Additionally, housing quality and access is closely tied to socio-economic status. Low-income households may live in less structurally sound houses or mobile homes, which are particularly vulnerable to strong storm or earthquakes.

MINORITY STATUS

Knoxville has a significantly higher minority population (25.1%) than Farragut (7.7%) or Knox County (11.1%). The CDC indicates that, "social and economic marginalization of certain racial and ethnic groups, including real estate discrimination, has rendered minority populations more vulnerable at all stages of disaster and hazard events." Similarly, the Urban Sustainability Network explains that, in the U.S., race is a major determinant of life outcomes. Like housing, it is inextricably tied to income and wealth. Further, race is a reliable predictor of hazard risk, including vulnerability to many of the hazards projected to intensify under changing climate conditions.

Historical and current discriminatory practices have resulted in the inequitable distribution of resources and access to opportunities for many lower-income populations and communities of color. The result is that social inequities can increase disproportionate risk and vulnerability in these communities.

It should be noted that 2.3% of the County's population and 6.3% of Knoxville and Farragut's populations include non-U.S. citizens; however, this number is likely under-reported. Immigrants and undocumented residents often face increased vulnerability during and after hazard events. Challenges include limited language proficiency; limited knowledge of local environmental conditions, including natural hazards, legal framework and institutions, and markets; limited social networks; lack of trust in authorities; restrictions on mobility; and discrimination. All of these challenges can make it difficult for immigrant communities to access necessary information, resources, and opportunities to prepare, cope with, and recover from hazard events.

3.9 LAND USE

Land use data was obtained from the 2021 National Land Cover Database to establish current land use by acreage for each jurisdiction.

KNOX COUNTY

Greater than half of the land area of Knox County is undeveloped and largely consists of deciduous forest followed by pastures and mixed forested areas. The developed area of Knox County is primarily single-family homes (represented by low and medium intensity development) and open space that could include large-lot single-family homes, parks, recreation, and additional open space or vegetation within housing developments. Only 3% of the developed area in Knox County is dedicated to high intensity uses such as apartment complexes and commercial/industrial development.

Knox County's comprehensive plan, passed in 2024, guides growth and land use in the county. The plan provides place types that lay out a vision and goals for the County in terms of future development and how various areas of the County should look, feel and operate in the future. The comprehensive plan includes a future land use map that outlines types of uses and building and developing forms that should be encouraged in different areas throughout the County. A map of the areas is shown in Figure 3.8 below.

KNOXVILLE

Around 79% of Knoxville's land area is developed. Like Knox County, the majority of Knoxville's developed area consists of primarily single-family homes (low and medium intensity development) and developed open space. It does have the greatest share of high intensity development – apartments and commercial/industrial uses – of the three jurisdictions at 10%. Outside of development, its land area primarily includes deciduous forest and open water.

For several years, the City of Knoxville shared a comprehensive plan with Knox County. Knox County passed a new comprehensive plan in 2024, while the City of Knoxville continues to implement the 2010 plan it shared with Knox County. The Knoxville-Knox County General Plan 2033 includes future land use types that outline the type and intensity of appropriate development. The future land use map from the plan is shown in Figure 3.9 below.

FARRAGUT

Similar to Knoxville, Farragut's land area is largely developed at about 78%. Single-family homes and developed open space make up most of its built environment. Very little (3%) of its development pattern is dedicated to higher intensity uses like apartments and commercial development. Its undeveloped land primarily consists of pasture area and deciduous forest.

In its 2021 comprehensive plan, the Town of Farragut states that its few vacant parcels will likely be the "easiest to develop and will have the highest priority in the market." The town uses the future land use map to ensure that new development goes beyond traditional suburban development patterns and includes a range of housing options and mixed-use opportunities. The plan's future land use map is shown below.

3.10 GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT TRENDS

According to the Tennessee State Data Center, Knox County is projected to reach a population of 569,734 by 2040, which represents a 15.9% increase from its 2020 Census population. Population projections for Knoxville and Farragut are not available. However, given that the county's population projection is inclusive of its municipalities, it can be assumed that Knoxville and Farragut's populations are expected to increase.

4 HAZARD IDENTIFICATION

44 CFR §201.6(c)(2): [The plan shall include] A risk assessment that provides the factual basis for activities proposed in the strategy to reduce losses from identified hazards. Local risk assessments must provide sufficient information to enable the jurisdiction to identify and prioritize appropriate mitigation actions to reduce losses from identified hazards.
Requirement §201.6(c)(2)(i): [The risk assessment shall include a] description of the type…of all natural hazards that can affect the jurisdiction.

This section documents the Hazard Identification process for the development of the Knox County Multi-Jurisdictional Hazard Mitigation Plan. It contains the following subsections:

- 4.1 Overview
- 4.2 Hazard Identification
- 4.3 Past Occurrences and Disaster Declarations
- 4.4 Hazard Evaluation
- 4.5 Hazard Identification Results

4.1 OVERVIEW

Knox County is vulnerable to a wide range of natural and human-caused hazards. FEMA regulations and guidance under the Disaster Mitigation Act of 2000 (DMA 2000) require, at a minimum, an evaluation of a full range of natural hazards, but evaluation of human-caused hazards is not required for plan approval. However, Knox County has included an assessment of both types of hazards in this plan in order to comprehensively evaluate risk and mitigation opportunities.

The hazard identification process was as follows:

1. The HMPC created a list of the full range of hazards to be considered for inclusion in this plan update, detailed in Section 4.2.
2. Past hazard occurrences and disaster declarations in the planning area were reviewed, as detailed in Section 4.3.
3. Based on preliminary information including past occurrences, disaster declarations, information from the previous plan, and other data, each hazard was reviewed to determine whether it was significant to the planning area and warranted further assessment, as summarized in Section 4.4.
4. The HMPC produced the final list of hazards to be included in this plan update, provided in Section 4.5.

4.2 FULL RANGE OF HAZARDS CONSIDERED

To identify hazards relevant to the planning area, the HMPC began with a review of the list of hazards identified in the 2023 Tennessee Hazard Mitigation Plan and the 2018 Knox County Hazard Mitigation Plan as summarized in Table 4-1. The HMPC used these lists to identify a full range of hazards for potential inclusion in this plan update and to ensure consistency across these planning efforts. All hazards on the below list were evaluated for inclusion in this plan update.

Table 4-1 Full Range of Hazards Evaluated

4.3 PAST OCCURRENCES AND DISASTER DECLARATIONS

The HMPC evaluated the above list of hazards using existing hazard data, past disaster declarations, local knowledge, and information from the 2023 State Plan and the 2018 Knox County Plan to determine the significance of these hazards to the planning area. Significance was measured in general terms and focused on key criteria such as frequency and resulting damage, which includes deaths and injuries, as well as property and economic damage.

The HMPC also researched past events that resulted in a federal and/or state emergency or disaster declaration for Knox County in order to identify significant hazards. Federal and/or state disaster declarations may be granted when the Governor certifies that the combined local, county and state resources are insufficient, and that the situation is beyond their recovery capabilities. When the local government's capacity has been surpassed, a state disaster declaration may be issued, allowing for the provision of state assistance. If the disaster is so severe that both the local and state government capacities are exceeded, a federal emergency or disaster declaration may be issued allowing for the provision of federal assistance.

Records of designated counties for FEMA major disaster declarations start in 1964. Since then, Knox County has been designated in six major disaster declarations, as detailed in Table 4-2, and thirteen emergency declarations, as detailed in Table 4-3.

5 HAZARD RISK & VULNERABILITY ASSESSMENT

44 CFR §201.6(c)(2)(i): [The risk assessment shall include a] description of the…location and extent of all natural hazards that can affect the jurisdiction. The plan shall include information on previous occurrences of hazard events and on the probability of future hazard events.

44 CFR §201.6(c)(2)(ii): [The risk assessment shall include a] description of the jurisdiction's vulnerability to the hazards described in paragraph (c)(2)(i) of this section. This description shall include an overall summary of each hazard and its impact on the community. Plans approved after October 1, 2008 must also address NFIP insured structures that have been repetitively damaged by floods. The plan should describe vulnerability in terms of:

A) The types and numbers of existing and future buildings, infrastructure, and critical facilities located in the identified hazard areas;

(B): An estimate of the potential dollar losses to vulnerable structures identified in paragraph (c)(2)(ii)(A) of this section and a description of the methodology used to prepare the estimate; and

(C): Providing a general description of land uses and development trends within the community so that mitigation options can be considered in future land use decisions.

- 5.15 Conclusions on Hazard Risk & Vulnerability

5.1 OVERVIEW

As defined by FEMA, risk is a combination of hazard, vulnerability, and exposure. "It is the impact that a hazard would have on people, services, facilities, and structures in a community and refers to the likelihood of a hazard event resulting in an adverse condition that causes injury or damage." This section presents detailed hazard profiles for each of the hazards identified in Section 4 as significant enough to warrant further evaluation. Each hazard profile includes a general description of the hazard, its location, extent, past occurrences, and the probability of future occurrences as well as a detailed vulnerability assessment identifying the assets at risk and potential loss estimates. Each profile also includes specific items noted by members of the HMPC as they relate to unique historical or anecdotal hazard information for the planning area.

The hazard risk assessment includes all of Knox County and its incorporated municipalities, the City of Knoxville and Town of Farragut.

The risk assessment process identifies and profiles relevant hazards and assesses the exposure of lives, property, infrastructure, and other assets to these hazards. The process allows for a better understanding of the potential risks natural hazards pose in the county and provides a framework for developing and prioritizing mitigation actions to reduce risk from future hazard events. This risk assessment followed the methodology described in the FEMA publication Understanding Your Risks—Identifying Hazards and Estimating Losses (FEMA 386-2, 2002), which breaks the assessment down to a four-step process:

5.2 METHODOLOGY

The Disaster Mitigation Act of 2000 requires that the HMPC evaluate the risks associated with each of the hazards identified in the planning process. Each hazard was evaluated to determine where it may occur, the severity of potential events, records of past events, the probability of future occurrences, and potential impacts from the hazard. A vulnerability assessment was conducted for each hazard using quantitative and/or qualitative methods depending on the available data, to determine its potential to cause significant losses to life or property. A consequence analysis was also completed for each hazard. Each hazard is profiled in the following format:

HAZARD DESCRIPTION

This section provides a description of the hazard, including discussion of its duration and speed of onset or warning time, as well as any secondary effects followed by details specific to the planning area.

LOCATION

This section includes information on the hazard's physical extent, describing where the hazard can occur, with mapped boundaries where applicable.

EXTENT

This section includes information on the hazard extent in terms of its potential magnitude and describes how the severity of the hazard can be measured. Where available, the most severe event on record is used as a frame of reference.

HISTORICAL OCCURRENCES

This section contains information on historical events, including the location and consequences of past events on record within or near the planning area.

PROBABILITY OF FUTURE OCCURRENCE

This section gauges the likelihood of future occurrences based on past events and existing data. The frequency is determined by dividing the number of events observed by the number of years on record and multiplying by 100. This provides the percent chance of the event happening in any given year according to historical occurrence (e.g. 10 winter storm events over a 20-year period equates to a 50 percent chance of experiencing a severe winter storm in any given year). Unless otherwise noted in the hazard profile, a 20-year period of record is used for determining probability to provide a uniform definition of probability and to reflect current conditions, including recent trends driven by climate change. Longer timeframes are used for hazards with significantly longer average recurrence intervals, such as earthquake, or where data limitations otherwise restrict the period of record.

The likelihood of future occurrences is categorized into one of the classifications as follows:

- Highly Likely –100 percent chance of occurrence
- Likely – Between 10 and 100 percent chance of occurrence (recurrence interval of 10 years or less)
- Possible – Between 1 and 10 percent chance of occurrence (recurrence interval of 11 to 100 years)
- Unlikely – Less than 1 percent chance or occurrence within the next 100 years (recurrence interval of greater than every 100 years)

CLIMATE CHANGE

For profiles of natural hazards, this section provides a summary of how climate change may be expected to alter the hazard based on current available research. This section also addresses potential for other future conditions, such as changes in population and development, to affect the hazard.

REGIONAL CLIMATE CHANGE PROJECTIONS

Climate change refers to long-term shifts in temperature and weather patterns. Climate change can be due to natural internal processes or external forces such as modulations of the solar cycles, volcanic eruptions, and persistent anthropogenic changes in the composition of the atmosphere or in land use (IPCC, 2014). However, the recent and rapid warming of the earth that has been observed over the past century has been cause for concern, as this warming is due to the accumulation of human-caused greenhouse gases, such as CO_2, in the atmosphere (IPCC, 2007). Global average temperature is estimated to have increased by about 1 degree Celsius since the pre-industrial period, and it is currently increasing by about 0.2 degrees Celsius per decade. This global increase in temperatures is having broad range of effects on global, regional and local climates.

Since 1900, the average surface temperature across the contiguous 48 states has risen at an average rate of 0.17°F per decade. Average temperatures have risen more quickly since the late 1970s (0.32 to 0.55°F per decade since 1979). Nine of the top 10 warmest years on record for the contiguous 48 states have occurred since 1998, and six of the warmest years on record have all occurred since 2012 (NOAA NCEI, 2022).

According to the Fourth National Climate Assessment, the Southeast region experienced high annual average temperatures in the 1920s and 1930s, followed by cooler temperatures until the 1970s. Since then, annual average temperatures have warmed to levels above the 1930s. The decade of the 2010s through 2020s has been warmer in the Southeast than any previous decade both for average daily maximum and average daily minimum temperature. However, while temperatures have risen, East Tennessee and most of the Southeast has experienced less warming than northern states and the Mountain West. Figure 5-1, based on data from NOAA and prepared by the EPA, shows how annual average air temperatures have changed in different parts of the United States since 1901.

According to the IPCC, the extent of climate change effects on individual regions will vary over time and with the ability of different societal and environmental systems to mitigate or adapt to change. The Fourth National Climate Assessment explains that “throughout the southeastern United States, the impacts of sea level rise, increasing temperatures, extreme heat events, heavy precipitation, and decreased water availability continue to have numerous consequences for human health, the built environment, and the natural world.” It can reasonably be assumed that the following climate risks could impact Knox County planning area: 1) increasing temperatures; 2) increasing frequency and strength of severe weather events; and 3) more heavy rain/flooding. A discussion of the effect of these climate risks on the individual hazards profiled in this plan has been included in the Probability of Future Occurrence section for each hazard as applicable.

CONSEQUENCE ANALYSIS

This section discusses how the hazard may impact people, first responders, continuity of operations, the built environment, the natural environment, the local economy, and public confidence in local governance.

VULNERABILITY ASSESSMENT

The Disaster Mitigation Act regulations require that the HMPC evaluate the risks associated with each of the hazards identified in the planning process. This section summarizes the possible impacts and quantifies Knox County vulnerability to each hazard. People, properties and critical facilities, and environmental assets that are vulnerable to the hazard are identified.

The vulnerability assessments followed the methodology described in the FEMA publication Understanding Your Risks—Identifying Hazards and Estimating Losses (August 2001). The vulnerability assessment first describes the total vulnerability and values at risk and then discusses vulnerability by hazard. Data used to support this assessment included the following:

- Geographic Information System (GIS) datasets, including Knox County parcel data and building point data from 2022, topography, transportation layers, and critical facility and infrastructure locations;
- Hazard layer GIS datasets from state and federal agencies indicating risk and/or past occurrences;
- Written descriptions of inventory and risks provided by the 2018 South Carolina Hazard Mitigation Strategy;
- Written descriptions of inventory and risks provided by the 2018 Knox County Hazard Mitigation Plan; and
- Exposure and vulnerability estimates derived using local parcel data.

Two distinct risk assessment methodologies were used in the formation of this vulnerability assessment. The first consists of a quantitative analysis that relies upon best available data and technology, while the second approach consists of a somewhat qualitative analysis that relies on local knowledge and rational decision making. The quantitative analysis involved the use of the most recent version of Hazards U.S. Multi-Hazard (Hazus) software, a nationally applicable standardized set of models available from FEMA for estimating potential losses from earthquakes, floods, and hurricanes.

Hazus uses a statistical approach and mathematical modeling of risk to predict a hazard's frequency of occurrence and estimated impacts based on recorded or historic damage information. The Hazus risk assessment methodology is parametric, in that distinct hazard and inventory parameters—such as wind speed and building type—were modeled using the Hazus software to determine the impact on the built environment.

Vulnerability can be quantified in those instances where there is a known, identified hazard area, such as a mapped floodplain. In these instances, the numbers and types of buildings subject to the identified hazard can be counted and their values tabulated. Exposure of other valued assets in the hazard area, such as the location of critical facilities and infrastructure, historic resources, and valued natural resources (e.g., an identified wetland or endangered species habitat), can also be estimated. Together, this information conveys the vulnerability of that area to that hazard. Knox County's GIS-based risk assessment was completed using data collected from local, regional and national sources.

CHANGES IN DEVELOPMENT

This section describes how changes in development have impacted vulnerability since the last plan was adopted. Future development is also discussed in this section, including how exposure to the hazard may change in the future or how development may affect hazard risk.

KEY ISSUES

This section summarizes key mitigation planning concerns related to this hazard. Where possible, problem statements are provided at a jurisdictional level.

5.2.1 PRIORITY RISK INDEX

The conclusions drawn from the hazard profiling and vulnerability assessment process are used to prioritize all potential hazards to the Knox County planning area.

The findings from the above sections of the hazard profiles are summarized using the Priority Risk Index (PRI) to score and rank each hazard's significance to the planning area. The PRI provides a standardized numerical value so that hazards can be compared against one another (the higher the PRI value, the greater the hazard risk). PRI values are obtained by assigning varying degrees of risk in five categories (probability, impact, spatial extent, warning time, and duration). Each degree of risk is assigned a value (1 to 4) and a weighting factor as summarized in Table 5-1.

Table 5-1 Priority Risk Index

ASSESSMENT CATEGORY	LEVEL	DEGREE OF RISK CRITERIA	INDEX	WEIGHT
PROBABILITY What is the likelihood of a hazard event occurring in a given year?	UNLIKELY	LESS THAN 1% ANNUAL PROBABILITY	1	30%

	12 TO 24 HRS	SELF DEFINED	2
	6 TO 12 HRS	SELF DEFINED	3
	LESS THAN 6 HRS	SELF DEFINED	4
DURATION How long does the hazard event usually last?	LESS THAN 6 HRS	SELF DEFINED	1	10%
	LESS THAN 24 HRS	SELF DEFINED	2
	LESS THAN 1 WEEK	SELF DEFINED	3

	MORE THAN 1 WEEK	SELF DEFINED	4

The sum of all five risk assessment categories equals the final PRI value, demonstrated in the equation below (the lowest possible PRI value is a 1.0 and the highest possible PRI value is 4.0).

PRI = (PROBABILITY x .30) + (IMPACT x .30) + (SPATIAL EXTENT x .20) + (WARNING TIME x .10) + (DURATION x .10)

The purpose of the PRI is to categorize and prioritize all potential hazards for the Knox County planning area as high, moderate, or low risk. This process and these criteria allowed the HMPC to focus on the hazards of greatest significance and to prioritize mitigation actions appropriately, allowing Knox County to focus resources where they are most needed

PRI ratings are provided by category throughout each hazard profile for the planning area as a whole. Ratings specific to each jurisdiction are provided at the end of each hazard profile. The results of the risk assessment and overall PRI scoring are provided in Section 5.19 Conclusions on Hazard Risk.

5.3 ASSET INVENTORY

An inventory of assets was compiled to identify the total count and value of property exposure in Knox County. This asset inventory serves as the basis for evaluating exposure and vulnerability by hazard. Assets identified for analysis include buildings, critical facilities, and critical infrastructure. Building exposure was estimated by summarizing building point data and tax parcel data provided by Knox County. Critical facilities were provided by Knox County GIS and were compiled alongside facilities identified by the individual municipalities.

For all non-spatially defined hazards, this full asset inventory represents the extent of property exposed to risk. For spatially defined hazards, property exposure is detailed in the hazard profile.

5.3.1 BUILDING EXPOSURE

Table 5-3 provides building exposure by jurisdiction according to the 2022 National Structure Inventory (NSI) from the US Army Corps of Engineers (USACE). All occupancy types were summarized into the following categories: Agriculture, Commercial, Education, Government, Industrial, Religious, and Residential. Where occupancy was not provided, residential occupancy was assumed.

Content value estimations were based on the FEMA Hazus methodology of estimating value as a percent of improved structure values by property type. The residential property type assumes a content replacement value equal to 50% of the building value. Agricultural, commercial, education, government, and religious property types assume a content replacement value equal to 100% of the building value. The industrial property type assumes a content replacement value equal to 150% of the building value.

5.3.2 CRITICAL FACILITIES AND INFRASTRUCTURE EXPOSURE

Of significant concern with respect to any disaster event is the location of critical facilities and infrastructure in the planning area. For this plan update, critical facilities and infrastructure in Knox County were categorized based on FEMA Community Lifelines. FEMA Lifelines are defined as facilities that "enable the continuous operation of critical government and business functions and [are] essential to human health and safety or economic security." Lifelines fall within the following categories:

- Safety and Security
- Food, Water, Shelter
- Health and Medical
- Energy
- Communications
- Transportation
- Hazardous Materials

Detailed lists of critical facilities and critical infrastructure are provided by their location in each jurisdictional annex. Critical facilities and infrastructure assessed in this risk assessment were identified by Knox County Emergency Management and supplemented with data from Knox County GIS Department. Some additional critical facilities and infrastructure were identified by individual municipalities.

Table 5-4 summarizes all identified critical facilities and infrastructure by their location and FEMA lifeline category. A map of these facilities is provided in Table 5-4.

Table 5-4 Summary of Critical Facilities by FEMA Lifeline

Dam Failure

A dam is a barrier constructed across a watercourse that stores, controls, or diverts water. Dams are usually constructed of earth, rock, concrete, or mine tailings. The water impounded behind a dam is referred to as the reservoir and is measured in acre-feet. One acre-foot is the volume of water that covers one acre of land to a depth of one foot. Dams can benefit farmland, provide recreation areas, generate electrical power, and help control erosion and flooding issues. A dam failure is the collapse or breach of a dam that causes downstream flooding. Dam failures may be caused by natural events, human-caused events, or a combination. Dam failures are of particular concern because the water released by a failed dam generates tremendous energy and can cause a flood that is catastrophic to life and property, especially if the structure is breached or significantly damaged. Failure can result in the release of the reservoir contents—this can include water, mine wastes, or agricultural refuse—causing negative impacts upstream or downstream or at locations far from the dam. Negative impacts of primary concern are loss of human life, property damage, lifeline disruption, and environmental damage.

Dam failures can result from any one or a combination of the following:

- Prolonged periods of rainfall and flooding
- Inadequate spillway capacity, resulting in excess overtopping flows
- Internal erosion caused by embankment or foundation leakage or piping
- Poor operation or improper maintenance, including failure to remove trees, repair internal seepage problems, replace lost material from the cross-section of the dam and abutments, or maintain gates, valves, and other operational components
- Improper design, including the use of improper construction materials and construction practices
- Negligent operation, including the failure to remove or open gates or valves during high flow periods
- Failure of upstream dams on the same waterway
- High winds from severe storms, which can cause significant wave action and result in substantial erosion

There is generally very little warning time. A failure resulting from heavy rains and flash flooding can occur within hours of the first signs of breaching. Due to the lack of advance warning, failures resulting from natural events, such as earthquakes, landslides, or heavy rainfall and flooding may be particularly severe. Depending on the cause, other failures and breaches can take much longer to occur, from days to weeks. The duration of the flood will vary but may last as long as a week.

Warning Time: 1 – More than 24 hours

Duration: 3 – Less than 1 week

LOCATION

Dam Failure

According to the National Inventory of Dams, Knox County has one state-regulated dam, the Victor Ashe Dam, located within the City of Knoxville. In addition, outside and upstream of Knox County, there are seven federal dams regulated by the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) that could impact portions of the planning area in the event of failure. However, because these dams are located outside of the county, the area impacted in Knox County would be minimal.

Spatial Extent: 2 – Small

EXTENT

Dam Failure

The "hazard potential" of a dam is based on the consequences of failure, meaning the probable damage in terms of loss of human life or damage that would occur if the structure failed. Dams are assigned one of three categories based on their hazard potential:

Class 1 – High Hazard: Dam failure would likely result in loss of life
Class 2 – Significant: Dam failure wouldn't likely result in loss of like but property, roads, and other key infrastructure would be damaged.
Class 3 – Low Hazard: Dams failure may cause minimal property damage to others. Loss of life is not expected.

The classification of the regulated dams guides design flood that the dam spillway must pass, sets the need for an Emergency Action Plan, and establishes the frequency that Tennessee State Dam Program staff will inspect the dam. Based on these criteria there are 0 high hazard dams in Knox County. Knox County's only dam, the Victor Ashe Dam, is classified as significant. Therefore, its failure is not anticipated to result in loss of life.

While Knox County does not contain a high hazard dam, there are high hazard dams located upstream in other counties. If these dams were to fail, they could impact Knox County. An important consideration related to dam failure risk is the age and condition of existing dams. While age does not equate to hazard potential, according to the 2021 Report Card for America's Infrastructure, it does indicate that many dams were not built to current standards and/or may require rehabilitation or other action to ensure their continued safe operation. Dam failure may be more likely in structures that need maintenance.

Some risk of dam failure can be mitigated by having an Emergency Action Plan (EAP) in place that help dam owners and emergency managers to coordinate on mitigation of risk for downstream residents and structures. EAPs contain important information about notification protocols, breach analyses, and actions to take if the dam is near failure or has failed. EAPs will serve as a plan for evacuation for each high hazard dam. High hazard dams upstream from Knox County have current EAPs as shown in Table 5-7.

Because Knox County has only one dam that is classified as significant and high hazard dams upstream are frequently inspected and have updated EAPs, the impact of dam failure is limited.

Impact: 2 – Limited

HISTORICAL OCCURRENCES

There is no record of a significant dam failure occurring within Knox County or impacting the planning area.

PROBABILITY OF FUTURE OCCURRENCE

Based on the lack of past occurrences, the probability of future dam failure is unlikely. However, in the case of structural failures, historical occurrence is not a good indicator of future probability. Because Knox County has no high hazard dams located within its boundaries, and the dams located upstream are regularly inspected and have EAPs, the likelihood of an event impacting the planning area is considered low.

Probability: 1 – Unlikely

CLIMATE CHANGE

A study from the Norwegian University of Science and Technology was conducted to investigate the impact of climate change scenarios on hydropower dam safety with a focus on impacts related to changes in precipitation and flood. Climate change projections suggest that precipitation may increase and occur in more extreme events, which may increase risk of flooding, putting stress on dams and increasing likelihood of dam failure. This study evaluated changes in design floods and concluded that outflow floods and flood water levels will increase in the future, the total hydrological failure probability of a dam will increase, and the extent and depth of flood waters will increase by the future dam break scenario (Chernet et al. 2014).

A study on the impacts of climate change on dams and reservoirs produced for the UK Department of Environment, Food and Rural Affairs indicates that concrete and masonry dams may be relatively resilient to climate change, but earthen embankments are most likely to be vulnerable to climate change because their structure may be weakened by increased erosion, more extreme fluctuations in water levels, and changes in vegetation and prolonged drying during hot weather. Increasing frequency and size of flows as well as increases in debris and vegetation may also increase vulnerability (Atkins, 2013).

There were no studies available on the local impacts of climate change on dams in Knox County or Tennessee, however, these international studies can be taken as an indication that the risk of dam failure may increase in the future. Heavy rainfall events are projected to become more intense by the late 21st century, as shown in Figure 5-4. Therefore, conditions conducive to dam failure may occur more frequently as well.

CONSEQUENCE ANALYSIS

Factors that influence the potential severity of a full or partial dam failure are the amount of water impounded; the density, type, and value of development and infrastructure located downstream; and the speed of failure.

