Re: Subdivision Case No. 2020-076F-/Final Plat Riedel Office Condominiums

City staff has reviewed the final plat for Riedel Office Condominiums Subdivision and have the following comments:

City Engineer:

1. Show lot line between lots B1 and B2 to be abandoned.
2. Dedication says plat consists of 'sheets (sp.) 1 of 1' but the submitted plat consists of 4 sheets.
3. Dedication references CC&Rs for the condominiums. Have these been submitted?
4. How will common area be owned – partnership, corporation, etc.? Submit articles of incorporation or organization as appropriate.
5. There is a cell tower at the northwest corner of lot B-2. It appears that it is located on the common area of the Condominiums and the common area will be owned by the Riedel Office Condominiums condo owners association. Does it require any separate lot or easement?
6. Parking spaces and building sections should not be shown on final plat (ok to show on preliminary plat.) Submit separate site plans when building plans are submitted.
7. Show survey monuments to be set at subdivision boundary.
8. There is an APS powerline across the south side of the property. Show its easement if one exists.
9. It is noted that the 24' new access easement across the south side of the property physically connects to drive aisles on lots to the east and west but no matching access easements appear to have been dedicated on the adjacent lots.
10. "Reference Note" (misspelled) mentions a 'community building' but there is no community build shown.

Public Works Department:

1. Provide water and sewer plan
2. Provide drainage easements as need (don't know how they will handle storm water)
