PR and Special Events Summary

In May, the Prevention Office focused on enhancing community engagement by educating the public about safety and teaching effective evacuation procedures for both residential and commercial buildings. During events like Leprino Safety Day, essential education and tools were provided for safely using fire extinguishers, keeping escape routes clear, and installing and maintaining smoke alarms. The smoke alarm installation program has been beneficial in educating the public on safety hazards and equipping individuals with tools to evacuate during an emergency.

Report Summary

May had a high volume of inspections, a moderate number of fires (many incendiary in nature), and a large number of plans reviews and permits issued. Special events were relatively high and public education was very productive. One of the notable accomplishments this month was the adoption of the 2024 Fire Code. The team looks forward to presenting needed amendments in the coming months.