Category	Consequences
Public	Major casualties and loss of life could result. Impacts to life safety will depend on the warning time and the resources available to notify and evacuate the public. Localized impact expected to be severe for inundation area and moderate to light for other adversely affected areas. While impacts will mirror those of a flood event, residents who might be impacted by a dam/levee failure may believe themselves to be protected from flood events and may not anticipate the event.
Responders	Response capabilities may be challenged as responders will likely need to attempt to assist residents who are trapped in their homes or in flood waters. Responders may have difficulty accessing homes or other structures where support is needed.
Continuity of Operations (including Continued Delivery of Services)	Damage to facilities/personnel in the inundation area may require temporary relocation of some operations. Localized disruption of roads and/or utilities may postpone delivery of some services. Overall continuity of operations is unlikely to be affected as the event would likely be localized and most operations facilities are not at risk.
Property, Facilities and Infrastructure	Localized impact to facilities and infrastructure in the inundation area of the incident. Potentially catastrophic damages to roads, bridges, and homes are possible. Localized power outages could occur. Natural gas distribution networks may be damaged. Phone and internet systems could be impacted on a local scale.
Environment	Localized impact expected to be severe for inundation area and moderate to light for other adversely affected areas. Consequences include erosion, water quality degradation, wildlife displacement or destruction, and habitat destruction. Ecosystems and habitats in the affected river/stream/lake could be destroyed.

Economic Condition of the Jurisdiction	Local economy and finances may be adversely affected, possibly for an extended period of time, depending on damage extent.
Public Confidence in the Jurisdiction's Governance	Localized impact expected to adversely affect only the dam owner and local entities. A catastrophic failure could result in more widespread loss of public confidence. Residents may view a dam/levee failure as a failure of government to property regulate and control the dam/levee.

VULNERABILITY ASSESSMENT

Population at risk and property at risk could not be estimated at this time. However, inundation mapping is not currently available for the planning area.

PEOPLE

A person's immediate vulnerability to a dam failure is directly associated with the person's distance downstream of the dam as well as proximity to the stream carrying the floodwater from the failure. For dams that have an Emergency Action Plan (EAP), the vulnerability of loss of life for persons in their homes or on their property may be mitigated by following the EAP evacuation procedures. According to NID records, an estimated 100% percent of high hazard dams upstream from the planning area have an Emergency Action Plan. However, even if they can evacuate in time, displaced persons may still incur sheltering costs.

PROPERTY

DAM FAILURE

No dam inundation area data could be obtained for analysis; therefore, property exposure could not be estimated for each dam. There are no historical dam failures in the County with which to estimate annualized loss.

In general, vulnerability of the built environment includes damage to the dam itself and any structures located within the inundation area caused by the dam failure. Downstream of the dam, vulnerability includes potential damage to homes, personal property, commercial buildings and property, and government owned buildings and property. Destruction of bridge or culvert crossings; weakening of bridge supports through scour; and damage or destruction of public or private infrastructure that cross the stream such as water and sewer lines, gas lines and power lines can also occur. Interruption of roads, bridges, and utility service can prevent continuity of some operations and cause economic loss. There could also be costs associated with the loss of operations of a dam in addition to the cost to rebuild the dam to higher standards. Water dependent structures on the lake upstream of the dam, such as docks/piers, floating structures, or water intake structures, may be damaged by the rapid reduction in water level during the failure.

ENVIRONMENT

Aquatic species within the reservoir of the dam will either be displaced or destroyed. The velocity of the flood wave will likely destroy downstream riparian and instream vegetation and destroy wetland function. The flood wave can cause erosion within and adjacent to the stream. Deposition of eroded deposits may choke instream habitat or disrupt riparian areas. Sediments within the lake bottom and any low oxygen water from within the lake will be dispersed, potentially causing fish kills or releasing heavy metals found in the lake sediment layers. Upstream impacts may also occur, as headward erosion may change channel morphology, potentially causing degradation and habitat loss, at least temporarily until long-term equilibrium can be reestablished.

CHANGES IN DEVELOPMENT

Development downstream of dams can significantly increase exposure. Dams are rated based on the potential impact of their failure. As development occurs, exposure downstream of a significant hazard dam may increase to the point that the dam should be rated as a high hazard dam and require the associated Emergency Action Plan and more regular inspections. However, because inspections of significant hazard dams occur less frequently, there may be a delay in recognizing and acting on increases in risk.

It is also important to note that many residents of existing and new development may not know that they are located downstream of a dam.

HAZARD SUMMARY BY JURISDICTION

The following table summarizes dam failure risk by jurisdiction. The three jurisdictions share similar risk. However, because Farragut does not contain a dam and is located farther away from upstream dams, it received the lowest risk score for impact and spatial extent.

Jurisdiction	Probability	Impact	Spatial Extent	Warning Time	Duration	Score	Priority
Farragut	1	1	1	1	3	1.2	L
Knoxville	1	2	2	1	3	1.7	L
Unincorporated Knox County	1	2	2	1	3	1.7	L

HAZARD DESCRIPTION

Drought is a deficiency in precipitation over an extended period. It is a normal, recurrent feature of climate that occurs in virtually all climate zones. The duration of a drought varies widely. There are cases when drought develops relatively quickly and lasts a very short period of time, exacerbated by extreme heat and/or wind, and there are other cases when drought spans multiple years, or even decades. Studying the paleoclimate record is often helpful in identifying when long-lasting droughts have occurred. Common types of drought are detailed below in Table 5-8.

Table 5-8 Types of Drought

Type	Details
Meteorological Drought	Meteorological Drought is based on the degree of dryness (rainfall deficit) and the length of the dry period.
Hydrological Drought	Hydrological Drought is based on the impact of rainfall deficits on the water supply such as stream flow, reservoir and lake levels, and ground water table decline.
Agricultural Drought	Agricultural Drought is based on the impacts to agriculture by factors such as rainfall deficits, soil water deficits, reduced ground water, or reservoir levels needed for irrigation.
Socioeconomic Drought	Socioeconomic drought is based on the impact of drought conditions (meteorological, agricultural, or hydrological drought) on supply and demand of some economic goods. Socioeconomic drought occurs when the demand for an economic good exceeds supply as a result of a weather-related deficit in water supply.

The wide variety of disciplines affected by drought, its diverse geographical and temporal distribution, and the many scales drought operates on make it difficult to develop both a definition to describe drought and an index to measure it. Many quantitative measures of drought have been developed in the United States, depending on the discipline affected, the region being considered, and the particular application.

The U.S. Drought Monitor provides a summary of drought conditions across the United States and Puerto Rico. Often described as a blend of art and science, the Drought Monitor map is updated weekly by combining a variety of data-based drought indices and indicators and local expert input into a single composite drought indicator.

The Palmer Drought Severity Index (PDSI) is a measure of meteorological drought devised in 1965 and was the first drought indicator to assess moisture status comprehensively. It uses temperature and precipitation data to calculate water supply and demand, incorporates soil moisture, and is considered most effective for unirrigated cropland. It primarily reflects long-term drought and has been used extensively to initiate drought relief. It is more complex than the Standardized Precipitation Index (SPI) and the Drought Monitor. One benefit of the PDSI is that it can capture impacts of climate change on drought because it accounts for key measures in evapotranspiration.

The Standardized Precipitation Index (SPI) is a way of measuring drought that, like the PDSI, is negative for drought and positive for wet conditions. However, the SPI is a probability index that considers only precipitation, while Palmer's indices are water balance indices that consider water supply (precipitation), demand (evapotranspiration) and loss (runoff).

By definition, drought develops and worsens over a period of time. It inherently has a slow speed of onset and a long duration. Additionally, due to the variety of indices for tracking drought, there is significant time to issue hazard warnings. Drought warnings can be regularly updated and allow for response to escalate depending on the severity of conditions.

LOCATION

Drought is a regional hazard that can cover the entire planning area, and in some cases the entire state. The U.S. Drought Monitor map shown in Figure 5-5 below, depicts the current week's (September 17, 2024) drought conditions. According to the map, the Knox County region is experiencing moderate drought conditions. Conditions can change quickly and are not confined to geographic or political boundaries. As a result, some areas may experience more severe drought events than what is shown on the map, and the map does not serve as a predictor of future conditions.

While drought can affect an entire county, it is primarily a hazard to agriculture in Knox County. Based on data from the National Land Cover Database, over 65,000 acres in Knox County are classified as agricultural/forestry/vacant (20%). Figure 5-6 displays the land cover breakdown for Knox County.

EXTENT

Drought extent can be defined using the U.S. Drought Monitor scale. The Drought Monitor Scale measures drought episodes with input from the Palmer Drought Severity Index, the Standardized Precipitation Index, the Keetch-Byram Drought Index, soil moisture indicators, and other inputs as well as information on how drought is affecting people. Figure 5-7 details the classifications used by the U.S. Drought Monitor and each level of drought's potential consequences.

Drought in Knox County primarily impacts agriculture and has not resulted in residential water shortages. Knox County is not heavily reliant on agriculture, and very few crop losses due to drought have been reported in the past 20 years. Therefore, drought's impact in Knox County is considered limited.

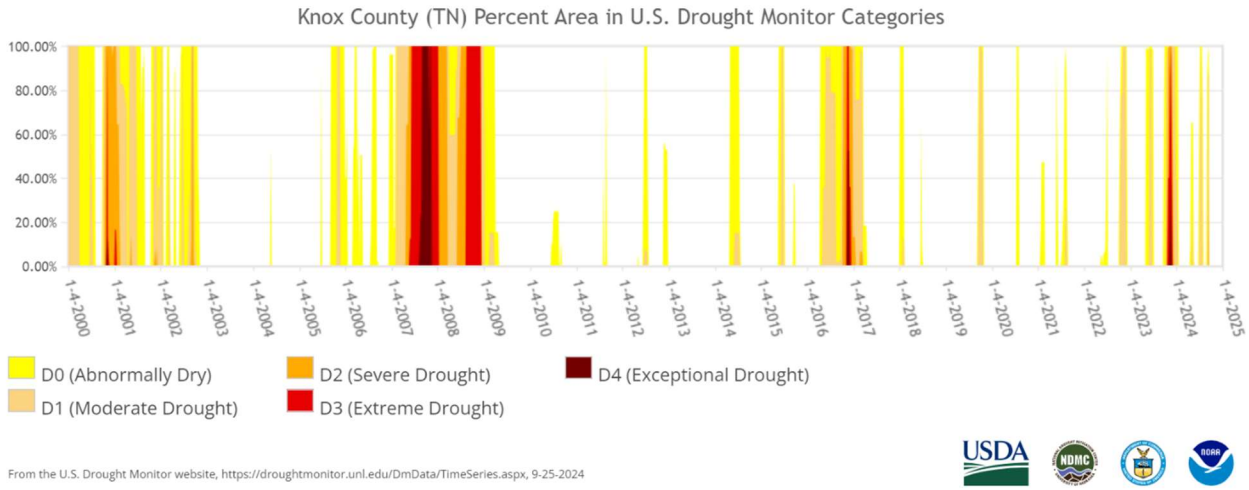
HISTORICAL OCCURRENCES

U.S. Drought Monitor records drought intensity weekly throughout the country. Figure 5-8 shows the historical periods where the county was considered in some level of drought condition, between 2000 and 2024.

Figure 5-8 US Drought Monitor Historical Trends – Knox County



Source: U.S. Drought Monitor

Additional historical information on previous periods of drought and drought impacts was obtained from the following primary sources: the USDA Secretarial disaster designations for drought, University of Nebraska's National Drought Mitigation Centers Drought Impact Reporter, the National Oceanic Atmospheric Administration's (NOAA) National Climatic Data Center (NCDC) and the 2010 Tennessee Drought Management Plan. Drought events are noted below:

- 2023—Knox County faced a two-month drought period from May 9 to July 4 of 2023. The whole county was in a "moderate drought" during this period and a "severe drought" from June 6 to June 20.
- 2022—Knox County experienced a drought from October 11 to December 6 of 2022. In November, 100% of the county was facing a "severe drought". The entire county was in a "moderate drought" for the two-month span.
- 2021—In August 2021, 26% of Knox County experienced a "moderate drought" following a two-month drought period.
- 2019—In October 2019, all of Knox County was experiencing a "moderate drought" for a month period.
- 2018—In February 2018, roughly 13% of Knox County was experiencing a "moderate drought".
- 2017—In March 2017, roughly 7% of Knox County was experiencing a "severe drought", while the rest of the County was experiencing a "moderate drought" after a few months of not receiving much rain.
- 2017—In January 2017, 13% of Knox County was experiencing a "severe drought", while the rest of the County was experiencing a "moderate drought".
- 2016—Deficits of 12 inches of rain affected the region of Knox County along with higher-than-normal temperatures of 4 to 6 degrees. For several days in June, nearly 100% of the county was under "moderate drought" warnings. Again, in November, nearly 100% of the county was under "extreme drought" warnings and 50% of the county was even experiencing "exceptional drought" conditions.
- 2014—In June 2014, roughly 15% of Knox County was experiencing a "moderate drought" after a long time of not receiving much rain.
- 2010—In June 2010, Knox County was one of two counties included as a primary county in a USDA Secretarial Declaration for drought and excessive heat. That same month, Knox County was also included as a contiguous county in two additional USDA Secretarial Declarations for drought and excessive heat.

- 2007-2008—This two-year drought marked the worst in recent history in the planning area. In excess of 500,000 people in Tennessee were on community water systems that imposed mandatory water restrictions. Despite the severity of the 2007 drought, because of the planning that had been done, the interconnection between systems, and the communication and collaboration among agencies and water systems, only one community water system in Marion County, ran completely out of water. Although they did not ultimately run out of water, two water districts in Knox County (Luttrell Blaine Corryton Utility District (LBCUD) and the First Utility District (FUD) requested that their users voluntarily conserve water, due to the continuing drought conditions.
- 1986-1987 Drought—The drought of 1986-87 is still considered one of the worst droughts in recorded Tennessee history. During that period, thousands of people were without water and there were serious ecological impacts as a result of the drought. However, the severity of the 1986-87 drought impacts did not approach the impacts experienced by many community water systems during previous droughts. This was due, in large part, to an improved awareness of source capabilities and uses, improved preparedness and higher standards of water service to communities.
- 1930s, 1943-44 and mid-1950's Droughts—The droughts of the 1930s, 1943-1944, and mid-50s resulted in impacts primarily on agriculture. By the mid-80s much of the economy of Tennessee had changed, with less reliance on agriculture and more attention given to aquatic life, the environment, industry and power production. At the same time, the cumulative demands – navigation, recreation, power production, etc. - that people have placed on a given reach of water have increased tremendously. Responding to those demands becomes particularly challenging during a period of drought.

The National Drought Mitigation Center (NDMC), located at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln, provides a clearinghouse for information on the effects of drought, based on reports from media, observers, impact records, and other sources. According to the NDMC's Drought Impact Reporter, during the 24-year period from 2000 through 2023, 17 drought impacts were noted for Knox County. Of those impacts, 3 were specifically tied to Knoxville, and 1 was linked to Farragut. Knoxville and Farragut's impacts were agricultural.

Table 5-9 summarizes the number of impacts reported by category and the years impacts were reported for each category. Note that the Drought Impact Reporter may assign multiple categories to each impact, and multiple impacts may be reported for a single year.

PROBABILITY OF FUTURE OCCURRENCE

Over a 24-year period from 2000 to 2023, Knox County experienced 117 weeks of drought ranging from severe to extreme (D2 to D4), which represents about 9% of that period (U.S. Drought Monitor). Only weeks in which drought impacted at least 10% of Knox County's total area were included. Taken together as periods of drought, the county experienced 7 periods of severe to extreme drought. The length of drought varied from 1 week to 47 weeks.

Given the historical record and the impacts of climate change, it is possible (1 to 10% chance) for Knox County to experience drought in any given year.

Probability: 4 – Highly Likely

CLIMATE CHANGE

The Fourth National Climate Assessment reports that average and extreme temperatures are increasing across the country and average annual precipitation is decreasing in the Southeast. Heavy precipitation events are becoming more frequent, meaning that there will likely be an increase in the average number of consecutive dry days between rainfall events. As temperature is projected to continue rising, evaporation rates are expected to increase, resulting in decreased surface soil moisture levels. Together, these factors suggest that drought will increase in intensity and duration in the Southeast.

However, research conducted at the MIT Joint Program on the Science and Policy of Global Change suggests that East Tennessee may experience fewer days of drought over a 30-year period, as shown in Figure 5-9.

Additionally, the U.S. Climate Resilience Toolkit Climate Explorer is a tool that shows how climate conditions in the U.S. are projected to change over the coming decades. The Climate Explorer provides projections for two possible futures: one in which humans drastically reduce and stabilize global emissions of heat-trapping gases (labeled Lower emissions, also known as RCP4.5), and one in which we continue increasing emissions through the end of the 21st century (labeled Higher emissions, also known as RCP8.5).

One of the variables the tool estimates is the number of dry days per year, or the number of days with less than 0.01 inches of precipitation. Under the low and high emissions scenario, there is minimal to no difference between the number of dry days observed between 1961 and 1990 and the projected number of dry days for the mid-21st century under both emission scenarios.

Because of conflicting predictions, it is unclear how climate change will impact the length of drought in Knox County.

CONSEQUENCE ANALYSIS

Category	Consequences
Public	Drought can cause anxiety or depression about economic losses, conflicts over water shortages, reduced incomes, and fewer recreational activities. Farmers and agricultural producers are particularly vulnerable. Efforts to mitigate, such as using irrigation, have a high initial cost, including the need for an increase in management, cost of operations and maintenance, and lack of good quality water resources affected during drought.
Responders	Impacts to responders are unlikely. Exceptional drought conditions may impact the amount of water immediately available to respond to structure fire and wildfires.
Continuity of Operations (including Continued Delivery of Services)	Drought would have minimal impacts on continuity of operations due to the relatively long warning time that would allow for plans to be made to maintain continuity of operations. During prolonged or intense drought, alternative water supplies may be needed, or water restrictions may be put in place.
Property, Facilities and Infrastructure	Drought has the potential to affect water supply for residential, commercial, institutional, industrial, and government-owned areas. Drought can reduce water supply in wells and reservoirs. Utilities may be forced to increase rates and seek alternate supplies. Irrigation and outdoor landscaping would be affected, as would recreational uses, such as golf courses.
Environment	Environmental impacts include strain on local plant and wildlife; increased probability of wildfire; and decreased water quality. Pollution may increase due to lack of rainwater to dilute industrial and agricultural chemical runoff. Dry soil may result in instability, leading to erosion. These changes may cause habitat degradation through loss of wetlands, lake capacity, and vegetation.

Economic Condition of the Jurisdiction	Farmers may face crop losses or increased livestock costs. Businesses that depend on farming may experience secondary impacts. Extreme drought has the potential to impact local businesses in landscaping, recreation and tourism, and public utilities
Public Confidence in the Jurisdiction's Governance	Public confidence is unlikely to be severely impacted. However, when drought conditions persist with no relief, local or State governments must often institute water restrictions, which may impact public confidence.

PEOPLE

Drought can affect people's physical and mental health. For those economically dependent on a reliable water supply, drought may cause anxiety or depression about economic losses, reduced incomes, and other employment impacts. Conflicts may arise over water shortages. People may be forced to pay more for water, food, and utilities affected by increased water costs. Drought may cause health problems due to poorer water quality from lower water levels. If accompanied by extreme heat, drought can also result in higher incidents of heat stroke and even loss of life.

PROPERTY

Drought is unlikely to cause damages to the built environment, but it may cause severe property loss for the agricultural industry in terms of crop and livestock losses. The USDA's Risk Management Agency (RMA) maintains a database of all paid crop insurance claims, with detail on the cause of losses. According to these records, Knox County has had $8,871 in crop insurance claims from 2007-2023.

Table 5-10 Crop Losses Due to Drought, Knox County, 2007-2023

Year	Indemnity Amount
2010	$3,715.00
2007	$5,156.00
Total	$8,871.00

Source: USDA Risk Management Agency, Cause of Loss Records

ENVIRONMENT

Drought can affect local wildlife by shrinking food supplies and damaging habitats. Sometimes this damage is only temporary, and other times it is irreversible. Wildlife may face increased disease rates due to limited access to food and water. Increased stress on endangered species could cause extinction.

Another concern during a drought is that contaminants such as pesticides and fertilizers may concentrate in the soil as precipitation wanes and then enter waterways during heavy rains and flooding. This can threaten water quality with repercussions for agriculture, drinking water supply, and local plants and wildlife.

Drought conditions can also provide a substantial increase in wildfire risk. As plants and trees die from a lack of precipitation, increased insect infestations, and diseases—all of which are associated with drought—they become fuel for wildfire. Long periods of drought can result in more intense wildfires, which bring additional consequences for the economy, the environment, and society. Drought may also increase likelihood of wind and water erosion of soils.

CHANGES IN DEVELOPMENT

Drought is predominantly controlled by larger weather patterns and less by human development. However, increased development and associated increases in impervious surfaces would mean less surface water would be able to directly infiltrate into the ground. Additionally, as population grows, water demand will likely increase, which could lower the threshold for socioeconomic drought – an inability of water supply to meet water demand.

According to the USDA Census of Agriculture, from 2017 to 2022, Knox County's acres of farmland decreased from 67,383 acres to 53,515 acres. This trend suggests that changes in development are resulting in lower overall agricultural exposure to drought.

HAZARD SUMMARY BY JURISDICTION

The following table summarizes drought hazard risk by jurisdiction. Drought risk is largely uniform across the planning area. Warning time, duration, and spatial extent are inherent to the hazard and remain constant across jurisdictions. The majority of damages that result from drought are to water- and agriculture-dependent industries, which require water supply for irrigation and maintenance; therefore, the magnitude of the impacts is typically greater in areas with these industries. In more heavily developed areas, drought impacts may be limited to lawns and local gardens, but potential impacts on local water supplies may arise during severe, prolonged drought.

Jurisdiction	Probability	Impact	Spatial Extent	Warning Time	Duration	Score	Priority
Farragut	2	2	2	1	4	2.1	Low
Knoxville	2	2	2	1	4	2.1	Low
Unincorporated Knox County	2	2	2	1	4	2.1	Low

5.6 EARTHQUAKE

Hazard	Probability	Impact	Spatial Extent	Warning Time	Duration	PRI Score
Earthquake	Possible	Minor	Moderate	Less than 6 hours	Less than 6 hours	2.0

HAZARD DESCRIPTION

An earthquake is a movement or shaking of the ground. Most earthquakes are caused by the release of stresses accumulated as a result of the rupture of rocks along opposing fault planes in the Earth's outer crust. These fault planes are typically found along borders of the Earth's 10 tectonic plates. The areas of greatest tectonic instability occur at the perimeters of the slowly moving plates, as these locations are subjected to the greatest strains from plates traveling in opposite directions and at different speeds. Deformation along plate boundaries causes strain in the rock and the consequent buildup of stored energy. When the built-up stress exceeds the rocks' strength a rupture occurs. The rock on both sides of the fracture is snapped, releasing the stored energy and producing seismic waves, generating an earthquake.

Earthquakes can affect hundreds of thousands of square miles and can cause major damage to property and loss of life or injury in the affected area. Most property damage and deaths are caused by the failure and collapse of structures due to ground shaking. The level of damage depends upon the amplitude and duration of the shaking, which are directly related to the earthquake size, distance from the fault, site, and regional geology.

Earthquakes generally occur with little to no warning and last for a short period of time. However, earthquakes can often be followed by periods of aftershocks that vary in severity but can compound damages.

Warning Time: 4 – Less than 6 hours

Duration: 1 – Less than 6 hours

LOCATION

The southern Appalachians contain one of the most active seismic zones in eastern North America and the Knox County planning area is in this active seismic zone. The belt of seismicity ranges from northeastern Alabama, northwestern Georgia and much of eastern Tennessee, and it is called the East Tennessee Seismic Zone (ETSZ). ETSZ is a 50 kilometer-wide and 300-kilometer-long zone.

Another earthquake scenario of concern to mention is an earthquake originating in the New Madrid Seismic Zone. This seismic zone is located near the Mississippi River in southeastern Missouri, northeastern Arkansas, western Tennessee, western Kentucky and southern Illinois (see Figure 5-10 above). Any earthquake originating here is likely to be extremely powerful, and its effects will most likely reach the planning area. Figure 5-10 displays the New Madrid and Southern Appalachian Seismic Zones.

An earthquake affects a much larger area around the New Madrid Seismic Zone than an earthquake of a similar magnitude on the west coast due to the geological differences on the eastern part of the country. In Figure 5-11, the red area near the epicenters represents damage to buildings, while the surrounding yellow area represents shaking felt, but little damage to objects. This map indicates that Knox County would experience shaking but not incur significant damage from a New Madrid earthquake.

EXTENT

Earthquakes are measured in terms of their magnitude and intensity. Magnitude is measured using the Richter Scale, an open-ended logarithmic scale that describes the energy release of an earthquake through a measure of shock wave amplitude. A description of the Richter Scale is given in Table 5-11.

Table 5-11 Richter Scale

Magnitude	Effects
Less than 3.5	Generally, not felt, but recorded.
3.5 – 5.4	Often felt, but rarely causes damage.
5.4 – 6.0	At most slight damage to well-designed buildings. Can cause major damage to poorly constructed buildings over small regions.
6.1 – 6.9	Can be destructive in areas up to 100 kilometers across where people live.
7.0 – 7.9	Major earthquake. Can cause serious damage over larger areas.
8.0 or greater	Great earthquake. Can cause serious damage in areas several hundred kilometers across.

Although the Richter scale is usually used by the news media when reporting the intensity of earthquakes and is the scale most familiar to the public, the scale currently used by the scientific community in the United States is the Modified Mercalli Intensity (MMI) scale. The MMI scale is an arbitrary ranking based on observed effects. It describes the intensity of an earthquake at a particular location. Lower numbers of the MMI scale generally deal with the manner in which the earthquake is felt by people, while higher numbers are generally based on observed structural damage. Figure 5-12 shows descriptions for levels of earthquake intensity on the MMI scale.

CIIM Intensity	People's Reaction	Furnishings	Built Environment	Natural Environment
I	Not felt			Changes in level and clarity of well water are occasionally associated with great earthquakes at distances beyond which the earthquakes felt by people.
II	Felt by a few.	Delicately suspended objects may swing.
III	Felt by several; vibration like passing of truck.	Hanging objects may swing appreciably.
IV	Felt by many; sensation like heavy body striking building.	Dishes rattle.	Walls creak; window rattle.
V	Felt by nearly all; frightens a few.	Pictures swing out of place; small objects move; a few objects fall from shelves within the community.	A few instances of cracked plaster and cracked windows with the community.	Trees and bushes shaken noticeably.
VI	Frightens many; people move unsteadily.	Many objects fall from shelves.	A few instances of fallen plaster, broken windows, and damaged chimneys within the community.	Some fall of tree limbs and tops, isolated rockfalls and landslides, and isolated liquefaction.
VII	Frightens most; some lose balance.	Heavy furniture overturned. Knox County has not experienced recorded structural damage from an earthquake. Earthquakes that occur in Knox County or in the region are typically under a 3.5 on the Richter Scale, so they are rarely felt. Therefore, the impact of an earthquake is expected to be limited.

Impact: 1 – Minor

HISTORICAL OCCURRENCES

The East Tennessee Seismic Zone (ETSZ) is a very active seismic zone and there are numerous minor earthquakes within a 50-mile radius of Knox County. Figure 5-13 displays the recent earthquake tremors in the Knox County vicinity within the six-month timeframe of March 2024 to September 2024.

Source: Center for Earthquake Research and Information at the University of Memphis http://folkworm.ceri.memphis.edu/REQ3/html/index2.html

The following list shows the major events sited from the U.S. Geological Survey's Earthquake Hazards Program and the Tennessee State Hazard Mitigation Plan that caused slight to moderate damage within the planning area from the ETSZ:

- December 12, 2018 – An earthquake, measuring 4.4 struck Decatur, TN, 70 miles southeast of Knox County. It was felt over a 310-mile swath, but no damages or serious injuries were reported.

