Looking over the scheduled presentations I can't help but notice a key statement missing from each "Goals" section. As a former employee in a Forbes 10 company and responsible for generating hundreds of Executive level presentations I find it hard to understand why a completion Target Date isn't associated with each goal! A date for a date can work if additional time is required to assign an appropriate end date. But to leave all the stated goals without dates isn't the right approach. Thanks!
