University of California Davis Early Psychosis Program, EDAPT		The Regents of the University of California
Program Purpose	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> To improve life skills, functioning and overall quality for TAY individuals experiencing first episode psychosis to increase community members’ knowledge about first episode psychosis
Program Description	Yolo County is contracting with the University of California Davis Early Psychosis Program, EDAPT to serve Transition Age Youth (TAY) ages 15 – 30, who are the most at risk for chronic homelessness, repeat hospitalizations and incarceration due to the severity of their illness. The mission of EDAPT is to bring hope and wellness to individuals and families who are struggling with psychosis. To reduce stigma and increase help-seeking, there is an education component addressing the nature of mental disorders and the positive impact of early intervention. The program staff’s unique training and expertise in cutting-edge assessment techniques allow for identification of at-risk individuals early in their illness. The team provides comprehensive evidence-based treatment, focusing on consumer self-determination and family support on the path toward recovery. The EDAPT program has a strong and diverse interdisciplinary team of physicians, clinicians, support staff, consumer and family advocates with unique expertise in state of the art assessments and evidence based practices for early identification and intervention for psychotic disorders. The team will provide basic and comprehensive screenings, referral coordination, comprehensive clinical and psychiatric evaluations to include record review, direct assessment, report writing, and feedback to client/family and clinical team. EDAPT will complete a clinical evaluation to determine if a client meets criteria for FEP services. If the FEP criteria are met, the client will have a comprehensive psychiatric evaluation and the EDAPT team provide the full array of EDAPT services to the client. The services provided by by an individual’s treatment plan will be, but not limited to the following: on-going medication management, clinical therapeutic services, rehabilitative services, and case management. EDAPT will also provide general community-based education sessions for Yolo County families, caregivers, residents and HHS staff. Training topics will include Community Outreach, Understanding Psychosis, Assessments, Treatment, and Medication.