- July 10, 1987—A light earthquake measuring 3.8 and mild aftershock less than three hours later measured at 3.5 on the Richter scale. The tremors were centered about five miles northwest of the East Knox County community of Mascot. No damages and no power outages were reported from the tremors (source: The Knoxville News-Sentinel, July 12, 1987).
- February 14, 1984—This 3.8 magnitude earthquake was one of the most recent and largest intensities felt in Knoxville (Modified Mercalli Intensity VI). Windows were broken in Blaine and New Market (20 miles and 25 miles, respectively, northeast of Knoxville). No structural damage occurred.
- October 1973—An earthquake sequence consisting of one foreshock, a magnitude 4.6 main shock, and more than 30 aftershocks occurred south of Knoxville during the latter part of 1973. The foreshock, magnitude 3.4, on October 30, was felt over an area of 2,100 square kilometers (~811 square miles), with a maximum Modified Mercalli Intensity V to VI. The main shock caused minor damage (VI) in several towns in eastern Tennessee, Georgia, Kentucky, and North Carolina. Minor cracks in walls at the University of Tennessee Hospital at Knoxville were reported. Minor damage to walls, windows, and chimneys occurred in the Maryville - Alcoa area. The Knoxville News Sentinel summarized the earthquake by saying "Chimneys were cracked, dishes broken, but no major damage was reported." The shock disrupted relay contacts at the Alcoa switching station, causing a temporary loss of power. The total felt area, including parts of South Carolina, Virginia, and West Virginia, as well as the region mentioned above, covered about 65,000 square kilometers (25,097 square miles). From December 2 through December 12, 30 small magnitude aftershocks were recorded.
- September 7, 1956—Two tremors roughly 13 minutes apart were felt over a broad area in eastern Tennessee and adjoining parts of Kentucky, North Carolina, and Virginia. Chimneys were thrown down, plaster was knocked from walls, and windows were shattered. The total area covered approximately 21,500 square kilometers (8,300 square miles). (Modified Mercalli Intensity VI)
- March 28, 1913—In eastern Tennessee, a strong shock centered at Knoxville was felt over an area of 7,000 square kilometers (2,703 square miles). At a Modified Mercalli Intensity of VII, it was the most severe documented earthquake to strike East Tennessee.
- November 28, 1844—Tremor caused some bricks to fall from chimneys in Knoxville.

In over 173 years of recorded history in the planning area, there has been no significant structural damage from an earthquake. Since 1973, the USGS earthquake catalog has noted 16 earthquakes within Knox County ranging from 2 to 2.9 magnitude. Earthquakes of this magnitude and less are usually not felt, but are recorded by seismographs.

The largest recorded earthquake from the New Madrid fault line was a series of four large earthquakes occurring in 1811 and 1812 at an approximate 300-mile distance from the planning area. These earthquakes were the strongest ever to occur in North America, estimated to be a XII on the Modified Mercalli Intensity Scale. Damage was reported as far away as Washington, DC. The shaking caused church bells in Boston to ring. Land rolled in visible waves. The Mississippi River was forced to change its course. Reelfoot Lake was formed. Other earthquakes in the zone of lesser magnitude occurred in 1843 and 1895. In 1843 the intensity VIII earthquake caused considerable shock to be felt in Knoxville, but no damage occurred. In 1895 the intensity VI earthquake caused shock to again be felt in Knoxville, but no damage was sustained.

PROBABILITY OF FUTURE OCCURRENCE

Figure 5-14 below shows the change of a slight damaging earthquake shaking in 100 years based on the 2018 National Seismic Hazard Model. Knox County exhibits a 19-36% chance of experiencing a slight (or greater) damaging earthquake within the next 100 years. Based on historical occurrences and the National Seismic Hazard Model, the HMPC determined that the probability of an earthquake occurring each year is possible. However, the likelihood of an earthquake of significant magnitude (>5.4 on Richter scale) is unlikely.

CLIMATE CHANGE

According to NASA's Global Climate Change Program, scientists are beginning to believe there may be a connection between climate change and earthquakes. Changing ice caps and sea-level redistribute weight over fault lines, which could potentially have an influence on earthquake occurrences. However, currently no studies quantify the relationship to a high level of detail, so recent earthquakes should not be linked with climate change. Additionally, it's possible that increased groundwater pumping as a result of climate change-driven increases in drought could add to stress buildup in tectonic plates and hasten the occurrence of earthquakes. Again, this relationship is hypothetical and not yet well studied. While not conclusive, early research suggest that more intense earthquakes may eventually be added to the adverse consequences that are caused by climate change.

CONSEQUENCE ANALYSIS

Category	Consequences
Public	The public may experience shaking and the greatest threat to health and well-being is often from objects falling from shelves.
Responders	Minimal expected impact on responders given only moderate events. If a more severe incident occurs, responders may need to enter compromised structures or infrastructure.
Continuity of Operations (including Continued Delivery of Services)	There would likely be little disruption to services or operations due to a moderate earthquake. Any damage to transportation infrastructure, or critical facilities could interrupt access to some services.

Category	Consequences
Property, Facilities and Infrastructure	A moderate earthquake is unlikely to damage infrastructure such as roads, bridges, or gas/power/water lines. However, if severe enough, fires can be started by broken gas lines and power lines. Buildings can be damaged by the shaking itself or by the ground beneath them settling to a different level than it was before the earthquake (subsidence). Buildings can even sink into the ground if soil liquefaction occurs.
Environment	No severe impacts expected, but damage to key infrastructure, utility systems, or facilities that house hazardous materials could harm the surrounding environment and may require remediation.
Economic Condition of the Jurisdiction	Economic loss is unexpected with moderate events, but could include property damage, business interruption costs, cost to repair public infrastructure, and debris removal costs.
Public Confidence in the Jurisdiction's Governance	Public confidence is unlikely to be affected from an earthquake event.

PEOPLE

Earthquake events in Knox County are unlikely to produce a noticeable level of shaking; therefore, injury or death is unlikely. Objects falling from shelves generally pose the greatest threat to safety. In severe cases, an earthquake could cause fatalities due to building collapse.

PROPERTY

In a severe earthquake event, buildings can be damaged by the shaking itself or by the ground beneath them settling to a different level than it was before the earthquake (subsidence). Buildings can even sink into the ground if soil liquefaction occurs. If a structure (a building, road, etc.) is built across a fault, the ground displacement during an earthquake could seriously damage that structure. Wood-frame multi-unit structures, mobile homes, and unreinforced masonry buildings are most vulnerable. Impacts to buildings could include cracked foundations, chimneys breaking at the roof line, wood frames coming off their foundations, and racking of cripple walls.

Earthquakes can also cause damages to infrastructure, resulting in secondary hazards. Damages to dams or levees could cause failures and subsequent flooding. Fires can be started by broken gas lines and power lines. Fires can be a serious problem, especially if the water lines that feed the fire hydrants have been damaged as well. Impacts of earthquakes also include debris clean-up and service disruption.

ENVIRONMENT

An earthquake is unlikely to cause substantial impacts to the natural environment in Knox County. Impacts to infrastructure, such as a ruptured gas line, could cause secondary damages to the surrounding environment. However, this type of damage is unlikely based on historical occurrences.

CHANGES IN DEVELOPMENT

Development has increased overall exposure in Knox County. However, development changes have not affected the risk characteristics of earthquakes. The probability, impact, spatial extent, warning time, and duration of earthquakes in Knox County have not changed, nor are they expected to in the near future.

HAZARD SUMMARY BY JURISDICTION

The following table summarizes earthquake hazard risk by jurisdiction. Earthquake risk is uniform across the planning area.

Jurisdiction	Probability	Impact	Spatial Extent	Warning Time	Duration	Score	Priority
Farragut	2	1	3	4	1	2	L
Knoxville	2	1	3	4	1	2	L
Unincorporated Knox County	2	1	3	4	1	2	L

5.7 EXPANSIVE SOILS

Hazard	Probability	Impact	Spatial Extent	Warning Time	Duration	PRI Score
Expansive Soils	Unlikely	Minor	Small	More than 24 hours	More than 1 week	1.5

HAZARD DESCRIPTION

Expansive soils are those that expand when they get wet and shrink when they dry. Expansive soils can cause damage to foundations, slabs, roads, sidewalks, pipelines and sometimes cause buildings and their components to crack. Expansive soils usually contain high amounts of clay. The subsurface conditions of East Tennessee primarily consist of limestone, dolomite, shale, and sandstone.

Warning Time: 1 – More than 24 hours

Duration: 4 – More than one week

LOCATION

Figure 5-15 shows a map of the United States depicting areas containing varying degrees of expansive soils. The planning area is located in the brown shaded area underlain by soils with little to no clays with swelling potential of soils when compared to the rest of the United States.

Spatial Extent: 2 – Limited

EXTENT

Expansive soils develop slowly and are not typically a public safety concern. The slow expansion and contraction of the clays and soils applies pressure to a structure and can eventually cause damage to foundation and crack. Expansive soils' risk is measured by quantifying the soil's ability to swell and shrink from water content, which can be measured with linear extensibility. Linear extensibility is an expression of the length of change between water content 1/3 to 1/10 bar tension (33kPascal to 10 kPascal) and oven dryness multiplied by the thickness of the soil layer.

The National Resources Conservation Services uses 4 categories, from low to high, to measure the change in the soils' volume expressed as a percent value of linear extensibility. Table 5-14 provides a breakdown of expansive soil threat categories.

Table 5-14 Linear Extensibility Zones

Ranking	Linear Extensibility %	Clay %
Low	0.0%-3.0%	<25
Moderate	3.0%-6.0%	25-35
High	6.0%-9.0%	35-45
Very High	>9.0%	>45

Source: NRCS, 2018 TN Hazard Mitigation Plan

Figure 5-16 is from the 2018 Tennessee Hazard Mitigation Plan and displays expansive soil risk in East Tennessee. East Tennessee's soils exhibit low linear extensibility and therefore expansive soil risk in the region is likely low.

Source: NRCS, 2018 Tennessee State Hazard Mitigation Plan

Impact: 1 – Minor

HISTORICAL OCCURENCES

The effects of shrink-swell cycles in expansive soils are cumulative, and in most cases are associated with accelerated wear and tear and settling. The frequency of damage from expansive soils can be associated with the cycles of drought and heavy rainfall, which reflect changes in moisture content. There is no data regarding incidents of damages resulting from expansive soils. These damages are largely isolated incidents and affected property owners make any necessary repairs.

PROBABILITY

Due to the limited amount of clay soils within Knox County, significant damage from expansive soils is unlikely.

CLIMATE CHANGE

Increased temperature associated with climate change as well as changes in precipitation can impact soil expansion. However, within Knox County there are limited amounts of clay soil, so it is unlikely that climate change will alter the intensity or frequency of these events.

CONSEQUENCE ANALYSIS

Category	Consequences
Public	Damages to buildings caused by expansive soils can be costly and hazardous to inhabitants. Additionally, expansive soils can cause leaks that attract mold and pests, which negatively impact human health. Roadway and sidewalk damage can be dangerous to pedestrians, cyclists, and drivers.
Responders	The impacts of expansive soils are usually felt slowly and are highly unlikely to require first responders.
Continuity of Operations (including Continued Delivery of Services)	Expansive soils are unlikely to impact continuity of operations.
Property, Facilities and Infrastructure	Expansive soils can damage foundations, walls, etc. of buildings and in extreme causes lead to a building's collapse. They can also damage pipelines and other public utilities and lead to roadway heaving.
Environment	The environmental impact of expansive soils is minimal.
Economic Condition of the Jurisdiction	Damages to public buildings, roadways, and public utilities can impose an economic cost to the local government.
Public Confidence in the Jurisdiction's Governance	Expansive soils are highly unlikely to impact the public's confidence in local governance.

PEOPLE

Expansive soils can damage personal property, roads, sidewalks, and public utilities. Damages to personal property can be costly for a homeowner to repair and can lead to unsafe living conditions. Roadway heaving due to expansive soils can lead to hazardous conditions for drivers. Cracks in sidewalks caused by expansive soils can create an unsafe pedestrian environment.

PROPERTY

Expansive soils are a leading cause of damage to buildings and construction in the U.S. Impacts include severe structural damage, cracked driveways, sidewalks, heaving of roads and highway structures, condemnation of buildings, and disruption of pipelines and sewer lines.

ENVIRONMENT

Expansive soil primarily impacts the integrity of property and infrastructure, and its impact on the environment is minimal.

CHANGES IN DEVELOPMENT

Sidewalks, roads, patios, and other large concrete or asphalt developments are particularly vulnerable to cracking because of the shrink-swell cycle with expansive soils. However, the planning area has very little clay soil, and therefore expansive soils are of minimal concern.

HAZARD SUMMARY BY JURISDICTION

The following table summarizes extreme heat hazard risk by jurisdiction. Extreme heat risk does not vary significantly by jurisdiction.

EXTREME HEAT

As defined by FEMA, in most of the United States extreme heat is classified by a long period (2 to 3 days) of high heat and humidity with temperatures above 90 degrees. Extreme heat is often referred to as a "heat wave."

According to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), heat is one of the leading weather-related killers in the United States. From 1999 through 2009, extreme heat exposure caused more than 7,800 deaths. Under extreme heat conditions, the human body has difficulties cooling through the normal method of the evaporation of perspiration and must work harder to maintain a normal temperature. Health risks rise when a person is overexposed to heat. The most dangerous place to be during an extreme heat incident is in a permanent home, with little or no air conditioning. Sun exposure, wind conditions, age, and physical condition influence susceptibility to heat disorder.

Ambient air temperature and relative humidity determine the relative intensity of heat conditions. The relationship of these factors creates what is known as the apparent temperature. The Heat Index Chart, shown in Figure 5-17, uses temperature and humidity to produce a guide for the apparent temperature, to better inform the public of heat dangers.

The Heat Index Chart was devised for shady locations. Exposure to direct sun can increase Heat Index values by as much as 15°F.

Table 5-16 lists typical symptoms and health impacts of heat exposure according to the severity classifications shown in the heat index chart.

Table 5-16 Typical Health Impacts of Extreme Heat

Classification	Heat Index	Effect on the Body
Caution	80-90˚F	Fatigue possible with prolonged exposure and/or physical activity
Extreme Caution	90-103˚F	Heat stroke, heat cramps, and heat exhaustion possible with prolonged exposure and/or physical activity
Danger	103-124˚F	Heat cramps or heat exhaustion likely, and heat stroke possible with prolonged exposure and/or physical activity
Extreme Danger	125˚F or higher	Heat stroke highly likely

Source: National Weather Service, https://www.weather.gov/ama/heatindex

Hotter than average days in the summer increase illness and death by compromising the body's ability to regulate its temperature. This loss of temperature control can result in a cascade of illnesses, including heat cramps, heat exhaustion, heatstroke, and hyperthermia. Temperature extremes can also worsen chronic conditions, including cardiovascular, respiratory, and cerebrovascular disease and diabetes-related conditions.

The NWS has a system in place to initiate alert procedures (advisories or warnings) when the Heat Index is expected to have a significant impact on public safety. The expected severity of the heat determines whether advisories or warnings are issued.

While heat conditions may last several days, a warning can be issued even for one day of expected heat conditions.

EXTREME COLD

The National Weather Service will issue a Wind Chill Advisory for Knox County when temperatures are expected to reach –15°F to –24°F and winds of greater than 10 mph for at least 3 hours. In 2001, NWS implemented an updated Wind Chill Temperature (WCT) index. This index was developed by the National Weather Service to describe the relative discomfort/danger resulting from the combination of wind and temperature. Wind chill is based on the rate of heat loss from exposed skin caused by wind and cold. As the wind increases, it draws heat from the body, driving down skin temperature and eventually the internal body temperature.

Specifically, the new WCT index:

- Calculates wind speed at an average height of five feet (typical height of an adult human face) based on readings from the national standard height of 33 feet (10m);
- Is based on a human face model;
- Incorporates modern heat transfer theory (heat loss from the body to its surroundings, during cold and breezy/windy days);
- Lowers the calm wind threshold to 3 mph;
- Uses a consistent standard for skin tissue resistance; and
- Assumes no impact from the sun (i.e., clear night sky).

Extreme cold can cause hypothermia (an extreme lowering of the body's temperature), frostbite and death. Infants and the elderly are particularly at risk, but anyone can be affected. While there are no firm data on hypothermia (cold) death rates, it is estimated that 25,000 older adults die from hypothermia each year. The National Institute on Aging estimates that more than 2.5 million Americans are especially vulnerable to hypothermia, with the isolated elderly being most at risk. About 10 percent of people over the age of 65 have some kind of temperature-regulating defect, and 3-4 percent of all hospital patients over 65 are hypothermic.

Also, at risk are those without shelter or who are stranded, or who live in a home that is poorly insulated or without heat. Other impacts of extreme cold include asphyxiation (unconsciousness or death from a lack of oxygen) from toxic fumes from emergency heaters; household fires, which can be caused by fireplaces and emergency heaters; and frozen/burst pipes. The National Weather Service will issue a Wind Chill Advisory for Knox County when wind-chill temperatures are expected to reach –4 °F to –20 °F.

LOCATION

The entire planning area is subject to extreme temperatures and all participating jurisdictions are affected. Figure 5-19 indicates the daily temperature data for Knoxville for the year 2022. The brown band shows the normal temperature range throughout the year. This is the temperature that is expected, but the dark blue line is the actual observed temperature for the year. The red line is the record max and the light blue is the record low. Multiple times between the months of February and June, the actual observed temperature broke the record maximum temperature. Also, the observed temperature for the year expanded outside of the normal temperature range for most months of the year.

EXTREME HEAT

Analysis of daily maximum temperatures recorded at the Knoxville McGhee Tyson Airport, station ID 404950 revealed that during the 74-year period from January 1,1950 to August 9, 2023, 2,550 days had a high temperature exceeding 90 degrees Fahrenheit. This translates to just under 10 percent of the days during that time period. Thirty-seven days in this time period had a high temperature of 100 degrees Fahrenheit or higher.

The record high temperature at this station is 105 degrees Fahrenheit which occurred June 30, 2012 and July 1, 2012. Table 5-17 summarizes the daily maximum temperatures from January 1, 2000 through August 9, 2023 were 100 degrees Fahrenheit or higher. Given the NWS classification of danger for heat cramps, heat exhaustion, and heat stroke at this temperature, the magnitude of heat in the Knox County planning area is considered Extreme Caution.

HISTORICAL OCCURRENCES

Since 1995, Knox County has experienced three extreme heat events, resulting in three fatalities. No extreme cold events were observed in that time period. Narratives for the three events are below.

- June/July, 2012 – A large heat wave moved through the southeastern U.S. and had large effects on Knox County. Though no fatalities were reported, the all-time max-high temperature record was broken at 105 degrees Fahrenheit.
- June 27-28, 1998 – Two fatalities were reported in Knox County as a result of extreme heat. The temperature reached 94 degrees Fahrenheit on the 27th and 95 degrees Fahrenheit on the 28th.
- July 16, 1995 – There was one reported fatality as a result of this extreme heat event. The temperature reached 96 degrees Fahrenheit.

According to the USDA's Risk Management Agency, there were no insured crop losses in the planning area as a result of extreme heat from 2007 to 2023. However, $28,825 in crop losses occurred as a result of frost and freeze conditions, detailed in the table below.

2014	All Other Crops	Frost	$1,632

PROBABILITY OF FUTURE OCCURRENCE

Based on historical maximum and minimum temperatures recorded at the Knoxville McGhee Tyson Airport from January 1, 1950 to August 9, 2023, temperatures above 90 degrees Fahrenheit occurred an average of 35 times each year while temperatures below 10 degrees Fahrenheit occurred an average of 2.5 times per year. This demonstrates that extreme heat events are more likely than extreme cold events. In general, at least one extreme temperature event per year is "highly likely".

Probability: 3 – Likely

EXTREME HEAT

According to the Third National Climate Assessment, average temperatures across the Southeast have increased by an average of 2°F from 1970 to the present, with higher average temperatures during summer months. In particular, the warm minimum temperature has been increasing meaning that during warmer parts of the year, the coldest days are getting warmer. This is important because human health relies on cooler nights, and reduced cooling of overnight temperatures may create additional health stresses for local vulnerable populations. The Fifth National Climate Assessment's map of projected change in extreme heat days (Figure 5-20) projects that Knox County will experience 10-20 more extreme heat days by 2050 compared to 1991-2020.

Additionally, climate change is expected to increase the wet-bulb globe temperature (WBGT) in the Southeast, which is an indicator of heat related stress on the human body at work (or play) in direct sunlight. It measures the combined effects of temperature, humidity, wind, and sunlight on thermal comfort (Fifth National Climate Assessment, 2023).

Extreme Cold

While rising temperatures are typically associated with blistering summer days and heat waves, the most rapid temperature impact has been felt in the winter. According to the University of Chicago's Climate Impact Lab, Tennessee is expected to experience 17 fewer days below 32° between 2040 and 2059 under a medium-high emissions scenario. Therefore, it is anticipated that Knoxville will experience fewer extreme cold events under climate change.

CONSEQUENCE ANALYSIS

Category	Consequences
Public	Extreme temperature may cause illness and/or death. Children and infants, older adults, individuals with chronic conditions, and pregnant women are particularly vulnerable.
Responders	Consequences may be greater for responders if their work requires physical exertion, sun exposure, and/or wearing heavy protective gear.
Continuity of Operations (including Continued Delivery of Services)	Extreme temperature would have minimal impacts on continuity of operations. Complications may arise if electricity demand results in power outages; however, this should be managed for critical operations with backup power and system redundancies.
Property, Facilities and Infrastructure	Minor impacts may occur, including possible damages to road surfaces, rail lines, and power lines as well as increased strain on power generation and water systems infrastructure.
Environment	Environmental impacts include strain on local plant and wildlife, including potential for illness or death. Crops and livestock may be affected.
Economic Condition of the Jurisdiction	Short term impacts could include reduced local spending if individuals are encouraged to stay inside. Farmers may face crop losses or increased livestock costs resulting in income loss.
Public Confidence in the Jurisdiction's Governance	Extreme temperature is unlikely to impact public confidence because these events are frequent, and the public likely understands the potential impacts.

PEOPLE

Extreme heat can cause heat stroke and even loss of human life. NCEI reports three fatalities from extreme heat since 1995. Extreme cold can cause hypothermia (an extreme lowering of the body's temperature), frostbite and death. Infants and the elderly are particularly at risk during extreme temperatures, but anyone can be affected. Older adults, very young children, people with chronic medical conditions, and pregnant women are most at risk. People who are socially isolated are also at heightened risk, as are individuals who work outside. Lower-income people who may struggle to pay for heat or air condition are also highly susceptible. Additionally, any individual can be susceptible to heat-related disorders if they participate in strenuous physical activities during hot weather or are not acclimated to hot weather.

Table 5-20 summarizes the percent of young children and older adults in the population by jurisdiction. Based on these statistics, exposure of vulnerable populations is a concern across the county.

Table 5-20 Population Under 5 Years of Age and Over 65 Years of Age by Jurisdiction

Jurisdiction	Population under 5 years of age (%)	Population over 65 years of age (%)
Farragut	4.4%	21.7%
Knoxville	5.1%	14.2%

Jurisdiction	Population under 5 years of age (%)	Population over 65 years of age (%)
Unincorporated Knox County	5.9%	16.9%

PROPERTY

Extreme temperatures normally do not impact structures. However, prolonged high heat exposure increases the risk of pavement deterioration, as well as railroad warping or buckling. High heat and extreme cold also puts a strain on energy systems and consumption, as air conditioners and heating systems are run at a higher rate and for longer. Extreme heat can also reduce transmission capacity over electric systems.

ENVIRONMENT

Wild animals are vulnerable to heat and cold disorders similar to humans, including mortality. Vegetation growth will be stunted, or plants may be killed if temperatures rise or fall above their tolerance extremes.

CHANGES IN DEVELOPMENT

Increases in impervious surface area can exacerbate heat conditions through the urban heat island effect, whereby the concentration of structures, infrastructure, and human activity, traps and stores heat, resulting in localized "heat islands." As development occurs, the area impacted by the urban heat island effect may grow. The severity of the urban heat island effect may be mitigated through the installation of cool roofs, urban trees, and other interventions that reflect heat or provide shade in urban areas.

HAZARD SUMMARY BY JURISDICTION

The following table summarizes extreme heat hazard risk by jurisdiction. Extreme heat risk does not vary significantly by jurisdiction.

Knoxville	4	2	4	1	3	3	H
Unincorporated Knox County	4	2	4	1	3	3	H

HAZARD DESCRIPTION

Flooding is defined by the rising and overflowing of water onto normally dry land. As specified by FEMA, a flood is a general and temporary condition of partial or complete inundation of two or more acres of normally dry land area or of two or more properties. Inland flooding generally results from excessive precipitation and can stem from an overflow of inland waters or an unusual accumulation or runoff of surface waters from any source.

Flooding is the most frequent and costly natural hazard in the United States. Approximately 90 percent of all natural disasters in the U.S. involve flooding.

Inland flooding, the type of flooding that occurs in Knox County, can typically be classified under two categories: general riverine flooding, which is defined by precipitation over a given river basin for a long period of time, and flash flooding, which is the product of heavy localized precipitation over a short period of time. The severity of a flooding event is typically determined by a combination of several major factors, including stream and river basin topography and physiography, precipitation and weather patterns, recent soil moisture conditions, the degree of vegetative clearing, and impervious surface.

SOURCES AND TYPES OF FLOODING

Flooding in Knox County can be attributed to three main sources: riverine flooding, flash flooding, and localized stormwater flooding.

Riverine Flooding: Knox County has numerous rivers, streams, and tributaries running throughout its jurisdiction that are susceptible to overflowing their banks during and following excessive precipitation events. Factors that directly affect the amount of flood runoff include precipitation, intensity and distribution, the amount of soil moisture, seasonal variation in vegetation, snow depth, and water-resistance of the surface areas due to urbanization.

Riverine flooding is mapped and evaluated based on the floodplain, which is the area adjacent to rivers and streams that is expected to experience periodic flooding. Floodplains are discussed further under "Flooding and Floodplains" below.

Flash Flooding: A flash flood occurs when water levels rise at an extremely fast rate as a result of intense rainfall over a brief period, possibly from severe thunderstorms, hurricanes, or tropical storms, and sometimes combined with saturated soil or impermeable surfaces. Flash flooding can also result from dam or levee failures, which are discussed in Section 0, or from a sudden release of water held by a retention basin or other stormwater control facility.

Flash flooding can happen anywhere, in or out of floodplains. Flash flood hazards caused by surface water runoff are common in urbanized areas, where greater impervious surface (e.g., pavement and buildings) increases the amount of surface water generated.

Flash flooding is a dangerous form of flooding which can reach full peak in only a few minutes. The rapid onset allows little or no time for protective measures. Flash flood waters move at very fast speeds and can damage buildings and infrastructure, tear out trees, and scour channels. Flash flooding can result in higher loss of life, both human and animal, than slower developing river and stream flooding.

Localized Stormwater Flooding: Localized stormwater flooding occurs when heavy rainfall and an accumulation of runoff overburden the stormwater drainage system. Localized stormwater flooding can be attributed to large amounts of developed and impervious land, which limit ground absorption and increases surface water runoff. The following structural drainage issues may cause or exacerbate localized stormwater flooding:

- Inadequate Capacity – An undersized/under capacity pipe system can cause water to back-up behind a structure which can lead to areas of ponded water and/or overtopping of banks.
- Clogged Inlets – Debris covering the asphalt apron and the top of grate at catch basin inlets may contribute to an inadequate flow of stormwater into the system. Debris within the basin itself may also reduce the efficiency of the system by reducing the carrying capacity.
- Blocked Drainage Outfalls – Debris blockage or structural damage at drainage outfalls may prevent the system from discharging runoff, which may lead to a back-up of stormwater within the system.
- Improper Grade – Poorly graded asphalt around catch basin inlets may prevent stormwater from entering the catch basin as designed. Areas of settled asphalt may create low spots within the roadway that allow for areas of ponded water.

While localized flooding may not be as destructive riverine or coastal flooding, it is a chronic problem. The repetitive damage caused by such flooding can add up. Sewers may back up, yards can be inundated, and mechanical systems can be damaged when homes, businesses, and vehicles are flooded. These impacts, and other localized flooding impacts, can create public health and safety concerns. Drainage and sewer systems not designed to carry the capacity currently needed to handle increased storm runoff will only continue to cause flooding without mitigation.

Sinkhole Flooding: Sinkhole flooding occurs when surface drainage goes underground into sinkholes, rather than continue to drain into tributaries and rivers that are part of the surface drainage basin. When floodwater drains into sinkholes, it is similar to a bathtub filling up when the faucet is turned on full force. Siphon holes suck out the water, like the drain in a bathtub. But, when there is too much water coming in at one time, or the siphon holes become clogged, the sinkhole fills up and eventually becomes a lake. The resulting back-up of floodwaters can cause damages to property.

The Ten Mile Creek Drainage Basin is a specific basin within the planning area that has been identified as prone to sinkhole flooding. The map in Figure 5-25 and Figure 5-26 shows locations within the Ten Mile Creek Drainage Basin that could be flooded if the outlet is plugged.

FLOODING AND FLOODPLAINS

A floodplain, as shown in Figure 5-21, is flat or nearly flat land adjacent to a stream or river that experiences occasional or periodic flooding. It includes the floodway, which consists of the stream channel and adjacent areas that carry flood flows, and the flood fringe, which are areas covered by the flood, but which do not experience a strong current. Floodplains are made when floodwaters exceed the capacity of the main channel or escape the channel by eroding its banks. When this occurs, sediments (including rocks and debris) are deposited that gradually build up over time to create the floor of the floodplain. Floodplains generally contain unconsolidated sediments, often extending below the bed of the stream.

Floodplains are defined by the flood recurrence interval that is expected to cover them. In its common usage, the floodplain most often refers to the area that is inundated by the "100-year flood," better defined as the "1-percent-annual-chance flood" because it is the flood that has a 1 percent chance in any given year of being equaled or exceeded. The National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) utilizes the 1-percent-annual-chance flood as a basis for floodplain management. The "500-year flood" or "0.2-percent-annual-chance flood" is the flood that has a 0.2 percent chance of being equaled or exceeded in any given year.

The potential for flooding can change and increase through various land use changes and changes to land surface, which result in a change to the floodplain. Similarly, a change in environment can create localized flooding problems inside and outside of natural floodplains by altering or confining natural drainage channels. These changes are most often created by human activity.

The 1-percent-annual-chance flood, which is the minimum standard used by most federal and state agencies, is used by the NFIP as the standard for floodplain management and to determine the need for flood insurance. Participation in the NFIP requires adoption and enforcement of a local floodplain management ordinance which is intended to prevent unsafe development in the floodplain, thereby reducing future flood damages. Participation in the NFIP allows for the federal government to make flood insurance available within the community as a financial protection against flood losses. Since floods have an annual probability of occurrence, have a known magnitude, depth and velocity for each event, and in many cases, have a map indicating where they will likely occur, they are in many ways often the most predictable and manageable hazard.

While weather forecasting can project periods of heavy rain, the likelihood of flooding is difficult to predict, leaving limited warning time for flood events. Especially as heavy rain events become more common, as discussed below under climate change, warning time for flooding may decrease, thereby increasing risk to those in harm's way.

Warning Time: 3 – 6 to 12 hours

Duration: 3 – Less than 1 week

LOCATION

Regulated floodplains are illustrated on inundation maps called Flood Insurance Rate Maps (FIRMs). A FIRM is the official map for a community on which FEMA has delineated both the Special Flood Hazard Areas (SFHAs) and the risk premium zones applicable to the community. SFHAs represent the areas subject to inundation by the 1-percent-annual-chance flood event. SFHAs and risk premium zones in Knox County and Knoxville were identified using the digital FIRMs (DFIRMs), effective as of August 5, 2013. The Town of Farragut's SFHA were identified on May 2, 2007. Descriptions of all mapped flood zones identified by the DFIRM are provided in Table 5-21.

Table 5-21 Mapped Flood Insurance Zones within Knox County

Zone	Description
A	Areas subject to inundation by the 1-percent-annual-chance flood event. Detailed analysis are not performed for such areas; no depths or base flood elevations are shown within these zones.
AE	Areas subject to inundation by the 1-percent-annual-chance flood event determined by detailed methods. The AE Zones also depict the SFHA due to riverine flood sources, and they represent the flood profile determined by hydrologic and hydraulic investigations. Base Flood Elevations (BFEs) are shown.
0.2% Annual Chance (shaded Zone X)	Moderate risk areas within the 0.2-percent-annual-chance floodplain, areas of 1-percent-annual-chance flooding where average depths are less than 1 foot, areas of 1-percent-annual-chance flooding where the contributing drainage area is less than 1 square mile, and areas protected from the 1-percent-annual-chance flood by a levee. No BFEs or base flood depths are shown within these zones. (Zone X (shaded) is used on new and revised maps in place of Zone B.)
Zone X (unshaded)	Minimal risk areas outside the 1-percent and 0.2-percent-annual-chance floodplains. No BFEs or base flood depths are shown within these zones. Zone X (unshaded) is used on new and revised maps in place of Zone C.

It is important to note that while FEMA digital flood data is recognized as the best available data for planning purposes, it does not always reflect the most accurate and up-to-date flood risk. Floods can and do occur outside of the SFHA and Shaded X Zone.

EXTENT

Flood extent can be defined by the amount of land in the floodplain, detailed above in Tables 5-22, 5-23, and 5-24. The severity of a flood can also be measured by its depth and velocity. The depth of flooding that impacts a property is correlated with the property damages that result, where greater depths cause more substantial damages.

Impact: 3 – Critical

HISTORICAL OCCURRENCES

The flood events in the NCDC database were reviewed. Considering the dates and times, as well as narrative descriptions, it was determined that there were 82 separate reported flood events in the Planning Area between 1997 and 2023. Of the 82 events, 29 were reported as river floods. The remaining 53 were flash floods. The NCDC database does not categorize sinkhole flooding. However, the narrative descriptions indicate sinkhole flooding, where applicable. In all, these events resulted in an estimated $45.907 Million in property damages.

In addition, Knox County experienced 10 Presidential disaster declarations that included flooding between 1953 and 2023. For five of those declarations (DRs 1464, 1331, 424, 1974, and 4005), however, the damages in Knox County, and its inclusion in the declarations were primarily for tornado events. Additional local and historical accounts are provided below.

- July 7, 2022, Flood—A humid airmass remained in place beneath a west-northwesterly flow aloft. Weak boundaries triggered convection in WNW to ESE oriented bands, some which were anchored to a higher terrain. Vehicles were submerged along 23rd Street and a few residents were rescued from nearby apartments. The flood caused 20,000 dollars in property damages.
- February 6, 2020, Flood—A cold front extending from the Texas coast to the southern Appalachians resulted in heavy rainfall of five to six inches across most of the Knox County area. This resulted in numerous road closures, a few roadway rescues, and 10,000 dollars in property damages.
- February 23, 2019, Flood—A strong low pressure system moved from northeast New Mexico to the Great Lakes, providing strong southerly flow from the Gulf and significant amounts of rainfall. Numerous roadways and structures were flooded. A 59-year-old motorist became submerged and died shortly after. The storm caused 32.5 million dollars in damages across Knox County.
- May 27, 2017, Severe Storms and Flooding—Severe storms came through east Tennessee causing thousands of dollars in damage. Governor Bill Haslam requested federal aid for cleanup and recovery for 12 counties, including Knox County.
- April 22, 2017—A low pressure moved into the central plains moving a surface front southeastward towards middle Tennessee. This placed the upper Tennessee Valley in a warm and humid air mass, which aided in the generation of heavy rainfall and severe storms for several days. Beaver Creek went out of its bank, with water reaching the skirting of a mobile home.
- February 15-23, 2015, Winter Storm and Flooding—A severe winter storm affected much of east Tennessee, including Knox County, causing intense flooding. There were 30 casualties through this storm.
- April 2-5, 2012, Flash Flooding—Severe weather caused flash flooding in the planning area during these days.
- July 2, 2012, Flood, Heavy Rain - Isolated to scattered afternoon and evening thunderstorms produced reports of hail, wind damage, and locally heavy rainfall. Water covering several roadways in Farragut and west Knoxville.
- April 27, 2011, Flash Flooding—Severe storms including intense rain, hail and tornadoes swept over east Tennessee, including Knox County. Several intersections were flooded.
- February 28, 2011, Flash Flooding—As a result of this event, police closed Interstate 640. North Knoxville & Fountain City—shopping centers along Broadway flooded up to car windows.
- September 26, 2009, Flash Flooding—Flooding occurred on a few streets in southeast Knoxville. Several inches to nearly a foot of water was reported over the streets, with several areas briefly impassable due to the flooding.
- September 23, 2006, Flash Flooding—Flooding from stationary thunderstorms caused flooding of streets in downtown Knoxville and in the west end of the county. In the Cedar Bluff area, floodwaters covered streets and entered some basements.
- August 4, 2006, Flash Flooding—Thunderstorm rains produced four feet of water at the intersection of Cumberland and Poplar Streets in Knoxville.
- July 6, 2005, Flash Flooding—Three feet of water on Interstate 40 at Papermill Road.

- June 17, 2004, Flash Flooding—"Shoulder deep" water covered the parking of an apartment complex in Bearden, covering some vehicles and invading several units. Also, water filled the parking of a popular restaurant in Bearden, completely submerging several vehicles. Damage was estimated at $300,000.
- June 14, 2004, Flash Flooding—Car submerged on Kingston Pike as flash flood waters invaded area. Damage estimated at $10,000.
- May 5, 2003, Flash Flooding—Kingston Pike and Gleason Road flooded and closed. Some sinkholes filled to overflowing, minor mudslides. Damage estimated at

- April 10, 2003, Flood—Seven day rainfall totals (4th through the 10th) of three to five inches were reported across central east Tennessee and northeast Tennessee, with one to three inches occurring on the 10th. Several secondary roads across the area were flooded with several rivers experiencing some minor flooding including the Clinch, French Broad, Holston, Pigeon and Powell rivers.
- February 21, 2003, Flood—With the ground already saturated from the previous week's rainfall, three day rainfall totals of one to three inches created some flooding of streams and rivers as well as several mudslides across east Tennessee. Rivers which rose above their flood stages included the South Chickamauga, Clinch, Powell, Holston, Pigeon, French Broad and Sequatchie rivers.
- February 14-16, 2003, Flood—Seventy roads reported to be flooded with some closed. One injury reported in an apartment complex which was destroyed by a mudslide. Four day rainfall totals of two to eight inches fell across east Tennessee, with the highest amounts occurring across the Cumberland Plateau and adjacent valleys areas. This rainfall combined with a melting snowpack (reports of up to a foot in the higher elevations) to produce widespread flooding of rivers and streams with numerous mudslides also reported (one notable mudslide pushed an apartment complex off its foundation in Knox County). The Powell, Clinch and Holston rivers measured the most significant rises with Claiborne, Rhea and Knox counties reporting the most significant damage.
- March 17, 2002, Flood—Widespread flooding occurred across most of East Tennessee with the hardest hit counties in central East Tennessee including Bledsoe, Meigs, Roane, Rhea, Loudon, Blount, Knox, and Sevier Counties. Rainfall totals between five and eight inches were reported in 36 hours. Numerous major rivers flooded including the Clinch, Powell, Sequatchie, and Pigeon Rivers. Total damage estimates were calculated to be over 5 million dollars.
- January 23, 2002, Flood—Prolonged heavy rain throughout the day resulted in numerous road closings across much of central East Tennessee.
- August 30, 2001, Urban Flood—Many roads in the Cedar Bluff, Cross Park and Bridgewater areas were flooded and closed. Several persons had to be evacuated from cars.
- April 4, 2000, Flash Flood
- July 11, 1999, Flood—Widespread showers and thunderstorms with heavy rain caused flooding problems throughout much of East Tennessee. In Knox County, many cars were stranded in flooded underpasses.
- June 1-2, 1998, Flash Flooding—Apartment building evacuated due to flooding at Knox Lane and Fair Drive. Alcoa Highway near the Navy/Marine Corps Reserve Center was impassable due to water across the road.

- May 21, 1998, Flash Flooding—junction of John Sevier and Asheville Highway was flooded up to car bumpers.
- May 7, 1998, Urban Flood—Flooding on Emory Road and Norris Freeway.
- April 17-18, 1998, Flash Flooding (FEMA-1215-DR)—Long-lived heavy rain event caused evacuations of apartments throughout the county. Numerous roads underwater and impassable throughout county. Road near West Town Mall flooded. 2 inches of rain per hour near Karns.
- July 1, 1997, Flash Flood—Flash flooding in the Shipetown area resulted in a tractor trailer and several cars stalling in flooding from Flat Creek along Mine Road. Several individuals including the tractor trailer driver, had to be rescued from their vehicles.
- April 21, 1997, Flash Flood—Heavy rain over several hours resulted in flash flooding. Parts of I-40 were underwater
- May 9, 1995, Flash Flooding—Several roads were closed due to flooding.
- April 15, 1994, Flash Flooding/Sinkhole Flooding—Locally heavy rainfall produced flash flooding across the southeast corner of Tennessee. Numerous roads were closed because of the flash flooding. Some rock and mud slides occurred as well. An apartment complex was flooded in Knox County. Damages were estimated at $50,000.
- March 27, 1994, flash flooding/sinkhole flooding
- February 10-11, 1994, Flash Flooding/Sinkhole Flooding
- December 4, 1993, Flash Flooding—Several roads were flooded
- August 20, 1993, Flash Flooding—Nearly 2.00 inches of rain flooded a few roads and underpasses
- July 31, 1982, Flood—This flood on upper First Creek exceeded all experienced previously in its urban history. Intense rainfall over a 13-hour period produced several rain gage totals in the Fountain City area that exceeded seven inches. Floods on upper First Creek and to a much lesser extent other Knoxville streams resulted in damages estimated by the Knoxville News-Sentinel at $1.2 to $2 million. Fourth Creek also flooded as a result of this event causing extensive inundation of roads and parking lots.
- March 21, 1973, Flood (Fema-366-DR)
- 1971, Flood—this flood event included sinkhole flooding in the ten-mile creek drainage basin. A 16-square mile area drains into a two-mile long sinkhole that is about 50 feet deep. The sinkhole filled up during the flood event and backed up into the drainage basin causing flooding. Among other damages, waters that backed up, went over a dike built around a pumping station, causing an estimated $150,000 in damages and putting the station out of commission for an extended period.
- March 27, 1963, Flood (FEMA151-DR)—This federal disaster declaration was made following severe storms and heavy rains caused urban flooding in the planning area.

PROBABILITY OF FUTURE OCCURRENCE

By definition, SFHAs are those areas that will be inundated by the flood event having a 1-percent chance of being equaled or exceeded in any given year, and the Shaded X Zone is the area that will be inundated by the flood event having a 0.2-percent chance of being equaled or exceeded in any given year. This delineation is a useful way to identify the most at-risk areas. However, flooding does not occur in set intervals; any given flood may be more or less severe than the defined 1-percent-annual-chance flood. There is also risk of localized stormwater flooding in areas outside the SFHA and at different intervals than the 1-percent-annual-chance flood.

Floods of varying severity occur regularly in Knox County. Based on data from FEMA, the NCDC database and local accounts, from 2013 to 2023, there were 44 records of flood or flash flood events over a 10-year period. The average number of flood and flash flood events calculates to 4.4 per year. Therefore, the probability of future occurrences for flooding is "highly likely."

Probability: 4 – Highly Likely

CLIMATE CHANGE

According to the Fourth National Climate Assessment, the frequency and intensity of heavy precipitation events is expected to increase across the country. More specifically, there is a 90-100% probability that by the late 21st century most areas of the U.S. will exhibit an increase of at least 5% in the maximum 5-day precipitation. Overall increases in precipitation totals are also expected in the Southeast. The mean change in the annual number of days with rainfall over 1 inch for the Southeastern U.S. is 0.5 to 1.5 days. Therefore, with more rainfall falling in more intense incidents, the planning area may experience more frequent flash flooding and localized stormwater flooding. Increased flooding may also result from more intense tropical cyclones; researchers have noted the occurrence of more intense storms bringing greater rainfall totals, a trend that is expected to continue as ocean and air temperatures rise.

CONSEQUENCE ANALYSIS

Category	Consequences
Public	Localized impact expected to be severe for flooded areas. People may become stranded in their homes or vehicles. Flooding may cause injuries or loss of life. People may also suffer large financial losses, especially if they do not have flood insurance for their home and/or contents.
Responders	First responders are at risk when attempting to rescue people from flooded homes or vehicles. They are subject to the same health hazards as the public. Flood waters may prevent access to areas in need of response or the flood may prevent access to the critical facilities themselves which may prolong response time.
Continuity of Operations (including Continued Delivery of Services)	Floods can severely disrupt normal operations, especially when there is a loss of power or when flooding blocks access to facilities or travel routes. Damage to facilities in the affected area may require temporary relocation of some operations. Localized disruption of roads, facilities, and/or utilities may postpone delivery of some services.
Property, Facilities and Infrastructure	Buildings and infrastructure, including transportation and utility infrastructure, may be damaged or destroyed. Impacts are expected to be localized to the area of the incident. Severe damage is possible.
Environment	Chemicals and other hazardous substances may contaminate local water bodies. Wildlife and livestock deaths are possible. Flooding may adversely impact crops and other vegetation through inundation and impacts to the soil. Conversely, flooding in wetlands can support biodiversity and may control invasive water weeds. Shallow flooding could also create breeding grounds for mosquitos and increase exposure to mosquito-borne diseases. Snakes may also make their way to the flooded areas.
Economic Condition of the Jurisdiction	Local economy and finances may be adversely affected, possibly for an extended period. During floods (especially flash floods), roads, bridges, buildings and vehicles can be destroyed. Businesses may need to shut down if they are damaged. According to the NFIP, almost 40 percent of small businesses that are impacted by a flood never reopen their doors. It may take years for affected communities to rebuild and recover and for business to return to normal.
Public Confidence in the Jurisdiction's Governance	Public confidence is often impacted by flood events, especially when impacted individuals do not have flood insurance, or when government aid for recovery is needed, which can be a difficult process to navigate. The ability to respond and recover may be questioned and challenged if planning, response, and recovery are not timely and effective.

PEOPLE

Flood events pose many threats to public health and safety. While such problems are often not reported, three general types of health hazards accompany floods: physical hazards from the water itself, environmental hazards in the aftermath of the flood, and long-term psychological hazards. These common health and safety hazards are detailed below:

- Contaminated water: Floodwaters carry anything that was on the ground that the upstream runoff picked up, including dirt, oil, animal waste, and lawn, farm and industrial chemicals. Pastures and areas where farm animals are kept or where their wastes are stored can contribute polluted waters to the receiving streams. Floodwaters also saturate the ground, which leads to infiltration into sanitary sewer lines, or wastewater treatment plants may be flooded or over loaded. When wastewater treatment plants are flooded, there is nowhere for the sewage to flow. Infiltration and lack of treatment can lead to overloaded sewer lines that can back up into low-lying areas and homes. Even when it is diluted by flood waters, raw sewage can be a breeding ground for bacteria such as E.coli and other disease causing agents. Private sewer and septic systems may also introduce pollutants into floodwaters. Private wells may become contaminated through infiltration of polluted water. Given the many potential sources of contamination, direct or indirect contact with floodwaters poses a significant health risk for contraction of infectious disease.

- Debris: During a flood, debris carried by floodwaters can cause physical injury from impact. During the recovery process, people may often need to clear debris out of their properties but may encounter dangers such as sharp materials or rusty nails that pose a risk of tetanus.
- Unsafe food: If floodwaters come into contact with food items, that food may no longer be safe for consumption due to the potential contaminants in the floodwaters. Foods stored in cardboard, plastic bags, jars, bottles, and paper packaging may all be subject to contamination. Even if foods don't come into direct contact with floodwaters, the introduction of mold and mildew from flooding may cause foods to spoil faster. Additionally, power outages may cause refrigerated and frozen foods to spoil.
- Mosquitos and animals: After most of the water has receded, stagnant pools can become breeding grounds for mosquitoes, which may carry infectious diseases such as West Nile virus or St. Louis encephalitis. Wild animals such as snakes or rodents may carried by floodwaters or lose their habitat and seek shelter in buildings. Snakes may also be swimming in floodwaters seeking higher ground. People may be at risk for bites or disease if they come in contact with these animals or animal carcasses.
- Mold and mildew: Areas of a building that were exposed to excessive moisture can breed mold and mildew. Molds can start to grow in only 24 to 48 hours and will continue to grow without steps to dry out and disinfect the affected surface. Some molds are allergens, while others can produce harmful mycotoxins. Exposure to mold can cause respiratory problems; nasal and sinus congestion; eye, nose, and throat irritation; aches and pains; and effects on the nervous system. Infants, children, immunocompromised individuals, elderly adults, pregnant women, and individuals with respiratory conditions are all at higher risk.
- Reentering a flooded building: Health hazards may occur when heating ducts in a forced air system are not properly cleaned after inundation. When the furnace or air conditioner is turned on, the sediments left in the ducts are circulated throughout the building and breathed in by the occupants. If the public water systems lose pressure, public water supplies may be contaminated, and a boil order may be issued to protect people and animals from contaminated water.
- Mental stress: Long-term psychological impacts can result after having been through a flood and seeing one's home damaged and personal belongings destroyed. The cost and labor needed to repair a flood-damaged home can also put a severe strain on people, especially individuals who were unprepared and uninsured. There is also a long-term problem for those who know that their homes can be flooded again. The resulting stress on floodplain residents takes its toll in the form of aggravated physical and mental health problems.

Floods can also result in fatalities. Individuals face high risk when driving through flooded streets.

Another important consideration for the health and safety of residents and visitors is the ability to safely evacuate flooded areas. Isolated and aging individuals may have difficulty evacuating due to lack of transportation access or limited evacuation options.

WSP staff conducted a HAZUS run to generate the potential losses from a 100-year flood event. Results are shown in Table 5-29, Table 5-30, and Table 5-31 below, and it should be noted that this analysis does not consider damages caused by flash flooding or sinkhole flooding. Damages causes by these events are difficult to estimate due to many variables such as duration and intensity of rainfall.

SUMMARY OF INSURED FLOOD LOSSES

Flood insurance policy records provide another measure of historical flood occurrences. According to records available via OpenFEMA, there have been 168 paid flood insurance claims in Knox County and its jurisdictions since 1971, totaling over $3 million in claim payments. These records are summarized in Table 5-25 by jurisdiction. It should be emphasized that these numbers include only those losses to structures that were insured through the NFIP and for losses in which claims were sought and received. It is likely that many additional instances of flood loss in Knox County and its jurisdictions were either uninsured, denied claims payment, or not reported.

Repetitive Loss Analysis

A repetitive loss property is a property for which two or more flood insurance claims of more than $1,000 have been paid by the NFIP within any 10-year period since 1978. Some repetitive loss buildings are classified as "severe repetitive loss" properties if they have four or more separate claim payments of more than $5,000 each (including building and contents payments) or two or more separate claim payments (building only) where the total of the payments exceeds the current value of the property.

According to NFIP records as of February 2024, there were a total of 66 repetitive loss properties within the planning area. Most of the properties are residential, while 4 are classified as non-residential.

Table 5-32 summarizes repetitive loss properties by jurisdiction as identified by FEMA through the NFIP and reported in the OpenFEMA database.

ENVIRONMENT

During a flood event, chemicals and other hazardous substances may end up contaminating local water bodies. Flooding kills animals and in general disrupts the ecosystem. Snakes and insects may also make their way to the flooded areas.

Floods can also cause significant erosion, which can alter streambanks and deposit sediment, changing the flow of streams and rivers and potentially reducing the drainage capacity of those waterbodies.

CHANGES IN DEVELOPMENT

It is very likely that development can and will change the flood hazard and increase risk. If development expands outwards towards undeveloped areas, it will increase impervious surface coverage, potentially intensifying flooding. Infill development paired with low-impact development strategies and adequate stormwater infrastructure can allow for growth while minimizing stormwater runoff, which contributes to flash flooding.

AREAS SUBJECT TO FUTURE FLOODING

Areas subject to continued or worsening flooding in the future include existing floodplain areas, surrounding moderate risk areas, and urbanized areas with inadequate stormwater management. The following factors may influence future flooding:

- Changes in floodplain development and demographics may result in increased exposure and increased vulnerability. If development occurs in the floodplain without proper flood protection, these properties will be vulnerable to flood. Additionally, encroachments, such as new development and/or fill in the flood fringe, which is the area of the floodplain outside the floodway, reduce the natural floodplain and limit natural floodplain functions. Encroachments can cause a rise in the base flood elevation, putting new and existing development at greater risk. Increases in socially vulnerable populations, discussed in Section 3, within the floodplain can also increase future flood risk.
- Development in the watershed may alter flood patterns and increase flood frequency and intensity. Increased development anywhere in the planning area will likely lead to increased impervious surfaces; such development will limit infiltration and increase runoff. This is especially true of increased development within or near identified floodplains where development may contribute to increased runoff and simultaneously reduce natural floodplain areas and limit natural floodplain functions. There will be a greater strain on stormwater infrastructure to convey runoff and a possibility for more flash flooding and urban flooding where system capacity is overwhelmed.
- Climate change, as discussed above, may cause an increase in the frequency and intensity of heavy rainfall events. These changes could result in more frequent flooding and/or flooding of greater magnitude.

HAZARD SUMMARY BY JURISDICTION

The following table summarizes flood hazard risk by jurisdiction.

Jurisdiction	Probability	Impact	Spatial Extent	Warning Time	Duration	Score	Priority
Farragut	3	2	4	3	3	2.9	M
Knoxville	4	2	4	3	3	3.2	H
Knox County	4	2	4	3	3	3.2	H

5.10 LAND SUBSIDENCE/SINKHOLES

Hazard	Probability	Impact	Spatial Extent	Warning Time	Duration	PRI Score
Land Subsidence/Sinkholes	4	2	2	4	1	2.7

HAZARD DESCRIPTION

Land subsidence is the gradual settling or sudden sinking of the earth's surface due to subsurface movement of earthen minerals, rocks, soil and water. The principal causes are identified as aquifer system compaction, drainage of organic soils, underground mining, hydrocompaction, natural compaction, sinkholes, and thawing permafrost. These causes are further defined by three distinct processes:

- Compaction of aquifer systems due to excessive groundwater pumping;
- Drainage and subsequent oxidation of organic soils; and
- Dissolution and collapse of susceptible rocks/subsurface cavities, or sinkholes.

Mining of ground water and drainage of organic soils are not applicable to the planning area. Figure 5-30 presents the location of subsidence attributed to these two causes.

Figure 5-30 Subsidence Attributed to Compaction of Aquifer Systems and Organic Soils

Sinkholes, however, are prevalent within the planning area. Certain areas underlain by limestone and dolomite in the planning area contain surface depressions (sinkholes), caves, springs, and disappearing streams generally arranged in a systematic fashion. These features result from the solution of the limestone and dolomite by surface and groundwater. The type of landscape produced is so common worldwide in areas underlain by these rocks that a special term, karst, is used to describe it. Karst is a common underground condition in East Tennessee resulting in ground fissures, sinkholes, underground streams, and caverns. Most of Tennessee's geography contains some karst, but East Tennessee is one of the areas in Tennessee containing more karst than others. East Tennessee also suffers more sinkholes than other parts of the state. Common problems associated with the karst areas include subsidence, collapse, temporary or permanent flooding in sinkholes and contamination of groundwater resources.

Development of a karst landscape is dependent on the fact that limestone and dolomite slowly dissolved in water charged with weak acid. Groundwater with naturally produced weak organic acid causes the solution and removal of these minerals, developing pits, underground channel ways, and caverns into which the land surface slowly settles, and into which surface water flows. Sinkholes may result either from solution of dolomite or limestone by groundwater at the surface or by collapse of the roof of an underground cavern. This process results in disappearing or nonexistent surface drainage.

Shapes of sinkholes in the county are variable, ranging from a few funnel-like steep-sided holes to abundant relatively broad, nearly flat-bottomed basins. In general, funnel-like sinks are less than a few hundred feet in diameter and may be as much as 100 feet deep. Basin-like sinks are a few hundred to several thousand feet in diameter and a few feet to at least 80 feet deep.

Warning Time: 4 – Less than 6 hours

LOCATION

According to a 1995 Investigation of Sinkhole Flooding Problems in Knoxville, Tennessee by Albert E. Ogden of the Department of Earth Sciences, Clemson, University, South Carolina, approximately 15 percent of the City of Knoxville is built around or in sinkholes. All areas underlain by limestone and dolomite in Knox County contain at least some solution features. Sinkholes, identified using the USDA's Web Soil Survey, are shown in Figure 5-31, Figure 5-32, and Figure 5-33.

EXTENT

Figure 5-34 from the 2023 TN State Hazard Mitigation Plan highlights the prevalence of karst across the state. Karst topography is prevalent in East Tennessee – including the planning area – meaning that the region is highly susceptible to sinkholes.

- March 2011 – A sinkhole is observed at Cedar Bluff Elementary School.
- May 2007—A sinkhole developed on the south-bound side of Pellissippi Parkway just south of Oak Ridge Highway. The hole was initially filled with 720 tons of rock and 40 cubic yards of concrete. Temporary repairs resulted in repaving the section twice before permanent repairs could be made later that summer.
- May 2005—A sinkhole collapse occurred adjacent to Chapman Highway.

The ruptured pipeline released 53,550 gallons of diesel fuel into Goose Creek, which feeds into the Tennessee River. Approximately 18,000 tons of contaminated soil were excavated form the leak site the following spring. The 2023 TN State Hazard Mitigation Plan considers this to be the most significant occurrence of a sinkhole in the state of TN.
- June 25, 1998 – A large sinkhole forms on Everett Road in West Knoxville.
- July 23, 1996 – A giant sinkhole caused the closing of a section of Topside Road in South Knox County.
- December 1961 – A sinkhole opened in the front yard of a residential home in East Knoxville.
- October 1956—A sinkhole developed during construction of the First Creek sewer. The sinkhole developed just south of East Vine Avenue near Central Street

PROBABILITY OF FUTURE OCCURRENCE

Probability of future occurrence was calculated based on past occurrences and was assumed to be uniform across the county. During the period from 2000 – 2020, approximately 17 sinkholes formed in Knox County. This period results in an 81% of a sinkhole incident in the planning area. Therefore, the probability of this hazard is "highly likely."

Probability: 4 – Highly Likely

CLIMATE CHANGE

Climate change raise the likelihood of extreme weather, meaning the torrential rain and flooding conditions which often lead to the exposure of sinkholes are likely to become increasingly common. Certain events such as a heavy precipitation following a period of drought can trigger a sinkhole due to low levels of groundwater combined with a heavy influx of rain.

CONSEQUENCE ANALYSIS

Category	Consequences
Public	People can be injured or killed if they fall into a sinkhole or if the ground gives way during a collapse. However, this is extremely rare.
Responders	Sinkholes often damage roadways, which can hinder first responders.
Continuity of Operations (including Continued Delivery of Services)	Impact on continuity of operations would be limited given the small, localized nature of sinkhole.
Property, Facilities and Infrastructure	Sinkholes can cause significant damage to foundations, driveways, walkways, and roads/highways. Sinkholes can also damage critical infrastructure – such as water and sewer lines and pipelines.
Environment	Sinkholes can contaminate groundwater by allowing surface water to drain directly into aquifers. In extreme cases, sinkholes can cause pipelines to rupture and release hazardous material into the environment.
Economic Condition of the Jurisdiction	Significant economic impact from sinkhole collapse is unlikely. However, sinkholes can close roadways and slow traffic, which could reduce access to local businesses, employers, etc.
Public Confidence in the Jurisdiction's Governance	Sinkholes are unlikely to affect public confidence in the jurisdiction's governance.

PEOPLE

Residents living in sinkhole-prone areas are the most vulnerable and are primarily impacted via property damage. Sinkholes can damage foundations and in extreme cases swallow properties. Repairing sinkholes can be costly for homeowners and require specialized knowledge.

PROPERTY

Sinkholes are a hazard for properties and infrastructure within sinkhole-prone areas. Sinkholes can severely damage foundations, interior, and exterior walls and require expensive repairs. In Knox County, sinkholes have primarily impacted road and sidewalk infrastructure, requiring closures and costly repairs. Sinkholes have also impacted underground infrastructure such as pipelines, which lead to water and soil contamination.

ENVIRONMENT

Sinkholes have a minimal impact on the environment but lead to groundwater contamination by allowing surface water to drain directly into aquifers.

CHANGES IN DEVELOPMENT

The Knox County Stormwater Management Manual and Sinkhole Ordinance for the Town of Farragut contains regulations and policies for developments that are located near and/or drain to sinkholes. These include general requirements for placing substances and objects within sinkholes; filling or obstructing sinkhole outlets and springs; stormwater runoff into sinkholes; disturbance in sinkhole drainage area; and building construction in sinkhole drainage areas.

HAZARD SUMMARY BY JURISDICTION

The following table summarizes sinkhole risk by jurisdiction. The planning team only found 1 sinkhole incident in Farragut, while Knox County and Knoxville experienced several. Therefore, Farragut's vulnerability differs from Knox County and Knoxville.

Jurisdiction	Probability	Impact	Spatial Extent	Warning Time	Duration	Score	Priority
Farragut	2	2	2	4	1	2.1	Low
Knoxville	4	2	3	4	1	2.7	Medium
Unincorporated Knox County	4	2	3	4	1	2.7	Medium

5.11 LANDSLIDES

Hazard	Probability	Impact	Spatial Extent	Warning Time	Duration	PRI Score
Landslides	3	2	3	4	1	2.6

HAZARD DESCRIPTION

Landslides are the downward and outward movement of earth materials on a slope. Landslides generally move by the falling, sliding, or flowing of rock and (or) soil, or by a combination of these and other less common types of movement. Causes include earthquakes, reservoir drawdowns, heavy precipitation, and floods.

Landslides constitute a major geologic hazard because they are widespread, occur in all 50 states and U.S. territories, and cause $1-2 billion in damages and more than 25 fatalities on average each year. Expansion of urban and recreational developments into hillside areas leads to more people that are threatened by landslides each year. Landslides commonly occur in connection with other major natural disasters such as earthquakes, volcanoes, wildfires, and floods.

The term landslide is often used interchangeably with mass wasting. Mass wasting is essentially the downward movement of earth materials. The two forms of mass wasting are classified as slope failures or sediment flows, the latter of which is often induced through the addition of water. They occur predominately in areas with steep slopes (such as slopes greater than 15 percent). They can be caused by both natural events (heavy rains, erosion, and earthquakes) and human-caused alterations to the land or a combination thereof. Generally, alterations to hillside and ridgetop land in the planning area are related to development activities and/or forestry practices. As slopes are cleared and graded, the likelihood of landslide events increases.

Warning Time: 4 – Less than 6 hours

LOCATION

The Landslide Incidence and Susceptibility map shows areas of landslides and areas susceptible to future landslides in the planning area. As this map demonstrates, the Town of Farragut is shown has having moderate susceptibility but low incidence of landslide. The City of Knoxville and Knox County are also shown as having moderate susceptibility with low incidence of landslide along with two small areas, one at the northern boundary and another finger-like area in northeast Knox County that have high susceptibility and moderate incidence.

EXTENT

Two major factors that contribute to an area being prone to landslide are soil slippage potential and slope. In evaluating soils and their capacity for development the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) Soil Survey for Knox County identifies soil types by slippage hazard. Soil slippage hazard is a measure of "the possibility that a mass of soil will slip." When vegetation is cleared, water saturates the soil and normal construction practices are applied (such as the application of heavy machinery) soil failure is more likely. Soil slippage hazard classes are identified as high (unstable), medium (moderately unstable) or low (slightly unstable to stable.) Classes are assigned based on observations of slope, mineral characteristics, strike and dip of bedrock geology, surface drainage patterns and occurrences of such features as slip scars and slumps. High slippage hazard soils are found predominately in steeply sloping hillside areas. Figure 5-36, Figure 5-37, and Figure 5-38 provide the soil slippage potential map for each jurisdiction in the planning area and Table 5-33, Table 5-34, and Table 5-35 detail the total acreage in each jurisdiction susceptible to soil slippage.

HISTORICAL OCCURRENCES

- May 2024 – A rockslide occurred at Meads Quarry causing a giant wave in the water below. One person was treated for minor injuries.
- August 2009—A massive sediment flow originating from a cleared and graded hillside closed a road in the Wildwood Subdivision. Erosion and sediment control devices were not functioning properly on the site resulting in sediment spills over into an adjacent stream.
- 2003—Improper clearing and grading during the construction of the Forest Ridge Apartments caused a landslide that destroyed an apartment building trapping and severely injuring an individual inside.
- Documentation of a historic event in the Town of Farragut was not available.

PROBABILITY OF FUTURE OCCURRENCE

There have been three documented damaging landslides in the 25-year period from 2000-2024. This suggests an 12% probability of a damaging landslide in any given year. In addition, it is probable that other smaller scale slides may have occurred that were not reported. Therefore, the HMPC agreed on a probability of "likely."

CLIMATE CHANGE

Climate change increases the likelihood of heavy rainfall, which can lead to more erosion and landslides. The expansion of urban and recreational developments into hillside also puts more people at risk of landslides. Since landslides commonly occur along with other natural disasters like floods, there is a possibility of more landslides due to the increasing threat of flooding.

CONSEQUENCE ANALYSIS

Category	Consequences
Public	Impacts from landslides can result in injuries and fatalities due to rock falls and debris flows. Around 25-50 people are killed by landslides in the US each year.
Responders	Landslides can make roads impassable, hindering responders' ability to reach those impacted.
Continuity of Operations (including Continued Delivery of Services)	Landslides can damage or block roads, which can affect the continuity of operations. Power lines and other energy infrastructure can be damaged or destroyed by a landslide, impacting the continuity of operations.
Property, Facilities and Infrastructure	Landslides can compromise buildings' structural integrity, and buildings in the path of a landslide may be buried under the debris and sediment carried by the landslide. A landslide can damage or destroy anything in its path – roads, power lines, gas pipelines, sewer lines, etc. Debris and sediment from landslides can block drainage systems and stormwater infrastructure, leading to flooding of surrounding areas. In extreme cases, landslides can cause reservoirs or dams to overtop and cause flooding.
Environment	Landslides can introduce sediments, debris, and pollutants into water sources, which can harm local wildlife. Landslides can also destroy or damage habitats.
Economic Condition of the Jurisdiction	Damages to power-related infrastructure, roads, and sewer lines could cause economic strain to return systems to full capacity. Damages to property can lead to costly recovery efforts like business interruption and additional living/operation expenses.
Public Confidence in the Jurisdiction's Governance	Public confidence can be impacted by a landslide if it causes significant damage and can be attributed to negligence on the part of the local government – for example not controlling development along cliffs, ridges, etc.

PEOPLE

The primary factor contributing to people's vulnerability to landslides is their proximity to areas with high landslide susceptibility. Residents of areas with high landslide susceptibility – especially along cliffs, ridges, etc. – are the most vulnerable. The path of a landslide can damage and take out people's homes. Additionally, people biking, walking, or driving along roadways that are adjacent to areas with high landslide susceptibility can be injured or killed by rock and debris flow. For example, in 2019, part of highway 70 North in Hawkins County, collapsed due to a landslide and swept cars 200 feet down an embankment, killing a 68-year-old man.

PROPERTY

If a building is located within a landslide's path, it can be buried by debris and sediment. If a landslide does not destroy a building with rock and debris, the building's structural integrity can still be compromised – cracks in the foundation, walls, etc. Landslides can also damage or destroy critical infrastructure such as powerlines, water infrastructure, pipelines, etc. In Tennessee, landslides have been particularly damaging to roadways. Middle and East Tennessee have hilly terrain, and roads located adjacent to hillsides are particularly susceptible. For example, a landslide shut down I-24 in the Nashville area for several months in 2019.

To understand the risk to property in the planning area, GIS analysis was conducted to identify building counts in high slippage areas. Results are shown in Table 5-36, Table 5-37, and Table 5-38, and critical facilities within landslide-vulnerable areas are highlighted in Table 5-39.

ENVIRONMENT

Landslides can introduce sediments, debris, and pollutants into waterways, potentially harming local wildlife. The introduction of sediment and debris can lower water quality and degrade habitat.

CHANGES IN DEVELOPMENT

The City of Knoxville and Knox County recognize the threat of landslide to future development. In 2008, the Knoxville City Council and Knox County Commission asked 30 citizen representatives from a variety of interests, including foresters, engineers, landscape architects, realtors, developers, neighborhood and environmental advocates to begin studying the issues related to steep slope, hillside and ridgetop development and protection. This City-County Task Force worked for almost two and half years with MPC staff to develop the Knoxville-Knox County Hillside and Ridgetop Protection Plan. The plan was adopted with changes by MPC commission on December 9th, 2010.

The City of Knoxville codified this plan as the Hillside Protection Overlay when their new zoning code went into effect on January 1, 2020. For a building to be constructed within the overlay area, the developer must comply with the city's process, and the property is subject to a slope analysis and site plan review, to minimize disturbance.

The City of Farragut does not have as much ridgetop area as the City of Knoxville and Knox County. However, slope and soil slippage potential should be considered in plans for future development.

5.12 SEVERE STORM

Hazard	Probability	Impact	Spatial Extent	Warning Time	Duration	PRI Score
Severe Storm (Thunderstorm Wind, Hail, & Lightning)	Highly Likely	Limited	Large	6 to 12 hrs	Less than 6 hrs	3

HAZARD BACKGROUND

THUNDERSTORM WIND

Thunderstorms result from the rapid upward movement of warm, moist air. They can occur inside warm, moist air masses and at fronts. As the warm, moist air moves upward, it cools, condenses, and forms cumulonimbus clouds that can reach heights of greater than 35,000 ft. As the rising air reaches its dew point, water droplets and ice form and begin falling the long distance through the clouds towards Earth‘s surface. As the droplets fall, they collide with other droplets and become larger. The falling droplets create a downdraft of air that spreads out at Earth‘s surface and causes strong winds associated with thunderstorms.

There are four ways in which thunderstorms can organize: single cell, multi-cell cluster, multi-cell lines (squall lines), and supercells. Even though supercell thunderstorms are most frequently associated with severe weather phenomena, thunderstorms most frequently organize into clusters or lines. Warm, humid conditions are favorable for the development of thunderstorms. The average single cell thunderstorm is approximately 15 miles in diameter and lasts less than 30 minutes at a single location. However, thunderstorms, especially when organized into clusters or lines, can travel intact for distances exceeding 600 miles.

Thunderstorms are responsible for the development and formation of many severe weather phenomena, posing great hazards to the population and landscape. Damage that results from thunderstorms is mainly inflicted by downburst winds, large hailstones, and flash flooding caused by heavy precipitation. Stronger thunderstorms are capable of producing tornadoes and waterspouts. Downbursts, which are excessive bursts of wind in excess of 125 miles per hour, are also possible with thunderstorm events. They are often confused with tornadoes. Downbursts are caused by down drafts from the base of a convective thunderstorm cloud. It occurs when rain-cooled air within the cloud becomes heavier than its surroundings. Thus, air rushes towards the ground in a destructive yet isolated manner. There are two types of downbursts. Downbursts less than 2.5 miles wide, duration less than 5 minutes, and winds up to 168 miles per hour are called “microbursts.” Larger events greater than 2.5 miles at the surface and longer than 5 minutes with winds up to 130 miles per hour are referred to as “macrobursts.”

While conditions for thunderstorm conditions may be anticipated within a few hours, severe conditions are difficult to predict. Regardless of severity, storms generally pass within a few hours.

Warning Time: 3 – 6 to 12 hours

Duration: 1 – Less than six hours

HAIL

As defined by NOAA, hail is precipitation that is formed when updrafts in thunderstorms carry raindrops upward into extremely cold areas of the atmosphere causing them to freeze. The raindrops form into small frozen droplets and then continue to grow as they encounter super-cooled water which will freeze on contact with the frozen rain droplet. This frozen rain droplet can continue to grow and form hail. As long as the updraft forces can support or suspend the weight of the hailstone, hail can continue to grow.

Hail falls when it becomes heavy enough to overcome the strength of the updraft and is pulled by gravity towards the earth. For example, a ¼" diameter or pea sized hail requires updrafts of 24 mph, while a 2 ¾" diameter or baseball sized hail requires an updraft of 81 mph.

Hailstones are usually less than two inches in diameter and can fall at speeds of 120 mph. The largest hailstone recorded in the United States was found in Vivian, South Dakota on July 23, 2010; it measured eight inches in diameter, almost the size of a soccer ball. While soccer-ball-sized hail is the exception, but even small pea sized hail can cause damage.

Hailstorms in Tennessee cause damage to property, crops, and the environment, and kill and injure livestock. In the U.S., hail causes more than $1 billion in damage to property and crops each year. Much of the damage inflicted by hail is to crops. Even relatively small hail can shred plants to ribbons in a matter of minutes. Vehicles, roofs of buildings and homes, and landscaping are the other things most commonly damaged by hail. Hail has been known to cause injury to humans; occasionally, these injuries can be fatal.

The onset of thunderstorms with hail is generally rapid. However, advancements in meteorological forecasting allow for some warning. Storms usually pass in a few hours.

Warning Time: 4 – Less than six hours

Duration: 1 – Less than six hours

LIGHTNING

Lightning is a sudden electrical discharge released from the atmosphere that follows a course from cloud to ground, cloud to cloud, or cloud to surrounding air, with light illuminating its path. Lightning's unpredictable nature causes it to be one of the most feared weather elements. A lightning flash is composed of a series of strokes with an average of about four. The length and duration of each lightning stroke vary, but typically average about 30 microseconds.

All thunderstorms produce lightning, which often strikes outside of the area where it is raining and is known to fall more than 10 miles away from the rainfall area. When lightning strikes, electricity shoots through the air and causes vibrations creating the sound of thunder. A bolt of lightning can reach temperatures approaching 50,000 degrees Fahrenheit. Nationwide, lightning kills 75 to 100 people each year. Lightning strikes can also start building fires and wildland fires, and damage electrical systems and equipment.

The watch/warning time for a severe storm is usually a few hours. There is no warning time for any given lightning strike, which are instantaneous. Storms that cause lightning usually pass within a few hours.

Warning Time: 4 – Less than six hours

Duration: 1 – Less than six hours

LOCATION

Thunderstorm wind, lightning, and hail events do not have a defined vulnerability zone. The scope of lightning and hail is generally confined to the footprint of its associated thunderstorm. However, large-scale hail tends to occur in a more localized area within the storm. While the total area vulnerable to a lightning strike corresponds to the footprint of a given thunderstorm, a specific lightning strike is usually a localized event and occurs randomly. While lightning is most often affiliated with severe thunderstorms, it may also strike outside of heavy rain and might occur as far as 10 miles away from any rainfall.

The entirety of Knox County including all assets located within the County can be considered at risk to severe weather events. This includes the entire population of County and all critical facilities, buildings, and infrastructure.

Spatial Extent: 4 – Large

EXTENT

THUNDERSTORM WIND

The magnitude of a thunderstorm event can be defined by the storm's maximum wind speed and its impacts. NCEI divides wind events into several types including High Wind, Strong Wind, Thunderstorm Wind, Tornado, and Hurricane. For the purpose of this severe weather risk assessment, the wind hazard will include data from High Wind, Strong Wind and Thunderstorm Wind. Tornadoes are addressed as separate, individual hazards. The following definitions come from the NCEI Storm Data Preparation document.

- High Wind – Sustained non-convective winds of 40 mph or greater lasting for one hour or longer or winds (sustained or gusts) of 58 mph for any duration on a widespread or localized basis.
- Strong Wind – Non-convective winds gusting less than 58 mph, or sustained winds less than 40 mph, resulting in a fatality, injury, or damage.
- Thunderstorm Wind – Winds, arising from convection (occurring within 30 minutes of lightning being observed or detected), with speeds of at least 58 mph, or winds of any speed (non-severe thunderstorm winds below 58 mph) producing a fatality, injury or damage.

Impact: 2 – Limited

Notes: In addition to hail diameter, factors including number and density of hailstones, hail fall speed and surface wind speeds affect severity.

The average hailstone size recorded between 1961 and 2022 in Knox County was a little over 1" in diameter; the largest hailstone recorded was 2.75" in 1998. The largest hailstone ever recorded in the U.S. fell in Vivian, SD on June 23, 2010, with a diameter of 8 inches and a circumference of 18.62 inches.

LIGHTNING

Lightning is measured by the Lightning Activity Level (LAL) scale, created by the National Weather Service to define lightning activity into a specific categorical scale. The LAL, shown in Table 5-42, is a common parameter that is part of fire weather forecasts nationwide.

Table 5-42 Lightning Activity Level Scale

Lightning Activity Level Scale
LAL 1	No thunderstorms
LAL 2	Isolated thunderstorms. Light rain will occasionally reach the ground. Lightning is very infrequent, 1 to 5 cloud to ground lightning strikes in a five-minute period
LAL 3	Widely scattered thunderstorms. Light to moderate rain will reach the ground. Lightning is infrequent, 6 to 10 cloud to ground strikes in a five-minute period
LAL 4	Scattered thunderstorms. Moderate rain is commonly produced. Lightning is frequent, 11 to 15 cloud to ground strikes in a five-minute period
LAL 5	Numerous thunderstorms. Rainfall is moderate to heavy. Lightning is frequent and intense, greater than 15 cloud to ground strikes in a five-minute period

Lightning Activity Level Scale
LAL 6	Dry lightning (same as LAL 3 but without rain). This type of lightning has the potential for extreme fire activity and is normally highlighted in fire weather forecasts with a Red Flag warning

Lightning is one of the more dangerous weather hazards in the United States. Each year, lightning is responsible for deaths, injuries, and millions of dollars in property damage, including damage to buildings, communications systems, power lines, and electrical systems. Lightning also causes forest and brush fires. According to the National Lightning Safety Institute, lightning causes more than 26,000 fires in the United States each year. The institute estimates property damage, increased operating costs, production delays, and lost revenue from lightning and secondary effects to be in excess of $6 billion per year. Impacts can be direct or indirect. People or objects can be directly struck, or damage can occur indirectly when the current passes through or near it. However, generally lighting has minimal disruptions on quality of life.

HISTORICAL OCCURRENCES

Knox County has not been included in any presidential disaster declaration that specifically included high winds. However, generally, the events that include severe storms likely included high winds as well. For reference, the eight declarations that Knox County received including severe storms are summarized below in Table 5-43. These events are also discussed separately in the flood and tornado profiles.

HAIL

The NCDC reports 145 hail events in the planning area between 1962 and May 2023. When limiting the list to those events considered destructive magnitude according to the TORRO Hail Intensity scale (1.75 in. diameter or larger), there were 28 events in the same 55-year period causing a reported $51,300 in property damage. Table 5-44 shows the number of hail events by the size of the hail.

According to the USDA's Risk Management Agency, insured crop losses in Knox County due to hail from 2007 to 2023 totaled $874 due to a hazard event in 2011.

HIGH WINDS

According to the NCDC database, newspaper articles from the Knoxville New Sentinel and the Knoxville Journal, the planning area experienced 314 severe thunderstorms with high winds more than 58 miles per hour (50 knots) from 1950 to May 2023. Descriptions of the events are only provided from 1993 to 2023 and during this 30-year period there were 317 events causing nearly $3 million in property damages, almost $500,000 in crop damages and two fatalities and four injuries reported.

Summaries of some of the more damaging events are provided below:

- March 29, 2020—A storm with winds exceeding 60 knots moved through Knox County and much of the Southern Appalachian region. Widespread storm damage was reported from straight line winds impacting Central East and Northeast Tennessee.
- April 17, 2019-FEMA-4427-DR (period of incident February 19, 2019 to March 30, 2019)—This federal disaster declaration was made following severe storms, flooding, landslides, and mudslides across Tennessee.
- December 14, 2015—A storm with very high winds exceeding 50 knots moved through Knox County on this day.
- June 19, 2010—Law enforcement personnel reported a few trees and power lines downed by thunderstorm winds in Knoxville causing approximately $12,000 in property damages.
- June 21, 2009—The local television station reported numerous trees downed by thunderstorm winds across the county with an early morning storm. A few homes and a church in Knoxville were also damaged by the winds causing approximately $18,000 in property damages.
- June 12, 2008—Dispatch reported several trees downed by thunderstorm winds in the Knoxville area. A tree fell on home in Knoxville damaging the roof.
- December 1, 2006—Wind speeds measured at 77 mph caused numerous trees and power lines to go down throughout East Tennessee causing approximately $600,000 in property damages.
- June 13, 2004—A tree was reported down on a home in the northern part of Knoxville. The home was damaged beyond repair
- May 8, 2003-FEMA-1464-DR (period of incident May 4-30, 2003)—This federal disaster declaration was made following severe storms, tornadoes, and flooding in Tennessee. This federal declaration mainly stems from a tornado outbreak in western and northwestern Tennessee on May 4, 2003. Knox County was added to this federal declaration after two tornadoes touched down in south Knoxville on May 15, 2003. This will be discussed further under the tornado hazard.
- June 12, 2000-FEMA-1331-DR (period of incident May 23-31, 2000)—This federal disaster declaration was made following severe storms, tornadoes, and flooding as severe thunderstorms and tornado moved across the central east Tennessee valley on May 23, 2000. An F1 tornado and severe straight-line winds caused damage in the Powell community.

- May 7, 1999—Numerous trees and power lines down throughout the county. At least 9,000 homes were without power for a time.
- April 20, 1998-FEMA-1215-DR (period of incident April 16-May 18, 1998)—This federal disaster declaration was made following severe storms, tornadoes, and flooding in Tennessee. This federal declaration mainly stems from a tornado outbreak in middle Tennessee on April 16, 1998. This will be discussed further under the flood hazard.
- May 24, 1996—Numerous trees and power lines were blown down with only very minor injuries reported. The storm heavily damaged the stage set and lighting equipment of a country music singer causing $500,000 in property damages. Ping Pong ball size hail was reported by a television meteorologist.
- October 5, 1995—A large part of East Tennessee experienced high winds from the remnants of Hurricane Opal. Wind speeds at the higher elevations of the Appalachians were measured at 70 mph while 40-50 mph gusts were common at the lower elevations. Trees and power lines were down over much of the region. The greatest damage occurred in Hamilton County where damage was estimated in excess of $1 million. Over 20,000 homes were without power as a result of the storm. Over 70 miles of the Appalachian Trail was closed due to trees being down.
- January 28, 1994—Numerous trees were blown down and roofs were blown off all throughout southeast corner of the Tennessee. A building containing 6 helicopters was destroyed in Maryville, which is in very close proximity to Knoxville.
- November 19, 1988—Gale force winds estimated at 100 mph caused $1 million in damages.
- July 3, 1982—Winds over 50 mph caused power outages in County.
- January 27, 1974—Gale force winds caused $100,000 in damages in the Deane Hill area.
- February 27, 1963-FEMA-151-DR—This federal disaster declaration was made following severe storms and heavy rains caused urban flooding in the planning area. This will be discussed further under the flood hazard.

Most of the events in the NCDC database included reports of downed trees and power lines. Although many of these events did not report damages to property or crops, debris removal and other associated costs are common because of the numerous high wind events.

LIGHTNING

From 1995 to 2023, the County only has two reported lightning events that resulted in recorded damages. Lighting events were not reported in NCDC prior to 1994. Therefore, a shorter time-period of statistics is available. The following are the events listed in NCDC:

- August 4, 2006—Lightning struck and damaged an apartment building on Middle Brook Pike in Knoxville. One unit was destroyed as the roof caught fire causing $25,000 in estimated damages.
- September 1, 1995—Lightning struck and damaged a house causing $45,000 in estimated damages.

PROBABILITY OF FUTURE OCCURRENCE

According to NCDC, there were 314 wind events (>58 miles/hr) in the planning area between 1950 and 2023 (73 years). Based on this information, the probability that at least one significant wind event with 50 knots or higher will occur in the planning area in any given year is "highly likely" with an annual average of 4.3 events per year.

Based on the reported 28 events in the NCDC database of hail events with hail 1.75 inches in diameter and larger occur an average of .45 times per year in the planning area from 1962 to 2023.

National Weather Service data indicates that Knox County is in a region that receives four to eight lightning strikes per square kilometer per year. However, most of these lightning strikes do not result in damages and that is reflected in the small amount of historical data reported in the NCDC database.

Seasonally, thunderstorms are more likely to occur during the summer months of May, June, and July. These rates of occurrence are expected to continue in the future.

Probability: 4 – Highly Likely

CLIMATE CHANGE

Higher temperatures and humidity may increase atmospheric variability associated with the origination of severe thunderstorms and tornadoes, and early research suggests that continued climate change is likely to increase severe thunderstorm occurrence (Diffenbaugh, et al. 2013). Decreases in vertical wind shear can result in fewer or weaker severe thunderstorms and tornadoes. However, this decrease is most likely to occur when convective available potential energy is high in spring and summer, which could result in more frequent severe storms. Shown in Figure 5-39, below, convective available potential energy (CAPE), a key factor in thunderstorm formation, is predicted to rise enough to overwhelm a slight decrease in vertical wind shear, leading to an increase in severe thunderstorms.

Source: NASA Earth Observatory

There has been a surge in the number of severe storms reported over the past 50 years, but this increase could at least be partially attributed to technological developments that allow for better identification and reporting of such storms. More specifically, the frequency and intensity of individual rainfall events associated with thunderstorms is likely to increase which can overwhelm local stormwater drainage systems, leading to street flooding and ponded water.

CONSEQUENCE ANALYSIS

Category	Consequences
Public	Impacts from lightning and hail can result in injuries and fatalities if a person is struck. Fatalities and injuries most often occur when a person is exposed and in outdoor conditions during a storm. Exposure to water and open areas also increases the likelihood that a person will be struck by lightning.
Responders	First responders can be impacted the same way as the general public. Downed trees, power lines and flood waters may prevent access to areas in need which prolongs response time.
Continuity of Operations (including Continued Delivery of Services)	Thunderstorm events can result in a loss of power which may impact operations. Downed trees, power lines and flash flooding may prevent access to critical facilities and/or emergency equipment.
Property, Facilities and Infrastructure	Thunderstorms can cause damage to buildings due to strong winds, lightning strikes and hail, especially windows, cars, siding, and mobile homes. Heavy rains associated with thunderstorm events may also lead to flash flooding which can damage roads and bridges. There is also a possibility of structure fire ignition.
Environment	Lightning can cause sparks to flare up in surrounding forests or immense shrubs. This is often the cause of bush fires, which then spread quickly due to the fast winds that accompany the storm. Trees often uprooted due to high winds or saturated soils.

Economic Condition of the Jurisdiction	Damages to power-related infrastructure could cause economic strain to return the system to full capacity. Damages to property can lead to costly recovery efforts like business interruption and additional living/operation expenses.
Public Confidence in the Jurisdiction's Governance	Public confidence is not generally affected by severe weather events.

PEOPLE

People and populations exposed to the elements are most vulnerable to severe weather. Individuals who work outdoors may also face increased risk. Risk of being struck by lightning is greater in open areas, at higher elevations, and on the water. NCEI reported 4 injuries and 2 deaths because of thunderstorm winds. The availability of sheltered locations such as basements, buildings constructed using hail-resistant materials and methods, and public storm shelters, all reduce the exposure of the population.

Residents living in mobile homes are more vulnerable to hail events due to the lack of shelter locations and the vulnerability of the housing unit to damages. According to the 2022 American Community Survey (ACS) 5-Year Estimates, 6.5% of houses in Knox County, 1.3% of houses in Knoxville, and 0% of houses in Farragut are classified as mobile homes.

Severe weather can also cause cascading hazards, including power loss. Loss of power could critically impact those relying on energy to service, including those that need powered medical devices. Additionally, the ignition of fires is always a concern with lightning strikes.

PROPERTY

NCEI records report over $3 million in property damage from thunderstorm-related wind events, hail, and lightning strikes over 30 years. Based on these records, the planning area experiences an annualized loss of $100,000 in property damage. Because the location of future severe thunderstorm, lightning or hail events cannot be predicted, it is not possible to map geographic boundaries for these hazards. However, we can conclude that severe weather events including thunderstorm wind, lightning and hail have the potential to impact all existing and future buildings and facilities.

Property damage caused by lightning usually occurs in one of two ways – either by direct damages through fires ignited by lightning, or by secondary impacts due to power loss. Hail can also directly damage property including destroyed windows and dented cars, buildings, and roofs. The level of damage is commensurate with both a material's ability to withstand hail impacts, and the size of the hailstones that are falling. Similarly, strong winds can cause direct property damage or cause trees and branches to damage surrounding property and facilities. Construction practices and building codes can help maximize the resistance of the structures to both wind and hail damage.

It should be noted that property damage due to hail is usually insured loss, with damages covered under most major comprehensive insurance plans. Because of this, hail losses are notoriously underreported by the NCEI. It is difficult to find an accurate repository of hail damages in Knox County, thus the NCEI is still used to form a baseline.

Additionally, thunderstorm winds, hail, and lightning can cause power outages that can have widespread consequences for the County. Large amounts of hail and fallen trees may need to be cleared from roadways and sidewalks, depending on accumulation

Lightning may also result in the ignition of wildfires. However, this is part of a natural process, and the environment will return to its original state in time. Hail can cause extensive damage to the natural environment, pelting animals, trees and vegetation with hailstones. Melting hail can also increase both river and flash flood risk.

CHANGES IN DEVELOPMENT

Development is not expected to impact the incidence of severe storm. As the county grows, overall asset exposure will increase, which may increase risk.

HAZARD SUMMARY BY JURISDICTION

The following table summarizes severe storm hazard risk by jurisdiction. Most aspects of severe storm risk do not vary substantially by jurisdiction; however, mobile and manufactured home units are more vulnerable to structural damage. Where priority ratings vary between, lightning, and hail for impact and spatial extent, these scores represent an average rating with greater weight given to lightning because it occurs much more frequently.

Jurisdiction	Probability	Impact	Spatial Extent	Warning Time	Duration	Score	Priority
Farragut	4	2	4	3	1	3	High
Knoxville	4	2	4	3	1	3	High
Unincorporated Knox County	4	2	4	3	1	3	High

HAZARD DESCRIPTION

According to the Glossary of Meteorology (AMS 2000), a tornado is "a violently rotating column of air, pendant from a cumuliform cloud or underneath a cumuliform cloud, and often (but not always) visible as a funnel cloud." Tornadoes can appear from any direction. The damage caused by a tornado is a result of the high wind velocity and wind-blown debris, sometimes accompanied by lightning or large hail.

NOAA records estimate that an average of 1,253 tornadoes occur in the United States each year. Most tornadoes are related to thunderstorms, which gain most of their energy from solar heating and latent heat released by the condensation of water vapor; therefore, tornadoes most often occur in the afternoon and evening hours, when temperatures are higher. Similarly, the months in which tornadoes are most likely correspond to the times of year with increased solar heating and strong frontal systems. In the Southeast, tornadoes are more likely in the early spring. However, tornadoes can occur at any time of day or year, with little warning.

The severity of tornadoes can vary significantly. According to the National Weather Service, tornado wind speeds normally range from 40 miles per hour to more than 300 miles per hour. The most violent tornadoes have rotating winds of 250 miles per hour or more and are capable of causing extreme destruction and turning normally harmless objects into deadly missiles. A tornado's path might vary from only a few dozen yards wide to over a mile wide. Figure 5-40 summarizes the average breakdown of tornadoes and their impacts by their magnitude.

LOCATION

While tornadoes can occur in all areas of the state of Tennessee, historically, some areas of the state have been more susceptible to this type of damaging storm. Figure 5-41 illustrates the average number of F3, F4, and F5 tornadoes recorded in the United States per state between 1998-2022. The ridges and valleys characteristic of East Tennessee minimize the risk from tornadoes in the planning area.

The planning area is not located within the boundaries of "Tornado Alley", which is an area in the United States that receives more tornadoes than anywhere else besides Florida. However, new research has shown that tornado alley is likely shifting from the Plains to the Southeast and parts of the lower Mississippi River Valley and now includes Tennessee. This phenomenon is demonstrated in Figure 5-42. As noted above, the planning area is less susceptible to tornadoes as the rest of the state because of its ridges and valleys.

Almost half of the tornado events that occur in Tennessee, occur at night. Tennessee has the highest percent of nocturnal tornado events compared to all other states with 45.8% of all tornado events occurring at night as shown in Figure 5-43. Tennessee also ranked second in the greatest percentage of killer nocturnal tornado events from 1950 to 2005 (Ashley et al. 2008). Areas in the South for example the Tennessee River valleys, have the highest percentages of nocturnal tornadoes, nocturnal fatalities, and number of nocturnal killer events compared to other regions in the United States (Ashley et al. 2008).

Tornados can occur anywhere in the County. Tornadoes typically impact a small area, but damage may be extensive. Tornado locations are completely random, meaning risk to tornado isn't increased in one area of the county versus another. All of Knox County is exposed to this hazard.

Spatial Extent: 1 – Negligible

EXTENT

Prior to February 1, 2007, tornado intensity was measured by the Fujita (F) scale. This scale was revised and is now the Enhanced Fujita (EF) scale. Both scales are sets of wind estimates (not measurements) based on damage. The new scale provides more damage indicators (28) and associated degrees of damage, allowing for more detailed analysis and better correlation between damage and wind speed. It is also more precise because it accounts for the materials affected and the construction of structures damaged by a tornado. Table 5-45 shows the wind speeds associated with the Enhanced Fujita scale ratings and the damage that could result at different levels of intensity.

Table 5-45 Enhanced Fujita Scale

EF Number	3 Second Gust (mph)	Damage
0	65-85	Light damage. Peels surface off some roofs; some damage to gutters or siding; branches broken off trees; shallow-rooted trees pushed over.
1	96-110	Moderate damage. Roofs severely stripped; mobile homes overturned or badly damaged; loss of exterior doors; windows and other glass broken.

EF Number	3 Second Gust (mph)	Damage
2	111-135	Considerable damage. Roofs torn off well-constructed houses; foundations of frame homes shifted; mobile homes completely destroyed; large trees snapped or uprooted; light-object missiles generated; cars lifted off ground.
3	136-165	Severe damage. Entire stories of well-constructed houses destroyed; severe damage to large buildings such as shopping malls; trains overturned; trees debarked; heavy cars lifted off the ground and thrown; structures with weak foundations blown away some distance.
4	166-200	Devastating damage. Well-constructed houses and whole frame houses completely leveled; cars thrown and small missiles generated.
5	Over 200	Incredible damage. Strong frame houses leveled off foundations and swept away; automobile-sized missiles fly through the air in excess of 100 m; high-rise buildings have significant structural deformation; incredible phenomena will occur.

The most intense tornado to pass through Knox County since 1950 was an F3 tornado, causing $5 million in damage. An F2 tornado in 1974 took the greatest toll on the county with 2 fatalities and 21 injuries. However, it should be noted that these two incidents are rare in Knox County as the majority (12/15) of tornadoes that have occurred since 1950 were classified as F1 or F0 and caused minimal damage. Based on the magnitude of past occurrences, the HMPC designated the impact as limited.

Impact: 2 – Limited

HISTORICAL OCCURRENCES

According to NCEI records, Knox County has experienced 15 tornadoes since 1950, listed in Table 5-46. These events are reported to have caused 2 deaths, 31 injuries and over $7 million in property damage.

Descriptions of the more damaging events are provided below:

- May 8, 2003-FEMA-1464-DR (period of incident May 4-30, 2003)—This federal disaster declaration was made following severe storms, tornadoes, and flooding in Tennessee. This federal declaration mainly stems from a tornado outbreak in western and northwestern Tennessee on May 4, 2003. Knox County was added to this federal declaration after two tornadoes touched down in south Knoxville on May 15, 2003. The first tornado was reported at 5:10 p.m. near the Lyons Bend area (traveling around a mile on the ground). It downed numerous power lines and approximately 100 trees. Downed trees at the Cherokee Country Club damaged a cart barn and a pump house. The second and final tornado was reported at 5:15 p.m. south of John Sevier Highway near Apache Trail. This second tornado traveled 1.3 miles and lifted near the intersection of Martinmill Pike and Tipton Station Road. The tornado downed numerous power lines and traffic signals. Also, several buildings at a residence on Ottinger Road were damaged. Six condominiums were damaged at 700 Idlewood Lane as tornadic wind gusts downed a huge tree on the structures. Radar reflectivity images continued to reveal indications of a 'hook echo'. Both tornadoes were rated F1 on the Fujita tornado intensity scale. This supercell storm continued moving southeast into Blount and Sevier Counties, with quarter to golf ball hail reported in both counties.

- May 23-31, 2000—This federal disaster declaration was made following severe storms, tornadoes, and flooding as severe thunderstorms and tornado moved across the central east Tennessee valley on May 23, 2000. An F1 tornado and severe straight line winds caused damage in the Powell community and a resident of the Impala Mobile Home Park, was injured after the storm ripped his home off its foundation.
- May 18, 1995—In North Knox, an EF1 tornado caused damage to homes, trees and power lines. One tree knocked down was 151-years-old.
- February 21, 1993—The EF3 tornado started near Oak Ridge, moved through the Bull Run Steam Plant and went through the town of Claxton. Fifty homes were damaged and six manufactured homes were destroyed. Two businesses were destroyed and another ten were damaged including a weapons plant. Twelve electric transmission towers were knocked down.
- April 4, 1974-FEMA-424-DR (period of incident April 3-4, 1974) —Between the early afternoon of April 3 and 1:00 a.m. April 4th, there were at least 28 tornadoes in 19 Tennessee counties in the worst single outbreak of tornadoes in the State's history. The storms left 45 people dead, 749 injured, and caused approximately $22 million in property damages throughout central and eastern Tennessee. The last tornado was an isolated one that occurred about ten miles northeast of Knoxville. It struck a manufactured home park, killing two children and injuring 21 people in Knox County.

The HMPC determined the impact of a tornadoes in Knox County to be limited.

PROBABILITY OF FUTURE OCCURRENCE

Based on NCDC records of 15 tornadoes from 1950 to 2023, there is a 20 percent probability of a tornado in the planning area in any given year thus ranking it as "likely." Removing the F0 rated events from this calculation, there were 8 tornadoes in the same period resulting in an 11 percent probability in any given year.

Probability: 3– Likely

CLIMATE CHANGE

There presently is not enough data or research to quantify the magnitude of change that climate change may have related to tornado frequency and intensity. NASA's Earth Observatory has conducted studies which aim to understand the interaction between climate change and tornadoes. Based on these studies meteorologists are unsure why some thunderstorms generate tornadoes and others don't, beyond knowing that they require a certain type of wind shear. Tornadoes spawn from approximately one percent of thunderstorms, usually supercell thunderstorms that are in a wind shear environment that promotes rotation. Some studies show a potential for a decrease in wind shear in mid-latitude areas. Because of uncertainty with the influence of climate change on tornadoes, future updates to the mitigation plan should include the latest research on how the tornado hazard frequency and severity could change. The level of significance of this hazard should be revisited over time.

CONSEQUENCE ANALYSIS

Category	Consequences
Public	Injuries and fatalities are possible. Individuals who cannot take shelter are most vulnerable as well as those in unsecured buildings like mobile homes. Injury may also result from debris or damaged buildings.
Responders	Responders may be hindered by storm impacts; damages may block access to affected areas or make it dangerous to enter affected buildings or areas.
Continuity of Operations (including Continued Delivery of Services)	Potential impacts to continuity of operations may result if personnel are harmed or if critical systems or resources are damaged. Delays in providing services may result.
Property, Facilities and Infrastructure	The weakest tornadoes, EF0, can cause minor roof damage, while strong tornadoes can destroy frame buildings and even badly damage steel reinforced concrete structures. Buildings are vulnerable to direct impact from tornado winds and wind-borne debris. Mobile homes are particularly susceptible to damage during tornadoes. Buildings, critical facilities, and infrastructure are all vulnerable to damage. Impacts to infrastructure may also include structural damage, impassable or blocked roadways or bridges, failed utility lines, or railway failure.
Environment	Downed trees and damages to vegetation are likely. Debris may be thrown great distances and end up in natural areas, with potential impacts on habitats. If hazardous materials facilities are impacted, chemical releases may occur and would require remediation.
Economic Condition of the Jurisdiction	Economic impacts are contingent on tornado's path, but a tornado can severely impact/destroy critical infrastructure and other economic drivers, halt economic activity, or cause direct losses to businesses.
Public Confidence in the Jurisdiction's Governance	Public confidence in the jurisdiction's governance may be influenced by severe tornado events if response and recovery are not timely and effective.

PEOPLE

The availability of sheltered locations such as basements, buildings constructed using tornado-resistant materials and methods, and public storm shelters, all reduce the exposure of the population. The two people killed by tornadoes in Knox County lived in a mobile home. Residents of mobile and manufactured housing may be particularly vulnerable due to the structure's vulnerability and the lack of sheltered locations in these units. According to 2022 ACS 5-Year Estimates data, 6.5% of homes in in Knox County, 1.3% of homes in Knoxville, and no homes in Farragut are classified as "mobile homes." Individuals who work outdoors may also face increased risk.

PROPERTY

General damages to property are both direct (what the tornado physically destroys) and indirect (additional costs, damages, and losses attributed to secondary hazards spawned by the tornado or due to the damages caused by the tornado). Depending on its size and path, a tornado is capable of damaging and eventually destroying almost anything. Construction practices and building codes can help maximize the resistance of the structures to damage.

Secondary impacts of tornado damage often result from damage to infrastructure. Downed power and communications transmission lines, coupled with disruptions to transportation, create difficulties in reporting and responding to emergencies. These indirect impacts of a tornado put tremendous strain on a community. Based on NCEI data, the reported tornado events resulted in almost $8 million in damage since 1950.

ENVIRONMENT

Tornadoes can cause massive damage to the natural environment, uprooting trees and other debris within the tornado's path. This is part of a natural process, however, and the environment will return to its original state in time.

Secondary impacts may occur if hazardous materials are released into the environment because of tornado damages. In this case, remediation would be needed.

CHANGES IN DEVELOPMENT

Development is not expected to impact the incidence of tornado events. As the county grows, overall asset exposure will increase, which may increase risk. The county and jurisdictions will want to ensure new development is constructed with building codes that withstand tornados and high winds.

HAZARD SUMMARY BY JURISDICTION

The following table summarizes tornado hazard risk by jurisdiction. Tornado hazard risk does not vary substantially by jurisdiction.

Knoxville	3	2	1	4	1	2.2	Medium

HAZARD DESCRIPTION

A wildfire is an uncontained fire that spreads through the environment. Wildfires are part of the natural management of forest ecosystems but may also be caused by human factors. Wildfires can consume large areas, including infrastructure, property, and resources. When massive fires, or conflagrations, develop near populated areas, evacuations possibly ensue. Not only do the flames impact the environment, but the massive volumes of smoke spread by certain atmospheric conditions also impact the health of nearby populations. In general, Tennessee has two fire seasons a year: in the spring about February 15th and ends near May 15th when the forest has "greened up"; and in the fall around October 15th when the leaves begin to fall and usually ends December 15th due to shorter, cooler, wetter days.

There are three types of fire spread that are recognized:

Ground fires – burn organic matter in the soil beneath surface litter and are sustained by glowing combustion.

Surface fires – spread with a flaming front and burn leaf litter, fallen branches and other fuels located at ground level.

Crown fires – burn through the top layer of foliage on a tree, known as the canopy or crown fires. Crown fires, the most intense type of fire and often the most difficult to contain, need strong winds, steep slopes and a heavy fuel load to continue burning.

Fire intensity is controlled by both short-term weather conditions and longer-term vegetation conditions. During intense fires, understory vegetation, such as leaves, small branches, and other organic materials that accumulate on the ground, can become additional fuel for the fire. The most explosive conditions occur when dry, gusty winds blow across dry vegetation.

Weather components such as temperature, relative humidity, wind, and lightning also affect the potential for wildfire. High temperatures and low relative humidity dry out the fuels that feed the wildfire creating a situation where fuel will more readily ignite and burn more intensely. Wind is the most treacherous weather factor. The issue of drought conditions contributes to concerns about wildfire vulnerability.

Duration: 1 – Less than 6 hours

LOCATION

Wildland-urban interface (WUI) refers to an area where homes and communities are built near or among lands prone to wildfires. The WUI is not exactly a place but a set of conditions that exist in every community. According to the National Fire Protection Association, conditions include (but are not limited to): the amount, type, and distribution of vegetation; the flammability of the structures (homes, businesses, outbuildings, decks, fences) in the area, and their proximity to fire-prone vegetation and to other combustible structures; weather patterns and general climate conditions; topography; hydrology; average lot size; and road construction. The wildland-urban intermix is a type of wildland-urban interface where homes and /other structures are intermixed within wildland fuels. These areas are more vulnerable to wildfires because the human development is intermixed with wildfire fuel.

According to the USDA Forest Service, as of 2020 the WUI of the conterminous United States includes about 44 million houses, which is equivalent to one in every three houses in the country. In the state of Tennessee approximately 30% of the all houses are in the wildland-urban interface. There has been a steady increase in areas that are a part of the wildland-urban interface due to the shift in decentralized urbanization and rapid development in outlying metropolitan areas. The expansion of WUI continues to increase the likelihood that wildfires will threaten structures and people.

EXTENT

Wildfire extent can be defined by the fire's intensity and measured by the Characteristic Fire Intensity Scale, which identifies areas where significant fuel hazards which could produce dangerous fires exist. Fire Intensity ratings identify where significant fuel hazards and dangerous fire behavior potential exist based on fuels, topography, and a weighted average of four percentile weather categories. The Fire Intensity Scale, shown in Table 5-48, consists of five classes, as defined by Southern Wildfire Risk Assessment. Figure 5-48 shows the potential fire intensity geographically.

Table 5-48 Fire Intensity Scale

Class	Description
1. Very Low	Very small, discontinuous flames, usually less than 1 foot in length; very low rate of spread; no spotting. Fires are typically easy to suppress by firefighters with basic training and non-specialized equipment.
2. Low	Small flames, usually less than two feet long; small amount of very short-range spotting possible. Fires are easy to suppress by trained firefighters with protective equipment and specialized tools.
3. Moderate	Flames up to 8 feet in length; short-range spotting is possible. Trained firefighters will find these fires difficult to suppress without support from aircraft or engines, but dozer and plows are generally effective. Increasing potential for harm or damage to life and property.
4. High	Large Flames, up to 30 feet in length; short-range spotting common; medium range spotting possible. Direct attack by trained firefighters, engines, and dozers is generally ineffective, indirect attack may be effective. Significant potential for harm or damage to life and property.
5. Very High	Very large flames up to 150 feet in length; profuse short-range spotting, frequent long-range spotting; strong fire-induced winds. Indirect attack marginally effective at the head of the fire. Great potential for harm or damage to life and property.

This map shows that the potential for low fire intensity exists primarily outside of urban Knoxville and within the unincorporated county. While there are small pockets of moderate and high risk within the unincorporated county, the planning area predominately exhibits potential for low intensity fire.

HISTORICAL OCCURRENCES

According to the Tennessee Department of Agriculture, Division of Forestry, Knox County had 46 wildfires that burned 840 acres between 2006 and 2010. There were no fatalities or injuries reported in association with these wildfires. Structural damage is reported independently of the wildfire statistics and therefore it is unknown if there was any structural damage associated with the wildfire events Table 5-49 details wildfire occurrences in the planning area from 2006-2010 from the following reporting fire departments: Heiskell Volunteer Fire Department (VFD), Karns VFD, Knoxville City Fire Department, Rural Metro Fire Department, and Seymour VFD.

For 2011 through 2016, data was obtained from the Tennessee Fire Incident Reporting System (TFIRS) and includes incident reporting from Karns VFD, Knoxville City Fire Department, and the Rural Metro Fire Department. For this reporting period, there were a total of 129 forest/woods/wildland fire events that burned 351 acres. There were no fatalities or injuries reported in association with these wildfires. Again, structural damage is reported independently of the wildfire statistics and therefore it is unknown if there was any structural damage associated with the wildfire events.

Data for 2017-2024 (September) was obtained from The Tennessean's wildfire history map. This map displays wildfires that have occurred across the United States since 2017. The Tennessean sourced data from the National Interagency Fire Center (NICF), which provided information on the location and acreage impacted by the incident. Data on injuries, fatalities, or property damage was not available; however, no injuries or fatalities were reported in local newspapers.

Debris burning is the number one ranking cause of these wildfires in the planning area, followed by arson, campfires, power lines, children, and sparks from railroad lines.

Outside of the Knox County planning area, but within neighboring Sevier County, wildfires in 2016 became one of the largest natural disasters in the history of Tennessee. In late November 2016, a complex set of wildfires impacted the cities of Pigeon Forge and Gatlinburg, both near the Great Smoky Mountains National Park. The fires resulted in three deaths in the City of Gatlinburg and 11 deaths in the adjacent Sevier County area, either directly from the fire or as a consequence of attempting to flee the fire. In addition, the wildfires caused over 130 injuries; damaged or destroyed approximately 2,500 structures and burned approximately 17,000 acres. Over 14,000 residents and visitors evacuated Gatlinburg and the adjacent areas in danger from the fires. Following a presidential disaster declaration, assistance through FEMA provided over $3.4M in individual assistance and $3.8M in public assistance for recovery efforts.

The wildfires were driven primarily by weather, specifically, very strong winds, in combination with exceptional drought conditions. An after-action report prepared following the event identified numerous actions to better prepare the community for potential wildfires or other relevant hazards in the future. The recommendations addressed a broad range of functions including command staff and incident management; operations; interagency communications; public information; logistics; and recovery and humanitarian outreach.

PROBABILITY OF FUTURE OCCURRENCE

Wildfires occur in the planning area on an annual basis. The average number of wildfires per year for the 19-year period from 2006-2024 was 9.2. The planning committee anticipates that this rate of occurrence is likely to continue. Future occurrences of this hazard are likely to increase if development in wildland-urban interface areas increases.

Probability: 4 – Highly Likely

CLIMATE CHANGE

Wildfire risk depends on a number of factors, including temperature, soil moisture, and the presence of trees, shrubs, and other potential fuel. All these factors have strong direct or indirect ties to climate variability and climate change. Research shows that changes in climate create warmer, drier conditions. Per the Fourth National Climate Assessment, the Southeast is projected to experience an increase in the duration and intensity of drought, which is expected to increase wildfire occurrence and reduce the effectiveness of prescribed fire. Although total area burned by wildfire is greatest in the western U.S., the Southeast has historically had the highest number of wildfires and the most area burned by prescribed fire. In the Southeastern United States modeling suggests increased fire risk and a longer fire season, with at least a 30 percent increase from 2011 in the area burned by lightning-ignited wildfire by 2060.

CONSEQUENCE ANALYSIS

Category	Consequences
Public	In addition to the potential for fatalities, wildfire and the resulting diminished air quality pose health risks. Smoke and air pollution can cause serious health problems, including asthma attacks and pneumonia, and can worsen chronic heart and lung diseases. Vulnerable populations include children, the elderly, and people with respiratory and cardiovascular problems. Even healthy citizens may experience symptoms such as sore throats and itchy eyes.
Responders	Wildfires are a significant threat to the health and safety of the emergency services, both while fighting the fire and from after effects from smoke inhalation and heat stroke. More rural areas may require response personnel ready to act.
Continuity of Operations (including Continued Delivery of Services)	Wildfire events can result in a loss of power which may impact operations. Downed trees, power lines and damaged road conditions may prevent access to critical facilities and/or emergency equipment.

Category	Consequences
Property, Facilities and Infrastructure	Damage to buildings and facilities, especially those in the wildland urban interface, is possible. Infrastructure, including roadways, communication networks and facilities, power lines, utilities, and water distribution systems, may also be damaged. New homes constructed without considering community wildland fire planning can create neighborhoods with limited accessibility and flammable buildings and landscaping.
Environment	Wildfires cause damage to the natural environment, killing vegetation and animals. The risk of floods and debris flows increases after wildfires due to the exposure of bare ground and the loss of vegetation. In addition, the secondary effects of wildfires, including erosion, landslides, introduction of invasive species, and changes in water quality, are often more disastrous than the fire itself. Water supplies can be degraded by post-fire erosion and stream sedimentation.
Economic Condition of the Jurisdiction	Wildfires can have significant short-term and long-term effects on the local economy. Wildfires, and extreme fire danger, may reduce recreation and tourism in and near the fires, and can destroy crops and other agricultural property. If aesthetics are impaired, local property values can decline. Extensive fire damage to trees can significantly alter the timber supply, both through a short-term surplus from timber salvage and a longer-term decline while the trees regrow. Post-fire cleanup costs include rehabilitation and repair, equipment and capital goods replacement, drinking water pollution remediation, smoke damage, and increase in fire insurance premiums.
Public Confidence in the Jurisdiction's Governance	Wildfire events may cause issues with public confidence because they have very visible impacts on the community.

PEOPLE

Wildfire can cause fatalities and human health hazards, particularly when air quality is a concern. Exposure to wildfire smoke can cause serious health problems, including asthma attacks and pneumonia, and can worsen chronic heart and lung diseases. Vulnerable populations include people with respiratory problems or with heart disease. Even healthy people may experience minor symptoms, such as sore throats and itchy eyes.

PROPERTY

Wildfire can cause direct property losses, including damage to buildings, vehicles, landscaped areas, agricultural lands, and livestock. Wildfires burn 20-30 homes in the state every year, and hundreds more are threatened each fire season. Similarly, wildfire can cause loss of power, downed trees, or damage/blockage of roads and other transportation systems.

Exposure to wildfire was estimated by analyzing the type and number of buildings within the Wildland Urban Interface and Intermix. Results are show in Table 5-50 and Table 5-51.

ENVIRONMENT

Wildfires have the potential to destroy forest and forage resources and damage natural habitats. Wildfire can also damage agricultural crops on private land. Wildfire is part of a natural process, and it plays a key role in shaping ecosystems by serving as an agent of renewal and change. However, fires also release carbon dioxide, a key greenhouse gas, into the atmosphere.

CHANGES IN DEVELOPMENT

Increased development on the wildland fringe, areas immediately adjacent to the Wildland Urban Interface, will expand the WUI itself and further increase vulnerability. Conversely, as infill development occurs and urban areas become more densely developed, fuel sources may be removed such that these areas may fall out of the WUI.

Integrating wildfire management into land use and subdivision regulations can limit the risk of new development. State and local governments can impose fire safety regulations on home sites and developments to help curb wildfire. Land treatment measures such as fire access roads, water storage, helipads, safety zones, buffers, firebreaks, fuel breaks, and fuel management can be designed as part of an overall fire defense system to aid in fire control. Fuel management, prescribed burning, and cooperative land management planning can also be encouraged to reduce fire hazards.

HAZARD DESCRIPTION

Winter storms in Tennessee typically involve snow and/or freezing rain (ice storms). These conditions pose a serious threat to public safety, disrupt commerce and transportation, and can damage utilities and communications infrastructure. Winter storms can also disrupt emergency and medical services, hamper the flow of supplies, and isolate homes and farms. Heavy snow can collapse roofs and down trees onto power lines. Direct and indirect economic impacts of winter storms include cost of snow removal, damage repair, increased heating bills, business and crop losses, power failures and frozen or burst water lines.

The National Weather Service describes different types of winter storm conditions as follows:

- Blizzard—Winds of 35 mph or more with snow and blowing snow reducing visibility to less than 1/4 mile for at least three hours.
- Blowing Snow—Wind-driven snow that reduces visibility. Blowing snow may be falling snow and/or snow on the ground picked up by the wind.
- Snow Squalls—Brief, intense snow showers accompanied by strong, gusty winds. Accumulation may be significant.
- Snow Showers—Snow falling at varying intensities for brief periods of time. Some accumulation is possible.
- Freezing Rain—Measurable rain that falls onto a surface whose temperature is below freezing. This causes the rain to freeze on surfaces, such as trees, cars, and roads, forming a coating or glaze of ice. Most freezing-rain events are short lived and occur near sunrise between the months of December and March.
- Sleet—Rain drops that freeze into ice pellets before reaching the ground. Sleet usually bounces when hitting a surface and does not stick to objects.

Duration of the most severe impacts of winter storms is generally less than one week, though dangerous cold, snow, and ice conditions can remain present for longer periods in certain cases. Weather forecasts commonly predict the most severe winter storms at least 24 hours in advance, leaving adequate time to warn the public.

Warning Time: 1 – More than 24 hours

Duration: 3 – Less than 1 week

LOCATION

The entire State of Tennessee is vulnerable to light snow and freezing rain. The eastern region of Tennessee including Knox County receives 11.4 inches of snow during a normal season according to the National Weather Service in Morristown, Tennessee.

Damages associated with winter storms in the planning area are usually related to downed power lines and power infrastructure. These damages and the associated losses as a result of disruptions in normal daily operations can be costly.

One significant winter weather event can have multiple impacts including property damage and damages to power lines and infrastructure from falling trees and limbs, prolonged power outages, road damage, road hazards, and road closures, school, government and business closures.

HISTORICAL OCCURRENCES

Knox County received one major presidential disaster declaration for a severe winter storm in 1993. NCDC records indicate that in addition to this incident, 41 winter storm or heavy snow events occurred in Knox County between October 1993 and January 2023. Occurrences listed prior to 1993 are from newspaper articles either the Knoxville New Sentinel or the Knoxville Journal.

- December 24, 2020—A strong storm system brought high winds and heavy snow to parts of East Tennessee. The planning area reported between four and seven inches of snow.
- February 16, 2015— A winter storm tracked through area on the 16 – 17th with the atmosphere favorable for both heavy snow and ice accretion. The highest peaks had up to 6 inches of snow while ice accumulations had up to an inch. In addition, cold weather accounted for three deaths.
- January 29, 2005—A low pressure system spread moist air above a cold air mass in place at the surface across East Tennessee creating a mixture of freezing rain and sleet across the lower elevations and a mixture of sleet and snow across the higher terrain. Much of the region ended up with ice accumulation around one quarter inch with some locations measuring as much as one half inch of ice. Trees and power lines were downed across parts of the region due to ice accumulation.
- February 28, 2004—The planning area received three to six inches of snow.
- January 22, 2003—The planning area received two to five inches of snow.
- December 3, 2000—Widespread snow fell across East Tennessee. Amounts varied widely. In northeast Tennessee, snowfall amounts averaged 1 to 3 inches, with a few spots in the mountains reporting 2 to 4 inches. In central East Tennessee, amounts ranged between 1 and 3 inches, with a few isolated reports of 3 to 5 inches. In southeast Tennessee, amounts were a bit heavier. Snowfall amounts averaged 2 to 4 inches, with a few places reporting 3 to 5 inches.
- December 1998—Snow and ice storm cause extensive power outages across planning area.
- February 1, 1996—14-16 inches of snow across planning area.
- February 7, 1995—Snow fell across of Tennessee with accumulation of two to four inches over most areas. Parts of middle and east Tennessee had snow drifts of up to three feet in depth.
- February 4, 1994—A major ice storm hit much of Tennessee. Numerous trees were knocked down. Many of these trees took down power lines as well. About 770,000 people in the State lost power for some period of time.
- March 14, 1993-FEMA-3095-DR (period of incident March 13-17, 1993) — Light snow bgan to fall on Friday night March 12th. Low pressure was rapidly intensifying along the Gulf Coast and started moving northeast. The track of the storm was a perfect snow maker for Knox County planning area as it moved through northern Georgia, then up through the Carolinas and into the northeast. The strength of the low pressure and the intensity of the wind make this storm significant. 40,000 of 153,000 without power in many areas for more than a week, forcing shelters to be opened and schools to close. National Weather Service recorded 11.13 inches for Knoxville on March 13th. The total disaster cost for the public in this planning area was $846,337.14
- April 3, 1987—Winter storm caused 25,000 customers to be without power and caused $570,000 in damages.
- December 26, 1983—Ice storm caused 10 fatalities and millions in damages.
- January 17, 1982—Planning area had 1/8 inch of ice accumulations. It closed the interstates and the Oak Ridge area was without power.
- January 24, 1978—Rain, snow, and 51 mph winds caused Tennessee Valley Authority to have power shortages.

- January 1976—Ice storm caused numerous car accidents and property damage.
- December 30, 1963—10 inches of snow in the planning area.
- January 8, 1962—12 inches of snow in the planning area.
- February 13-14, 1960—17.5 inches of snow in the planning area.
- Winter 1959-1960—Worst recorded winter with 56.7 inches in the season.
- November 21-22, 1952—30,000 of 65,000 customers without power with 18.2 inches of snow.
- December 4-6, 1886—22.5 inches of snow in planning area.

PROBABILITY OF FUTURE OCCURRENCE

With the combined historical information from FEMA declarations, planning committee accounts, and the NCDC database, during a 31-year period from 1993 to 2023 there were 41 recorded winter storm events (snow and ice) in the planning area resulting in an average of 1.33 winter storms per year. Based on historic frequency, the probability of future occurrence rating for winter storms is 100 percent in any given year.

Probability: 4 – Highly Likely

CLIMATE CHANGE

The atmosphere now holds more moisture which drives heavier than normal precipitation, including heavier snowfall. For the entire Northern Hemisphere, winter storms have increased in frequency and intensity since the 1950s, which could suggest greater hazard impacts in the future. However, winter storm tracks have shifted northward over the United States; therefore, the increase in intensity may be offset in Tennessee by the northward shift of the storm tracks.

CONSEQUENCE ANALYSIS

Category	Consequences
Public	Winter storms can create dangerous walking and driving conditions by limited visibility or making sidewalks and roads slick. Loss of power can create very cold conditions increasing the risk of hypothermia or frostbite. Individuals seeking alternative means of heating their homes may run the risk of carbon monoxide poisoning or fire hazards.
Responders	Responders face heightened risk due to slick roads and limited visibility. Snow and ice accumulations may block roads, limited access for responders to reach areas in need.
Continuity of Operations (including Continued Delivery of Services)	Continuity of operations is generally expected to be maintained. However, localized disruption of roads and/or utilities caused by incident may postpone delivery of some services or make it difficult for emergency management personnel to arrive at work. Schools may be delayed or closed, which can lead to logistical problems for teachers and administrators.
Property, Facilities and Infrastructure	Disruption of major and local roads is possible, limiting mobility. Air travel delays are possible. Disruption of utilities is likely; utilities at risk include water, cable, internet, water, and power.
Environment	Environmental damage to trees and other vegetation may occurred. Downed trees and limbs may cause secondary damages to property and people or may down power lines. Environmental impacts may result when snow is cleared from roadways, picking up contaminants from chemicals, oil products, and salt mixture used to de-ice roads. These contaminants can be carried to local waterways and impact water quality.

Economic Condition of the Jurisdiction	Local economy and finances may be adversely affected, depending on damage and business interruption costs. During a winter storm event, there is a high potential for business and office closures, modified business and office hours, and cancellation or postponement of events, especially due to power outages and poor road conditions. Crop and livestock can also be adversely affected causing significant loss of revenue.
Public Confidence in the Jurisdiction's Governance	Public confidence is unlikely to be impacted unless road clearing, power restoration, and other response activities are particularly slow.

PEOPLE

Because winter storms are large scale events, all of the Knox County population is exposed.

Winter storms are considered deceptive killers because most deaths are indirectly related to the storm event. The leading cause of death during winter storms is from automobile crashes due to poor visibility and/or slippery roads. Additionally, exhaustion and heart attacks caused by overexertion may result from winter storms. People experiencing homelessness, residents living in old homes or home with poor insulation, and low-income families that struggle to maintain electricity and heating bills are more vulnerable to the impacts of winter weather, including hypothermia. Also, significant injury or fatality may occur if a large tree limb snaps while a resident is out driving or walking underneath it.

Power outages during very cold winter storm conditions can also create potentially dangerous situations. Elderly people account for the largest percentage of hypothermia victims. In addition, if the power is out for an extended period, residents are forced to find alternative means to heat their homes. The danger arises from carbon monoxide released from improperly ventilated heating sources such as space or kerosene heaters, furnaces, and blocked chimneys. House fires also occur more frequently in the winter due to lack of proper safety precautions when using an alternative heating source.

PROPERTY

A winter storm may cause damage to homes and vehicles when severe. Frozen or snow-covered trees and branches could fall on home or vehicles. Additionally, building and household pipes are at risk of freezing and cracking which could eventually cause water damage.

ENVIRONMENT

Winter storm events may include ice or snow accumulation on trees which can cause large limbs, or even whole trees, to snap and potentially fall. Late season frost or freeze may harm vegetation, which can reduce habitats and threaten wildlife.

CHANGES IN DEVELOPMENT

The winter weather hazard is not expected to be impacted by changes in development. Aside from increases in overall building and infrastructure exposure in the planning area that comes with growth, future development will not significantly increase risk of winter weather.

HAZARD SUMMARY BY JURISDICTION

The following table summarizes severe winter weather hazard risk by jurisdiction. Severe winter weather risk does not vary substantially by jurisdiction because these events are typically regional in nature.

Jurisdiction	Probability	Impact	Spatial Extent	Warning Time	Duration	Score	Priority
Farragut	4	1	3	1	3	2.5	Medium

PRIORITY RISK INDEX

As discussed in Section 5.2, the Priority Risk Index was used to rate each hazard on a set of risk criteria and determine an overall standardized score for each hazard. The conclusions drawn from this process are summarized below.

Tables 5-46 through 5-48 summarize the degree of risk assigned to each identified hazard by jurisdiction using the PRI method.

The results from the PRI have been classified into three categories based on the assigned risk value which are summarized in Table 5-49:

- High Risk – Widespread potential impact. This ranking carries a high threat to the general population and/or built environment. The potential for damage is widespread.
- Moderate Risk – Moderate potential impact. This ranking carries a moderate threat level to the general population and/or built environment. Here the potential damage is more isolated and less costly than a more widespread disaster.
- Low Risk – Minimal potential impact. The occurrence and potential cost of damage to life and property is minimal. This is not a priority hazard.

6 CAPABILITY ASSESSMENT

This section discusses the capability of the Knox County planning area to implement hazard mitigation activities. It consists of the following subsections:

- 6.1 Overview
- 6.2 Capability Assessment Findings
- 6.3 Improving Local Capability

6.1 OVERVIEW

The purpose of conducting a capability assessment is to determine the ability of a local jurisdiction to implement a comprehensive mitigation strategy, and to identify potential opportunities for establishing or enhancing specific mitigation policies, programs, or projects. As in any planning process, it is important to try to establish which goals, objectives, and actions are feasible, based on an understanding of the organizational capacity of those agencies or departments tasked with their implementation. A capability assessment helps to determine which mitigation actions are practical and likely to be implemented over time given a local government's planning and regulatory framework, level of administrative and technical support, amount of fiscal resources, and current political climate.

The capability assessment completed for the Knox County planning area serves as a critical planning step toward developing an effective mitigation strategy. Coupled with the risk assessment, the capability assessment helps identify and target effective goals, objectives, and mitigation actions that are realistically achievable under given local conditions.

To facilitate the inventory and analysis of local government capabilities within the planning area, individual meetings were held with HMPC members from each jurisdiction to review a variety of "capability indicators" such as existing local plans, policies, programs, or ordinances that contribute to and/or hinder the region's ability to implement hazard mitigation actions. Other indicators included information related to the region's fiscal, administrative, and technical capabilities, such as access to local budgetary and personnel resources for mitigation purposes, and existing education and outreach programs that can be used to promote mitigation.

In addition to requesting HMPC input, the planning team reexamined data from the 2018 plan and conducted a review of plans, policies, and ordinances in order to identify changes in capability over the past five years.

At a minimum, the capability assessment findings provide an extensive and consolidated inventory of existing local plans, ordinances, programs, and resources in place or under development. With this information, inferences can be made about the overall effect on hazard loss reduction in each community.

6.2 CAPABILITY ASSESSMENT FINDINGS

The findings of the capability assessment are summarized in this plan to provide insight into the relevant capacity of Knox County and its incorporated municipalities to implement hazard mitigation activities. Information is based upon input provided by community representatives on the HMPC as well as research conducted by the planning consultant.

6.2.1 PLANNING AND REGULATORY CAPABILITY

Planning and regulatory capability is based on the implementation of plans, ordinances, and programs that demonstrate a local jurisdiction's commitment to guiding and managing growth, development, and redevelopment in a responsible manner, while maintaining the general welfare of the community. It includes emergency response and mitigation planning, comprehensive land use planning, and transportation planning. Regulatory capability also includes the enforcement of zoning or subdivision ordinances and building codes that regulate how land is developed and structures are built, as well as protecting environmental, historic, and cultural resources in the community. Although some conflicts can arise, these planning initiatives generally present significant opportunities to integrate hazard mitigation principles and practices into the local decision-making process.

This assessment provides a general overview of the key planning and regulatory tools or programs in place or under development for the Knox County planning area. This information will help identify opportunities to address gaps, weaknesses, or conflicts with other initiatives and integrate the implementation of this plan with existing planning mechanisms where appropriate.

Table 6.3, at the end of this section, summarizes the communities' relevant local plans, ordinances, and programs already in place or under development A checkmark (✓) indicates that the given item is currently in place and being implemented. An asterisk (*) indicates that the given item is currently being developed for future implementation. A plus sign (+) indicates that a jurisdiction is covered for that item under a version implemented by Knox County. Each of these local plans, ordinances, and programs should be considered available mechanisms for incorporating the requirements of the Hazard Mitigation Plan.

Table 6.3 also summarizes the communities' other capabilities – administrative and technical capabilities and fiscal capabilities.

6.2.1.1 Plans and Ordinances

Hazard mitigation is widely recognized as one of the four primary phases of emergency management. Mitigation is interconnected with all other phases and is an essential component of effective preparedness, response, and recovery. Opportunities to reduce potential losses through mitigation practices are most often implemented before a disaster event, such as through the elevation of flood-prone structures or by regular enforcement of policies that regulate development. However, mitigation opportunities can also be identified during immediate preparedness or response activities, such as installing storm shutters in advance of a hurricane. Furthermore, incorporating mitigation during the long-term recovery and redevelopment process following a disaster event is what enables a community to become more resilient.

The implementation of hazard mitigation activities also often involves agencies and individuals beyond the emergency management profession. Stakeholders may include local planners, public works officials, economic development specialists, and others. In many instances, concurrent local planning efforts will help to achieve or complement hazard mitigation goals, even though they may not be designed as such.

The following list defines some of the different plans and ordinances available to Knox County and its incorporated jurisdictions to implement hazard mitigation.

HAZARD MITIGATION PLAN

A hazard mitigation plan is a community's blueprint for how it intends to reduce the impact of natural, and in some cases human-caused, hazards on people and the built environment. The essential elements of a hazard mitigation plan include a risk assessment, capability assessment, and mitigation strategy.

All participating jurisdictions in this multi-jurisdictional planning effort have previously been covered by the 2018 Knox County Hazard Mitigation Plan and continue to be covered under this update – making each community eligible for the associated hazard mitigation funding mechanisms.

COMPREHENSIVE/LAND USE PLAN

A comprehensive land use plan, or general plan, establishes the overall vision for what a community wants to be and serves as a guide for future governmental decision making. Typically, a comprehensive plan contains sections on demographic conditions, land use, transportation elements, and community facilities. Given the broad nature of the plan and its regulatory standing in many communities, the integration of hazard mitigation measures into the comprehensive plan can enhance the likelihood of achieving risk reduction goals, objectives, and actions. Regular updates of comprehensive plans are important for guiding the growth and development of a community. Knox County recently released a new comprehensive plan in 2024, "Knox County Comprehensive Land Use & Transportation Plan." The City of Knoxville still implements its 2003 comprehensive plan, "The Knoxville-Knox County General Plan 2033," and the Town of Farragut oversees its comprehensive plan, "Farragut 2025."

Several elements outlined in the comprehensive plan relate to hazard mitigation planning and foster resilience for the planning area. The Natural Resources and Community Facilities elements in particular include objectives and policies that support hazard mitigation planning. Below are a few of the relevant objective and policies:

- Encourage flexible, planned development zones to protect hillsides, woodlands, wildlife habitats, and stream corridors (Knoxville).
- Compliment natural landforms when grading and minimize grading on steep slopes and within floodways (Knoxville).
- Incorporate low-impact design techniques into new parks (Knox County).
- Consider regulations in the unified development ordinance according to or by guidance of the Hillside and Ridgetop Protection Plan (Knox County).
- To protect Farragut's open feel: development should avoid hazardous areas (sinkholes, steep slopes, floodplains).
- When possible, open areas should maintain view and allow trails (Farragut).

ZONING ORDINANCE

Zoning represents the primary means by which land use is controlled by local governments. Knox County, Knoxville, and Farragut maintain their own Code of Ordinances, which includes zoning code provisions used to protect the public health, safety, and welfare. A zoning ordinance is the mechanism through which zoning is typically implemented. Since zoning regulations enable municipal governments to limit the type and density of development, a zoning ordinance can serve as a powerful tool when applied in identified hazard areas.

Additionally, the City of Knoxville's Zoning Code includes the Hillside Protection Overlay passed in 2020. For a building to be constructed within the overlay area, the developer must comply with the city's process, and the property is subject to a slope analysis and site plan review, to minimize disturbance.

BUILDING CODES, PERMITTING, AND INSPECTIONS

Building codes regulate construction standards. In many communities, permits and inspections are required for new construction. Decisions regarding the adoption of building codes (that account for hazard risk), the type of permitting process required both before and after a disaster, and the enforcement of inspection protocols all affect the level of hazard risk faced by a community. All the jurisdictions have a building code in place based on the International Building Code. Knox County and the incorporated jurisdictions employ the 2018 International Building Code (IBC) and International Residential Code (IRC) among other codes.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS PLAN

A capital improvements plan guides the scheduling of spending on public improvements. A capital improvements plan can serve as an important mechanism for guiding future development away from identified hazard areas. Limiting public spending in hazardous areas is one of the most effective long-term mitigation actions available to local governments. Capital improvement plans can also address problems within hazardous areas; for example, a jurisdiction might obligate money to address site-specific drainage related problems Knox County and the City of Knoxville (independently) maintain a capital improvement program that is updated every five years. The Town of Farragut develops a six-year Capital Investment Program.

EMERGENCY OPERATIONS PLAN

An emergency operations plan (EOP) outlines the responsibilities of different departments and how resources will be deployed during and following an emergency or disaster. Knox County maintains an emergency operations plan through the county Emergency Management Agency. The EOP plan includes the municipalities covered in this plan.

The Knoxville-Knox County Emergency Operations Plan describes the roles and responsibilities of local organizations in responding to a disaster. It identifies personnel, equipment, resources, and organizational relationships that are used to coordinate the response to community needs during and immediately after a major emergency. The Knoxville-Knox County Emergency Operations Plan is applicable to all hazards that may impact the community and engages the whole community in its approach to response.

STORMWATER MANAGEMENT PLAN

A stormwater management plan is designed to address flooding associated with stormwater runoff. The stormwater management plan is typically focused on design and construction measures that are intended to reduce the impact of more frequently occurring minor urban flooding. Knox County, the City of Knoxville, and the Town of Farragut have their own respective stormwater management plans.

6.2.1.2 Floodplain Management

Flooding represents the greatest natural hazard facing the nation, yet the tools available to reduce the impacts associated with flooding are among the most developed when compared to other hazard-specific mitigation techniques. In addition to approaches that cut across hazards such as education, outreach, and the training of local officials, the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) contains specific regulatory measures that enable government officials to determine where and how growth occurs relative to flood hazards. Participation in the NFIP is voluntary for local governments; however, program participation is strongly encouraged by FEMA as a first step for implementing and sustaining an effective hazard mitigation program. It is therefore used as part of this capability assessment as a key indicator for measuring local capability.

FLOODPLAIN PREVENTION ORDINANCE

In order for a county or municipality to participate in the NFIP, they must adopt a local flood damage prevention ordinance that requires jurisdictions to follow established minimum building standards in the floodplain. These standards require that all new buildings and substantial improvements to existing buildings be protected from damage by a 1-percent-annual-chance flood event, and that new development in the floodplain not exacerbate existing flood problems or increase damage to other properties.

Table 6.1 provides NFIP policy and claim information for each participating jurisdiction in the Knox County planning area.

Knox County and each of its jurisdictions participate in the NFIP and will continue to comply with all required provisions of the program. Floodplain management is managed through each jurisdiction's Floodplain Management Program, zoning ordinances, and building code restrictions. The County and jurisdictions coordinate with TEMA and FEMA to maintain maps and regulations related to Special Flood Hazard Areas within their jurisdictional boundaries and, through a consistent monitoring process, will implement and improve their floodplain management program in a way that reduces the risk of flooding to people and property.

COMMUNITY RATING SYSTEM

An additional indicator of floodplain management capability is active participation in the Community Rating System (CRS). The CRS is an incentive-based program that encourages communities to undertake defined flood mitigation activities that go beyond the minimum requirements of the NFIP. Each of the CRS mitigation activities is assigned a point value. As a community earns points and reaches identified thresholds, they can apply for an improved CRS class. Class ratings, which range from 9 to 1 and increase on 500-point increments, are tied to flood insurance premium reductions. Every class improvement earns a 5 percent discount for NFIP policyholders, with a starting discount of 5 percent for Class 9 communities and a maximum possible discount of 45 percent for Class 1 communities.

Community participation in the CRS is voluntary. Any community that is in full compliance with the rules and regulations of the NFIP may apply to FEMA for a CRS classification better than class 10. The CRS application process has been greatly simplified over the past several years, based on community comments intended to make the CRS more user friendly, and extensive technical assistance available for communities who request it. Knox County has participated in the CRS since 2002 and is currently class 8, and the City of Knoxville has participated since 1992 and is currently a class 6. The Town of Farragut does not participate in CRS.

ADDITIONAL POLICIES

The planning area now requires sellers to disclose drainage easement maintenance responsibility. The 2018 Knox County Hazard Mitigation Plan identified this as a high priority action. This requirement ensures that buyers are aware that they must maintain drainage easements, which improves the likelihood that drainage areas provide adequate drainage during hazardous events.

6.2.2 ADMINISTRATIVE AND TECHNICAL CAPABILITY

The ability of a local government to develop and implement mitigation projects, policies, and programs is directly tied to its ability to direct staff time and resources for that purpose. Administrative capability can be evaluated by determining how mitigation-related activities are assigned to local departments and if there are adequate personnel resources to complete these activities. The degree of intergovernmental coordination among departments will also affect administrative capability for the implementation and success of proposed mitigation activities.

Technical capability can generally be evaluated by assessing the level of knowledge and technical expertise of local government employees, such as personnel skilled in using geographic information systems (GIS) to analyze and assess community hazard vulnerability. An assessment of local capability to capture information on administrative and technical capability through the identification of available staff and personnel resources.

The County and its jurisdictions have several departments are key to carrying out actions that directly align with mitigation efforts and the hazards assessed in this plan. A few examples are listed below:

- Knoxville-Knox County Emergency Management Agency
- Knox County Engineering & Public Works Department
- Knox County Fire Prevention Bureau
- City of Knoxville Code Administration
- City of Knoxville Engineering Department
- Town of Farragut Engineering Department
- KGIS

Table 6.3 provides a summary of the local capabilities for all participating communities regarding relevant staff and personnel resources.

Note that in multiple instances, one individual staff member fills multiple roles listed below. In these cases, these individuals may be overburdened during emergency events, disaster recovery, or planning process updates. Certain communities might contract out services where there is no in-house capacity. Specific areas for improvement might include employing additional planners with specific understanding of natural hazards and land use practices to mitigate the impacts of hazards as well as expanding individual communities' GIS capabilities and databases to identify hazard prone areas and build community-specific, detailed risk and vulnerability assessments.

6.2.3 FISCAL CAPABILITY

The ability of a local government to implement mitigation actions is often dependent on the amount of money available. This may take the form of outside grant funding awards or locally based revenue and financing. The costs associated with mitigation policy and project implementation vary widely. In some cases, policies are tied primarily to staff time or administrative costs associated with the creation and monitoring of a given program. In other cases, direct expenses are linked to an actual project such as the acquisition of flood-prone houses, which can require a substantial commitment from local, state, and federal funding sources.

The information collected from jurisdictions was used to capture information on fiscal capability through the identification of locally available financial resources. Table 6.3 provides a summary of the results for the planning area with regard to relevant fiscal resources. Fiscal tools or resources that all jurisdictions could potentially use to help fund mitigation activities include the following:

- Community Development Block Grants (City of Knoxville and Knox County only)
- DHS and FEMA Grant Resources
- Capital improvements project funding
- Authority to levy taxes for specific purposes
- Incur debt through general obligation bonds
- Incur debt through special tax bonds

6.2.4 EDUCATION AND OUTREACH CAPABILITY

This type of local capability refers to education and outreach programs and methods already in place that could be used to implement mitigation activities and communicate hazard-related information. Examples include natural disaster or safety related school programs; participation in community programs such as Firewise or StormReady; and activities conducted as part of hazard awareness campaigns such as a Severe Weather Awareness Month. The following is a list of public outreach activities implemented in Knox County and its jurisdictions.

- Fire Prevention Bureau – protects the residents of Knox County through life safety inspections of existing structures and new construction, development of proactive and diverse public education programs, and maintaining an aggressive fire investigation program.
- Knox County Stormwater – offers community outreach programs such as Tennessee Smart Yards, Environmental Stewardship Program, and Adopt-A-Stream for the Knox County community.
- Knox County Air Quality Management Department – provides educational programs including Air Now, Spare the Air, Spare the Air, and Sunwise.
- Knoxville Energy & Sustainability Task Force – reflects the global effort to reduce excess energy consumption and standardize environmentally sustainable best practices and advises City Government in planning and implementing practical policies and programs.
- Town of Farragut Stormwater Matters Program – encourages a watershed-based partnership with the community & neighborhood jurisdictions and promotes citizens to make a difference with Adopt-A-Stream, Scoop the Poop, and internships for Farragut High School students.
- CodeRED – allows residents to register their phone numbers and receive notifications about local hazards and emergencies.

Although this is not an exhaustive list, Knox and incorporated jurisdictions have hazard and non-hazard related educational and outreach capacity. The communities can further capitalize on their existing capabilities, like school partnerships and non-profit agency relationships, and build new capability to educate the larger community on hazard risk and mitigation options.

6.2.5 POLITICAL CAPABILITY

One of the most difficult capabilities to evaluate involves the political will of a jurisdiction to enact meaningful policies and projects designed to reduce the impact of future hazard events. Hazard mitigation may not be a local priority, or it may conflict with or be seen as an impediment to other goals of the community, such as growth and economic development. Therefore, the local political climate must be considered in designing mitigation strategies, as it could be the most difficult hurdle to overcome in accomplishing their adoption and implementation.

The current and future political climate for supporting and advancing future hazard mitigation strategies is strong to moderate in Knox County, and most of the incorporated jurisdictions. There are several existing ordinances that address natural hazards or are related to hazard mitigation such as flood damage prevention, soil erosion and sediment control, stormwater management, zoning, and subdivision regulations.

Table 6.2 below summarizes the different government structures in each jurisdiction.

Table 6-2 Knox County Jurisdictional Government Structure

Jurisdiction	Government Structure
Knoxville	Mayor and 9-member City Council
Unincorporated Knox County	Mayor and 11-member County Commission

6.2.6 COMMUNITY CAPABILITY MATRIX

Table 6.3 summarizes the communities' relevant capabilities. The following key is established for each capability category:

Planning and Regulatory Capability: A checkmark (✓) indicates that the given item is currently in place and being implemented. A star (★) indicates that the given item is currently being developed or updated. A plus sign (+) indicates that a jurisdiction is covered for that item under a version implemented by Knox County.

Administrative and Technical Capability: A checkmark (✓) indicates the presence of a staff member(s) in that jurisdiction with the specified knowledge or skill, a plus sign (+) indicates a Knox County staff member or resource provides the specified knowledge, skill, or data for the jurisdiction.

Fiscal Capability: A checkmark (✓) indicates that the given fiscal resource has been previously used for hazard mitigation purposes. A star (★) indicates that the given fiscal resource is locally available for hazard mitigation purposes (including match funds for state and federal mitigation grant funds).

Based upon the results summarized in the table below, jurisdictions in Knox County have a range of planning and regulatory capability. Knox County and Clemson have significant planning capability, while Central, Liberty, and Easley have moderate planning capability. Norris and Six Mile have limited capacity and depend closely on County assistance for mitigation activities. All municipalities could improve by integrating mitigation into long-term planning initiatives, improving building code enforcement and requesting BCEGS ratings, preparing economic development plans that incorporate economic resilience and recovery strategies, developing staff resources and expertise in GIS, engineering, and grant writing, and expanding fiscal resources for mitigation funding.

6.3 IMPROVING LOCAL CAPABILITY

As previously discussed, one of the reasons for conducting a capability assessment is to examine local capabilities to detect any existing gaps or weaknesses within ongoing government activities that could hinder proposed mitigation activities and possibly exacerbate community hazard vulnerability. The participating jurisdictions can use this capability assessment as part of the basis for new mitigation actions to expand on and improve existing capabilities.

While Knox County and its jurisdictions exhibit significant local capabilities, each has the capacity to strengthen these capabilities. Potential improvements could include:

- Adopting 2021 IBC & IRC. All jurisdictions currently use the 2018 IBC & IRC, and the 2021 IBC & IRC include additional safety measures that could enhance local capability.
- Creating a new comprehensive plan (Knoxville). The City of Knoxville and Knox County passed a joint comprehensive plan in 2003. In 2024, Knox County released a new comprehensive plan independently. However, Knoxville still implements the joint 20+ year old comprehensive plan, which is arguably outdated. A new Knoxville comprehensive plan could integrate mitigation actions.
- Participating in CRS (Farragut). Farragut is the only jurisdiction in the planning area that does not currently participate in CRS. Becoming a CRS community could enhance Farragut's flood mitigation measures and reduce flood insurance premiums.
- Codifying Hillside Protection (Knox County). In 2010, Knoxville and Knox County adopted the Knoxville-Knox County Hillside and Ridgetop Protection Plan. Knoxville implemented this plan through adoption of the Hillside Protection Overlay as part of their zoning code update in 2020, placing additional requirements on hillside development. Knox County has not codified the plan and doing so could help mitigate landslide risk in the planning area.

7 MITIGATION STRATEGY

Requirement §201.6(c)(3): [The plan shall include] a mitigation strategy that provides the jurisdiction's blueprint for reducing the potential losses identified in the risk assessment, based on existing authorities, policies, programs and resources, and its ability to expand on and improve these existing tools.

This section describes the mitigation strategy process and mitigation action plan for the Knox County Hazard Mitigation Plan. It describes how the participating jurisdictions met Step 6: Set Goals, Step 7: Review Possible Activities, and Step 8: Draft an Action Plan from the 10-step planning process. This section contains the following subsections:

- 7.1 Introduction
- 7.2 Goals and Objectives
- 7.3 Identification and Analysis of Mitigation Activities
- 7.4 Plan Update Requirement
- 7.5 Mitigation Action Plan

7.1 INTRODUCTION

Section 5 documents the hazards that threaten Knox County and the associated vulnerability of structures, infrastructure, and critical facilities. Section 6 summarizes the capabilities of the participating jurisdictions to implement mitigation projects. Based on this understanding of risks, vulnerabilities, and capability, Section 7 describes the process followed by the HMPC to identify feasible mitigation actions to reduce exposure, vulnerability, and overall risk.

The intent of the Mitigation Strategy is to provide Knox County with goals to serve as guiding principles for mitigation policy and project administration as well as an analysis of mitigation techniques available to meet those goals. It is designed to be comprehensive, strategic, and functional, in that it includes a thorough review of all possible mitigation alternatives, achieves multiple local objectives, is consistent with other long-term planning goals, and facilitates implementation of the identified actions.

The first step in designing the mitigation strategy is the identification of mitigation goals and objectives. Goals represent broad statements of intent and objectives provide measurable or concrete ways to achieve goals. Goals and objectives are realized through the implementation of specific mitigation actions.

The second step involves the identification and analysis of available mitigation alternatives that could achieve the identified goals and objectives. While an alternatives analysis was conducted by the HMPC in the development of this plan, continuous evaluation and consideration of alternatives is a process to be sustained through the implementation and maintenance of this plan. Alternative mitigation measures will continue to be considered as future capabilities change and opportunities arise.

The third and final step of the mitigation strategy is the selection and prioritization of mitigation actions for the participating jurisdictions. Selected actions are detailed in the Mitigation Action Plan.

7.2 GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

Requirement §201.6(c)(3)(i): [The mitigation strategy section shall include a] description of mitigation goals to reduce or avoid long-term vulnerabilities to the identified hazards.

The intent of goal and objective setting is to guide the review of possible mitigation actions by defining intended outcomes and opportunities to achieve those outcomes. Goals are usually broad-based, long-term policy type statements that represent global visions and help define the benefits that the plan is trying to achieve. Objectives are more specific and measurable ways that each goal can be achieved.

7.2.1 GOAL SELECTION

At the 2nd planning meeting, held on (09/10/2024), the HMPC reviewed and discussed the goals from the 2018 plan. The committee was asked to consider whether the goals were still relevant and appropriate and if any changes were needed to address new priorities in the County. Another key consideration in evaluating these goals was to ensure that the goals of the Hazard Mitigation Plan align with other community planning efforts such as comprehensive and land use plans. These documents are important guides for future growth within the community, so the HMPC should strive to achieve consistency in the plans' goals.

The existing goals and objectives from the 2018 plan are as follows:

1. Minimize, prevent, or reduce the vulnerability of the people, property, environment, and economy of Knox County, City of Knoxville, and Town of Farragut to the impacts of natural hazards.

2. Increase citizen awareness and preparedness by providing information describing all types of hazards, methods for preventing damage, and how to respond.

3. Strengthen protection of critical facilities and infrastructure from natural hazards to create a safer, more sustainable community.

The HMPC affirmed that goals remain relevant and appropriate to the County's continued priorities for mitigation and did not alter existing goals or add any additional goals. Therefore, the 2018 goals remain the guiding principles of hazard mitigation planning in Knox County.

7.3 IDENTIFICATION & ANALYSIS OF MITIGATION ALTERNATIVES

Requirement §201.6(c)(3)(ii): [The mitigation strategy section shall include a] section that identifies and analyzes a comprehensive range of specific mitigation actions and projects being considered to reduce the effects of each hazard, with particular emphasis on new and existing buildings and infrastructure. All plans approved by FEMA after October 1, 2008, must also address the jurisdiction's participation in the NFIP, and continued compliance with NFIP requirements, as appropriate.

To develop a mitigation action plan, the HMPC began by evaluating ways to achieve the plan goals and objectives and opportunities to address risks, vulnerabilities, and problems identified through Section 5 Hazard Risk & Vulnerability Assessment. The HMPC considered a wide range of activities that could meet these criteria. Action alternatives were reviewed for each hazard and within each of the following mitigation categories, which are utilized as part of the CRS planning process but are also applicable to multi-hazard mitigation:

- Prevention
- Property Protection
- Natural Resource Protection
- Emergency Services
- Structural Projects
- Public Information and Outreach

The HMPC was provided with examples of potential mitigation actions for each of the above categories and participating in a brainstorming discussion to develop additional action ideas. The HMPC was instructed to consider both existing and future buildings when considering possible actions to mitigate risk and vulnerability of property. The HMPC also considered which incomplete actions from the previous plan should be carried forward in this action plan.

Details on the range of mitigation alternatives considered by the HMPC are provided in Appendix D.

7.3.1 PRIORITIZATION PROCESS

While a wide range of actions were considered during the brainstorming process, the HMPC sought to develop a concise mitigation action plan of carried forward and new mitigation actions most appropriate and feasible for the planning area. To accomplish this, the HMPC was provided with a set of criteria to assist in deciding why one action might be more important, more effective, or more likely to be implemented than another. These considerations for action prioritization, modified from the FEMA STAPLEE criteria. were as follows:

- Socially Acceptable: Is the action acceptable to the community? Does it have a greater impact on a certain segment of the population? Are the benefits fair? Does the action support underserved communities or socially vulnerable populations? Are the outcomes equitable?
- Technically Feasible: Is the action technically feasibly? Is it a long-term solution to the problem? Does it capitalize on existing planning mechanisms for implementation?
- Administrative Resources: Are there adequate staffing, funding and other capabilities to implement the project? Is there adequate additional capability to ensure ongoing maintenance?
- Politically Supported: Will there be adequate political and public support for the project? Does the project have a local champion to support implementation?
- Legally Allowable: Does the community have the legal authority to implement the action?
- Economically Sound: Can the action be funded locally? Will the action need to be funded by an outside entity, and has that funding been secured? How much will the project cost? Can the benefits be quantified, and do they outweigh the costs?
- Environmentally Sound: Does the action comply with environmental regulations? Does the action meet the community's environmental goals? Does the action impact land, water, endangered species, or other natural assets?

In accordance with the DMA requirements, an emphasis was placed on the importance of a benefit-cost analysis in determining action priority. While the criteria above helped the HMPC to evaluate the variety of benefits associated with each action, the HMPC also considered the benefit-cost analysis of actions in terms of:

- Ability of the action to address the problem;
- Contribution of the action to save life or property;
- Available technical and administrative resources for implementation; and
- Availability of funding and perceived cost-effectiveness.

These prioritization criteria were considered relevant to all identified hazard risks, vulnerabilities, and associated problems and were therefore applied uniformly in the evaluation and prioritization of all mitigation actions, regardless of the hazard and issue addressed.

The consideration of these criteria helped to prioritize and refine mitigation actions but did not constitute a full benefit-cost analysis. The cost-effectiveness of any mitigation alternative will be considered in greater detail by performing benefit-cost analyses when seeking FEMA mitigation grant funding for eligible actions associated with this plan.

Representatives for each jurisdiction assisted in the prioritization process by reviewing each action during community-level planning meetings. Based on this input and committee discussion, the HMPC ultimately assigned a subjective rating of high, medium, or low priority to each mitigation action. The priority for each mitigation action is provided in the Mitigation Action Plan.

The HMPC also assigned a feasibility rating to each action to account for the findings of the capability assessment and the general understanding of the assigned lead agency's capacity to implement each action.

7.4 PLAN UPDATE REQUIREMENT

In keeping with FEMA requirements for plan updates, the HMPC evaluated mitigation actions identified in the previous plan to determine their current implementation status, including if an action was completed or, if not, whether it should be carried forward for future implementation or deleted from the mitigation action plan. The results of this evaluation are reflected in the updated mitigation action plan and in the summary of completed and deleted actions from the 2018 plan in Table 7.1. Note that the mitigation action plan in Section 7.5 presents only those actions currently being pursued for implementation, including new actions and actions carried forward from the 2018 plan.

7.5 MITIGATION ACTION PLAN

Requirement §201.6(c)(3)(iii): [The mitigation strategy section shall include an] action plan describing how the actions identified in section (c)(3)(ii) will be prioritized, implemented, and administered by the local jurisdiction. Prioritization shall include a special emphasis on the extent to which benefits are maximized according to a cost benefit review of the proposed projects and their associated

8 PLAN IMPLEMENTATION & MAINTENANCE

This section outlines the process for adoption, implementation, monitoring, and maintenance of the plan. This section contains the following subsections:

- 8.1 Adoption
- 8.2 Implementation and Integration
- 8.3 Monitoring, Evaluation, and Maintenance
- 8.4 Continued Public Involvement

8.1 ADOPTION

Requirement §201.6(c)(5): [The plan shall include] documentation that the plan has been formally approved by the governing body of the jurisdiction requesting approval of the plan (e.g., City Council, County Commissioner, Tribal Council).

The purpose of formally adopting this plan is to secure buy-in from all participating jurisdictions, raise awareness of the plan, and formalize the plan's implementation. The adoption of this plan completes Planning Step 9 of the 10-step planning process: Adopt the Plan, in accordance with the requirements of DMA 2000. Each participating jurisdiction will adopt the Hazard Mitigation Plan by passing a resolution. Copies of these adoption resolutions and FEMA's approval letter will be provided in Appendix A.

8.2 IMPLEMENTATION AND INTEGRATION

Requirement §201.6(c)(4): [The plan maintenance process shall include a] section describing the method and schedule of monitoring, evaluating, and updating the mitigation plan within a five-year cycle.

Implementation and maintenance of the plan is critical to the overall success of hazard mitigation planning. This is Planning Step 10 of the 10-step planning process. This section provides an overview of the overall strategy for plan implementation and maintenance and outlines the method and schedule for monitoring, updating, and evaluating the plan. The section also discusses incorporating the plan into existing planning mechanisms and how to address continued public involvement.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR IMPLEMENTATION OF GOALS AND ACTIVITIES

Once adopted, the plan must be implemented to be effective. Each jurisdiction participating in this plan is responsible for plan implementation within their jurisdiction. Every identified action in the mitigation action plan is assigned to a specific lead individual, agency, or department, including elected officials, officials appointed to head County or City departments, local staff, and partner or stakeholder organizations. While this plan contains many worthwhile actions, each participating jurisdiction will need to work with the assigned lead departments and agencies to decide which action(s) to undertake first. The priority assigned to the actions in the planning process and funding availability will affect that decision. Low or no-cost actions are often the easiest way to demonstrate progress toward successful plan implementation. The assigned implementation timeline provides a guide for plan participants to gage whether they are making adequate progress toward timely completion.

During the quarterly reviews described in Section 8.3.2, the HMPC will assess progress on each of the goals and activities in the plan. At that time, recommendations may be made to modify implementation timelines, funding resources, and responsible entities. On a regular basis, the priority standing of various activities may also be changed. Some activities that are found not to be feasible may be deleted from the plan entirely and activities addressing problems unforeseen during plan development may be added.

Mitigation is most successful when it is integrated into the day-to-day functions and priorities of government. Implementation will be accomplished by adhering to the schedules identified for each action and through regular, thorough, and energetic efforts to network and highlight the multi-objective, win-win benefits of mitigation. This effort is achieved through the routine actions of monitoring agendas, attending meetings, and promoting a safe, sustainable community.

Simultaneous to these efforts, it is important to maintain a constant monitoring of funding opportunities that can be leveraged to implement some of the costlier recommended actions. This will include creating and maintaining a bank of ideas on how to meet local match or participation requirements. When funding does become available, the participating jurisdictions will be positioned to capitalize on the opportunity. Funding opportunities to be monitored include special pre- and post-disaster funds, state and federal earmarked funds, benefit assessments, and other grant programs, including those that can serve or support multi-objective applications.

INCORPORATION INTO EXISTING PLANNING MECHANISMS

The HMPC intends to support all participating municipalities in incorporating the findings and recommendations of this hazard mitigation plan into other plans, such as a comprehensive plan, capital improvements plan, or emergency operations plan. It will be the responsibility of the Knox County Emergency Management and local HMPC representatives to determine and pursue opportunities for integrating the requirements of this plan with other local planning documents. Knox County Emergency Management and HMPC representatives will provide a copy of this plan and ensure that the goals and strategies of new and updated local planning documents for their jurisdictions or agencies are consistent with the goals and actions of the Hazard Mitigation Plan and will not contribute to increased hazard vulnerability in the planning area. Incorporating the hazard mitigation plan into existing planning mechanisms will build regulatory mitigation capability and can support the implementation of mitigation action plans.

In cases where the municipalities are participants in a county-wide planning process, Knox County Emergency Management will act on behalf of the municipalities in advising for plan incorporation and integration. Since the 2018 plan was adopted, each jurisdiction has worked to integrate the hazard mitigation plan into other planning mechanisms where applicable and feasible. Each jurisdictions' plan integration efforts and opportunities are summarized below.

Other opportunities to integrate the requirements of this plan into other local planning mechanisms shall continue to be identified through quarterly meetings of the HMPC and through the five-year review process described herein. Although it is recognized that there are many possible benefits to integrating components of this plan into other local planning mechanisms, the development and maintenance of this stand-alone Hazard Mitigation Plan is deemed by the HMPC to be the most effective and appropriate method to implement local hazard mitigation actions at this time.

8.3 MONITORING, EVALUATION, AND MAINTENANCE

Plan maintenance implies an ongoing effort to monitor and evaluate plan implementation and to update the plan as progress, roadblocks, or changing circumstances are recognized.

8.3.1 ROLE OF HMPC IN IMPLEMENTATION, MONITORING AND MAINTENANCE

With adoption of this plan, each jurisdiction, in coordination with Knox County Emergency Management, will be responsible for the plan implementation and maintenance. As such, each jurisdiction agrees to continue its relationship with the HMPC and:

- Act as a forum for mitigation issues;
- Disseminate mitigation ideas and activities to all participants;
- Pursue the implementation of high-priority, low/no-cost recommended actions;
- Ensure mitigation remains a consideration for community decision makers;
- Maintain a vigilant monitoring of multi-objective cost-share opportunities to help the community implement the plan's recommended actions for which no current funding exists;
- Monitor and assist in implementation and update of this plan;
- Report on plan progress and recommended revisions to the local governing body; and
- Inform and solicit input from the public.

The HMPC's primary duty moving forward is to see the plan successfully carried out and report to each local governing body, Knox County Emergency Management, SCEMD, and the public on the status of plan implementation and mitigation opportunities. Other duties include reviewing and promoting mitigation proposals, considering stakeholder concerns about mitigation, passing concerns on to appropriate entities, and posting relevant information on local websites (and others as appropriate).

8.3.2 MAINTENANCE SCHEDULE

Knox County Emergency Management is responsible for initiating plan reviews. To monitor progress and evaluate the mitigation strategies identified in the action plan in between plan updates, the Emergency Management Director will reconvene the HMPC to review this plan quarterly and following a hazard event.

CRITERIA FOR QUARTERLY REVIEWS

To ensure regular monitoring and provide adequate information to support the five-year update evaluation process discussed above, the HMPC will convene for quarterly reviews. During these reviews, the HMPC will discuss each action item identified in the plan, describe any progress toward implementation, and recommend any changes as appropriate. These

Additionally, the HMPC will monitor changes to exposure, vulnerability, and risk, which may support the HMPC in evaluating mitigation action outcomes and identifying necessary changes for inclusion in the five-year update.

MAINTENANCE EVALUATION PROCESS

The criteria recommended in 44 CFR 201 and 206 will be utilized in reviewing and updating the plan. Evaluation of progress can be achieved by monitoring changes in vulnerabilities identified in the plan, including:

- Decreased vulnerability as a result of implementing recommended actions;
- Increased vulnerability as a result of failed or ineffective mitigation actions; and/or
- Increased vulnerability as a result of new development (and/or further annexation).

Updates to this plan will:

- Consider the appropriateness of the goals for addressing current and expected conditions;
- Consider changes in vulnerability due to action implementation;
- Document success stories where mitigation efforts have proven effective;
- Document areas where mitigation actions were not effective;
- Document any new hazards that may arise or were previously overlooked;
- Incorporate new data or studies on hazards and risks;
- Incorporate new capabilities or changes in capabilities;
- Incorporate growth and development-related changes to infrastructure inventories; and
- Incorporate new action recommendations or changes in action prioritization.

To best evaluate any changes in vulnerability as a result of plan implementation, the HMPC will follow this process:

- The HMPC representatives from each jurisdiction will be responsible for tracking and reporting on their mitigation actions. Jurisdictional representatives should provide input on whether the action as implemented met the defined objectives and/or is likely to reduce vulnerabilities.
- If the action does not meet identified objectives, the jurisdictional representatives will determine what additional measures may be implemented and modify the plan accordingly.
- All monitoring and implementation information will be reported to the full HMPC, led by Knox County Emergency Management, during quarterly meetings. An annual plan maintenance report may be drafted as deemed necessary.

Members of the HMPC and personnel from Emergency Management will continue to serve on committees and planning teams for the county in order to ensure the hazard mitigation plan is considered during all relevant county planning activities and incorporated whenever feasible.

FIVE-YEAR UPDATE

In keeping with the requirements of DMA 2000, Knox County Emergency Management will submit a five-year written update to SCEMD and FEMA Region 4, unless disaster or other circumstances require a change to this schedule. With this plan update anticipated to be fully approved and adopted in 2023, the next plan update for Knox County will be completed in 2028.

During the five-year plan update process, changes will be made to the plan based on findings during quarterly reviews to accommodate for actions that have failed or are not considered feasible after a review of their consistency with established criteria, time frame, community priorities, and/or funding resources. Actions for which implementation has not yet been pursued will also be reviewed during the monitoring and update of this plan to determine feasibility of future implementation. Risk and vulnerability will also be re-evaluated based on current and expected future conditions.

Updating of the plan will be by written changes and submission to SCEMD and FEMA Region 4, as is appropriate and necessary, and as approved by local governing bodies. In keeping with the five-year update process, the HMPC or similar committee will convene public meetings to solicit public input on the plan and its routine maintenance and the final product will be adopted by local governing bodies.

Requirement §201.6(c)(4)(iii): [The plan maintenance process shall include a] discussion on how the community will continue public participation in the plan maintenance process.

Public participation is an integral component to the mitigation planning process and will continue to be essential to the overall success of the plan as it evolves and is implemented. The annual review process will provide an opportunity to solicit participation from new and existing stakeholders, publicize success stories from the plan implementation, and seek additional public comment.

In between annual reviews, other efforts to involve the public in the maintenance, evaluation, and revision process will also be made. HMPC meetings will be advertised on the Knox County website and in municipal office buildings. HMPC membership will continue to include willing local citizen and stakeholder volunteers. Continued public and stakeholder involvement and input will also be sought through invitation to designated committee meetings, website postings, and press releases to local media, similar to the process used in the development of this plan. A copy of the plan will be kept on the Knox County website to ensure public accessibility.

When the HMPC reconvenes for the five-year update, they will coordinate with all stakeholders participating in the planning process—including those that joined the committee since the planning process began—to update and revise the plan. In reconvening, the HMPC will be responsible for coordinating the activities necessary to involve the greater public, including disseminating information through a variety of media channels detailing the plan update process. As part of this effort, public meetings will be held and public comments will be solicited on the plan update draft.

APPENDIX A: PLAN ADOPTION

Each jurisdiction will adopt the plan upon receipt of FEMA's "Approval Pending Adoption" notification.

APPENDIX B: LOCAL MITIGATION PLAN REVIEW TOOL
